CVA's new chief

The Coonawarra Vignerons Association (CVA) is pleased to announce the appointment of Hugh Koch as its new Executive Officer. Hugh will continue the outstanding work that Ockert le Roux has undertaken with the CVA.

Mr Koch was previously employed as Manager of Economic Development and Tourism, a Senior Executive Officer with the Southern Grampians Shire Council, a position he has held since January 2010.

He will assume the new role by late January 2023 and will bring with him a broad range of skills and leadership experiences developed across various sectors, including Local and State Government, Tourism, Events, Hospitality, Marketing and Community Development.

"With a career in government and small business, I have the executive experience and ability to take on the Executive Officer's role that would lead the CGWI through their next chapter," Mr Koch commented.

The incoming Executive Officer is no stranger to Coonawarra, or the Limestone Coast having previously established his very own restaurants in Robe and Penola.

"I have previously promoted Coonawarra as part of my role as Regional Marketing Manager - Limestone Coast; established and owned a restaurant in Penola where I lived with my partner Sophie, a winemaker with Katnook and Treasury Wine Estates at the time."

"Having been raised on a farming property at Nareen, in Western Victoria, practicing in small business and two tiers of government and an extensive community background has provided me with an extensive local knowledge of the broader region and the ability to empathise with people from all walks of life. This experience has given me a strong understanding of the community, the importance and processes of the wine industry in Coonawarra and excellent local knowledge of the people and attributes of the region," Koch said.

The Wattle Range Council truck loaded with equipment to support the Riverland flood crisis. Picture: SUPPLIED

Councils step up

By Caroline Hammat

Wattle Range Council has joined with other Limestone Coast councils to support flood affected regions in the Riverland.

Three weeks ago WRC employees David Taylor and Tim Walker made the trip to the Berri Barmera and Renmark Paringa councils transporting urgently needed supplies to help manage the crisis.

The local government association in Adelaide, which represents 68 councils, put a call out through their emergency response centre for much needed equipment.

WRC co-ordinated the local response and worked with Naracoorte Lucindale, Grant and Mount Gambier councils to source the equipment.

Mr Taylor and Mr Walker drove one of the WRC trucks and transported large pumps, sandbags and event fencing to assist with road blocks.

Four days later two extra pumps were sourced and transported by WRC Chief Executive Officer Ben Gower to the Berri Barmera council.

"We had another request recently for a big generator and Kingston council is currently looking into it," he said.

"They recently bought one as a back-up for power outages for their sewer scheme.

"But they are investigating at the moment because if the sewer scheme runs out of power we are all in trouble.

"We are doing everything we can to help but taking a balanced approach so we don't leave our own communities high and dry."

New tradition here

By Caroline Hammat

Christmas festivities begin in Millicent this Sunday at noon as the Millicent Combined Christian Churches (MCCC) host their inaugural Christmas Fair and Community Carols event in the Rotunda parklands.

With Millicent Lights Up and the Carols in the shed not proceeding this year the MCCC decided there was an opportunity to begin a new tradition.

One of the highlights will see the return of the live nativity play at 4pm hosted by the Lutheran Church in partnership with St Anthony's primary school and the Catholic Parish Choir.

Following the play performances will take place by Newbery Park Primary School and other local talent before the community carol singing begins.

Earlier in the day a display by the Millicent Gymnastics Club will take place followed by a family fun challenge with prizes up for grabs.

President of MCCC Shaun Mulick said the family fun challenge is a number of challenges for family teams, ideally 3-5 people.

"Things like egg and spoon races, jumping jacks and little obstacle courses," he said.

"The team to complete it in the fastest time will win a $200 voucher for Fosters Foodland and they have generously donated a runner up prize of $50 as well."

At 3pm a walk up talent show will take place with Mr Mulick keen to see the variety of talents hidden in the community.

From juggling to ukulele playing all are welcome to compete for the Millicent's got talent $100 Toy Kingdom voucher.

Market stalls, cooking demonstrations, Rob's Carriages and face painting by the local Youth Hub participants will also been on site during the afternoon with Santa Claus appearing later in the day.

Mr Mulick said the MCCC had discussed hosting a larger event for next year with plans to close George Street with stages, fireworks and rides all a possibility.

"Maybe hold it more in the evening so it's carols by candlelight afterwards.

"This has come out of conversations in my chaplaincies at the mills (Kimberly-Clark and Timberlink) and also as president of the combined churches that people want this, they miss the old street party.

"Maybe being a combined Christian churches event we might have a similar thing at Easter, so Easter and Christmas would be our big community events."

There have been challenges in putting the event together with Wattle Range Council in caretaker mode creating some limitations and trying to avoid clashing with already established events in the region

Seating will be provided but people are invited to bring picnic blankets and folding chairs if they wish.

30 children from St Anthony's Catholic School prepare to rehearse for this Saturday's performance in the park.

Kay's fond farewell

By Kathy Fennell

A total of 43 years working at a small country school is a wonderful achievement by any means, let alone most of that time being voluntary.

This was the situation recently when more than 90 people attended a retirement celebration for Kay Fenn of Nangwarry at the local football club.

Kay moved to Nangwarry from Mount Gambier with her husband who was employed at the Nangwarry sawmill in 1967.

She was also employed at the Bedisons mill at Nangwarry for three years and sadly due to a tragic housefire in 1975 lost her husband and son.

Kay then went on to raise her three children Jo, Trevor and Chris in Nangwarry.

In 1979 she started volunteering at the Nangwarry Primary school doing odd jobs, listening to students read and helping out in the classrooms.

"I did go on the payroll in 1984 for just five hours a week and in the last 20 years have volunteered in the library.

"I have met many people over that time, many becoming life long friends and the young students from back then have their own children and grandchildren now," she said.

Kay said one of the highlights in her career was when the Governor of SA, Olympian Marjorie Jackson came to the school and presented her with a 25 year service certificate.

"The students were so excited as she showed them the shoes she ran in at the Olympics, she said.

Kay said the enrollment at the school when she first started was 175 and now is just 22.

The closing of the local sawmill had a huge impact on the town as well as the school," Kay said.

At the celebration evening former Nangwarry school principals, Karyn Prelc and Erica Hurley along with current principal Jess Herrewyn spoke on the oustanding service Kay had given to the school and the community.

Many staff and parents from past years attended from all over the south east.

Kay has also been involved in the local football, netball and softball clubs and was heavily involved in the Nangwarry Community club.

I don't have any immediate plans for my retirement. I still love to garden so that will keep me busy, she said.

"My kids keep asking me when I am going to move to Mount Gambier and I say to them while I am capable of living where I am that is where I will stay.

Kay Fenn cuts her retirement cake

Regional plan on land use

The State Planning Commission is looking to consult with Limestone Coast communities as it begins developing a new plan for the region.

Limestone Coast has been identified as one of six regions across the state in line for a new regional plan that will guide land use and infrastructure needs over the next 15 to 30 years.

Minister for Planning, Housing and Urban Development Nick Champion said the Commission is eager to hear from the Limestone Coast community.

"The regional plans will provide a long-term vision for each region to support sustainable economic and housing growth," he said.

"We want to hear about what issues and opportunities regional communities see for land use planning, infrastructure and the public realm across South Australia, and what is needed to support sustainable growth over the next 15 to 30 years."

The Commission is set to begin its first round of engagements with stakeholders and local governments in the area from December through to March 2023.

Those engagements will help form a draft of the Limestone Coast's regional plan, which will be released for broader community consultation in mid-2023.

CEO raises works concern

Millions of dollars in projects may be altered, delayed or scrapped all together from the Wattle Range Council schedule, after consecutive years of stretching the staff to the limits.

Speaking to the Wattle Range Council meeting last Thursday, Chief Executive Ben Gower expressed concerns over the council's ability to deliver all its capital works.

"We have $28m in projects, and next year,we have more carryover projects, and we won't be able to deliver," he said.

"It's not an exact science but looking at how we operate, we have the human capacity to deliver about $7 or $8 million in projects each year.

"Last year I said we had the capacity for $8 million, and we put $14m in our budget."

"We have staff shortages that we can't fill, critical roles that we can't fill.

"We have asked our staff what stuff we can't get to, and we will carry forward, scale back or cancel projects."

He said the delay was caused by many factors, including staff shortages.

Speaking the the South Eastern Times outside of the meeting he said it was not a matter of money, but people on the ground.

"We got the organisation to a point where we were delivering about $8 million worth of capital projects per annum comfortably, and then COVID hit, and all this economic stimulus money started flowing in.

"We rapidly started to ratchet up our expenditure, and at the same time, we actually put through two zero per cent rate rises and so that sort of limited our ability to get more staff to do the work.

"So we went from $8 million to $14 million and the last two years, we've done $14 million worth of capital works.

"Now, last year, we weren't able to achieve it all and I did warn them the previous year that we didn't have enough resources.

