Anzac in the Park

President of the Coonawarra/Penola Returned and Services League (RSL), Peter DeGaris is pictured at Penola's War Memorial in the town gardens where he hopes many residents and others will congregate on Anzac Day next Monday.

The Dawn Service will begin at 7.30am where sounds of children's voices and a bugle will feature, and it is hoped Penola's oldest veteran will be in attendance.

Mr DeGaris encourages everyone to come along and pay tribute to service personnel past and present.

Calls for funding

By Caroline Hammat

Maaoupe community members have approached Wattle Range Council for $100,000 to help provide a phone tower on V&A Lane at Maaoupe.

Christie Gapp, from the Maaoupe Phone Tower Committee, gave a presentation to council last week including correspondence from local businesses impacted daily by the mobile black spot in their community.

"Productivity is adversely affected in the Maaoupe area by the lack of mobile service and results in loss of business and difficulty in taking advantage of new technologies," Ms Gapp said.

"Mental health and safety concerns are also key elements in our push for better telecommunications.

"While our city counterparts are getting excited about the 5G technology available to them, we would just like to be able to sit inside our homes and make a phone call or use emerging AgTech such as animal tracking devices while working in our cattle yards.

"Whatever industry we look at, it is impacted by the lack of adequate phone service in the area," she said.

The presentation from the Maaoupe committee said Maaoupe was a relatively unknown part of the South East with high productivity and some of the areas biggest producers including forestry, viticulture, agriculture, trucking and tourism using roads in the area.

"Safety is a major concern as experienced during the Coles fire in January this year," the presentation said.

"Telecommunications were a significant problem during the emergency with local farm fighting units, CFS trucks from Maaoupe and surrounding areas unable to communicate with each other on the fire ground or contact their homes."

Anzac Day is a time to pay our respects to our brave men and women who have, or are, serving our Nation.

Services will be held throughout the region giving us the opportunity to reflect on the sacrifices many have made in providing all of us the freedoms and liberties will enjoy today.

Each night we witness the terror of the war in Ukraine on our televisions.

Far removed from the reality, in the comfort of our homes, it is still terrifying.

So imagine the terror and grief the civilians in Ukraine are going through.

We are privileged to have brave service men and women serve our country in the face of such adversity.

Some made the ultimate sacrifice and the names of those inscribed in our memorials should never be forgotten.

Their lasting legacy is the democracy and lifestyle too many of us take for granted.

There is no glory in war and World War One historian Charles Bean summed it up well: "...those who have fought in wars are generally strongest in their desire to prevent war".

Lest we forget.

Covid anti-mandate call fails

Covid-19 mandates were debated for almost 30 minutes during Wattle Range Council's meeting last week when Cr Dale Price submitted a Motion on Notice calling for an end to the State Emergency Declaration.

Cr Price requested Council write to the South Australian Premier, Peter Malinauskas, and Member for MacKillop, Nick McBride, emailing a copy to all members recently elected to the South Australian Parliament requesting the cessation of the declaration and all associated Covid-19 mandates during the first sitting of parliament.

In supporting his motion, Cr Price claimed Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) data showed that 2657 people had died with Covid-19 while only 83 died as a direct result of Covid19.

However, according to the ABS website, 2639 deaths, where people died with or from Covid-19, had occurred by January 31 this year.

Of those, the majority (2556 deaths) were due directly to Covid-19.

There were a further 83 people who died of other causes (eg cancer) but were Covid-19 positive at the time of death.

Cr Price ended his submission with the belief it is time to deal with Covid-19 as a normal disease and end the State of Emergency.

The majority of councillors and Mayor Des Noll spoke during the debate and the motion was lost, only gaining three votes in support.

Council decide on off-leash locations

Wattle Range Council will conduct a 12 month trial of designated off-leash exercise spaces for dogs in Millicent and Penola following recent public consultation about proposed sites.

Sites proposed in Beachport will not be included in the trial due to the public consultation revealing concerns about disturbance to shore birds in the areas proposed.

The public consultation period was from February 15 to March 21 and 53 community members responded to a survey during this period, the majority in favour of the proposed sites, although an additional five submissions related specifically to concerns with proposed sites at Beachport.

At council's monthly meeting last week, elected members accepted a recommendation from the council's senior general inspector, Tim Wilson to conduct a 12 month trial at the following sites:

Millicent

- McLaughlin Park - grassed area west of the Millicent United Soccer clubrooms
- Dog Park - Near Millicent Visitor Information Centre
- Belt Road walking track (northern end only) from Park Terrace to Saleyards Road
- Bolton Oval sporting area, southern end, south of the drain

Penola

- Greenrise Recreational Reserve walking trail
- McCorquindale Park - north of main Football oval

In Beachport, the Lagoon off McCourt Street, and Surf Beach from the outlet to 100m from the surf beach carpark, had been proposed to be off-leash areas but submissions from members of the public, including members of Friends of Shorebirds South East, and the South East branch of BirdLife Australia, expressed concern about the possible impact on bird species including Ruddy Turnstone, Sanderlings, and Latham's Snipe which are known to use the areas.

As a result, Mr Wilson reported to council's meeting last week: "At this point in time, Council staff believe the proposed locations at the Beachport Surf Beach from outlet to 100m from surf beach carpark and the Beachport Lagoon should be excluded from the trial.

"These locations require further investigation regarding protection of the shorebirds.

"Council staff would like to work on this as a separate project with the hope to find a solution that works for all parties before any alterations to the Bylaws."

Results of the trial will be reported back to council after 12 months before any decisions on officially designated off-leash areas is made.

The off-leash areas were originally proposed to prevent sports grounds from being used for dog exercising.

Services for Anzac Day

By Kathy Fennell

Sounds of children's voices and a bugle will be part of Penola's Anzac Day service next Monday at the War Memorial in the town gardens.

The traditional Dawn Service will begin at 7.30am and President of the Coonawarra/ Penola Returned and Services League (RSL), Peter DeGaris encouraged residents and others to attend.

He hoped that among them would be Penola's oldest World War Two veteran, 95 year old Roen Lynn.

"We usually get more than 300 people attend the service and I encourage all families to come along," Mr DeGaris said.

"Wreaths will be laid by local service organisations, schools, police, RSL, and the general public."

The service will be conducted by Father Lyndon Sulzberger from St Mary's Anglican Church and long time guest bugler, Dr Evan Markwick, will play the Last Post.

The Ode of Remembrance will also be read.

The combined Penola school choir will sing the National Anthem accompanied by organist Brian Lynn.

Following the service a piper will lead a march back to the RSL clubrooms where RSL members and affiliates, along with invited guests, will enjoy a breakfast of bacon and eggs.

In other services around the area, the Ka-langadoo service will be held the previous day, on Sunday, for what has become a tradition at the Kalangadoo Cemetery.

Meeting at the cemetery gate at 6.15am, participants in this event will then march to the cemetery's memorial.

Kalangadoo RSL member, Frank Ousey said: "Wreaths will be laid and the Master of Ceremonies for the service will be returned serviceman, Peter Burford".

Mr Howard Young from the Anglican Church will be participating in the service.

"The Ode of Remembrance will be read and the Last Post played," Mr Ousey said.

"Unfortunately due to Covid restrictions we are unable to have the traditional breakfast [at the Institute] so there will be scones, tea and coffee available at the cemetery after the proceedings," Mr Ousey said.

"The public are most welcome to attend."

OTHER ANZAC DAY SERVICES IN THE AREA

■ Millicent

In Millicent the Dawn Service will begin at 6am with the town's traditional march and mid-morning service beginning at 10.45am.

■ Glencoe

In Glencoe, marchers will assemble at 6.50am at the Glencoe Shop to march to memorial park for a Dawn Service beginning at 7am.

■ Robe

In Robe, marchers will assembly at the Robe RSL at 6.30am for a march to the war memorial in Smillie Street for the Dawn Service.

■ Beachport

On Anzac Day, Beachport's service will begin at the town's foreshore memorial at 7am.

■ Lucindale

In Lucindale, the Dawn Service will begin at 7am at the war memorial in Centenary Avenue, followed by a breakfast.

■ Kingston

In Kingston, the Dawn Service will begin at 6.30am at Memorial Park in James Street followed by a sausage sizzle at the RSL clubrooms.

Maaoupe residents call on council for $100k for tower

The committee have met with industry leaders, local state and federal MP's as well as members of Wattle Range Council in their endeavour to find a solution.

Telstra representatives have stated there is no intention in the foreseeable future to place any further infrastructure in the area with the company suggesting the use of boosters and aerials to reduce the impact, placing the financial burden on individuals.

Optus have continued talks with the committee, identifying a potential site on V&A Lane where existing infrastructure is in place.

The never used tower, built by South Australia Police (SAPOL) after Ash Wednesday, has power, is elevated and was built to withstand fire.

In its presentation to council, the committee said the tower, if used, would create a honeycomb effect to allow phone service to reach a greater number of people.

At the council meeting, Optus Territory General Manager for Regional South Australia, Rob Seymour provided information on coverage issues impacting the area and confirmed to councillors that the SAPOL tower is high enough to cover the area and he believed the existing infrastructure would halve the cost of a greenfield build.

Mr Seymour talked about a similar project that proceeded at Wudinna on the West Coast, with Optus paying $300,000 with the other 50 per cent matched by federal, state and local government funding.

Member for MacKillop, Nick McBride attended the meeting in support of the Maaoupe proposal and said other black spot areas included Mt Burr, Penola, Lucindale and Hatherleigh.

"It's sad that local government needs to be involved in this, it's not part of your charter," Mr McBride said.

Federal Member for Barker, Tony Pasin said, in a statement, that he had been engaging with the Maaoupe community about the issue of mobile phone service in the region.

"The Maaoupe community is a great example of a proactive group of residents seeking to improve services," Mr Pasin said.

"The $811.8 million Connecting Regional Australia initiative will be a great opportunity for communities across Barker when it opens for applications.

"I'll be continuing to work with communities like Maaoupe to see the initiative deliver improved telecommunications," Mr Pasin said.

Various questions were asked during the presentation to council but no resolution was made.

Pictured at a meeting held last year, Federal Member for Barker Tony Pasin addresses the Maaoupe community about the telecommunications black spot impacting the community. Other attendees at that meeting included Member for MacKillop Nick McBride, Telstra representative Mark Bolton, Optus representative Rob Seymour, Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll and local residents.

War service of a nurse

By South East Family History Group

Margaret Ann Sutherland, known as Maggie, was a nurse in the First World War.

