Top wine on show

An international wine event which attracts major purchasers from across the world has been secured for South Australia with Coonawarra Vigneron chief executive Hugh Koch welcoming the event.

In November 2026 the International Masters of Wine Symposium will be held in Adelaide bringing together about 500 delegates from wine importing nations.

The attendees are expected to be from some of Australia's biggest trading partners including the United Kingdom, United States, Europe and South East Asia.

It is expected to provide South Australia the opportunity to showcase its famous wine while also bringing a global wine-loving audience and industry leaders to the State.

Coonawarra wines will be on the list for attendees to taste during the event alongside other major wine regions such as the Barossa, McLaren Vale, Clare Valley, the Adelaide Hills and more.

At the end of April, wine exports from South Australia were valued at $1.3b and made up 64 per cent of the total value of Australian wine exports.

There was $231m worth of exports sent to the United Kingdom, $178.1m to the United States and $161.2m to Hong Kong in the year ending April this year, combining a value of $570.3m and representing 43 per cent of the State's total wine export value.

Mr Koch said the Coonawarra wine region was delighted to welcome the opportunity to participate in the event.

"Coonawarra is world renowned for its cabernet that displays elegance and balance, a true regional identity and exceptional cellaring ability," Mr Koch said.

"We look forward to showcasing our cabernet and our other wine varieties to the world in 2026.

"We also look forward to welcoming any delegates that wish to join us in Coonawarra during the Symposium and highlight what makes Coonawarra such a unique area of the world to produce wine."

Minister for Regional Development Clare Scriven said the State's wine sector has had a challenging few years following the Covid-19 pandemic and tough economic conditions globally.

"But even with all of that, South Australia's reputation for excellence means consumers and investors can be confident our wine is of the best quality," Ms Scriven said.

"The symposium will be exciting because we can showcase these internationally renowned wines to the rest of the world."

Minister for Tourism Zoe Bettison also noted the importance of the event, stating with international tourism still recovering from the impacts of the pandemic, it was important to continue to put South Australia on the global map.

Minister Bettison said South Australia's wine is a key driver of visitors to the state.

Running festival to return

By Sophie Conlon

The Coonawarra Running Festival is returning for its second year this November and will provide a day of entertainment for the whole family while raising money for the Breakthrough Mental Health Foundation.

The event was held for the first time last year and coincided with the opening of the Coonawarra Rail Trail, which encompasses 18.7 km of sealed walking and cycling trails from Riddoch Street in Penola through the Coonawarra to Glenroy Bool Lagoon Road in Glenroy.

Registrations for the festival have opened, with events including 1km, 5km, 10km and 21km running races, the famous Wobbly Winery Walk, and a toddler race.

The festival will also welcome a show 'n' shine, live music and market stalls with plenty of local produce.

Calls for ambulance volunteers

The SA Ambulance Service (SAAS) is calling for more volunteers in the South East.

Stations in Kingston SE, Robe and Lucindale are all seeking new volunteers as part of SAAS's recent recruitment drive.

SAAS regional team leader Taylor Martin said any new volunteers willing to have a go would be most welcome.

"We have farmers, teachers, nurses, scientists and even a psychologist within my teams," she said.

"It is great to be surrounded by selfless, kind and a community driven group of people."

Ms Martin said working with volunteers is a very rewarding experience for her.

"I am grateful to have the opportunity to give back to the community in this capacity," she said.

"I feel the volunteers are responsible for keeping the ambulance service going and all of the credit should go to them."

Kirkgate Cottage home to Neilson family

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called SA Heritage, to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

Kirkgate

Built in two stages, 'Kirkgate' cottage was the family home of William Neilson and his wife Margaret, daughter of William and Agnes Wilson who lived in the adjacent Wilson's Cottage.

They purchased this property in 1902, having previously lived in a slab cottage owned by a relative, Francis Thompson McFarlane who was the Penola Mechanics Institute librarian.

At about this time the bay window was added to the building. Success as contractors for the local Neilson saw-milling industry, and for fencing and roadmaking work brought prosperity to the family which is reflected in the improved construction.

A strong literary tradition is also evident in the Neilson family.

William was the brother of John Neilson and uncle of renowned Australian poet, John Shaw Neilson, who was born in Penola and spent time with his young cousins here in Petticoat Lane.