"We've got the cash to do it, because we got grants and all that sort of stuff to help us, but we don't actually have the arms and legs to do it."

He said council had approved a $14 million budget, despite warnings that they needed to be "ruthless" with the budget.

"'I said, look, we've got all of our mandatory asset management plans that drive the maintenance on our roads, and our buildings and all that sort of stuff. They contribute millions towards that programme and we need to do those.'

And I said, 'then we've got about $6 million worth of carry forwards, coming from last year that we didn't complete. So you're gonna need to be ruthless on your capital projects next year'.

"I went on leave for a month and I came back and we're back at $14m again so while I think they listened, they have an appetite, it's well-intended, they want to please the community, which is great.

"But it's burning my people out."

Wattle Range to go electric

The Wattle Range Council will be looking to go electric when it comes to their fleet of vehicles.

A report tabled at the the Wattle Range Council meeting last week reveals that a KIA EV6, has just been ordered for the council chief executive Ben Gower.

Councillor Dennis Muhovics asked Mr Gower about the vehicle and how he intended to charge it.

Mr Gower said he picked the vehicle as it was able to be repaired locally, and was the best option available.

He said he was hopeful charging stations would be installed around the Wattle Range council area in the near future.

"There are charging stations to go in at Beachport, and we want to match as closely as possible at Millicent and at the library, in our new offices and in some of the Visitor Information Centres in the network that are council owned and operated," he said.

"We want to change the whole fleet to electric vehicles."

He said private investors, such as business owners, are likely to invest in chargers in an effort to attract a "captive audience" for the length of a charge.

Celebrating 40 years of music with kids

The children and educators of Gladys Smith Early Learning Centre recently celebrated a special milestone with long-time friend of the Centre, Joycelin Walker.

Mrs Walker has been sharing her love of music and movement with the Gladys Smith children for 40 years.

Centre Director, Clara Walker expressed her gratitude for the generous support and dedication of this talented volunteer

"Mrs Walker or MR Walker as the children call her, has a great sense of humour and has a genuine passion for children," she said.

She was a teacher who worked at both of Millicent's kindergartens in the 70s."

"She comes to visit us once a week for an hour, playing the piano for the three to five year old children, with other age groups joining in at times too.

"She introduces new songs, as well as all-time favourites, bringing with her props for the children to dress in or hold while they join in and sing-along."

Through music and dance children develop self-awareness, body concepts and spatial awareness along with confidence building, courage and risk taking in trying new things and having a go.

The children also learn how to follow instructions, learn new mathematical concepts and extend their vocabulary and understanding of language all while having fun.

"Having real life music with a pianist makes us feel so fortunate and we are very lucky to call Mrs Walker our music teacher here at Gladys Smith Early Learning Centre," Clara said.

Telstra's four-day blackout

By Caroline Hammat

Telstra gave four days notice via a social media post that telecommunications equipment sited at the Millicent water tower would be turned off between Monday December 5th to Friday December 9th.

The outage has inconvenieced businesses across the CBD with owners expressing disappointment about the lack of notification or information available about the outage.

Acky's Takeaway owners Nigel and Kylie Ross have lost business during the outage and on Tuesday were relying on a staff member's Optus phone data to be able to offer their customers the option of using EFTPOS.

"I heard through rumours on Friday the system was going to be down for four days" Mr Ross said.

"I made an enquiry and a Telstra representative told me there was no such outage and nothing was occurring, yet here we are, second day now.

"I didn't receive any notice from Telstra there was going to be an outage in the area and unfortunately our merchant banking through our EFTPOS machine is only wireless and they have a Telstra sim card in them.

"With the network down we've had customers in and they are not carrying cash.

"They have card we can't service them, so they turn around and walk out.

"We are losing business and it's not easy with a small business for that sort of thing to happen.

Ms Ross said

"We've struggled, we've had customers come in grumpy because we can't provide a service, they leave to get cash and they don't come back.

"We can't get phone orders, it's been hard."

McCourts Garden Centre recently had a new EFTPOS system installed and thought that was the problem Monday morning when they could no longer process payments.

"Someone saw it mentioned on Facebook and showed it to me" garden centre owner Christine Agnew said.

Nigel Ross from Acky's Takeaway contacted Telstra last Friday and was told there would be no outage.

"It would've been helpful (if we were notified) because I would've been able to switch over to wifi if I had known it was happening.

"It was quite stressful because I was under the pump, it's Christmas and we are really busy and I do all my orders on a Monday morning.

"I missed the order so now my seedlings are coming a day later, things like that, I could've had that sorted."

The disruption to service is required so SA Water can complete repainting the 28 metre high tower and comes on the back of previous work at the site which impacted Telstra customers during May and June earlier this year.

The telecommunications company explained through their online statement the three sectors located at the site will be turned off at different times to minimise the impact to customers.

A SA Water spokesperson told the South Eastern Times that work to upgrade the storage tank is expected to be completed by tomorrow with crews applying a protective paint coating to the outside of the tank as the final component of the project.

"For the safety of our crews, Telstra are temporarily isolating their equipment housed on the tank while we're working on certain sections, which we've scheduled to help minimise any impact on telecommunications services for their customers.

"Sustained rainfall during recent months has delayed the completion of our upgrade.

"There has been no interruption to our customers' water supply during the project."

Telstra were unable to be contacted for comment.

Car charges

A man and a woman have been arrested in Millicent after being caught in an allegedly stolen car late Monday night.

About 10.30pm on 5 November, Millicent patrols were travelling on Williams Road at Millicent and spotted a reported stolen Victorian green Land Rover at a service station.

The car had apparently been involved in a number of petrol drive offs over the past couple of days and police recognised the vehicle.

Patrols pulled into the petrol station and when the driver spotted police he attempted to drive off however the officer jumped in the car and restrained the man.

A 27-year-old man from Adelaide was arrested and charged with illegal use and driving unlicensed.

The passenger, a 20-year-old woman from Mount Gambier was also arrested and charged with illegal use.

The pair was refused police bail and appeared in the Mount Gambier Magistrates Court on Tuesday 6 November.

Investigations are continuing in relation to the petrol thefts.

Reunited after surprising online search

A Google search has led to a connection between long lost relatives.

When family historian Jean Winterfield sat at her computer in search of stories about her relatives, she was surprised when she found comments from some distant relatives online in 2017.

"I got the old surname happening, and then the Surrey Historical Society page came up, and I looked at this person and I thought 'gee, okay', and then I looked at different names that were associated, and I thought, they're on my family tree," she said.

"There were little messages to society from these women saying 'Oh, that's my great, great uncle' or something and I thought, 'well, they're alive!' - with family research, they're usually dead.

"I thought, 'Oh, how am I going to get in touch with them?'

"So I just emailed the Historical Society and asked them to put me in touch with these people, and a couple of days later got very excited emails from these two women."

Those women were Sheila Richards (nee Medhurst) and Annie Dean (nee Medhurst), of Sussex, who are Mrs Winterfield's fourth cousins.

"We share the same three times great grandfather, Michael Medhurst," she said.

"So their great great grandfather is Mark and ours was James. For whatever reason, I think it was the hardships of life back in the 1850s in England, he upped stumps, and he and his wife and two little kids came to South Australia. And then they've just bred."

More than 20 cousins gathered at the RSL.

James Medhurst settled in Glencoe.

The cousins have stayed in touch over the years, and even made plans to visit Mount Gambier, but Covid delayed their trip.

Now, five years later, the family has finally been able to come together in Mount Gambier, bringing with them Sheila's husband Geoff and Annie's husband Tony.

Flying from England last month, the family reunited in Mount Gambier for several days, and took a trip to Glencoe, where their relatives settled after leaving England.

More than 35 Medhurst relations gathered in Glencoe during the visit to meet, reminisce and catch up.

"They flew in on Friday, November 4, and on Saturday, we did the tourist bit in the morning, and then went to lunch with 22 the cousins" she said.

"And then on Sunday, we all jumped in cars and went down to Glencoe because that was where it all started."

While the cousins had to return home shortly after the visit, the family will keep in touch via email and Facebook, and other Medhurst relatives have discussed travelling to England.

WRC jobs go begging

By Elisabeth Champion

Wattle Range Council is struggling to fill key job vacancies, despite some being vacant for more than two years.

The matter was raised at the Wattle Range council meeting last week, with chief executive Ben Gower saying they had exhausted all options to recruit a senior planner, a job which has been left vacant for two years, including employing head-hunters and looking internationally.

They have also taken part in programmes to help with attracting graduates to the region in an attempt to encourage them to stay.

Mr Gower said the vacancies mean the council will have to scale down projects, with no manpower to get things done.

Speaking outside if the meeting, he said it was part of the national skills shortage.

"There's actually a national shortage of planners, and they just not producing enough for the industry to soak them up," he said

"So we've been without a senior planner for two years. Now we contract that work to accompany in Adelaide, but that's not ideal, because they're 450k's away."