Born in Millicent on March 8, 1888, she was the daughter of William and Christina (nee McArthur) Sutherland who lived at Lossie House, Millicent.

Maggie was the only sister of William, James John (known as Jack) and Peter.

After three years training at the Adelaide General Hospital, Maggie enlisted with the Australian Medical Corp and left Australia on August 27, 1915, aboard the ship 'Morea'.

Her position was Staff Nurse and her duty of care was looking after Australian soldiers injured at Gallipoli and included service in Egypt.

During her service overseas her father, William, died in November 1915 leaving she and two of her siblings unable to attend his funeral as brother Peter was also on active service and William Sutherland junior was farming in Madagascar.

In March 2016, Nurse Sutherland returned to Australia from Egypt where she had been engaged at a military hospital in Cairo.

She was one of the nursing staff on the steamer 'Suffolk' carrying wounded and sick soldiers, landing in Melbourne.

At this stage she was not certain if she would have to go back again as she had applied for her discharge but within days the military authority had requested she return to duty.

Nurse Sutherland's final date of discharge was April 27, 1916, after 196 days abroad and 246 days of total service.

In December 2016 a local medal was presented to returned soldiers and there was a quandary as to whether Nurse Sutherland should receive the same medal as soldiers.

The committee came to the conclusion that she ranked as one of the soldiers and they presented her with the same medal as they were giving the men.

Maggie married Francis Edwards in Millicent on the December 31, 1925, and lived in Deniliquin, New South Wales, until her death on January 14, 1959, in Beechworth, Victoria.

She had a daughter Christine (1926-2017) and son John Sutherland Edwards (1929-2019).

Nurse Margaret (Maggie) Ann Sutherland spent 196 days abroad during the First World War tending sick and wounded soldiers.

Sign of the times: Tantanoola residents, Richard Taylor, Kimberley Ferguson and Sue Lines look over the town plan with councillor Sharon Cox.

Entrance sign discussions for Tantanoola

By Caroline Hammat

Twelve Tantanoola residents, along with councillors Moira Neagle and Sharon Cox, recently met with Wattle Range Council employees to discuss and update the existing community town plan.

The previous town plan had identified town entry signage as a priority and discussions continued to ensure the long awaited signs reflect the community's visions.

The current design included three images with Wattle Range Council's Director of Development Services, Emma Clay telling the group that signage specialists recommend a single image works better than multiple images on signs.

"If you're going to use a photo (on signs) it's best practice to have one image and a really clear message," she said at the town meeting last week.

The option to have different photos on each entry was put forward as was the possibility of having a third entrance sign on Poonada Road to greet tourists coming off the windfarm drive.

Other signage on the highway and pedestrian signage within the town will be branded as part of council's broader Wayfinding Signage Strategy currently being designed.

The entrance signs will be about two metres by 1.75 metres and it is hoped the Tantanoola signage will be installed by June 30.

Mount Burr community members had the opportunity to revisit their town plan a week earlier also discussing the town's entry signage.

Attendees discussed preference for an entrance statement made from Corten steel, possibly combined with timber or limestone blocks, and an image cut into the steel to represent the town's timber mill history.

A suggestion to include solar lighting to enhance the town's name on the entrance statement at night was put forward and the community is now waiting for two entrance statement options to come back from the designer they can then make a decision on.

Strategic land use plan changed after public feedback

Millicent's Matheson Road Scrub block will be excluded from residential use in Wattle Range Council's next stage of developing a 25 year Strategic Land Use Plan following community feedback to consultants recently.

Public consultation on initial reports for the land use plan was open between February 18 and March 23 with people encouraged to complete a survey and participate in public meetings with Adelaide based planning consultants, Holmes Dyer.

A total of 84 submissions were received as a result of the consultation.

Reporting to council's monthly meeting last week, the consultants said: "Respondents raised a broad range of points of both a specific and general nature, all of which will be useful in evolving the Strategic Land Use Plan moving forward ..."

However, the consultants said there were three points consistently raised, one being the Matheson Road Scrub block.

"The community were strongly opposed to the development of the scrub block on Matheson Road," read the report from the consultants tabled at the council meeting.

"Instead, the Draft Plan will look to consider how this site can better support nature-based recreation.

"This may include better links to the township, walking trails, and/or connections to Lake McIntyre."

The consultant's report also said that potential conservation areas in Southend and Rendelsham were consistently raised.

"The community were generally opposed to the idea of rezoning areas around Rendelsham and Southend which are currently zoned for rural residential development," read the report.

"However, this idea was put forward on the basis that this land may not be suitable for residential development under current planning policy, primarily due to native vegetation concerns.

"While community feedback suggests that such native vegetation should not be an issue, this would be in the hands of the Native Vegetation Council.

"Further investigation may seek to consider this further, but it is important to emphasise that the question is not immediately whether these areas should be rezoned, but whether they can in fact be developed at present.

"At present, the owners of the properties, when seeking to develop them, would be required to prove to the State Government agencies through appropriate investigations, that the proposal was acceptable.

"If the land is suitable, then its development would likely be a welcome boost to land supply in Southend.

"Council may therefore wish to leave the zoning as-is, with the relevant Overlays providing an appropriate safeguard on development which may be environmentally inappropriate.

"However, it will therefore be important to ensure that the appropriate Overlays are applied correctly."

The consultant's report said coastal erosion was the third consistent issue brought up during the consultation period.

"The community were substantially concerned by issues of erosion in both Beachport and Southend," said the report.

"These issues stretch beyond just the scope of this plan, but it is nonetheless important to this plan.

"Further consideration will therefore need to be given to this issue by Council and other stakeholders in order to arrive at a position which can determine future actions."

The consultants will consider the community feedback when drafting the 25 Year Strategic Land Use Plan.

A draft is expected to be available mid this year for public feedback in phase two of community consultation on the plan.

Once completed, the plan is aimed at providing a 25-year strategic roadmap for land use planning with integrated consideration of infrastructure, servicing, community facilities, transport and other factors.

The plan will also be used to initiate future amendments to the Planning and Design Codes which may include zone changes in some areas.

Spectacular challenge

By Kathy Fennell

Keen horse riding enthusiasts, Jodie Smith-Deland, Paula and Charlotte Ellul from Penola have a busy Anzac weekend coming up.

They will be competing in the Anzac Spectacular Stockmen's Challenge to be held at the property 'Glenfield', the property of Wayne and Lynda Field at Glencoe on Sunday and Monday.

The event is open to all riders and sections include open, novice, encourage, junior and green-horse.

The program will include a working pattern, time trial, obstacle course and whip crack/targets.

"I will be entering the challenge with my horse Ripp and hopefully in the charity barrel race," Jodie said.

Jodie has been involved with horses for many years learning many of her skills at pony club level.

She has also participated in many other disciplines at country shows throughout the South East.

Paula and Charlotte Ellul will be competing in the encourage and junior sections respectively.

Paula will ride her horse Cocoa, while

Charlotte will saddle up Hannah.

Paula said: "We love going to the stockmen horse events and have participated in several events around the South East.

"They are so family orientated and there is always such a nice atmosphere."

The weekend will also feature the second leg of The Tack Room Stockmen's Challenge Super Series and the State of Origin Victoria versus South Australia challenge.

Round one of the series was held at Tyrendarra in February with round three and four to be held at Harrow on April 30 and May 1.

Points are collated over the three rounds with the winner receiving $800 worth of leather goods from The Tack Room in Mt Gambier.

On Sunday there will be a whipper snippers event for riders under 12 years of age who can be led and there is no whip cracking involved.

Event co-ordinator, Lynda Field, said entries were looking good with competitors coming from all over South Australia and Victoria. Catering will be available all weekend however participants are asked to bring their own yards.

Free camping will be available.

All proceeds from the event will go to Riding for the Disabled in Mount Gambier.

Council youth award open

Nominations to Wattle Range Council's annual Youth Recognition Awards are now open for the seventh consecutive year.

If you know of any amazing young people aged between 12-25 years nominate them for the 2022 Youth Recognition Awards; they could receive a $200 cash prize and an engraved glass plaque.

"The awards celebrate remarkable young people in our community who make a vital and important contribution to our community," said council's director development services, Emma Clay.

"Nominations are valued by the recipients and are a good gesture; nominations from parents, friends, employers, teachers, sports facilitators, and self-nominations are all welcome."

The award presentation night will be on Friday, May 20, in the Millicent Gallery, during SA Youth Week.

The Youth Recognition Awards are made possible through sponsorship from All in Balance, Glen Carron Transport, Kimberly Clark Australia (Millicent Mill), and Medical Clinic Millicent, the last three of whom have been supporting the program since its inception seven years ago.

Nomination forms are available online at www.wattlerange.sa.gov.au or from any of the council's offices or the Millicent Library.

Nationals announce candidate

Tintinara farmer Jonathan Pietzsch has been announced as the Barker candidate for the SA Nationals in the coming Federal election.

The South East farmer said he planned to concentrate on listening to locals, pushing for improved funding for regional health and look at ways to address the regional housing crisis while also finding pathways to increase the supply of skilled workers in regional areas.

“As someone who lives in a rural community, I understand the issues and know what needs to be done to help regional communities thrive,” Mr Pietzsch said.

“South Australia needs dedicated Regional Representation in the Federal Parliament to be the voice for regional South Australia, a voice that has been missing for too long.”

He said it was no coincidence the National Party seats around the nation had billions of dollars invested into local development and nation building projects including those on the Eastern Coast.

“We are proud of our record of delivering for local communities – improving roads, supporting jobs and businesses through drought and taking practical measures to reduce the pressures caused by increased prices,” Mr Pietzsch said: “Only the Nationals understand regional Australia.”

Mr Pietzsch joins Greens candidate Rosa Hallam and United Australia Party candidate David Swiggs both contesting the seat which is held by Tony Pasin.

The Labor Party is yet to announce its candidate.

National Candidate For Barker: Jonathan Pietzsch has been announced as the SA National Party's candidate for the Barker electorate.

District Ranger Ross Anderson said native vegetation is preferred nowadays over marram grass.

Grass does its job

By Elsie Adamo

Marram Grass has been holding sand dunes in Beachport steady for almost 40 years.

First planted in Beachport in the 1970s, the grass grows quickly, putting in roots and keeping the dunes steady by trapping sand.

District ranger for the Limestone Coast, Ross Anderson, said the marram grass has been a fixture in the area since it was first introduced decades ago.