Both the Neilson brothers were published poets and William was Bard of the local Caledonian Society, for which he wrote stirring occasional verse.

Although Kirkgate was destroyed by fire in 1976, the property remained in the hands of the Neilson family until 1987 when it was purchased by the Penola Branch of the National Trust of South Australia along with other adjoining land.

HAVE YOUR SAY

Council is currently seeking community feedback on the Draft 2023/24 Annual Business Plan and Budget prior to adoption. Written submissions close July 6. Verbal submissions can be made at the meeting of Council to be held on July 11. Specific details, including how you can 'have your say', are available in hard copy at each of Council's offices and the Millicent Library or online at www.engage.wattlerange.sa.gov.au

MOBILE SERVICES

Services Australia's newest Mobile Service Centre Kangaroo Paw II will visit Penola on Wednesday, July 12 on it's at the Penola Foodland car park, Church Street. Kangaroo Paw II was launched in Canberra on 14 June, and will offer locals easy access to Centrelink, National Disability Insurance Scheme, Medicare and Department of Veterans' Affairs services. Mobile Service Centres are 20 tonne trucks operated by staff from Services Australia, providing regional and rural Australians with friendly face-to-face service and tailored support. Staff on board this trip can help with Centrelink claims, Medicare registrations, and accessing online services. Information about National Disability Insurance Scheme and Department of Veterans' Affairs programs and support services will also be available.

Industry to thrive with extra $750,000

Primary Producers South Australia (PPSA) will receive $750,000 over the next three years to support its leadership role on behalf of the primary industry sector in South Australia.

PPSA is a representative body -of which key agricultural associations Wine and Grape Council SA, South Australian Dairyfarmers Association and Livestock SA are members - coordinates and represents the primary industry sector, providing one voice and valuable input to key government policy and programs.

The Thriving Regions Fund - Strengthening Industries Program, supports primary or regional industries impacted by significant supply chain disruptions, market access constraints or changes to the operating environment.

Through this program, the Government recognises the importance of industries that support our regions to thrive.

The State Government funding will enable PPSA to not only advocate on behalf of primary producers but also, in conjunction with the Department of Primary Industry and Regions (PIRSA), deliver on key priorities identified at the Primary Industries and Regions Forum: Transitioning to a Green Economy held in April.

These priorities include the implementation of a Carbon Farming Roadmap, developing leadership capacity in agriculture and promoting primary industry career pathways.

Through initiatives like the Thriving Regions Fund, the State Government is committed to regional South Australia, seeking to improve the quality of life within thriving, resilient and sustainable regional communities with strong economies.

Minister for primary industries Clare Scriven said promoting career pathways was important.

"We want to see people attracted to our regional areas because of growing job opportunities and career options," she said.

"Supporting the PPSA, a well-respected and established voice for our primary producers, is highly valuable in supporting and identifying opportunities for regional growth.

Independent Chair of Primary Producers SA, Professor Simon Maddocks said PPSA is proud to champion the significant contribution our sector makes across the broad portfolio of government policies and programs in our role as a peak industry body.

"PPSA has proven to be an efficient and effective conduit to the primary production sector and stands ready to partner with the South Australian Government in delivering a renewed three-year work program aligned to the priorities of the 2023 South Australian Economic Statement for the agriculture, regional development, and forest industries portfolio," he said.

"Primary Industries underpin the State's tourism and drive the economic capacity of the government to invest in health, education, and jobs.

"South Australia's primary industries are a vital economic contributor to the state. In 2021-22, primary industries and agribusiness revenue reached $17.3 billion and supported 71,000 jobs."

Top wines

Winter just got a little more bearable, with Cellar Dwellers kicking off.

The event, which runs until July 31, showcases a more intimate side of the wineries and winemakers in the Coonawarra region.

Coonawarra Vignerons events and marketing officer Heidi Guyett said July will be a "fabulous month" with all the different experiences on the horizon.

Ms Guyett said there is more than wine on offer, with a range of hands on experiences available including pasta making, a Tuscan feast, tours and the ever-popular opportunity to make your own wine.

To see what's on, grab a copy of the Cellar Dwellers program to view the full range of events and tasting experiences and to pick up a Cellar Dwellers Passport, which acts asan incentive program during the month of July.

Visitors are encouraged to go to at least five cellar doors, either during the day, over the weekend or over the course of the month.