The council currently employs two planners, who were attracted here through a pilot programme, but not a senior planner.

"They are working towards their accreditation standards, but they're not at that senior planning level, yet. They're a number of years away.

"They're both international students, and while we'd love to keep them here forever, they're higher flight risk then than locally grown planners, so it does come with its challenges.

"But there's a massive shortage.

He said the vacancies applied to a number of key roles within the organisation.

"We've also got significant shortages with civil engineers and we've had that for years as well," he said.

"It's those sorts of roles have been long term, though more recently, we've found it very difficult to find senior finance managers."

"I would have thought with the advent of online banking systems and all that sort of stuff that that they'd be in abundance of senior finance people, but there's not there's actually a nationwide shortage.

"So we've all these positions, we've used head-hunters, we've done everything we can possibly think of. And we've got long term vacancies.

"It's happening right across the board, we know the other councils are struggling, and we know businesses are struggling to find these this sort of talent.

So we're just gonna keep chipping away at it.

"My message to the chamber was, while we've got these vacancies, there's certain things we're not going to be able to achieve for our community. We just don't have the resources to do it."

Feds stump up with foreshore funding

Kingston SE will be further protected from erosion thanks to a federal grant.

Six projects aimed at protecting South Australia's iconic coastline will proceed with the federal government providing $6.7 million to help South Australia mitigate the risk of climate change.

Seawalls will be constructed at Wyomi, south of Kingston SE, and at Victor Harbor to reduce the risk of erosion to the respective coastlines.

The six South Australian projects were among 34 funded nationally under the Coastal and Estuarine Risk Mitigation Program.

Recent modelling shows South Australia is expected to receive much more extreme weather including over the next 25 years and these projects will be vital in terms of reducing the impact on communities.

Projects funded under the scheme include the construction of rock seawalls and breakwaters, large-scale beach erosion protection and improving community awareness of coastal hazards.

Deputy Premier Susan Close welcomed the funding.

"I welcome the Albanese government's commitment and dedication to mitigating the risks to the environment associated with climate change," she said.

"It is absolutely critical we build resilience to climate changes within our communities and these project swill help to do this.

"Climate change is expected to increase the risks of flooding, storm surges and erosion, so it's vital we get on with these type of projects aimed at mitigating risk."

Minister for Emergency Services Joe Szakacs said one in two Australians live within seven kilometres of the coast, potentially exposed to coastal flooding

"As we experience increasingly severe weather events, we need to be better prepared and this means investing in disaster mitigation strategies and infrastructure," he said.

Funding will help to fix erosion issues at Wyomi Beach.

Mayor Kay Rasheed welcomed the funding.

Do Christmas eve in Millie

By Caroline Hammat

Businesses in Millicent's central shopping precinct are encouraged to take advantage of Saturday's Christmas Eve date and stay open until 5pm.

The Millicent Business Community Association (MBCA) is encouraging last minute shoppers to look local for their gifts and organising a 'Christmas Eve in Millie' event.

MBCA chair Fiona Telfer said

"We are a fairly new committee and still finding our feet.

"Businesses were telling us they wanted to stay open until 5pm on Christmas eve so this is our way of supporting them and encouraging the locals to get out and finish off their Christmas shopping in Millicent."

To support the initiative the MBCA is arranging for a variety of activities to take place throughout the day.

A roaming Santa will be out and about visiting selected stores and handing out lollies.

Santa will be available for two photo sessions throughout the day at Dani Bell Photography studio in George Street.

Pre-bookings can be made via Ms Bell or walk-ins will be available on the day.

Families are encouraged to find their competitive spirit and enter the gift wrapping and Christmas tree decorating competitions.

Denton's Sportspower is holding a basketball shoot off competition for children between 5-10 years old in Ignition Fitness outdoor gym area.

"Children can just come on the day and it will be a shoot off, the winner will take home a Free throw basketball system worth $330.00" store manager Donna Denton said.

Free entertainment continues with Sonya Chant from Glitterbug offering face and body art from 1pm-4pm.

Retailers are encouraged to offer Boxing Day type store deals on the day for the bargain hunters and elf on the shelf scavenger hunt, buskers, pinata bashing are also taking place.

Although the street will not be closed off for the day the MBCA is utilising the vacant spaces in the CBD and the use of the Wattle Range Council parklet.

The Christmas Lights Spectacular, sponsored by several local businesses, will announce the winner of the best decorated home and the best business shop window around 2pm. The MBCA encourage locals to get out and support their local businesses and

Ms Denton said

"The MBCA is working hard to create something on Christmas Eve.

"I feel we are well supported by locals and we want to have as long hours as we can so locals can continue to shop with us and within our district and town as well."

Donna Denton (right) with Abby Denton and Paige Nitschke, who are running the Christmas Eve basketball shoot off competition, stand with the prize up for grabs during the afternoon.

Summer here with a splash

By Caroline Hammat

Summer's first weekend in Millicent was a success with warmer weather seeing the swimming lake a popular place to be.

Tourists from Mildura and day trippers from Mount Gambier were making the most of the fine weather to relax while children were kept busy swimming or queueing to use the inflatable obstacle course.

It was the first date this swimming season that Wattle Range Council had scheduled for the popular inflatable activity and is the first of numerous dates scheduled for the swimming season.

Nangwarry swimming pool is next to host the fun activity this Saturday afternoon with Penola swimming pool's turn the following Saturday, December 17.

Visiting from Mildura were siblings Larissa and Kurt Murby.

Alyssa and Emily Parkes with Ariella White had fun on the inflatable obstacle course.

Sonny and Lux Wiese were yet to try out Wattle Range Council's inflatable obstacle course on the other side of the lake.

Natasha and Audrey Rogers relax after swimming.

Narisah Smith, Meg Malseed, Tayla and Fiona Kelly relax while their children played nearby.

Daisy Kinder and Lara McCallum from Mount Gambier brought their children to Millicent for some swimming lake fun.

Tex and Brax Thomas are happy the lake is now open for summer.

Kaiden, Leanne and Kristal Shawyer take advantage of Millicent's burst of warmer weather.

Bailey, Elizabeth, Clyde and Cassie Levinson caught the warm weather in time for a Sunday afternoon swim.

Kiarrah Koehne and Kate Spinelli-Jones spent the afternoon relaxing at the lake.

Rural Matters

Rural Aid has now made an urgent plea for donations through the Buy a Bale program.

Buy a Bale is back

The dire flood crisis continuing to grip huge areas of land and communities within New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia has prompted the urgent relaunch of Rural Aid's Buy a Bale rescue campaign in the lead up to Christmas.

Thousands of rural families face a bleak festive season, with recovery from what has been deemed Australia's most expensive flood event hampered by ongoing rain across the more than 130 local government areas already declared disaster zones.

Rural Aid has now made an urgent plea for donations through the Buy a Bale program, which first came to prominence when it raised $100 million for drought-affected farmers between 2015 and 2020.

Rural Aid CEO, John Warlters, said the scale of this disaster made it necessary to bring Buy a Bale back.

"These floods have had unprecedented impact on rural Australians - families are losing their homes and livelihoods and entire towns are being wiped out," Mr Warlters said.

"Hay supplies are running out and stranded animals are drowning and starving. Crops are rotting in the ground.

"It's time to bring Buy a Bale back, not only to provide much-needed fodder deliveries, but also to offer financial assistance, clean drinking water, volunteer and counselling support to Aussie farming families facing this crisis."

Rural Aid predicts at least a two to three-year recovery for communities, with the funds required to adequately support farmers and families estimated to be in excess of $50 million.

With concerns the extent of the disaster has not been fully communicated to policy makers, corporate Australia and the broader community, Mr Warlters is urging governments and private donors to commit to prioritising the wellbeing of affected communities.

"We're ready to execute an extensive recovery support program based on a tried and tested approach, but we need as much help as we can get," he said.

"With the generous support of the broader community, we can help keep our farmers going, get them back on track, keep homegrown produce on our tables, and stand with our mates in regional Australia.

"These families need help, and they need it now. Without it, they face a frightening and uncertain time as the rest of the country gears up to celebrate Christmas."

Deniliquin farmer and Rural Aid board member, Airlie Landale, said the floods have been catastrophic.

"It is now summer, yet it still feels like winter is rolling on and haunting us. It feels wrong to be speaking about too much rain, but these floods have taken a toll on so many," Ms Landale said.

"Farmers have lost thousands upon thousands of hectares of crop, producers have lost livestock, fences and their homes, and rural communities and businesses have been isolated and inundated with water.

"It will take months – if not years – for people to recover, but I know the strength and resilience of our rural people will once again shine though."

All donations received by Rural Aid ensure the ongoing provision of critical economic and empathetic assistance to farmers, including the expansion of their national mental health and wellbeing program.