“In the Beachport Conservation Park there was a big program there using it in the 70s and 80s,” Mr Anderson said.

“The park itself was largely eroding sand at that time, now there are very few areas like that.

“We have found that largely in the areas we have planted Marram Grass it has been replaced by native vegetation.

“I think in the future we could use some native vegetation, there are some native grasses we could use if we were going to vegetate blowing sand instead of marram grass.”

An introduced species from Europe, while marram grass is effective, its ability to quickly spread can cause problems.

The plant can also produce coastal landforms which may be different to their natural shapes such as steep faced dunes.

It is a less commonly used method of avoiding erosion today.

“At the time it was the best thing we had, and it did stabilise a heck of a lot of mobile dunes in places like Beachport,” Mr Anderson said.

“We still have areas with unstable dunes, but we tend these days to manage the disturbance of those dunes to allow them to revegetate naturally by keeping vehicles off areas where they should not be driving.

Marram grass can still be seen around Beachport.

“We find that a lot of the natural regeneration is happening.”

Mr Anderson said one of the most pressing threats to the national park are rabbits.

“The other thing we do from time to time is manage rabbit populations as rabbits can bare off the vegetation significantly,” he said.

“One of the things we are getting a lot of benefit from in the coastal areas is the fact that a virus came through in 1994 and drastically reduced rabbit populations that has allowed vegetation to get back as well.

“Rabbit levels are nowhere near where they were prior to the virus coming.

“From time to time we will do rabbit control in certain areas; we have not had to do a lot of it along the coast in recent years.”

The national park is enjoyed by campers, nature lovers, and four-wheel drivers.

The park's popularity is evident according to Mr Anderson.

“One of the main things that has happened along the coast in recent years is the visitation has gone up a lot,” he said.

“I guess it may have a lot to do with Covid and people wanting to get out and about and explore the natural environment.

“Coastal areas are getting a lot higher visitation then they were 10 years ago.”

However, with extra visitors comes extra environmental impacts, and Mr Anderson said everyone needs to follow the rules when visiting a park.

“Some places were probably getting to the stage of many more people would be causing a problem,” he said.

“It is probably not the numbers itself but the timing of it.

“It is just flat out over times like January and Easter, but other times of the year is reasonably quiet.

“Along the coast it is mostly people getting out and about in four-wheel drives; more and more people have them these days.

“Not everybody obeys the rules is the issue.”

Mr Anderson said they may need to look at future regeneration projects in the area, but at this stage it is manageable.

Fireworks funding may go up in smoke

Fireworks at Beachport's traditional New Year's Eve celebrations could be limited to a single display for the upcoming event.

The popular event for tourists and locals alike has not been held since 2019 due to Covid-19 restrictions impacting the 2020/21 display and the late cancellation by a contractor forcing the event to be abandoned for 2021/22.

Increased insurance premiums has placed significant burden on the cost of the displays which have doubled since last held in 2019, with estimates now in excess of $20,000.

Due to increased costs the Beachport District Development Association had requested an increase from $2,000 previously received from Wattle Range Council in support of the event, requesting $10,000 annually for four years.

At council's monthly meeting last week, discussion revolved around the substantial funding increase to provide the two fireworks sessions traditionally held, one earlier in the evening and another at midnight.

Discussion included questioning the environmental impact of fireworks and if two firework displays were required on the night.

A recommendation to support the event was amended prior to being carried by a majority vote with the amount reduced to $5,000 to assist with a single fireworks display instead of the original $10,000 requested.

Lowering the shot

Beachport Golf Club has turned to Wattle Range Council for help to create a new tee to avoid errant golf balls landing on the adjoining rinks of Beachport Bowling Club.

At council's meeting last week, a letter was tabled from golf club president Lyn White asking for council to fund earthworks quoted at $23,496 to develop a new sunken first tee block near the clubrooms which would create an amphitheatre with embankments designed to stop wayward golf balls heading in any other direction than intended.

"This [the funding] will enable the Beachport Golf Club to complete the works as soon as possible," Ms White wrote.

"The current situation is affecting our members, restricting the playing course, and providing an unsightly entrance to any visitors."

Council's elected members voted to accept an agenda recommendation for the Beachport Golf Club to apply for funding under council's 2022/23 round of its Community Infrastructure Grants program.

Applications for this are expected to open in July this year.

Council's decision follows a deputation made to council's March meeting by Ms White and club member Lyell MacGregor.

At that meeting, the pair told elected members the plans for the new sunken tee were developed by professional course designer, Neil Crafters, and improvements associated with the new tee would cost a total of almost $50,000 with the deputation suggesting council cover the cost of earth works while the golf club would cover the remainder.

The work would address the bowling club's reports that up to ten stray balls each week had been entering the bowling area, despite vegetation on the boundary between the golf and bowling areas.

To address this, the golf club closed two of its risen tees next to its clubhouse which, with a less than straight shot - or strong winds - resulted in the golf balls flying onto the bowling rinks through a gap in trees to the right side of the tee.

Instead, a temporary tee has been located lower and immediately opposite the bowling club which requires a tee off with the bowling club behind the golfer.

Ms White said while the club had been in operation for more than 70 years, the first complaint about errant golf balls came in 2005 and the problem was then addressed by a row of trees that were planted to create a barrier.

This worked until some of the trees were allegedly poisoned by persons unknown and the resulting gap allowed for some of the golf shots to get through.

In 2020 council approached the club with a request to provide a solution as a result of concerns from the Beachport Bowling Club and a new tee block was created for green fee players while a new men's tee block was created closer to the tree line.

While these measures cost the club $7000, with assistance from council with minor earth works, the change did not resolve the situation so that the problematic tees were closed off with orange bunting and since just before last Christmas all players now tee off from a short course marker opposite the bowls club until the new sunken tee can be built.

A brush with art: Ron Penrose who will be at Karatta Wines next month to meet with subjects to include in his new portrait series.

Posing art

If you have ever wanted to experience what it is like to have your portrait painted by a professional artist then a collaboration between Karatta Wines and artist Ron Penrose may provide that opportunity.

Members of the public are invited to express their interest in having a portrait of themselves painted by Harrow artist Ron Penrose whose works in oils are beautifully textural. There are two sitting days being held at Karatta Wines on May 29 and 30 where Mr Penrose will interview interested subjects and take several photos for their portraits which are then painted at a later date.

Ron said he genuinely enjoys the challenge of discovering who his sitter is and what image, colour and composition best encapsulates them.

"I'm really looking forward to painting people's portraits," said Ron.

"I enjoy getting to know who a person is and the essence of who they are."

"I think when I'm painting portraits I have the best job in the world."

In 2018 a similar exhibition was held at Wilson's Gallery in Robe after Mr Penrose previously met and photographed about a dozen people to paint their portraits.

Karatta Wines' Adam Gould said: "This is about having a unique and fun experience; Ron wants participants to feel there is no obligation to purchase."

"Now is the time to let us know if having your portrait painted interests you."

Interested members of the public are asked to express their interest by contacting contact@karattawines.com.au or phone 08 8768 2608 by May 10.

Entitled 'What's Inside?', the event will see the final portraits showcased early September at the Karatta Wine Room and Gallery in Robe.

Todd heads to Beachport for junior fishing competition

By Kathy Fennell

Penola's Todd McDonald has his fishing gear packed in readiness for the junior fishing competition at Beachport during the school holidays.

The competition is run in conjunction with the Wattle Range Council school holiday program 'Full Throttle in the Wattle'.

A workshop was held on Tuesday at Beachport on how to cast, tie knots, bait a hook, fish ecology, species identification, and participants also registered for the junior fishing competition.

The fishing competition will begin next Tuesday and participants can use either the Beachport or Southend jetties.

Competition presentations will be held next Friday at 6pm at Bompas Restaurant.

Todd is an avid fisherman and has been since he was a young child.

"I just love fishing," he said.

Fifteen year old Todd has participated in many fishing competitions with his best result coming from the Kingston competition held earlier this year.

"I caught a 76cm salmon weighing 2.48kg and won some knives as my prize," he said.

"That's the biggest fish I have ever caught."

He has been on many fishing expeditions in both fresh and sea water and to locations along the Coorong and south east coastal towns.

Todd and his fishing mate Jack are hoping to spend four days at Beachport trying to haul in a winning fish.

"There are species like salmon, squid, flat-head and snapper out there near the jetty so it would be good to jag one of them," he said.

There are also other events in Penola and Coonawarra as part of the school holiday program.

Next Wednesday there will be a range of other activities on the holiday program including a colour run to celebrate the opening of the Penola Coonawarra Rail Trail.

Participants are asked to meet at the Coonawarra railway siding at 10am.

You can run, walk, cycle, scoot, skip or hop and can even wear fancy dress if you want.

Also next Wednesday, there will also be a grape stomp at Brands Laira winery from 11.30am to 12.30pm with some great prizes up for grabs for the best teams.

For those who would like to have a try at petanque there will be a come and try session in the Coonawarra Park from 2pm to 4pm on Wednesday.

Todd McDonald has his rods and reels ready for the fishing competition.

Crowds gallop to races

Crowds turned out in full force for the Penola Cup on Easter Sunday.

Penola Racecourse hosted nine races on Sunday with the main race being the DiGiorgio Family Wines Penola Cup.

The annual family day, which attracts fans of all ages to take part in Easter celebrations at the race track was a success.

The event was highlighted with a range of activities for children with glitter tattoos, face painting and the running race on the track.

"It is just a great day for the family," Penola Racing Club secretary Belinda Holland said.

The Easter Bunny also made an appearance and gave out Easter eggs to kids on the day.

"Highlights for me were all the kids' activities and the Cup, the kids just loved it and had a really good time," Ms Holland said.

She hopes that the yearly family day can bring in a new generation of fans to the sport.

Rain threatened to ruin the day, but families still flocked to Penola Racecourse.

"There was not much we could do about it, obviously we don't have control over the rain but there was plenty of area for people to go undercover," Ms Holland said.

"We had about 750 people turn out for the day, which was what we were expecting."

The Penola Cup was the last event to be held at Penola Racecourse for the season with the next event not taking place until October.

Crafty solution required

Millicent Craft Group has progressed a step closer in their aim to build a six metre extension off the existing building at the group's Fifth Street site.

Secretary of the Millicent Craft Group, Pat Muhovics and President Raz McDonald gave a presentation at council's April meeting last week asking for support to assist in bringing the $51,000 extension to lock up stage.

The group was previously encouraged to apply for council's Community Infrastructure Grants program which requires a 50 per cent co-contribution.