‘Fun’ featuring new tech

The July school holidays Full Throttle in Wattle holiday program is out and organisers are encouraging families to start planning their winter break activities.

Wattle Range Council (WRC) hosts the popular program which begins Saturday morning at the Millicent library and ends Saturday July 22nd.

There are a range of activities for all ages with Dane the Magician making an appearance in the library on Tuesday.

The Great Dane Williams has traveled around Australia and overseas for the past two years with his magic show which delights the young and young at heart.

The magic show will be followed the next day with a magic making workshop in the Millicent library.

NAIDOC week will be celebrated with local Indigenous artist Jenny Bishop working with young people to develop art work which will be hung in the children’s library.

An extensive range of craft activities is on offer and by popular demand digital technology games will be available for all to come and try.

The library has made an exciting addition to its suite of technology with EZ the Robot.

Lacey Croser and Sonny Wiese immerse themselves in VR technology during Wattle Range Council’s summer school holiday program.

Janice Nitschke, manager libraries and cultural services said

“You can come along and watch EZ the Robot get put through his paces or join in and have some fun with our Beebots and robotic mouse. “We will also be taking come and try technology to the Penola School Community Library on Wednesday July 12th.”

The holiday program is designed to give children the opportunity to try new things, revisit old favourites and learn new skills.

WRC Director development services Emma Clay said

“The winter program captures experiences and entertainment activities that are free for all Wattle Range residents.

“We encourage you to get in early to book your place.”

Other events include a basketball coaching clinic in Penola and a movie screening on the inflatable big screen at the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre.

Millicent Mitre 10 is hosting a workshop where kids can paint and decorate a terracotta pot and plant it with a supplied plant.

You can reserve a space through Eventbrite or by contacting the Millicent Library on 8733 0903, Millicent Visitor Information Centre on 8733 0904 or email to events@wattlerange.sa.gov.au.

Rolled truck closes Dukes

By Neave Moore

The Dukes Highway was closed for hours after police and emergency services responded to a rolled-over B-Double in Wolseley.

Police and emergency services responded to the incident at 2:30am on Saturday July 1, and the highway remained closed at 7am.

On arrival, they located the rolled truck and saw that it had rolled onto its side, blocking both east and west bound lanes of traffic.

The driver, a 25 years old man from Gilles Plains was stuck inside the cabin and was eventually extricated by police at the scene and was moved to Bordertown hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Just after 5am on Saturday morning whilst police and emergency services were still attending the scene of the crash and controlling traffic, a Kia station-wagon approached the road closure point, allegedly disregarding directions given to the driver and proceeded to drive into the restricted area and collide with the truck.

The driver was also treated for minor injuries at the Bordertown Memorial Hospital.

Both crashes remain under investigation, and SA Police have urged anyone who witnessed the truck roll to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Saleyards motion passes

By Aidan Curtis

OPERATIONS will not entirely cease at the Millicent saleyards following a special meeting of Wattle Range Council (WRC) on Thursday, June 29.

During the special meeting, Councillor Moira Neagle moved that council resume spending on the saleyards to meet SafeWork SA requirements to maintain the truck wash facility.

The motion also included meeting requirements to allow transit of stock through designated cattle yards and to continue associated activities like motorcycle training and drift car events.

Cr Neagle said during the meeting that it was vital to the biosecurity of the local agricultural industry to maintain the truck wash.

She also said the truck wash and continuing stock transit activities would be financially beneficial for local producers who would otherwise have to travel to Mount Gambier / Berrin or Naracoorte.

Elected members voted six votes to four in favour of the motion.

After the meeting, Cr Neagle said there was a lot of relief, both for herself and for farmers in the areas in and around Millicent.

"It's been a lot of stress over the last couple of weeks in relation to this," she said.

"Responding to phone calls, text messages and emails about the issue, and trying to work out a way to get the motion over the line.

"They [farmers] were very positive, they were also very relieved."

Cr Neagle also said she was pleased with how the debate panned out between fellow elected members.

"I'm pleased the councillors were prepared to listen to the arguments and to inform themselves of the implications of closing the saleyards and other facets of the operations out there," she said.

When it came to the possibility of re-opening further services at the saleyards, Cr Neagle said that would be up to the ratepayers.