Long La Nina hits quality of 2022 harvest

The harvest of 2022 has been delayed for farmers due to a larger amount of storms and colder temperatures interfering, which has caused delayed growth and a significant challenge with weed control and increased disease.

Rural Business Support (RBS) has been offering its services by responding to enquiries submitted by farmers struggling with the 'wet drought' which has been used to describe the current weather and how it has been leading to major crop losses.

The latest storms over the weekend have had many farmers dealing with shot grain, spoiled hay or water-logged crops.

What should have been an exceptional harvest is now a cause for concern as farmers count the cost of the wetter than usual spring.

RBS CEO Brett Smith said croppers and mixed farmers who were already considering the financial impact of the 'wet drought' and down-scaling the quality of their crops to work through options would be in a better place to recover financially.

"By preparing contingency plans for the remainder of the season and considering the short and long-term implications on your business model sooner, farmers can take action earlier to ensure they are protected financially," Mr Smith said.

Mr Smith encouraged farmers who were concerned about their cashflow and ongoing delays to this year's harvest to reach out for a confidential chat about their options sooner rather than later.

Farmer of the Year nominations now open

Nominations are open for the Kondinin Group and ABC Rural 2023 Australian Farmer of the Year Awards.

The Kondinin Group and ABC Rural Australian Farmer of the Year Awards recognise excellence in rural and regional Australia.

They offer an opportunity to celebrate individuals and families involved in Australian agriculture, encompassing a diverse range of sectors and service provisions.

The 2022 Awards unearthed incredible individuals – from the New England plains of New South Wales, to the coastal stretches of Esperance in Western Australia. Ben White, General Manager of Research at Kondinin Group, anticipates another outstanding crop of winners in 2023.

"Over the course of the Awards, we have received around 1000 nominations," Ben said.

"It has been great to see nominations change over that time, and reflect the shifting landscape of Australian agriculture.

This year we have modified an existing Award to support this.

"The Award for Excellence in Diversification will now be known as the Award for Excellence in Diversification and Sustainability, identifying the growing appreciation of our role in the sustainability of our land, our farming enterprises, our industry and our communities."

Potential winners of this award will be drawn from finalists in the Australian Farmer of the Year and Young Farmer of the Year categories, as well as nominees selected by Senior Judges as standouts in this field.

Nominations can be completed at www.farmeroftheyear.com.au

Motoring

Flying in the face of rivals

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

The 2023 dual cab Raptor lives up to its wild-world moniker representing the bird of prey in all its elusive power and engaging street presence, the latter emphasised by contrasting black wheels and signature grille, plus 'RAPTOR' decals on its flanks.

The Ranger Raptor has been around for a while, four years to be exact, and like its predecessor, the latest generation, developed by the Australian design and engineering team with Ford Performance DNA, relies on Ford's F-Series trucks for its pedigree.

The newbie, with its own looks and more power, is streets ahead of the 'old bird'.

However, so is the price - $85,490, plus on-road costs, as opposed to $74,900, plus on-roads.

To my mind, the MY23 Ranger Raptor carries off the extra 'load' well.

Opposition includes Nissan's Pro4-X Warrior and Toyota HiLux Rogue.

The Ranger Raptor is surprisingly restrained in exterior looks – flashy chrome is conspicuous by its absence - relying on dark FORD block letter radiator grille, grey wheel arch extensions and functional fender vents, and black powder coated die-cast aluminium side steps.

Matrix LED headlamps are accompanied by LED daytime running lights and front fog lamps.

LED tail lamps can be found out the back with a rear bumper with integrated step pad and towbar.

Tow hooks front and back share company with front bash plate made from 2.3 mm-thick steel, while an optional factory fitted power roller shutter seals the lined tub from the weather.

The Raptor comes standard with 17-inch alloy T285 / 70 R17 BF Goodrich K02 high performance all-terrain tyres.

A full-size spare is slung under the vehicle.

Ford Performance seats embossed with Raptor signature logo, suede inserts and orange highlights and stitching.

Up front they are firm yet comfortable and supportive during spirited cornering.

The rear bench is wide enough to take three adults.

The sports steering wheel has room for a selection of controls including selective drive modes and paddle gear shifters.

Storage is made up of a deep centre console bin and phone charge pad.

Triple stack of glove compartments is designed to take stuff of multiple size and shape.

Doors incorporate bottle storage and cup holders pop out from the outer dash.

A centre mounted tablet-style 12-inch touchscreen with a Ford SYNC 4A system and wireless Apple CarPlay and Android Auto connectivity.

There's a 12.4-inch configurable digital instrument cluster directly in front of the driver, while the Bang and Olufsen audio has its quirks operating the on-screen controls.

The sound could be sharper too.

Half a dozen factory-fitted ready-wired auxiliary switches are handily sited in the roof, while the door release is not so, being a horizontal lever hidden inside the door pull.

If there was one thing wanting on the previous Raptor it was its shortcomings in the power department.

The 2-litre four-cylinder turbo-diesel engine was not up to it.

The MY23 model tells a different story.

Made from the same high-performance material Ford uses in its NASCAR racing engines, the 3-litre twin-turbo-charged petrol V6 unit is a different beast with up to 292 kW of power, plus 583 Nm of torque on tap, 85 per cent more power and 16.6 per cent more torque.

The Raptor rests in the upper reaches of Ford Ranger territory ready to swoop on rivals.

The prodigious power is put to ground by a ten-speed automatic transmission and front and rear differentials, giving the truck 2500 kg braked trailer towing capacity.

The Ranger's five-star ANCAP score cannot be extended to the Raptor because of differences in such things as engine size and ride height.

However, the list of safety features includes autonomous emergency braking, adaptive cruise control with stop-and-go, traffic sign recognition, blind-spot monitoring with rear cross-traffic alert, lane-departure warning and lane-keep assistance, automatic headlights and high-beam, 360-degree camera, front and rear parking sensors, tyre pressure monitoring and intelligent speed limit assistance.

For a start (literally) there was a surprising amount of turbo lag: unusual with the advanced turbo tech of today.

However, late in the test I discovered the racy Baja anti-lag system that, at the touch of a button, enables rapid delivery of boost on demand.

Thus engaged, the ute fairly flew off the mark accompanied by a unique and full-on exhaust note.

Ford claimed an optimistic fuel consumption of 11.5 litres per 100 kilometres on the combined urban/highway cycle with 98 RON premium unleaded, the test vehicle could do no better than 13.5 litres per 100 kilometres in a range of driving conditions.

The driver has access to a plethora of selectable drive, steering, damper and exhaust modes, all of which can be lumped into one at the touch of a single button.

Trail Control comes in handy off road, helping to maintain constant speeds up or down varying terrain, while unique 17-inch optional beadlock-capable wheels are designed to minimise damage from rocks while off-road driving.

Brakes, ventilated discs front and rear, are boosted electronically, while Ford Performance developed Fox 2.5-inch Live Valve internal bypass shock absorbers and electronically controlled front and rear locking differentials do their part to make off-roading safe and comfortable for occupants.

The sports steering wheel has room for a selection of controls including selective drive modes and paddle gear shifters.

Raptor's sheer bulk and large turning circle regularly called on the efficiency of its 360-degree camera with its dynamic guidelines to avoid costly scrapes.

Maximum water wading depth recommended is 850 mm while maintaining steady speed of 7 km/h or less.

Despite the odd stumble, when all the talking ceased, the Ford Ranger Raptor showed itself to be worthy of its elevated position in the species.

Streets ahead of the Raptor it replaces.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

PICK OF THE WEEK

FRANKLIN
SBS, Sunday, 9.10pm

The grandeur of nature is the beating heart of this deeply moving doco. An eloquent feature film from art-house director Kasimir Burgess, two rippling currents propel the story. One narrative stream follows the historic early 1980s "Franklin Campaign" and the movement to stop a hydroelectric project in Tasmania's World Heritage-listed Franklin River. The other tide features eighth-generation Tasmanian Oliver Cassidy (pictured, right, with Bob Brown) embarking on a mentally and physically taxing solo rafting pilgrimage down the river in memory of his father, one of the protestors who fought to save the waterway from destruction. The mix of nature, politics and family ties anchor this gem.

WAR OF THE WORLDS
SBS, Thursday, 9.30pm

Returning for season three, this modern retelling of H.G. Wells's classic 1898 novel about an alien invasion of Earth plays a bit like Terminator meets Independence Day. The ambitious sci-fi drama has deviated quite far from its source material, with the focus now on wormholes, time travel and mass hallucinations. Brilliant scientist Bill Ward (Gabriel Byrne, pictured) has saved humanity but finds himself further estranged from his family. Bitter with his lot, he bristles at the distressing news that people around the world are experiencing a mysterious phenomenon. Meanwhile, an interstellar discovery leads astrophysicist Catherine (Léa Drucker) to investigate the crisis.