Through fundraising efforts, the group has achieved the co-contribution amount and received development approval for the project.

Unfortunately the group was recently informed the current full lease agreement between council and the group for the land and building means they are ineligible for the Community Infrastructure Grants as these grants cannot be used for a council facility.

To address this, Wattle Range Council has recently agreed to provide in-principle support for the chief executive officer, Ben Gower, to enter into a new land only lease arrangement with the group.

With the current lease due to expire at the end of this year, an option to change to a land only lease would allow the group to apply for infrastructure grants.

The group would then control the building asset allowing them to make decisions on the building, borrow funds against it, and apply for infrastructure grants.

It would also make the group responsible for future capital renewal costs they are not currently responsible for.

Ms Muhovics noted in their presentation

Secretary and President of the Millicent Craft Group Pat Muhovics (right) and Raz McDonald have helped move the group closer to achieving their goal of an extension to the group's Fifth Street workshop.

the group is unique to the region in that it combines pottery, fibre arts and art and craft under the one roof.

This uniqueness also causes issues as the nature of pottery and fibre arts doesn't always mean they are compatible to share the same space.

With about 60 members the group is currently unable to accommodate increasing numbers with a waiting list of members to join.

The space is used every day of the week except Sunday; extra space would allow groups to run concurrently and offer an area for weekend workshops and meetings.

Millicent Lions Club will provide skilled and unskilled labour to bring the build to lockup stage and the Millicent Men's Shed has agreed to relinquish a portion of the community garden area for the extension.

Kalangadoo Lions busy with fundraising

By Kathy Fennell

Kalangadoo Lions Club has been extremely busy raising money for the local community.

Club President, Greg Moore said: "We have been having meat tray raffles at the local hotel each Friday night with all proceeds going to the local community."

In addition to supporting the Sleeping Rough project, in the past four months the club has donated $1000 each to the Kalangadoo Primary School and the Kalangadoo Country Fire Service as well as a large food voucher to a Millicent family, and two bench seats for the cemetery.

The two bench seats were put together by club members with the iron ends being donated by Penola's Royal Oak Hotel.

"The original seats had seen better days and the last lot that were placed out there were not ideal for a cemetery," Mr Moore said.

"There is another seat made up and if there is a need for it somewhere in the community it will be available.

"The club is more than 50 years old and we want to keep it going.

"We currently have 12 members and encourage anyone to come and join us," he said.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month in the supper room of the Kalangadoo Institute.

President of Kalangadoo Lions Club Greg Moore and Secretary Elizabeth Fitzpatrick at the cemetery where the club provided new benches.

"We want to help the community as much as we can and we need members of the community to help us," he said.

Mr Moore can be contacted on 0415 695 406.

Screening bus back in town

BreastScreen SA Mobile Screening Unit will be available in Millicent from tomorrow through to June 8 providing free mammograms for local women.

It is recommended that mammograms are repeated every two years to detect any changes that may be early signs of breast cancer as early diagnosis offers a greater chance of successful treatment.

Appointments can take as little as 10 minutes with female staff on hand to answer any questions although those who live with a disability or have breast implants may require a longer appointment.

The mobile unit will be sited in the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre carpark.

Please contact BreastScreen SA on 13 20 50 to book your appointment as soon as possible.

Beachport jetty work delayed by State Government

Work to upgrade the Beachport Jetty has been delayed after originally being planned for early this year.

The Department of Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) had originally listed the $4.5 million project to begin in early 2022, but recently the project timeline was updated to begin in mid-2022 and be completed by the end of the year.

The works will include the refurbishment of timber piles, framework, decking and railings, the installation of new safety ladders, replacement of decking in poor condition and repairs to the landings, handrails and fenders.

Work on upgrading Beachport's jetty is due to begin mid this year.

People ducked into town

Beachport's Duck Race celebrated 20 years last Saturday.

The annual event was first held in 2002 and brought dozens of race hopefuls to Beachport's Pool of Siloam.

Tickets are sold for $5 each, and plastic ducks are placed in the middle of the salt lake, with the first one to float to shore being the winner.

Blue ducks were in form at the duck race this year, coming in first, second and third.

Gail Simg's duck won the race, taking home prizes from Mini Jumbuk, Di Giorgio Wines and Millicent Toy Kingdom.

With 1054 ducks sold for the race this year, event organiser Dianne Roach said the event was still a success, despite being held in April instead of the usual first Saturday of January.

"That is down from other years, probably our best is around the 1500 mark," Ms Roach said.

"We were very happy still with the sales. Both the barbecues were a success; they did very well financially."

Due to the postponement from January, many who regularly holiday in Beachport over Easter got to experience the race for the first time.

"I did feel for the people who were new who had no idea what was happening, but I hope they enjoyed it," Ms Roach said.

"The reports back have been 'what a great day'."

Ms Roach has been helping in a leading role over the last two years but has been involved in the event since it first started.

She has already started to get a head start for next year.

"We have got the ducks all numbered up ready for next year," Ms Roach said.

"Thought while I was going, I may as well keep it going."

"Next year's race will be held at the normal time in January."

Ms Roach said the proceeds from the race will go towards Beachport's New Year's Eve celebrations; well needed money after a sharp increase in price for holding the event.

"It has given us a great start on paying for the Beachport Christmas fireworks," she said.

Event master of ceremonies (MC), Ralph Adamo has been there for every duck race, and said it is a fantastic event for the community.

"It is just good fun for all the kids," Mr Adamo said.

"It is a great family event, and very Beachport."

Held on the same day, the Beachport Easter markets were as popular as ever.

Organiser Pamela Stratford said the market over the weekend was the busiest she had been involved in, with 60 stalls over 75 sites.

"It has been such a fantastic turnout, and such a lovely day," she said.

"It was certainly busier in so far as there were a record number of sites booked."

"I think the crowd numbers were exceptional as well."

"The stall sites were spread out a little more than usual, using all of the available area on Railway Terrace, the public car park and some of the rotunda area."

Ms Stratford has been coordinating the market over the last two years.

"The money raised from the fees charged for the sites goes back into the community through the Beachport District Development Association (BDDA)," she said.

"The proceeds are used for community projects or funding for events held in Beachport or sponsorship of various community clubs."

The market has become a staple for the town over the years, and Ms Stratford said it is an important event for the town.

"It is seen as part of the Beachport experience and we have visitors from all over the Limestone Coast, Adelaide and Western Victoria taking part in this experience," she said.

"The event provides added incentive for travellers to stay in Beachport; it provides entertainment and an income for the stall holders."

Market organiser, Pamela Stratford was thrilled with the turnout at the Beachport Easter markets.

Melissa Kneen's succulents and planters were in high demand on market day.

Locals Carrie Adamo and Jane Brookshaw sold ducks at the markets.

Roxanne, Imogen and Amanda Sheldon had travelled from Melbourne to watch the famous duck race.

Max and Emma O'Neill were out in the sun at the Easter Saturday markets.

Becky Fisk and Elaine Donaldson were busy at the Kass & Co handmade goods stall.

Joseph Campbell, Karen Campbell and Ellie Campbell with newborn Bobby sold locally grown herbs and garlic at the markets.

Wendy Green and Jessica Green happily browsed the many stalls.

Harvey and Edie enjoyed a snack before the duck race started.

Kath Loder, Malia and Mia were getting ready to go into the salt lake and collect some ducks.

Wedding in rural setting

Family and friends recently gathered in an idyllic rural setting at German Flat to celebrate the nuptials of Tomos Roberts, son of Euros and Colleen Roberts from German Flat, and Ella Osborne daughter of Robert and Angela Osborne from Millicent.

The mid afternoon wedding took place on Saturday, March 5, and the ceremony was performed by civil marriage celebrant Telia Dawson of Tied by Telia.

It was important for Ella to wear something comfortable on the day that would carry through to the night time celebrations held on the German Flat property.

Ella's long white dress, designed by Evie Young, had a tight fitting bodice and flowed from the waist; a train fitted to the bride's hair trailed over the skirt.

The bride's cousin, Lauren Walker, was Maid of Honour while the bridesmaids Tiana Amoroso, Heidi Finnigan and Hayley Burner came into Ella's life after having her son Bryn.

"We met through a mothers group that Heidi put together and they have become my life long besties. Amazing women!" said Ella.

The bridesmaids all wore rust colour satin finish dresses with cowl necks.

The groom's best man was Tomos' brother Marc Roberts, and the three groomsmen were his best friend Sam Wallis, brother Alec Roberts and the bride's brother Roy Osborne.

Tomos and his groomsmen all dressed in black chinos, suede shoes, white shirt and rust coloured bow ties with the groom adding a tweed jacket as a point of difference.

The groom's sisters, Ffion and Bethan Roberts, walked the couple's almost two year old son Bryn down the isle with the rings.

Toasts to the couple were proposed by the Best Man Marc, the bride's father Robert and Lauren the Maid of Honour, while two of the bridesmaids Heidi and Hayley wrote a speech which they sang to the bride and groom.

Tomos had made big plans for his wedding proposal to Ella, but not knowing this she declined to attend.

The proposal then took place at home instead, making it a complete surprise and the perfect moment.

Photographs of the wedding were taken by Elizabeth Harper of Harpers Photos.

Robe shortlisted for best tourist town

Robe has been shortlisted to be named South Australia's best tourism town.

Last year Robe won the Small Tourism Town Award in the State's Top Tourism Town Awards and is competing against five others for the Tiny Tourism Town Award this year.

For towns with a population of less than 1500, the Tiny Tourism Town Award has also short listed Quorn in the Flinders Ranges, Elliston on the Eyre Peninsula, Eden Valley in the Barossa, Meningie in the Coorong, and Langhorne Creek on the Fleurieu Peninsula.

Run by the State's Tourism Industry Council (TiCSA), the awards also have a category for towns with a population above 5,000, and another for towns with a population between 1500 and 5000.

Across the three categories there are 20 towns competing for the awards.

Robe is the only Limestone Coast town to be shortlisted for any of the award categories.

All 20 towns are also eligible for a People's Choice Award, presented to the town that receives the most consumer votes.

Therefore, TiCSA is calling on tourists and locals to vote for their favourite South Australian tourism town.

"Our regions are incredibly valuable to the State's tourism industry, with over 40 per cent of visitor expenditure in South Australia coming from our wonderful regions," TiCSA chief executive Shaun de Bruyn said.