"If ratepayers wish to pursue the return of sales at the Millicent saleyards, then they need to contact all their councillors and have calm and rational discussions with them," she said.

WRC chief executive Ben Gower said council would be "getting very busy" over the coming weeks to comply with SafeWork SA improvement notices.

"There were a couple of safety improvement notices that were still outstanding with a due date of June 30, so I'm going to have to seek their approval to extend those notices to allow us to upgrade the infrastructure to deal with the compliance issues out there," Mr Gower said.

"Most of those items will still need to go ahead, so that's the elevated ramps, at least one of the fixed ramps, and the yarding for the area that was proposed to be used for stock transfers.

"We'll do an updated risk assessment for SafeWork and provide them with a more detailed plan moving forward."

The Millicent Saleyards will be closed for sales, but some parts will remain open, such as the truck wash.

Mr Gower said there were also budget matters to consider with the passing of Cr Neagle's motion.

"Last year, which was a very low year, it was about $50,000, so not significant in a budget of that size, but still worth adjusting to make sure we know what our deficit will look like," he said.

"As part of the budget, I suspect we'll review the fees and charges for the truck wash."

Mr Gower also said council was considering strengthening administrative measures at the saleyards to ensure farmers transiting stock actually paid the fees to do so, but a decision on that would not come until after the next meeting.

"We haven't made our mind up yet, but do you put a video camera out there so you do have evidence of people dropping off stock so we can charge them for it?" he said.

"It's one of those things we'll discuss with council at the next meeting when we go through the budget."

Elected members voted six votes to four in favour of the motion. 267023

Intersection consideration

By Tyler Redway

Peak motoring body Royal Automobile Association (RAA), have joined the fight for improvements at at notorious Southend intersection.

The RAA have provided recommendations for regional roads, including intersection connecting the Southern Ports Highway and the Southend Access Road, recommending that a left turn slip lane be built.

The recommendation is part of the RAA's Regional Road Assessment program which aims to investigate local roads and any improvements to the safety of local drivers.

RAA Safety and Infrastructure senior manager Charles Mountain said while other recommendations included line upgrades and vegetation work, the main focus was to push for the new slip lane which had been a public concern for some time.

"We think they could probably be undertaken fairly quickly but obviously at the end of the day, we still want to see that left turn slip lane constructed to improve safety on this intersection," Mr Mountain said.

"Looking at it, it was quite evident as it currently stands, the factors resulting in an intersection are not as safe as they should be for people using it, which is why we have made these recommendations."

Mr Mountain said the process of undertaking a Regional Road Assessment involved a survey given to members of the public, businesses, councils and regions to gather information for a more "targeted approach" to local road issues.

"It provides invaluable information to understand how the road network operates but also about other factors which feed into the network and sometimes create issues which are not immediately obvious from driving," he said.

Member for Barker Tony Pasin said he had written a letter to Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Tom Koutsantonis regarding the public safety concerns of the Southend intersection.

RAA Safety and Infrastructure senior manager Charles Mountain and Member for Barker Tony Pasin discussed the possible new left hand slip lane for the Southend Access Road intersection and agreed it would reduce the risk of fatality on a local road.

Picture: TYLER REDWAY

Mr Koutsantonis' response, as seen by the South Eastern Times, said the Wattle Range Council had estimated roughly $70,000 for the new slip lane, which Mr Pasin said may be lower than the actual figure.

The letter also stated that projects such as this would cost closer to $600,000, which Mr Pasin said was "hard to accept".

"The community and the experts are saying there are things which can be done to make this intersection safer," Mr Pasin said.

"We have seen that by the end of March this year, 60 more people lost their lives relative to March last year.

"With the obligation of governments, while we would love to prevent every death on the road but can't because it's simply not possible, what we can do is take reasonably foreseeable risks and engineer solutions for them."

Mr Pasin said he was pleased to see the public expressing their concerns about a potentially dangerous intersection if not tended to properly and that it was important for the public to continue raising concerns if it involved a risk of serious injury or fatality.

"The community knows there is a foreseeable risk at this intersection and someone could lose their life there," he said.

"I have had too many conversations with families across my electorate who have lost loved ones in road accidents, so I want to see this intersection fixed."

Mr Pasin said he would continue to push for more road funding but added he was unsuccessful in obtaining the funds during the Liberal State Government's time in power.