OUR YORKSHIRE FARM: 5 YEARS ON THE FARM SPECIAL
9Life, Tuesday, 8.30pm

Living a simple life on a farm is a bit trendy these days, isn't it? But have you come across Amanda and Clive Owens? The British couple took countryside living to the extreme, living on a remote 2,000 acre Yorkshire farm while homeschooling their nine "free-range" children. Some will call it idyllic... for others it's a hellish prospect. This special looks back at how the couple's unique parenting style and lifestyle has shaped their brood. If you haven't tuned into this worldwide hit before, this trip down memory lane is a nifty way to get acquainted with the unique, hardworking family who shunned modern life.

HOLMES FAMILY RESCUE
9Life, Wednesday, 7.30pm

It's a family affair on this Canadian reno series. Traditionally, renovations are prime material for breaking up marriages and putting families on tenterhooks; it's perhaps the do-good premise of this series, in which inferior and plain-bad building projects are rescued, that saves the Holmes' family from self destructing. We follow contractor Mike Holmes and his son and daughter, home-renovation aficionados Michael Holmes, Jr. and Sherry Holmes, as they get families off the hook and salvage terrible jobs. Tonight, the duo help a woman is in danger of losing her foster parent license.

Shak Von Stanke and a big snapper.

Ange Millar with a nice gummy shark.

Sunny days for anglers

By Jamie Coates

A hot and sunny weekend across the Limestone Coast was just what the doctor ordered for us southerners.

A good dose of sun, light winds and flat seas saw masses of people hit the water for the first weekend of summer, with plenty of fish caught right along the coast.

Offshore has been busy over the last week or so, with a massive list of species reeled in as anglers headed over the shelf while the weather has been nice.

Tyson from Want To Fish Charters put his clients onto some cracking fish over both days of the weekend.

The crew managed blue eye, hapuka, gummy shark, school shark, nannygai and snapper for the table in what looked to be a ripper few days on the water.

James Varcoe and crew found some excellent fishing out there too, managing a good feed of hapuka off the bottom and a ripper big eye thresher shark that weighed 85kg cleaned.

We go on about how good gummy and school shark are all the time on the table, but these thresher sharks are next level.

I think half of Millicent got a feed out of this big boy.

In a bit closer, the fishing from 60 metres through to 120 metres was excellent again.

Pete Haarsma and Ange Millar found some nice sharks over the weekend, with Ange managing her first ever gummy, a ripper 1.3m fish and a bit over 10kg.

Inshore this week we have seen heaps of snapper.

Just about everyone has been getting into them this week, from Green and Danger points, through to Factory Bay, Orwell Rocks, Hutt Bay and Cape Douglas all the way through to Carpenter Rocks.

There were a few ripper fish caught this week, but the snapper of the week, I would say, would have to be the one Shakky Von Stanke boated off Carpenter Rocks that was 82cm and over 7kg.

Matt Bell and crew found some rippers in Gerloff Bay on Saturday afternoon, boating snapper to 60cm and silver trevally to a couple of kilos.

The guys on the beach have been in to the snapper as well, with more 60cm plus fish being caught off the sand.

Want To Fish charter clients with some nice blue eye trevalla.

Andy Barton has been landing a few nice fish each trip with plenty of his being around that 50-60cm range around the Factory Bay/Danger Point area and a few rays, sharks and other bits and pieces in between snapper.

The whiting fishing this week has been red hot, the stir from last weekend matched with a few calm and windless days saw plenty get stuck into them.

Much like the snapper, the distribution of the whiting has been unreal.

Landbased and boat based anglers have all been in the thick of it managing fish to over 50cm and in good numbers.

Our usual haunts are all fishing well, from Port MacDonnell through Carpenter Rocks and up to Beachport and Cape Jaffa.

Last year we were all super impressed by the whiting numbers and this year is looking even better.

Plenty of waders made the most of the warm weather on the weekend to chase a feed of gar in their favourite spots and very few came home disappointed.

The gar are in great condition at the moment, they are in great numbers and they are spread out.

It is becoming more and more common now to see anglers catching some nice gar off the Port MacDonnell jetty, which is safe for the kids and accessible by everyone.

Speaking of the Port MacDonnell jetty, we are seeing some encouraging numbers of squid turning up in the evenings now and the size is quite impressive.

I spoke to one fella down there over the weekend and he had squid with a hood length of 40cm, which has to be a couple of kilo or more.

The jig of choice at the moment seems to be bright colours, be it white, yellow or lumo, just something that stands out seems to be the go.

Sticking with the jetty, there has been some nice tommy ruff caught of an evening recently and there has been the odd mackerel starting to turn up too.

It has been a while since freshwater fishing has become a regular part of my fishing report, but now that Rocklands Reservoir is fully stocked and fishing well, Lake Toolondo is getting filled up and all our other inland lakes are chock-a-block, it has become a weekly thing and I love it.

Lake Charlegrark was abuzz with speedboats and skiers over the weekend, but that does not stop the cod coming out of an evening.

Campers soaking a bait overnight will often wind a cod or two in while it is dark, or even first thing in the morning as the sun comes up.

There have been more fish caught in Rocklands Reservoir this week – both yellowbelly and cod have been on the radar, but a few redfin and Aussie bass have been nailed too.

Dark soft plastics seem to still be the biggest producer, but we are seeing more and more taken on spinnerbaits, chatterbaits and bib-less vibes.

The Glenelg River is starting to regain more and more clarity by the week and although there is still a heap of water to come down, it looks good and is fishing well.

The bream and perch have been on fire – some really big samples of both have been caught anywhere from the Caves area and downstream, but it is still quiet on the mulloway front.

There has been the odd very small whisper of a few fish down there, but nothing major just yet.

We are hearing of pretty good numbers of big fish spotted on the sounder, so hopefully they turn on soon.

The weekend forecast looks like it should be another good one.

Low seas and easing winds should make for a great weekend on the water.

Until next week, safe fishing.

Final round at SEAC Park

The South East Automobile Club held its final round of the season at SEAC Park recently.

The day/night event proved promising as the track was dusty and firm before the start of proceedings.

Kevin Raedel drew the number one and was the first car on track.

His Falcon rally car took on the track with plenty of flair.

Nicholas Cagney put his Toyota 86 around the course for a fast time of 1:46.12, which was the quickest in the opening round.

He was followed by Geoff Wilson, who cranked out a good lap of 1:48.56.

Jayden Edwards rounded out the top three for the first round with a time of 1:48.93.

Damien Wilson found good pace to be next home with a tidy 1:49.00 and closely followed by the in-form Damien Brand, who stopped the clock at 1:50.44..

John Whitehead's Phoenix Buggy came in next with a time of 1:51.00, while Dion Becker put himself in a good position early on with a time of 1:51.72 to take seventh spot.

Always one to watch, Gary Brown had the Falcon sideways at every opportunity and stopped the clock at 1:52.43.

Another with plenty of sideways action, Barry Edwards pushed his Commodore as hard as conditions would allow and returned home with a time of 1:52.62.

Young Corey Brand has learned how to drive a car quickly from his father Trent and Uncle Damien.

This was shown with excellent car control and claimed 10th place on the first run with an impressive time of 1:53.07.

Dale Cagney let loose in Rond 2 and looked to make up for a poor first run after a popped tyre.

He set the place alight with a time no one could match at 1:42.96.

Nicholas Cagney put in a similar time to his first run, with a 1:46.53 and finished one second ahead of the third-placed Damien Wilson.

Becker claimed fourth place on the second run with a time of 1:48.38, which was three seconds ahead of his time in his first stint.

Matt Kirby improved on his first lap by five second to claim fifth place with a time of 1:49.72.

Kirby narrowly edged out Barry Edwards, who stopped the clock at 1:49.91.

The were marginally faster than Damien Brand and Max Gartner, who finished seventh and eighth.

Jayden Edwards could not match his opening lap and had to settle for ninth place, while Brown rounded out the top 10 with a time of 1:52.13.

The third stint saw Dale Cagney almost match his previous lap as he stopped the clock at 1:43.85 seconds to hold out his son Nicholas, who was just under two seconds back with a time of 1:45.47.

Wilson's time of 1:47.38 was enough to claim third place, while Becker's consistency continued as he claimed fourth spot.

Dale Cagney claimed the overall victory in the final round of the season at SEAC Park recently. Pictures: DARREN - TURN 8 PHOTOGRAPHY

Dion Becker was one of the more consistent drivers at SEAC Park.

Nicholas Cagney slides his car out of the exit of a corner.

Matt Kirby rounded out the top five when he came home with a time of 1:48.69.

Jayden Edwards found a better line than the last run to finish at 1:49.28, while Damien Brand was next after a time of 1:49.7.

Barry Edwards, Mark Jennings and Max Gartner rounding out the top 10 in the third run.

After a break for tea, racing resumed as darkness took over the circuit.