"Not only are the Top Tourism Town Awards excellent for celebrating our regions but they also give them the opportunity to improve their tourism marketing and visitor experiences."

The People's Choice Award voting will close on May 9.

Voters in this category will go into the running to win a two-night weekend getaway valued at more than $500.

All category winners will be announced on May 18.

Lest We Forget ANZAC DAY

25th April 2022

An important day for all

Anzac Day, on Monday, April 25, is an important day of commemoration for all Australians.

The date marks the anniversary of when Australian and New Zealand soldiers landed on the beaches of Gallipoli in 1915, during the First World War.

It provides an opportunity for us to pause and commemorate all Australian men and women who have lost their lives in all wars, conflicts and peacekeeping operations.

We remember the service and sacrifice of our veterans and serving personnel; it is an occasion to remember and recognise the more than 1.5 million men and women who have served Australia in all conflicts, wars and peacekeeping operations.

This year, local Dawn Services can be held without restriction, the first time since the start of the pandemic.

I encourage you, your families, and friends to take the opportunity to attend a Dawn Service to honour the sacrifices of the more than 100,000 Australians who lost their lives while serving our country.

Lest we forget.

A sacrifice for freedom

I remember writing an Anzac Day poem when I was in Grade 4 or 5 at Reidy Park Primary School.

I was hugely excited because it somehow made its way to the Border Watch and was printed.

I still remember most of the words of that poem decades later.

Although it was definitely not a great literary work, one line has stood the test of time.

It was: "For they saved our freedom, fighting for us, so we owe them many thanks".

A simple statement, expressed in a child's words.

One of my first speeches in Parliament after I was elected in 2018 was about Anzac Day, and I quoted local pastor Rudy Furlong's Anzac address.

He said: "that it is those individuals who served their countries with distinction, who paid the ultimate sacrifice in laying down their lives, who enabled us to live in freedom.

"We can pay tribute to their bravery and steadfastness in the midst of incredible odds."

We are paying tribute whenever we acknowledge and remember the service and sacrifice of those who fought at Gallipoli.

We are paying tribute when we honour our current and former defence force members.

We are paying tribute whenever we remember that freedoms that are fought for and dearly won must never be easily given up.

Clare Scriven.
Member of the Legislative Council

It can be through the words of a child, the eloquence of a pastor, or simply by attending an Anzac Day service - let us always thank the women and men who have served so that we can live freely.

Lest we forget

ANZAC DAY

At the going down of the sun and in the morning, we will remember them.

Thank you to all of our servicemen and servicewomen

FOUR LIVES SBS, Thursday, 9.30pm

There's a curious phenomenon that takes place when a comedic actor portrays a dark, serious role. Comedians going against type have the ability to generate a vacuum of joy and set a truly sinister scene. In this harrowing true-crime drama, Stephen Merchant (pictured, Extras) does just that as serial killer Stephen Port, who murdered four young gay men in London in 2014 and 2015. In tonight's second part, the families of his first two victims fight for justice against a series of Metropolitan police failings.

THE GOOD DOCTOR Seven, Tuesday, 9pm

Life-and-death situations are the backbone of medical dramas. When a patient's life is in danger, viewers are sucked into the high-stakes emotions. In The Good Doctor, the lens is instead on the small (and big) interactions between its characters. Shaun (Freddie Highmore, pictured) is a young surgeon with autism and savant syndrome – he struggles socially and abhors change. In "Piece of Cake", he is pushed to the edge. The pressure of dealing with changes to the hospital's staff and procedures provides the pulse.

TRAVEL GUIDES Nine, Wednesday, 7.30pm

After five seasons of travel shenanigans, fans know what to expect from this offbeat series which sends a hotchpotch group of Aussies to various destinations around the world. Scripted or not, we can almost guess how the "bogan" Fren family, posh retirees Kevin and Janetta, or tough-as-nails country sisters Stack and Mel (both pictured) critique a location; perhaps that's the definition of comfort viewing. This week, the amateur reviewers continue their tour around Australia, with the nation's most far-flung capital city, Perth, the destination put under their microscope this week.

PICK OF THE WEEK

BARONS ABC TV, Sunday, 8.30pm

As the cooler months descend, this homegrown series which dives into Australian surf culture in the early '70s is the perfect salve. Golden skies, shimmering blue water and an abundance of shaggy hairdos await in this soapy tale about friendship, power, greed and a shared love of catching waves. Created by Michael Lawrence (Bra Boys) and John Molly (The Gloaming), along with writer Liz Doran (Please Like Me), this eight-part drama stars a who's who of Aussie talent, including Sean Keenan, Hunter Page-Lochard and Alexander England. Tune in for the scenery and surf and you'll also find an emotional drama in the wash.

Above board:

Next generation Everest

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Ford has provided information on its next-generation Everest, saying that it's: "blending adventure-ready capability with exceptional comfort and customer-focused technology in a rugged, refined and fun to drive SUV."

"Built for the adventurous – with capability at its core. Inside, premium levels of craftsmanship have created a quiet and refined sanctuary for up to seven, while new technology and safety features make every journey more memorable."

"When we started imagining the Next-Gen Everest, we started not at the beginning but at the end: With our customers," said Ian Foston, chief platform engineer for Everest.

"They're people who like adventure, recreation and being able to go out with family and friends."

"Whether they're conquering sand, rocks or city life, these customers appreciate the utility, capability and spaciousness of an SUV."

Ford Australia will offer four variants of the Next-Gen Everest.

The Australian range will start with Ambiente, followed by Trend.

Sport joins the range as a full-time model, while the new flagship variant Platinum will offer luxury and comfort.

Platinum is powered by the new 3.0L V6 turbo-diesel, with a 10-speed automatic and permanent four-wheel drive.

The 3.0L V6 turbo-diesel will also be available on Sport.

Platinum's grille design with hot foil accented mesh and silk chrome accents is said to create a sophisticated look and premium feel.

Imposing front of the Ford Everest makes its presence felt.

The luxury interior features heated and ventilated premium leather accented front seats, with 10-way power adjustment and memory function for the driver.

The front seats are finished with quilted inserts and signature Platinum badging.

In Platinum, second-row seat occupants can also enjoy heated seats.

A panoramic roof adds to the luxurious and spacious feel of the interior.

Access to the third-row seats is now easier thanks to second-row seats that slide further forward than before.

All occupants now have places to store their things.

In the Trend, Sport and Platinum variants have power outlets in all three rows.

Ford has prioritised flexible seating in the Next-Gen Everest; the second-row slides with a 60:40 split seatback while on Platinum the 50:50 split third row in seven-seat configuration can be folded at the touch of a button.

Importantly, both the second and third row seats have been designed to fold flat to allow for long loads to be carried safely.

Toyota Land Cruiser Prado ready for adventures

By Chris Riley, Marque Motoring

Since the original Prado debuted in 1996, it has clocked up more than 300,000 sales, making it Australia's best-selling SUV over the past 19 years.

Now in its fourth generation, the current model was launched 13 years ago, so it is not surprising that it's starting to show its age.

Prado was last updated in 2020, with more power for the engine and add-ons across the range, but when you get down to it -- it's basically the same old car.

The style hasn't changed much since it was squared off a few years ago.

For grades apart from GX, customers can choose between having the spare mounted on the tailgate or hidden under the rear of the vehicle.

The latter option replaces the second or sub-fuel tank, which reduces the total fuel capacity from 150 to 87 litres.

This won't be an issue for city dwellers, but could give country folk pause for thought, especially those in outback locations where fuel stops are few and far between.

The top of the range Kakadu is very well equipped.

It has leather accented trim, three-zone climate air, keyless entry and start, tint for the rear windows, and a tilt-and-slide sunroof.

There are also 19-inch alloys, daytime LEDs, auto high beam, auto lights and wipers, front and rear parking sensors with rear cross traffic alert, panoramic and multi-terrain monitor, adaptive variable suspension, rear air suspension with auto levelling, rear-seat entertainment and crawl control and multi-terrain select off-road aids.

A new-generation multimedia system across the range incorporates a larger 9.0-inch touchscreen, enhanced voice recognition, built-in satellite navigation, and compatibility with Apple CarPlay, Android Auto and myToyota, which enables third-party apps such as Waze, AccuWeather and Stitcher.

Refined over time: Prado... the perfect partner of Outback adventure.

There is also AM/FM/Digital Radio with premium JBL 14-speaker audio plus a 9.0-inch rear seat entertainment system with three pairs of wireless headphones.

All four grades are powered by a 2.8-litre four-cylinder turbo-diesel that produces 150kW of power and 500Nm of torque.

It's paired with a six-speed auto (with paddles shifters in the Kakadu) and drive to all four wheels through a full-time four-wheel drive system, with high and low range and lockable Torsen-style centre diff.

It has seven airbags and a five-star safety rating.

The pre-collision safety system includes autonomous emergency braking which can now detect cyclists during the day and pedestrians night and day.

Prado's lane-departure alert system now offers steering assistance by applying the brakes to one side of the vehicle to help prevent it drifting unintentionally into another lane.

Newly adopted road-sign assist can recognise speed-limit changes and can reset the cruise-control to take a new limit into consideration.

The turbo diesel produces 20kW more power and 50Nm more torque than before which is a significant increase, especially the torque.

The extra performance comes from a new ball-bearing turbocharger with a larger turbine and impeller, and improved engine rigidity and cooling.

At the same time, it achieves better fuel economy thanks to optimised pistons and piston rings, changes to the cylinder block and head, higher fuel-injection flow rate and the adoption of high-performance materials for the exhaust manifold.

Despite the increase in power, fuel consumption has been shaved from 8.0 to 7.9L/100km and CO2 emissions are down to 209 g/km.

We were getting a very creditable 9.2L/100km after over 400km behind the wheel.

The tailgate window does however open independently for quick access.

Because the swing tailgate opens sideways it can be a handful to operate if the vehicle is standing on a hill.

Prado is not a car that likes to be rushed, either on or off road, in a straight line or through corners.

The turbo takes a second or two to spool up, then torque comes on hot and strong with a rush, adding some unpredictability to throttle response.

Importantly, overtaking is still not the easiest of manoeuvres, requiring some planning and spending too much time on the wrong side of the road.

Ride is cushy, old school, bordering on rolly-polly, thanks to softish suspension and high centre of gravity, although you can adjust the suspension by switching drive modes -- with Sport+, Sport, Normal, Eco and Comfort modes from which to choose.

The beige/blonde wood interior trim dates the car, as do the analogue instrument gauges.