He also said he hoped programs supporting the repairs and upgrades of regional roads would not be ignored due to a lack of funding from the State Government.

"I would hate to see those programs abolished or equally I would hate to see funding reductions to their allocations," he said.

"Councils are struggling to keep up with their obligations to maintain road networks as it is so we need more money invested in our roads, not less."

Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Tom Koutsantonis said the nominated project cost was now more than $2m.

Mr Koutsantonis said Mr Pasin deserved "genuine admiration for his unwavering commitment to his own convictions" while defending the current projected costs.

"The fact he resolutely refuses to believe this intersection upgrade work would cost anything other than what he has deemed it will cost, despite repeated advice that it will cost at least around ten times that amount, explains much about his general approach to the Infrastructure and Transport portfolio," Mr Koutsantonis said.

"If only all public policy could be costed according to Mr Pasin's guesstimations."

"I note Mr Pasin concedes he was unsuccessful in convincing the former Coalition government of which he was a part, albeit on the backbench, to fund this intersection upgrade over several years.

"It seems a little rich therefore for him to be complaining that it is yet to be funded by a Labor government still in its second year in office – particularly when he so pointedly refuses to acknowledge the actual cost of what he is advocating for."

Mr Koustantonis said while there were no further submissions for federal funding for the intersection, the State Government nominated the project for federal funding under the 2022-23 Black Spot funding program, which he said was also unsuccessful.

COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS

Wattle Range COUNCIL

School Holiday Program

An exciting program has been set for the July school holidays in Wattle Range. There will be a wide range of interesting and fun activities held across the region, catering to youth up to 17 years of age.

All events are FREE and bookings are essential. Book your session at www.eventbrite.com/cc/full-throttle-in-wattle-school-holiday-program-2308909 or phone 8733 0903.

Visit Council's website or Facebook pages for the full program details.

July Community Mulch Days

FREE mulch for Wattle Range Council residents and community groups will be available for collection from 10 am to 2 pm at the:

- Millicent Saleyards on Sunday, July 16 (3rd Sunday of the month), and
- Penola Resource Recovery Centre on Sunday July 23 (4th Sunday of every second month)

A loader will be onsite to fill your ute or trailer. Bring your personal protective equipment and a tarpaulin to cover your load. A disclaimer will also need to be signed prior to collection.

Get your art entries in

By Sophie Conlon

Artists from around the Limestone Coast are encouraged to get there entries in for the Tatiara Art Prize.

Walkway Gallery director Naomi Fallon said she was excited to see the competition return and entries were heating up.

"It's always the calm before the storm with the art prize, everyone is madly working on their pieces cause the work has to be created within 12 months of the due date, so we find a lot of artists create new work for the prize, which is really exciting," she said.

Ms Fallon said she had received about 20 entries so far, but was expecting many more to come in over the next month.

"Everything comes in a bit last minute," she said.

"Last year we got nearly 90 entries on the day, so it's a bit hectic."

She said there were a few well known, regular and local names, as well as several interstate entries.

"New South Wales and Victorian artists are entering this year which is really good, previously we haven't seen that," she said.

With a high calibre of entries, Ms Fallon said it would be a competitive year and there would be three independent judges.

The first judge to be announced was Country Arts SA visual manager Lauren Mustillo and Ms Fallon said the other two would be announced in due course.

"They are all very exciting and we're very excited to have them coming to town," she said.

Ms Fallon said it was important to have independent judges as the major prize was $10,000 and Tatiara District Council's acquisition of the work.

"It means none of us have a say of what's acquired in terms of our collection, which is a bit more far process and we're listening to those people who know a bit more about art than we do," she said.

The prizes are funded by the council and Ms Fallon said it was great they were able to support the arts.

Lauren Mustillo has been named as a judge in the Tatiara Art Prize.

"We are very lucky that they continue to support the prize," she said.

Other prizes include the Local Art Prize - which is open to anyone who lives in the district or is paid member of the Tatiara Palette Painters or Keith Art Group -the Young Artist Prize and the People's Choice Prize and Ms Fallon said it was great to have these categories recognised.

"We have the $1,500 local prize which is especially for our locals, and we know that 11 of our 50 finalists will be from the local area, which is always nice," she said.