Dale Cagney was again the benchmark of the competition as he set the pace with a well-driven lap to cross the line at 1:43.47.

He was closely followed by Nicholas Cagney who stopped the clock at 1:46.81, while Damien Wilson rounded out the top three.

Jayden Edwards improved on his previous outing to put in a solid lap for a time of 1:47.37.

Becker claimed fifth place with a time of 1:50.34, ahead of Damien Brand - who stopped the clock at 1:50.81.

Barry Edwards claimed second place with a time of 1:50.84 seconds, while Gartner, Bailey Perryman and Brown rounded out the top 10.

The last run for the evening saw Dale Cagney finish off the day with a 1:43.81 lap to hold out a big effort from runner-up Damien Brand.

Nicholas Cagney's 1:45.22 was enough to claim third place ahead of Damien Wilson in fourth.

Becker continued to show his consistency as he came home in fifth place with a time of 1:48.41.

Jayden Edwards stopped the clock at 1:49.53 ahead of Barry Edwards, who set a time of 1:50.29 seconds.

The hard-charging Brown sealed eighth place with a time of 1:50.34, while Matt Kirby's Laser set a time of 1:50.44.

Geoff Wilson, nursed his Peugeot into the final place in the top 10 with a time of 1:51.47

Dale Cagney recovered well from his flat tyre first round to hold on to the first place overall with a total of 8:49.59 from Nicholas Cagney with his consistent day at 8:50.15 for second spot.

Damien Wilson enjoyed his birthday outing, to claim third place with a time 8:57.75.

Damien Brand pinched the points for fourth outright, with his rapid final run enough to clinch the edge out Becker in fifth.

Jayden Edwards' total of 9:07.65 seconds was good enough for sixth place, while Barry Edwards was next with a time of 9:13.78.

It was a mixed day at the wheel for Matt Kirby who drove his Laser well enough to claim eighth spot with a total time of 9:18.35 seconds.

Brown set a respectable time of 9:19.59 seconds to finish ninth, while Bailey Perryman rounded out the top 10 with a time of 9:20.32 seconds.

Dahler takes singles cap in busy week for Robe bowlers

The Robe Bowling Club held its women's singles championships last Wednesday.

At the end of the day it was Robbie Dahler who claimed her first singles title.

In the semi final Tracey Gray defeated Bronwyn Matthews 21-11, while Dahler accounted for Valma Jennings 21-19 in a tightly contested game.

Dahler started well, winning the first three ends, before Jennings gradually pulled back to get in front.

The lead changed regularly until Dahler scored a three on the final end to claim the win and a place in the grand final.

In the decider Dahler had a comfortable win over Gray 25-12, yet the scoreline did not reflect the quality of the game.

Season proper wraps up

By James Murphy

SOUTH GAMBIER 5.5 (35) d KONGORONG 2.4 (16)

The final minor round of Under 16 Limestone Coast girls' football went as expected, with the opening match won by South Gambier over Kongorong.

It was always going to be a tough ask for the reigning premiers, who entered the round with just one win under their belt.

South on the other hand had a point to prove, coming off the back of a loss to Kybybolite the previous round.

The Demons opened the scoring and held an eight-point lead at the first change.

They doubled that score in the second term, but the Hawks fired back to keep the margin at eight heading into half time.

A low-scoring third quarter followed, with just three behinds recorded between both sides, before the game opened up in the final stanza.

South booted three goals during that period and while Kongorong chipped one back of its own, it could not stem the flow.

When the final siren sounded the Demons had pushed out to a 19-point lead, which safely secured it a third-place finish for the home-and-away season.

Jarrah Altschwager was the main damage dealer and she topped the scoresheets and South's best players with three goals.

Sophie Wight, Lucy Pridham and Lilah Rowe also played well for the victors, while Pridham managed to find the big sticks on one occasion.

The Hawks looked to vice captain Stevie Collins on the night and she was named as their best-on-ground.

Lacey Hannaford, Vespa Scott and Addison Graney were also good, while Kyla Gordon, Lily Jacob and Graney all kicked a goal each.

North Gambier's Grace Altschwager goes for a handball under pressure.

North Gambier's Penny Koleman rises to the challenge in the ruck contest.

NORTH GAMBIER 3.5 (23) d Kybybolite 1.2 (8)

A three-goal haul from Kaylee McNair helped North Gambier to a 15-point win over Kybybolite in the final minor round game of the season.

The second-placed Tigers were heavily favoured heading into the match, but Kyby made them work for their victory.

An early goal from Evie Koch gave Kyby a four-point lead at quarter time, but from there on North proved why it is a premiership contender.

A return of 2.2 in the second term leapfrogged the Tigers in front, while a quiet third quarter saw Kyby score a behind to chip the deficit back to eight points.

The match remained up for grabs in the fourth, but a third and final goal from McNair silenced any chance of a comeback and North secured its sixth win of the season.

McNair was named best on ground for her efforts, supported well by Stella Davis, Yenna Joyce and Hayley Pudney.

Jessica Cox was best for Kybybolite, with Stella O'Brien, Cleo Adams and Chloe Copping also among the frontrunners.

Touches went to Jayden Williams (Gizzies Crew) 4, Craig Todd (The Pups) 3, Luke Ferguson (The Pups) 3, Paul Bosco (Try Hards) 3 and Rex Clark (Lions) 3.

Sparkies (John Madden, Pat Muhovics, Terry Lonergan, Bob Reilly) claimed the win in Red division with a win over Grand Hotel 19+16.

Other winners were Jack Attack 18+8, Awesoe Foursome 17+1, Max's Four won on a forfeit 16+0 and Rovers 15+1.

There were smiles all round from Penola players as they claimed their first victory of the season.

Penola claims win

PENOLA 12-111 d
LUCINDALE WOMBATS 12-107

It was a hot day on the courts of Penola, the Penola Rangers claimed their first win of the season with a thrilling victory over the ladder-leading Lucindale Wombats.

The Lucindale Wombats came out strong and won four out of the six mixed doubles clashes.

The number one contest saw Chandler Smart and Eliza Handbury prove too strong for Penola's Daniel Hackwill and Tegan Lythgo, as the visitors claimed a 6-2 win.

However, the Rangers gritted their teeth and fought back in the singles encounters.

Penola won three of the six men's clashes and four of the women's contests.

It was another strong performance from Hackwill, who claimed a 6-1 win over Smart, while new recruit Oliver Homan defeated Adrian Maywald 6-2.

Handbury used her experience to its fullest to defeat Lythgo in the number one women's clash.

However, Penola's bottom four women, Kate McDonald, Caroline McGrath, Leticia Gosse and Necia Evans all claimed vital wins for Penola.

Scores were tied at 9-9 with the last round of doubles to be played.

The Wombats won the top-two seeded women's doubles but the hosts fought back with wins in the next two doubles.

The men's top doubles was the last set of the day and the Penola held a 12-11 lead.

The clash went into a dramatic tie-break, where Lucindale's Smart and Maywald claimed a 10-9 win over Hackwill and Homan.

However, it was not enough for the Wombats to claim victory as the clash ended with sets tied at 12-12 and Penola claimed the victory on a countback on games won.

LUCINDALE COCKATOOS 15-125 d
LUCINDALE KOALAS 9-98

An entertaining contest took place at Lucindale where the Cockatoos proved too good for the Koalas.

The ever-reliable mother/son combination of Leanne and Sam Graetz dominated the top of the order and neither dropped a set throughout.

It was the mid-to-lower of the Cockatoos which proved the difference as the Koalas fell short in some tight tussles.

The matchup between some of Dean Goldsworthy's tennis proteges was enthralling as Clare Garner and Cate Orton defeated Jess Legoe and Kylie Ware in the doubles.

The results were then reversed between Orton and Legoe in the singles.

BEACHPORT 15-126 d ROBE REBELS 9-90

Both the Rebels and Beachport struggled for players but eventually managed to field a side.

It was an even contest early on in the day as the mixed doubles clashes were split 3-3.

The number four mixed doubles contest saw a great battle take place between Jesse Robertson and Hayley Agnew and the Rebels' sibling combo of Emma and Ben Lang.

Agnew and Robertson proved too good and claimed a 6-4 win.

After the conclusion of the singles, Beachport held a two-set lead headed into the doubles.

A show was put on in the top men's doubles and and Beachport claimed a 9-7 victory.

Beachport's Axel Joyce made his senior debut and claimed 6-4 win over Jade Lawrie-Read in the singles.

Beachport ran home to claim a 15-9 win.

NARACOORTE 14-121 d KINGSTON 10-98

At Naracoorte, a scorching battle took place.

The mixed doubles saw Kingston take the early lead with easy wins to the top two and bottom two doubles.

Jacob Mules and Erika Watson had a tough battle against Naracoorte youngsters Max Lush and Alice Redding but came away with a 6-4 win.