Off-road Prado is a force to be reckoned with, able to tackle the rough stuff, without cause for concern.

Kakadu gets the clever, Aussie-designed Kinetic Dynamic Suspension System and Multi-Terrain Select system.

When it senses a wheel drop, the system can disengage the stabiliser bars allowing opposing wheels to move independently of each other.

It's the difference between having a wheel spinning uselessly in the air or that wheel on the ground where it can help to push the vehicle forward.

With crawl control activated, all the driver has to do is steer, even in the roughest conditions.

Prado can tow a 3000kg braked trailer, van or boat.

It is covered by a five-year warranty with two years extended engine and driveline coverage.

Capped price servicing is $260 per service up to three years, with complimentary map upgrades for 3 years.

Toyota Prado is an ideal vehicle for family adventure, with a braked towing capacity of 3000kg and strong off-road capability.

Testing day at the track

By Trevor Jackson

The weather closed in somewhat for the McNamara Park Easter Cup meeting on the weekend but that did not deter competitors from pushing their machines to the maximum to gain the outright honours in the respective feature races, or gain points for the South Australian Road Race championships.

Even the BEARS category for British, European and American defied Sunday's rain to put on a show for those keen enough to venture out and spectate.

The Easter Cup certainly turned it on, with Mount Gambier club member Declan Carberry showing his continued improvement in the sport with a feature race victory.

Carberry greeted the chequered flag some 16 seconds clear of Furner racer Dallas Skeer after showing plenty of pace across the weekend.

Both riders showed Jamie Banks a clean pair of heels, with an 11-second gap from Skeer to the third-placed rider.

In the SA Supersport championship, Ty Lynch was in a class of his own, claiming three leg wins to secure 75 points for the title fight.

Carberry claimed two seconds and a third place, while Skeer finished with a second and two thirds.

The SA Superbike championship saw Ted Collins in top form as he claimed two wins for round honours on his 1000cc Yamaha, ahead of Banks on a 1000cc Yamaha, with William Strugnell rounding out the podium aboard a 1000cc Suzuki.

The National BEARS challenge produced some stunning machinery on track, specifically in the F4 category where a gaggle of Harley Davidsons were trumped by a lone Laverda for the round honours.

Matthew Edwards rode his 1000cc Laverda to good effect, with three wins to set the scene at the top of the table.

John Williams was second on points on his 1200cc Harley, while David Butler rounded out the podium on the same overall points on his 1200cc Harley.

For young Adelaide rider Tara Morrison it was a baptism of fire on a borrowed 1200cc Harley, as she relished the extra power and torque compared to her 400cc Kawasaki Supersport machine.

She certainly sported a grin from ear to ear and is keen to return on her own machine in the future.

The SA Championships also boasted the bLU cRU Junior Cup, with up-and-coming riders out to show their capabilities on a group of Yamaha 150cc machines.

Rikki Henry proved the most consistent, with three wins for the outright points, followed by Cameron Rende and Ella McCausland.

Henry also topped the SA Junior Championships, ahead of Rende and Ryder Gilbert.

Overall it was another successful race meeting, with plenty of interest ahead in the remaining SA title races for the season.

Borderline Easter races

By Trevor Jackson

Perfect conditions graced the Borderline Speedway on Saturday night for Round 2 of the annual Sprintcar Easter Trail.

The series kicked off Friday night at Avalon Speedway and was set to culminate on Sunday night at Warrnambool but the final night was rained out.

However, there were no such issues at the Borderline Speedway, with a strong field and a big crowd in attendance.

Fans were entertained by not just the Sprintcars, but Super Rods and Late Models as well.

The roar of V8 engines echoed throughout the night, with all three categories providing a real speedway experience for the fans on the hill.

In the main event, Australia 1 Jamie Veal claimed the honours, despite starting out of sixth position for the Sprintcar A Main feature race.

He was followed home by Troy Little and Marcus Dumesny.

Daniel Pestka was the best of the Limestone Coast competitors, crossing the line in sixth position in the Port MacDonnell based Starks race car.

Glen Sutherland finished 10th, just one position ahead of Scott Enderl.

Little showed his pace early, with a quick time of 11.756 seconds in group one qualifying, with Veal down in fourth place.

In group two Tim Hutchins set the pace with his time of 11.856, just ahead of Dumesny.

That left David Murcott to claim the group three round with a time of 11.638.

Little continued his hot pace in heat one, crossing the line ahead of Ryan Jones and Veal.

Dumesny claimed heat two and the three drivers looked tough to beat.

In heat four Dumesny and Little could not make inroads into the top three, while in heat five Veal fought his way up to third.

Enderl and Sutherland worked their way through the B Main to qualify for the big show, while Little started on the front row alongside Murcott, with Dumesny in third and Veal down in sixth.

At the end of the A Main feature, Murcott failed to finish, while Veal showed his class and claimed the win.

In a bit of a twist, due to a driver dislocating his knee while climbing into his Sprintcar in the pits, which caused a delay while waiting for an ambulance to arrive, the fireworks were underway prior to the A Main feature.

For Borderline Speedway president Cary Jennings it was a top night of racing to end what he said was a good overall season.

"We started on time, the crowd was good

Side-by-side: the Late Models were a worthy support category for the Sprintcars at the Borderline Speedway on Saturday night.

and we finished maybe a bit behind time but that was okay," he said.

"The racing was good in all classes and there were only two incidents in the final where two drivers came together.

"In the final of the Late Models there an incident but the rest of the night we didn't see any other cars get damaged.

"It was only at finals time when the pressure was on there were a few extra incidents."

Jennings said while the crowd numbers were still down on previous season due to the Covid effect, he said each meeting there saw improvement.

"We can only hope the future brings good crowds back to our speedway," he said.

"But overall the season has been good."

In typical style, while the season has just finished, the work continues for Jennings and his crew, with next season already on the radar.

"Next season we will plan for another big one," he said.

"We have a National title for the Junior Sedans and possibly a couple of State titles.

"We will see what the next month brings before we finalise our next season."

Number one: Jamie Veal showed why he sports the Australia 1 number, with a win in Round 2 of the Sprintcar Easter Trail at the Borderline Speedway on Saturday night.

Easter surf up at Robe

By James Murphy

The 54th Robe Easter Classic surf competition had it all on Saturday, with big surf, large crowds and a sea fog delay. As thousands of people flocked to the sea-side town for the long weekend, there were those who still meant business as they hit the water for the annual event. In the Open class it was Torquay's Finn Barry who topped the field to claim back-to-back titles and the $1000 cash prize after one of the tightest finals the competition has seen. A thick sea mist added further challenge to the day for both judges and competitors and the final was delayed due to the conditions. However, after a 20-minute setback the main event was underway and did not disap-point. Barry put on a show and won the final in a count-back from Victor Harbour's Max Long-hurst - winner of the 52nd Easter Classic. Blair Mandall rounded out the podium, while David Steele finished fourth. Robe's Ben Harris was the best on his home surf and as a result won the Dr Jacobs best lo-cal prize. After finishing runner-up in the class last year, he did well to claim the honours in 2022, securing the top step of the podium from runner-up Jimmy Wasson and Ben Legoe. Mark Bruce and Flynn Peel finished fourth and fifth respectively for the locals. The Ian Jennings Memorial local incentive was won by 21-year-old Harry Hooper, while it was Seaford's Maia Taite who topped the women's class. She won the division from Meg Day and Maddie Gillie, while Keira Hunt, Ella Kennedy and Hanah Partridge filled the minor placings.

Penola Hunt Club to hold first official event for season

By Kathy Fennell

Penola Hunt Club's first official hunt of the season will be on Anzac Day next Monday at the Sugarloaf Hills property, Mount Benson. A working bee will held the day before, on Sunday, where final touches will be made in readiness for the hunt which will begin at 11am. Camping will be available. This year will be the club's 60th year and plans are well in hand for celebrations to be held on July 9 and 10. There will be classes for a hunters trial, hunters and stockmen's challenge in se-nior, intermediate and junior sections. More up to date details will be an-nounced closer to the date. The 2022 executive is led by John Earl as President, Kathy Van Den Hoogen as vice president, Jenna Bignell is secretary and Makayla Thompson has the treasurer's role. Committee members are Trudie Slape, Mariska Hawke, Lisa Fritsch, Jo O'Connor and Joanne Vine. Hunt Masters this year are Steph Cooper and Jenna Bignell with Jo O'Connor, Joanne Vine and Makayla Thompson taking on the role of deputy Masters. Secretary Jenna Bignell said: "We are hoping for a good muster for our first hunt but you just never know. "We welcome junior riders, however they must be accompanied by an adult," she said. There are more than 100 obstacles on the course and the hunt will be ridden in formal dress. Meat for a barbecue lunch will be sup-plied however patrons are asked to bring a salad to share. At the halfway mark of the hunt there will be a break for the Stirrup Cup, which is a thank you toast to the landowners. The next hunt on the calendar will be held on April 30 and May 1 at the property 'The Avenue' near Furner.

Penola Hunt Club's season starts next Monday.

Dynamic duo claim 100-up honours

A 100-up pairs competition was hosted by the Millicent Bowling Club last Wednesday. Played over three games, the format is scored with the bowl closest to the Jack receiving four points, second closest three points and so on, with the fourth closest awarded one point.

Both teams are able to score points on all ends played. The grand final for the day had Derrick Lindh and Kym Stewart play Arthur O'Connell and Carl Schapel. By the seventh end Schapel's team led with 37 points to Stewart's 33 points. Schapel and O'Connell then broke away and by the 11th end led by 18 points before they reached their target of 102 points by the 18th end. Stewart and Linh finished with 78 points at the end of play.

Still busy on Robe greens

Bowling continued at Robe last week, with Thursday's social bowls sponsored by The Adventurous Spoon and David and Pam Robinson.

The format was two games of 12 ends, with 27 players enjoying the ideal conditions, with four two-game winners.

The winners with a score of 55+21 were Valma Jennings and Josh Waddell, ahead of Stephen Kennett and Rob Hooper on 55+15.

Third place, with a score of 54 points were Rob Lawrie and Terry Reidy, from David Robinson and Vic Dawson, also on 54 points.

Ann Moore claimed a timely prize of a gas heater in the Easter raffle, while second prize went to Judy Birmingham, third to David Robinson, fourth to Toby Earl and fifth to Judy Birmingham.

Saturday's social bowls was sponsored by Robe Hair Affair and two games of 12 ends were played in perfect weather, with no two-game winners.