"That doesn't happen in most other prizes, so often you'll go to a local prize and there will be no local prizes, whereas we've made it a priority for our prize to showcase them alongside national artists."

The gallery director said she was excited to see what would be produced by the young artists.

"The kids artwork is the best I think, they just paint and create interesting work," she said.

The exhibition opens on September 15 at 7pm where Ms Fallon said the winners would be announced. Applications for the prize must be submitted by 5pm Monday, July 31. For information or to enter visit the Walkway Gallery website or visit the gallery at 43 Woolshed Street, Bordertown.

Culture and connections

By Caroline Hammat

After 12 months, an Indigenous arts project designed to create more connections for Millicent High School (MHS) students to areas around the school has been completed and officially opened.

Installed in time for NAIDOC week celebrations the six redgum poles, originally donated by Wayne Batchelor, have been painted by MHS Aboriginal Education Officer Jenny Bishop with the assistance of six students.

"I like to involve Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal kids in everything I do because it's not just about Aboriginal kids," Ms Bishop said.

"It's about non-Aboriginal kids and a chance to learn and understand my culture."

The totem poles have been painted with themes representing the Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Australian flags, native animals, respect and meeting places.

Chloe Gysbers was one of the students involved in the painting.

"It's good, because it's taken ages to get them up here, we got to choose whichever animal we wanted on there and I chose a kangaroo" she said.

Other students who helped paint the totem poles were Demi Bevan, Deni Brown, Macy Burns, Ebony Gardin and Leilani Bentley.

Groundsman Dylan Clough and Neil Reilly and their students were thanked by Ms Bishop for their help in landscaping the area and installation of the totem poles.

The area has been landscaped with a layer of rocks donated by Graymont and a picnic table painted by Ms Bishop has been installed among the vertical poles.

Special guest at the official launch was Penny Vanderheul whose husband Michael was a School Service Officer (SSO) and a valued member of the school.

Mr Vanderheul passed away in October last year and a plaque was added to the site acknowledging his contribution to the project.

"I would like to thank you for inviting me here to witness this, Mike loved it here and I appreciate you for doing this," Ms Vanderheul said.

MHS principal Todd Watson acknowledged the work undertaken by Ms Bishop and how the students were encouraged to take ownership over their involvement in the project.

The newly landscaped area is sited centrally in the main car park and was previously home to the pharaoh sculpture carved in limestone by MHS students in 1969 and now relocated within the school grounds.

Penny Vanderheul holds a photo presented to her of her late husband Michael working on the project. With Penny are MHS support workers Tracy Hardy, Jenny Bishop and Kathy Bell.

Team Cobber raises $120k

By Caroline Hammat

Six men who teamed up for this year's Outback Car Trek have topped the fundraising among those involved.

Millicent man Scott Clarke and Michael McCourt from Beachport joined with old friends from across South Australia and New South Wales to form this year's Team Cobber and raised $120,000 for the Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS).

It's the fifth year Mr McCourt has been part of Team Cobber and the third year for Mr Clarke.

The 13 day trek over mostly dirt roads began in Geraldton and ended at Darwin's Mindil Beach and is designed for older 2WD vehicles.

47 cars were signed up for this year's trek and all are prepared for outback and remote dirt road driving with roll cages and full racing harness seat belts fitted.

Safety is a priority and all participants are required to abide by normal road rules.

Mr McCourt drove his golden Holden Commodore, with an orange 1971 HG Holden ute owned by team leader David Meyer and a Toyota Landcruiser back up vehicle completing this year's team.

"We actually raised more last year but we had a team of about 10," Mr McCourt said.

"The whole trek raised $1.1 million and the money goes 100 percent to the RFDS.

"It's mainly business and corporate sponsorship and we've got some very generous individual benefactors.

"People who have had personal experience with the RFDS are usually very generous."

The sponsorship money is raised before the trek with participants funding their own cars and paying to be a part of the annual event.

Fees include meals provided each day.

"One of the beauties of the trek is we go to small communities in isolated and rural Australia.

Team Cobber 2023 consisted of Michael McCourt, Scott Clark, John Cummins (Snowtown), Jack Doyle (Berrigen), David Thamm (Burra) and David Meyer (Adelaide).

Pictures: ALEXANDER MAYES AND ALLAN COKER

"We contribute to those communities because you've got 200 people and you've all bought petrol and food and they always have a raffle.