In the singles, Naracoorte started its comeback with wins to Poppy and Michele Moyle-Read, Jen Malone, Alix Mosey, Sid Malone, Steve Biggins and Max Lush. On the far court, Will Malone and Lou Leidig battled it out in the heat and Malone secured the win 7-5.

For Kingston, Matt Menz, James Lehmann, Georgia Burns and Erika Watson all gained singles sets.

Naracoorte held the lead as the final six sets were played for the doubles.

Kingston pairings Matthew Menz and Shaun Mules and James Lehmann and Jacob Mules made easy work of their doubles, to level the scores with four sets to play.

In a turn of events, Naracoorte's Katelyn Baker and Redding turned their day around to claim a 9-5 win after they both lost their singles sets earlier in the day.

Naracoorte eventually proved too good and claimed the final sets to win 14-10.

FRANCES/LUCINDALE EAGLES 12-125 d
ROBE ROOSTERS 12-100

A thrilling clash took place at Robe as the Eagles claimed victory on a countback.

The Eagles women proved the difference, as their convincing wins guided Frances and Lucindale to a 25-game victory.

Sarah Hinge, Mon Van Dyk, Sophie Ford and Flo Burgwin all won three sets for the Eagles.

The match of the day was between the top men, Egan Regnier and Paul Rains and James Crossling and Craig Jones.

The clash went down to a tie-break where Robe's Regnier and Rains claimed the honours.

More close games are predicted next week for Round 8.

The Robe Rebels will play host on the hard court against the grass-court specialists Lucindale Koalas.

Elsewhere, Penola will look to claim its second win of the campaign when it hosts Beachport, while Naracoorte will host the Robe Roosters.

The Wombats will do battle with the Cockatoos at Lucindale and the match of the round will be between Kingston and the Frances/Lucindale Eagles.

B Grader cards score of the round

A field of 19 women contested a stableford round at the Millicent Golf Club last week.

On the day Heather Anderson topped A Grade on a count-back from Virginia DeDonatis, after both finished with 36 points.

However, the largest score for the round came from B Grade winner Karen Lock, with an impressive 41 points.

Lois Tilley secured second place for the grade with a respectable 35.

Ball winners included Val Williams with 35 points, plus Helen Chilton and Robyn Walters on 33 points.

It was no surprise to see Lock take out the nine-hole competition with 22 points.

Nearest the pins went to Chilton on the second shot of the 12th, Debbie Tincknell for her second shot on the 17th and Pam Packer for the second shot of the fifth hole.

Players revel in conditions

A windy day at Port MacDonnell did not deter 40 SE Veterans golfers from enjoying their latest round, although the scoring did slow down somewhat.

Vice captain John Kamp ran away with 37 points to record the day's best score and won first division from Gordie Fleming on 33 and Geoff Cameron on 32.

Second division went to the local Neal Rowe with 33 points, while Glen Tilley counted out Lyndsay Copeman on 32.

The ball rundown was to 24 or better, the Ross Orchard went to Lindsay Storer and Doug MacPherson, while nearest to pins were claimed by Bryon Coe and Colin Rex.

The next outing is at Millicent on December 12 and is a free entry meeting, before an extended break until January 16 next year at Kingston.

Eagles win final rematch

By Lachlan Onions

PENOLA 10/186 d
EAST GAMBIER 10/139 and 2/37

Penola has claimed its second Barber Shield win of the season after impressive performances from Jack Mullan and Mark Smith.

After the Bulldogs claimed a wicket late on Day 1, there was still a chance for the visitors to take something away from the game.

East Gambier then claimed the wicket of Jack Schulz in the opening half an hour to make it 2/80 and Penola needed another 60 runs for a first innings victory.

However, Mullan showed why he is one of the best batters in the competition and thwarted any chance his opponents had of taking something away from the game.

Mullan combined with Mark Smith to take the contest away from the Bulldogs.

Smith added a solid 49 runs to his team's total, while Mullan scored 61 runs off 124 balls.

Asides from Smith and Mullan, , Schulz, Lachy Jones and Josh Doyle all made handy contributions down the order to help the Eagles soar.

Despite the fact Penola surpassed East Gambier's first innings total, it was still an impressive game from left-arm spinner Emerson Marks.

Marks ended with figures of 4/37 off 25.5 overs including eight maidens.

Alongside Marks, Alex Hentschke, Angus Clarke and Marc Roberts all claimed two scalps each.

The Bulldogs then went into bat for 20 overs, where Dion Stratford posted an impressive unbeaten score of 36 off 30 balls.

His quick-fire cameo included three 4's and two 6's.

James Sullivan also made a handy contribution to bring an end to any chance of Penola taking an outright win with 25 runs off 46 balls.

Jack Mullan plays a lofted drive.

Fine weather brings big scores in juniors

By Jock McClure,
young junior cricket contributor

Last Saturday saw Round 5 of the Under 14 Hall Trophy unfold.

This week's opponent for Naracoorte/Penola was South Gambier.

The turf pitch at McCorquindale Park was as hard as a rock, the weather was stinking hot and both teams were ready to play some cricket.

Captain Bernie Watson lost the toss for the first time this season and South elected to bat.

The openers for South, Ethan Hunt and Axel Page came out to bat, having to face Watson and Lachlan Gericke.

The first over for the match had a bit of everything - wides, byes and runs. Watson's first over ended, going for five runs.

Gericke's first over was better than the first, only going for two runs.

Watson's second over was a tidy one, being a maiden, which was good for the team.

The next two overs then both went for two each, which had the South batters wanting for more runs.

Gericke's third over was a mixture of good and bad for South.

Page smacked a boundary, but he was sent walking on the next ball, caught by Watson.

South was 1/17 and Scott McBain came out to bat.

Darcy Pilkington and Eamon Southern were next to bowl for Naracoorte.

Pilkington's first over was all over the pitch and rewarded the Demons with 12 runs.

Southern arrived though and picked up a wicket off the first ball of his spell.

Hunt was dismissed, making eight runs and South was 2/40.

Next to bat was the fierce Jaggar Geary.

Both Geary and McBain had intentions to play, making a healthy partnership.

Geary on 53 and McBain ended on 32, both having to retire.

Kobi Maxwell and Miller Bradley came out to bat next and they both wanted to get their innings quickly underway.

James Bull, Jack Pilkington, Charlie Cox, Bryce Catlin, Jock McClure and Jack Kay attempted to stop them, but they could not.

Both added over 20 runs to the South total.

Samuel Gericke was next to bowl and he claimed the wicket of Bradley, caught by McClure at mid-off to see South 3/197.

Next in was Shoeb Khan, who looked to make some quick runs.

Unfortunately for him, Watson came back into bowl and he was dismissed LBW for four.

Maxwell retired at this time, walking off the field after making 28, with Cooper Fear and Xavier Little next to bat.

They were both out to Watson as Fear was judged LBW and Little was bowled.

In came Mason Rodgers and Sebastian Morello, but both only faced a few balls as South had extra players.

Callum Featom and Lincoln Holtham saw out the remainder of the 40 overs and South finished up 6/232.

This week Naracoorte/Penola will try to chase down this mammoth total, but with some key players out, smart batting and running decisions will be vital.

Other results of the day saw Millicent make 114 for the loss of nine wickets against Mil Lel and Mount Burr made 6/185 against West Gambier.

Clutch win for Rendelsham

RENDELSHAM 7/195 d MILLICENT 9/190

Rendelsham claimed a thrilling victory over Millicent at McLaughlin Park on Saturday in Round 7 of Millicent/Naracoorte cricket.

In a game where momentum ebbed and flowed, the visitors won the toss and elected to bat first and the Blackcaps struck early when Jacob Todd bowled Zach Jones for 11.

Jaxon Cushion claimed his side's second wicket of the game when he dismissed Jacob Carger in the eighth over to make it 2/22.

However, the Blackcaps' momentum was soon quashed as Dylan Cough and Ethan Bowman formed a 98-run partnership.

Eventually, Sam Hunt found the breakthrough to claim a much-needed third wicket for Millicent to make it 3/120.

After a long wait at number five, Brad Wight made his way out to the middle but did not last long as he was given LBW for a duck to make it 4/126.

Wickets began to fall and Max Telfer was soon stumped off Hunt's bowling as the pendulum shifted back in the hosts' favour.

However, Ayden Reid and Clough pushed on and formed a handy late partnership.

The latter was bowled with six overs left in the innings after an impressive 80 runs off as many balls.

Clough's stint included one maximum and 11 4's,

Reid led Rendelsham to 7/195 at the end of the 40 overs and finished not out on 33.

The visitors started strongly in response and claimed two early wickets and Millicent was in trouble at 2/14.

Todd and Sam Hunt then formed a solid 36-run partnership to reduce the pressure before the latter was caught off Tyson Smith's bowling.