Ross and Lorraine Denning and Rob Lawrie claimed the win with a score of 32+17, from Errol Jennings and Maria Cooper on 32+10.

During the week Rob Lawrie played in the LSEBA Veterans Championship and was defeated in his second game 21-18 but won the Robe section.

There will be no Saturday bowls for the next two weeks due to club bookings.

The AGM and closing day is on May 1, with names in to play by 12.30pm, with a barbecue to follow the AGM.

Millicent selectors announced for bowlers next season

A field of 28 players competed in the Millicent Bowling Club's 2-4-2 event last Thursday. The winning pair for the day was Peter Dunncliff and Peter Bateman with a score of 33+13 shots. They claimed the honours from runners-up Arthur O'Connell and Neil Whelan, who scored 32+9.

Also among the winners for the event were Terry Lonergan and Ros Varcoe 31+7, Robyn Rolfe and Peter Hyland 30+11, Ross Warren and Brian Goode 30+4, plus Orr Grosvenor and David Smith 30+1. A draw was recorded between Merle Stevens and Malcolm Wright with Tina Eriksen and Kym Stewart on 16 points each.

Prior to the day's play, Millicent Bowling Club president Peter Hyland congratulated Heather Carthew on her win in the Women's Veterans Champion of Champions Singles last Tuesday at the Mount Gambier RSL Bowling Club. After the game a general meeting was held to elect the selectors for the Open and Women's Pennants for next season, along with the notices of motion for the annual general meeting of the Lower South East Bowls Association.

The women's selectors for season 2022-23 are Carthew, Varcoe and Steve Carnellor and in the Open Pennants David Nuske, Wayne Ross and Kym Stewart were elected.

Mozzies in the hot seat

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr v Kongorong

Mount Burr has had a tough start to the 2022 Mid South East football season, with losses to Hatherleigh in Round 1 and Glencoe in Round 2.

This week the Mozzies host Kongorong with a chance to turn their fortunes around.

The Hawks are also yet to record a win, with a hard-fought loss to Port MacDonnell in the opening round, followed by a big defeat at the hands of Kalangadoo.

The good news is that loss to the Magpies did show some intent from the Hawks right around the ground.

While Kalangadoo claimed a comfortable victory in the end, it was not without a fight.

It was a similar scenario for Mount Burr, with a strong start to the game until a final-quarter blitz from the Murphies turned the contest on its head.

In the opening round the Mozzies showed some solid early form and jumped Hatherleigh in the first quarter.

From there the Eagles hit their straps but there was plenty of class from Mount Burr early.

With both sides chasing their first victory, there is plenty on the line.

Going on last round's form by both sides, this promises to be a cracking game.

If Kongorong can use some of the run out of the backline it showed against Kalangadoo and convert on the scoreboard, it could be a tough day for the Mozzies.

However, if Mount Burr can continue its form from last round against Glencoe, the tables will be turned.

Coming off the Easter break, player availability could become a factor for either team and the result could come down to who fields the closest to a full-strength side.

However, the Mozzies will be eager to put their season back on track and may possess the extra class needed to get the job done.

In a tough game to pick, Mount Burr should claim the points and move clear of the Hawks and Nangwarry on the ladder.

Mount Burr will hope to turn their fortunes around with a win over Kongorong in Round 3 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

Kalangadoo will start as hot favourite to claim the points over Port MacDonnell in the grand final rematch on Saturday.

Grand final re-match to play out at Kalangadoo

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo v Port MacDonnell

In all forms of sport, the grand final rematch is the one all eyes are glued to.

In Round 3 of Mid South East football this weekend we see just that, as Kalangadoo hosts Port MacDonnell in what promises to be an entertaining clash.

Kalangadoo will want revenge for its grand final loss to the Demons and will certainly throw everything at the contest.

It will be a tough task for Port MacDonnell to hold on, in just its second game of the 2022 season.

The Demons began with a tough hitout against Kongorong in the opening round, claiming the win by 25 points after trailing at the first break.

The Demons then opened the game up with a five-goal second term and never really looked back, although they had to remain vigilant throughout the remainder of the game as the Hawks pushed hard.

From there the reigning premiers enjoyed a week off with the bye, followed of course by the Easter weekend.

In contrast, the Magpies have played two games for two wins and sit in second spot behind Hatherleigh on the ladder.

The good news for the Magpies was the return of Michael Krieger last round, after a late-season injury which saw the gun forward out of the last two games of 2021.

he duly kicked seven goals last round just to let everyone know he was back and will certainly be a big focal point against the Demons.

Port MacDonnell's plan for the season suggests they will not be in the race this weekend, as they look to build momentum as the season unfolds and peak at the right time of the year.

While that all sounds good, no one wants to go out and lose any game, especially one with such importance attached.

Unfortunately Port MacDonnell has lost a huge amount of experience and class from its premierships year and will struggle to keep pace with the Magpies in this one.

Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark suggested he was not looking to atone for the grand final loss last year, saying it would obviously not give them the flag they probably should have won.

However, there would surely be many in the Magpies camp who would want revenge and no doubt Krieger would love a big bag of goals to show the Demons what could have happened had he been fit in September last year.

The Magpies should win this one in a canter.

Nangwarry Football Club president Shane Ploenges is excited to announce the opening of the Saints' new clubroom facilities this Saturday.

Grand opening for Saints

By James Murphy

It will not only be sporting action on show at the Nangwarry Football and Netball Club on Saturday, as the Saints officially open their new clubroom facilities.

After disaster struck in 2019 and the club's old building was destroyed in a suspicious fire, the wider community rallied to help the club back on its feet.

Now, after many hours from trades and volunteers alike, the new complex will be ready to open to the Mid South East Football League community this weekend when Nangwarry hosts Glencoe for Round 3 of the 2022 season.

Nangwarry Football Club president Shane Ploenges looks forward to the grand opening and the prospect of a successful season for the Saints.

"It has been a long drawn-out process but we can finally see that things are coming together and it looks really promising," he said.

The new clubrooms will be similar in size to the original structure but with the addition of the canteen, booth and barbecue all under the one roof.

Ploenges said that would make the facility more "user-friendly" on game days.

He is also excited for socialising to return for spectators and players after games - something which had fizzled out due to the absence of a clubroom.

Plenty of socializing can be expected on Saturday, with a 25-year reunion for Nangwarry's 1997 premiership also on the cards.

The grand final was fittingly played against Glencoe, which adds further interest to the day.

Just a few finishing touches are left to go on the clubrooms and Ploenges said it will be down to the wire but he is confident the facility will be all ready to go on game day.

With plenty happening off the field, the excitement is not exclusively on the sidelines this year, with the Saints' A Grade football team appearing stronger than recent years and a positive vibe shared around the club.

"We got very close to a win in our first game," Ploenges said.

"We will be a lot more competitive than what we have been for a few years."

Ploenges is confident 2022 could be the year the Saints break their long-standing drought, with the last time A Grade footballers sang their team song way back in 2014.

"I think we will shake a few teams this year and hopefully we can pick up a couple of wins," he said.

"It would be really good if we could get one this first home game, it would really get the place pumping."

A win on Saturday might be a tough ask as Glencoe looks strong again this year.

However, nothing is set in stone and it would be the ultimate occasion for such a momentous moment in the club's history.

Murphies look for second win at Nangwarry's home

By Trevor Jackson

Nangwarry v Glencoe

Nangwarry started its 2022 Mid South East football season with a bit of a bang, taking the game right up to Tantanoola to almost pull off its first win for many years.

The Tigers prevailed but certainly not without a scare.

This week the Saints will host Glencoe in their first home game of the season, with the new clubrooms ready to go in what will be a big day.

That will provide a real spark for the home side but Glencoe will take little notice.

The Murphies come of a solid victory over Mount Burr last round and will take plenty from the win.

They were pushed for three quarters and now know they can hold on and swing the momentum in their own favour, should they again need to do so.

The Saints will of course want to celebrate the opening of their clubrooms with a bit of style and will certainly throw everything at the contest.

In the opening round, forward Andrew Hyland banged on eight goals for the Saints but was kept quiet last round against Hatherleigh, with just the one major.

The Murphies will certainly need to curb his influence and if he finds any space, he could make them pay.

In last round's win over Mount Burr, Glencoe's Alex Hentschke stood up and kicked four majors but was joined by the class of Dylan Childs, Patrick Mitchell and Henry Smith, all with two goals.

It is certainly a formidable challenge for the Saints and possibly a bit too much to overcome.

While it would be nice to see Nangwarry notch up a victory, not just to break the drought but to also open the clubrooms in style on Saturday night, the Murphies will be too strong and claim the points.

Nangwarry A Grade coach Luke Thomson will hope to guide his players to victory and celebrate the opening of the new clubrooms in style.

Fulton Street wins cup

By Lachlan Onions

The DiGiorgio Family Wines Penola Cup went down to the wire as Fulton Street claimed a dramatic win in a photo-finish over Thrill Kill on Easter Sunday.

Conditions took a turn for the worse as the rain began to pour just moments before the start of the race.

This left owners and trainers tasked with the difficult decision to decide whether or not to scratch their horses.

“The biggest thing today was the fact that it was wet, Fulton Street doesn’t normally run in the wet and we were nearly going to scratch him,” Fulton Street part-owner Quentin Munro said. “So to win is just amazing and it is a great accolade to the team.”

“Originally we thought he would have a really good chance, once it started raining we weren’t overly confident and that’s what makes it amazing is the fact he normally doesn’t run well in the wet.”

Munro has been an owner of Fulton Street for five years and to be at the track to witness the Penola Cup win was the highlight of his time owning the seven-year-old horse.

“He has won in a few other country cups, but I haven’t been on course for them, so this is excellent,” he said.

After his Easter Sunday triumph, Fulton Street can expect a well-earned rest as Munro indicated a spell would be on the cards.

“I think he’s due for a well-earned spell, as he doesn’t like wet tracks,” he said.

“He might like them after today but we’ll bring him back when the tracks are a bit drier.”

The Fulton Street team has been a “close-knit family” which made the moment all the more special for Munro.

“It’s a really proud moment,” he said.

“My daughter was strapping him and I have a close connection with the team and the trainers. “Generally there’s a big crowd of the owners, but for whatever reason they didn’t turn up and they missed out but we enjoyed the day.”

Dexter You Devil rounded out the top three, two lengths behind Fulton Street and Thrill Kill.

Penola looking to go back-to-back

By Lachlan Onions

Penola Eagles return to the netball court this weekend as the reigning premiers host Lucindale in Round 1 of the Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Netball League on Saturday.