Corey Baker was bowled not long after to make it 4/67.

Kobe Gibson then made his way out to the middle and helped increase the run rate alongside Todd.

After he added a solid 31 runs off 26 balls, Gibson was bowled by Carger to make it 5/121 with 16 overs left.

The game was in the balance as Millicent needed 69 runs off 90 deliveries with five wickets in hand.

Alex Wesolowski added 16 runs off 25 balls while Todd kept busy at the other end.

However, Rendelsham continued to pick up wickets and eventually took the vital scalp of Todd for 72.

With just two overs left, Max Hunt and Michael Gibson were at the crease and needed 16 runs to claim a win for Millicent with just one wicket in hand.

Gibson added five runs in the penultimate over and the Blackcaps had their backs to the wall with 10 needed to tie the game with six balls left.

Gibson scored five runs off the first five balls of the over to see Hunt back on strike with a maximum needed to win the game.

Smith ran in and despite the pressure, bowled a dot ball give Rendelsham a narrow win.

Max Telfer was a key player for Rendelsham with three wickets.

Stewart Hinze swings hard at a ball late in Lucindale's innings against Mount Burr.

FOOTBALLERS FURNER BEACHPORT 4/73 d KINGSTON 10/71

Footballers Furner Beachport claimed another win on the weekend as they downed Kingston after a dominant performance with the ball.

The home side's bowlers were in top-form as they took wickets while staying economical in the process.

Sam Bell was the pick of the bowlers in the first innings as he took 4/11 off 5.2 overs.

He was supported by Ben Gordon, who took 2/11, as well as Ryan Bateman, Gerard McGrath, Harry Rana and Jase Bateman, who all claimed one wicket each.

Kingston responded strongly when it claimed the wicket of Sam Kent for a duck.

However, Jase Bateman fought on and added a crucial 39 runs for his side's cause.

He was supported by McGrath who scored 14 runs.

Kingston claimed a few late wickets but it was all in vain as the home side claimed a six-wicket win with 25 overs to spare.

LUCINDALE 6/172 d MOUNT BURR 10/100

Lucindale claimed a comfortable 72-run victory over Mount Burr with an impressive performance with bat and ball.

The Roos batted first at Mount Burr Oval and Kallan Bevan claimed two early scalps to leave the visitors in trouble at 2/15.

Michael McGurk and Will Graetz formed a solid partnership to reduce the pressure before the former was adjudged LBW off Jack Francis's bowling.

At 3/42, the home side was on top but that soon changed as Graetz formed an impressive partnership with Josh Smith to steer momentum back in the Roos' favour.

Graetz was eventually dismissed for 33 to make it 4/89 before Daniel McCarthy pushed on alongside Smith to form a 46-run stand.

The partnership was broken when McCarthy was dismissed in the rare manner of hitting the ball twice.

Shortly after, Smith was dismissed by Francis for 69 to make it 6/158 with three and a half overs to play.

Daniel Lane and Stewart Hinze added 14 runs to see Lucindale end the 40 overs at 6/172.

Kallan Bevan and Francis were the two best bowlers as the former took 2/17 and the latter 2/17 as well.

Kallan Bevan backed up his impressive performance with the ball with a solid outing with the bat.

He formed a 15-run partnership with Charlie Bevan before the latter was dismissed for five at the top of the order.

Mark Wright was dismissed by Jesse Hazelman for a duck and wickets began to fall quickly.

Nicholas Scott and Tim Schultz were both bowled for two.

The Lucindale bowlers were relentless and thwarted any chance of a comeback for the Mozzies, who were bowled out for 100.

Kallan Bevan was the best with the bat as he scored 32 runs off 50 deliveries, while Hinze was the best of the bowlers with 3/9 off 4.5 overs.

Hinze was helped by Hazelman and McCarthy, who took two wickets each.

NARACOORTE WARRIORS 4/156 d ROBE 7/154

In the clash at Wortley Oval, the Warriors claimed a comfortable six-wicket win on their home deck.

Robe batted first and made it to 154 at the end of the 40 overs.

Kieron Hicks was the pick of the bowlers for Naracoorte as he took 3/15 off his eight-over spell.

Brad Redding also chimed in with 2/16 off four overs.

In response, the home side started strongly with a 46-run opening stand.

Jason McClure was the first to go when he was caught after adding 22 runs to his side's cause.

Warriors captain Loren Bald then made his way to the middle and formed a 27-run stand alongside Hicks before the latter was caught for 27.

Bald continued to take the game away from Robe and scored 46 runs before he was eventually bowled to make it 3/110.

Lucas Bald was the next to go when he was caught and the hosts needed 16 runs to win with six wickets in hand.

Redding and Remi Brown finished the job as Naracoorte claimed a six-wicket win with three overs to spare.

Gartner makes race debut

By Lachlan Onions

Young Penola racer Brad Gartner took to the streets of Adelaide for his debut race in the S5000 Tasman series on the weekend.

The class is a support act for the V8 Supercars Adelaide 500 and Gartner said it was a surreal experience to race at the famous Adelaide circuit.

"To be able to race at the Adelaide 500, the biggest event in the year for motorsport in South Australia, it is huge," he said.

Gartner said racing at the support events for the V8 Supercars at a national level was massive for him to promote his name and develop as a driver.

In the 19-year-old's first open-wheel event, Gartner took some time to adapt to the car which he previously said was nothing like he had driven before.

"It was very challenging, we didn't get the hang of it until the first qualifying on the Friday," he said.

"It was a tough gig in the open-wheeler but that was expected with it being the first time on a street circuit and first time in an open-wheeler but I really enjoyed it."

The first practice run of the weekend saw Gartner's best lap set at 1:25.308.

It was a rocky start for the young-gun as he crashed the car in the opening session, which affected his confidence in the second session.

"Practice 2 was probably our worst session because I was so nervous and not real confident through that certain corner," Gartner said.

"I had a chat to a driver that has raced these cars for a long time and he helped me on the Thursday night and my engineer gave me some pointers.

"We watched the footage to see where I went wrong in the crash and after that I had to overcome it and got a lot better in qualifying."

After practice it was pedal to the metal for qualifying where Gartner again improved on his personal best to set a time of 1:20.02, more than five seconds faster than his best time in Practice 1.

He said throughout the weekend his pace around the circuit was a massive improvement compared to where he was in practice.

Gartner claimed 13th place in the first race with his best lap time in the 1:20's again.

He then put in an impressive performance on Saturday for Race 2, where he finished ninth with a best lap time of 1:20.05.

The final race of the weekend saw Gartner finish just outside the top 10 after a battle with Sebastien Amadio.

Gartner's consistency was prominent throughout as his best lap in the final race was a 1:20.025.

"I loved it, I moved up into the top 10 in one of the races so couldn't ask for much more on my debut," he said.

It has been a successful year behind the wheel for Gartner, as he made his presence felt with a round win at Tailem Bend in the Circuit Excel SA Series in September before more recently claiming his first victory in the TA2 Muscle Car Series.

Gartner said he intends to continue racing the TA2 Mustang next year but remains open to any opportunity which presents itself.

Entertaining clash looms

By Trevor Jackson

Penola heads down to Marist Park to face North Sportsman's in Round 6 of Barber Shield cricket on Saturday.

The one-day clash will see the two sides look for the advantage on the ladder, with little to separate them in a somewhat disrupted season.

The two faced off back in Round 1, but rain put an end to proceedings after North had faced just 27 overs.

Penola was on top at the time, holding the Tigers to 6/79 when the match was called short.

Round 2 was abandoned before a ball was bowled, then in Round 3 the Eagles struggled against West Gambier.

In that match the opening pair of Jack Mullan and Lewis March got the side off to a solid start, with a handy 43-run partnership, but there was little to talk about from there.

Tom Clayfield (16) and Drew Clayfield (22) added some decent runs to keep the scoreboard ticking over but in the end the Eagles could only register 128 after 40 overs.

With the ball there was an even spread of wickets.

The Eagles then accounted for Mil Lel, before finding some better form against East Gambier last round.

They bowled out the Bulldogs for 139 in the first innings, before Mullan put on a solid display with the bat, with a timely 69.

March went cheap, for just three, but Jack Schulz (14) and Mark Smith (49) put the Eagles in a winning position.

For the Tigers it has been a similar scenario, until last round where they found some form against Mil Lel.

While openers Nicholas Brown and Michael Johnston went cheaply, Matthew Robinson compiled a handy half-century, with Elliott Fisher (26) playing a solid supporting role.

The highlight was a classy century – 105 runs from 117 balls – from Nick McInerney in the middle order.

With some decent weather leading up to the clash, there should be no concerns about the state of the turf wicket at Marist Park.

Should both sides continue to fire at the top order, runs could be the order of the day.

As a one-day clash it provides even more incentive to get the job done with the bat in hand and is sure to be an entertaining clash, one not to be missed.