After a long pre-season players are raring to go in what is expected to be a tightly-contested matchup. “Pre-season has been good, it has been quite long, we started in the middle of January so I feel like we’ve been training for a long time,” Penola coach Kaitlin Egan said.

“So we’re really looking forward to being able to play this weekend.

“We always have really competitive games against Lucindale so we’re looking forward to having a solid hit-out this weekend and it should be a good match.” The Eagles had a solid pre-season to prepare for the first round of competition. “We had three trial games, one against West Gambier and a couple against Millicent, which has been really good to see where we are at and work out some new combinations for the season ahead,” Egan said. “We had a bit of player unavailability during the trial games but it was still a good opportunity to get some match fitness and see some of our different combinations since we got a few new players in our team.”

The Eagles welcome back former player Brooke Klemm who was best and fairest the last time she played. “She’s a returning player from a couple of years ago and is going to step into that goal defence role,” Egan said.

Ash Earl has made the step-up to the A Grade side after she played in reserves last season. Victoria Henderson has joined the club from Adelaide and will be played at wing attack or throughout the mid-court.

Former best and fairest Brooke Klemm returns to the Eagles lineup for the 2022 Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara netball season.

Eagles host Lucindale in KNTFL opening round

By Lachlan Onions

The Penola Football Club returns to action in the Kowree-Naracoorte-Tatiara Football League on Saturday.

The Eagles will host Lucindale in Round 1, with both sides keen to get their season off to a strong start.

“I think it will be a good game and everyone is pretty keen after watching the Mid South East and Western Border Leagues play two games already,” Penola football president Marcus Devereux said.

“The players are pretty keen to get into games rather than just training and I think they’ll jump out of the blocks and hopefully we can get a good start.”

Penola will look to improve on last season where they finished ninth and won just three games.

However, Devereux remains hopeful they can finish mid-range on the ladder.

“We’ve not recruited as well as we’d like but we have a lot of youth on our side,” he said.

“Brad Maney, who is our senior coach, one of the things that is very high on the agenda of his, is blooding the young players and developing their football skills and nous.

“I think we will win a few games and hopefully towards the end of the season when the players have a bit more experience under their belts, they’ll knock off one of those top sides.”

Lucindale enter the game determined to get their campaign off to a good start after they narrowly missed out on finals in 2021.

The Roos won five of their 13 games last season to finish in sixth place.

“I don’t know how Lucindale have recruited but they always seem be around the benchmark,” Devereux said.

Brad Bryant and Brock Egan will take the reigns as co-captains for the season, with Devereux expecting a big season from Bryant.

Penola A Grade football coach expects big things from Brad Bryant (pictures) for the 2022 Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara season.

“His football ability speaks for itself, the way he performs in preseason and off the field, he is a fitness freak,” he said.

Devereux doesn’t expect the same levels of bumper crowds that are usually prominent for a Round 1 fixture, with Lucindale and Padthaway having amalgamated junior sides.

As a result there will be just the two games of footy for Penola this weekend.

“It is a bit disappointing for us and it will hurt gate attendance but as restrictions are easing with Covid, I think everyone is keen to get back watching community sport and getting involved,” he said.

Top award

McGrath spent a long time away from the sport after playing at primary school in the Millicent School Boys competition and only returned to the game four years ago when she played for Dubbo.

“I played a few seasons in Dubbo and won a premiership there but other than that I haven’t played much footy since I was 12-years-old,” she said.

After joining the club last year, McGrath has become one of the leading role models.

“I got nominated as captain this year which I certainly wasn’t expecting,” she said. “It was quite an honour to be captain and I really enjoyed it.”

McGrath made her presence felt both on and off the field as she was a leading role model for juniors at the club. “What Caroline does for the juniors is great,” Devereux said. “She’ll talk to the young girls and try to help them out along the way, so from a club point-of-view, you can’t ask for a better person to help out the juniors.” While McGrath claimed the league’s top honours, she remains focused on improving as a player and working towards winning the premiership. “Hopefully we can come back stronger next year and I think the goal for next season is to make the grand final,” she said.

Penola’s Angela Broad, Paris Ackland, Caroline McGrath, Chloe Long and Riley Mitchell celebrate McGrath winning the Limestone Coast Women’s Football League best and fairest.

Diving in for footy game

By Trevor Jackson

Robe v Hatherleigh

Round 3 of Mid South East football will see Anzac Day as a major focus across all grades but up at Robe the day will take on a bit more importance.

As part of the Robe 2 Recovery celebrations, Saturday's game will include some special moments before and after the A Grade clash between Robe and Hatherleigh.

It is the second year for the Anzac Day theme, which is hoped to continue on into the future.

The Robe 2 Recovery weekend begins on Thursday night with jumper presentations by Vietnam Veterans from the Limestone Coast and further afield, including members of the Vietnam Veterans Naval Association.

For Saturday's football and netball, prior to the game supporters will be greeted at the gates from 8.30am by the Naracoorte Light Horse Troop, who will be around the ground throughout the day.

The ball will be parachuted in by the Southern Skydive team and delivered to the centre of the ground.

The Ode will be recited, along with a flag raising ceremony including the Australian and New Zealand flags prior to kick off.

A special medal has been cast by Russell's Jewellers for the best-on-ground to be presented after the game.

The Robe 2 Recovery celebrations continue throughout the weekend, including an am-brose golf day on Sunday.

But back to the football and it will be a tough day for the hosts, as Hatherleigh has been a benchmark of the competition even this early in the season, showing some ominous form.

The Eagles recorded a comfortable victory over Mount Burr in the opening round, followed by a thumping of Nangwarry in Round 2.

In contrast, Robe has played just one game after opening the season with a bye and a Round 2 clash with Tantanoola which produced a hard-fought victory.

The Roosters will no doubt lift a notch this weekend, with plenty to play for, apart from just the game.

Robe will look to the likes of coach Tom

Wachtel, the class of Jack Kelly and the returning Sam Clements - who put in a best-on-ground performance last round - to ensure they hold the Eagles to account.

However, Hatherleigh has certainly hit the ground running this season and will be tough to stop.

Up forward coach Jake Dowdy has been among the goals, providing a strong focus as the Eagles push forward.

Add to that the likes of Jake Wight, who had a blinder last week with 11 majors and there is a clear path to goal.

The Eagles have shown plenty of run through the middle and will be a tough proposition for the Roosters, despite Robe holding the home-ground advantage.

It is hard to imagine Robe knocking the Eagles off their perch this week, with Hatherleigh to claim the win and cement their hold on the top of the ladder.

Anzac clash highlights big weekend of netball

Robe v Hatherleigh

Robe hosts Hatherleigh in their annual Anzac Day clash for Round 3 of Mid South East netball in what is considered the match of the round.

Both teams will look to finish the day with a win and they will come out fighting.

The strength of Tori Gluyas in the circle will be a strong point for Robe, making Hatherleigh's defence work hard for any turnover.

Chelsea Galpin will put the pressure on the Roosters at the wing, picking off any loose balls.

Hatherleigh's goalies will also be under pressure from Robe's Ellen Ramke and Emma Grant in the circle.

The tussle between last year's Anzac Medallist Tegan Telfer and Annie Hunter down the court will be one to watch.

This game could go either way in what should be an enthralling contest.

Nangwarry v Glencoe

Nangwarry has struggled to find its groove this season but the strength of Hayley Burner and Shannon Higgins in the defensive line will make Glencoe's goalies, Jenna Paproth and Malinda Markiewicz, fight for every opportunity.

Tahlia Wilson and Ange Pratt will combine well in Nangwarry's attacking circle but the defensive pressure of Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks may prove to be too strong for the Saints.

Markiewicz and Paproth's strength in the goal circle will help guide Glencoe to a victory.

Mount Burr v Kongorong

After another close game in Round 2, Mount Burr will be raring to go and look to gain a win against Kongorong this week.

The accuracy of Ebony Clark in the goal circle for Mount Burr, with Laura Schultz feeding from outside the circle, will get the Mozzies off to an early lead.

The strong combination of Madi Haggett and Olivia Dean in Mount Burr's defensive Tahlia Wilson will be a focal point in the goal circle for Nangwarry as they face a tough Glencoe roster in Round 3 of Mid South East netball.

circle will put the pressure on the Hawks.

However, with Tilah Buckingham returning to the goal circle for Kongorong, Mount Burr's defence will have to work hard to force turnovers as there will be limited opportunities for rebounds.

The Mozzie's skill and experience will lead them to victory over Kongorong's younger side.

Kalangadoo v Port MacDonnell

After two weeks off due to a bye and the Easter break, Port MacDonnell will enter its clash with Kalangadoo well rested.

The combination of Alana Winter and Megan Hein at the defensive end will fight for every ball against Kalangadoo's Estella Serle and Kori Collins.

Sophie Wrightson and Jayde Peacock will feed accurately into the goalies for the Magpies, against the pressure of Liza Mutch and Rachel Perry.

Kalangadoo's strength down the court will make it a difficult game for the Demons as they fight for every opportunity.

This game may be a close one but the Magpies should finish with the points.

McGrath best and fairest

By Lachlan Onions

There were celebrations at Penola recently as women's football captain Caroline McGrath claimed the Limestone Coast Women's Football League best and fairest award for the 2022 season.

The Eagles captain was humbled by the award which came as a surprise to her.

"I'm very humbled by it, it wasn't really a goal, I was just playing footy as a bit of fun with a few friends," she said.

Eagles president Marcus Devereux was full of praise for McGrath.

"The way she conducts herself the five days during the week leading up to the game, she is 100 percent committed," he said.

"Last year was her first year for us and the umpires probably didn't give her the recognition she deserved.

“However, this year she has definitely earned the respect from the opposition.”

McGrath was hailed for her consistency in a season where it was difficult to perform at a consistent level.

"It was hard when you go up against some of the weaker teams and win by 120 (points) and then you would come up against South Gambier and Kybybolite where they are obviously at a much higher skill level," McGrath said.

Penola's Caroline McGrath was rewarded for her consistent effort in the Limestone Coast Women's Football League with best and fairest honours.

McGrath praised the great support team at Penola which helped her to succeed and perform at a high level.

“Daniel Hackwill is probably the best coach

I've ever had in women's sport," she said.

"He's really enthusiastic and professional which is great to have at the club and good for the younger girls coming through."

Despite being officially named the best player in the competition, McGrath only has limited experience playing football.