"Every town you go into you will buy a $5 or a $10 raffle ticket from the local primary school or Lions club.

"Country people in isolated communities really appreciate what we are doing.

"We went to one little town, Timber Creek, and went to a school there.

"It is pretty much an Aboriginal community and the kids were just delightful, they were so excited.

"Some of the cars come in character and there is one team we call the doggies and they have their cars dressed up as dogs.

"The kids crawl all over the cars, it creates a bit of fun in the local communities.

"There are a lot of places now on my bucket list to go back to and spend some time there because you really only do whistle stops, you are on the move all the time" Mr McCourt said.

Team Cobber managed to get through the trek with minimal car issues although heading to Mt Elizabeth Station via the Gibb River Road tested them.

"The Gibb River Road was really corrugated and fairly punishing on the old cars.

"We had a unit joint go on the ute and a coil.

"The Commodore had an oil leak, we kept topping it up and it was fine and we had a couple of flat tyres.

The two participants per car are not provided with maps but receive a book with navigation directions.

"We usually drive for half a day and swap over and navigate for half the day.

"We've been lost a few times, you have to backtrack or follow another car and hope they know where they are going.

"We all carry UHF radios so we are in contact with people and quite often people will let you know if you've gone the wrong way.

"There is a trek community and camaraderie between all the different teams.

"We socialise and mix a fair bit, but it's delightful to go into local communities and know that you are helping by supporting the flying doctors."

Mr McCourt and Mr Clarke are both grateful of the support for the RFDS from their local sponsors that contribute to the final tally.

"It's been a great effort from our supporters, both corporate and individuals, and for a lot of them this is not their first year.

Team Cobber was started by David Meyer who has 12 years worth of treks under his belt and estimates the total raised by the team to be around the $700,000 mark in that time.

Among the team members are a few HR Holden's that did not make the trek this year, but with all members of this year's team committed to next year's event they may make an appearance in 2024.

The major fundraiser has been underway since 1990 and raised over $32 million for the RFDS.

Uncle Leonard Gollan's story

By Charlotte Varcoe

This story is a part of a NAIDOC Week celebration project.

Narrindjeri and Boandik Elder Uncle Leonard Gollan shared his story, which was put on display at the 2023 NAIDOC Week Cultural Expo.

NARRINDJERI BOANDIK ELDER UNCLE LEONARD GOLLAN

BORN 1945

I was about eleven years old when I was taken away.

I went out to the dairy to get milk and that was a mile away.

I came back one day and I saw these white people who were at the door talking to my Mum and Dad.

They said they were taking me away and I ended up at Beachport.

I was put to work pumping petrol as soon as I arrived at Beachport, never allowed to play with other children and only allowed to watch the pictures from outside of the movie hall with my sister Audrey.

She ended up going away and I did not even know she was gone, they just put her on a bus and left me there.

The reason they told me they were taking me away was because my younger cousin and I opened a tin to see what was inside in a shed once.

We did not spread it anywhere and we did not touch it, we just wanted to see what was inside.

The Department of Child Protection wanted to make an example of me.

I missed out on a lot of family life and my siblings.

I was the eldest boy of 13 children when they took me away and at first they did not explain to me why. Mum and Dad tried several times to come get me when the people I was with were being abusive to me and Dad did come and see me once.

Narrindjeri Boandik Elder Uncle Leonard Gollan shares his story as part of NAIDOC Week.

He was working close by and the old bloke I was working with came and asked who he was, I told him he was my dad.

That was the last time I saw him alive.

I did not have any connection with my siblings until I was in my 20s and even though my uncle, elder Lindsay Wilson, lived in Millicent he was not allowed to come see me at all.

They also did not let me go to school either.

When my dad passed away, they came and got me and I did not even know them.

I went to the cemetery and my dad was there in a coffin.

I remember I looked around and there was nobody else there, just myself, Uncle Lindsay and the welfare bloke.

I stayed in Beachport until I turned 18 and they put me on a bus with a little bag and nothing else.

All the Christmas things they gave me, they kept them and would not let me have them.

I left with nothing, no money and I was shipped to Meningie where my parents were living.

There I had a permanent job where I was getting paid three dollars and I ended up working all over the place, on a beef farm and a dairy and it was after that I decided to pull the pin and we all went to Adelaide to live.

I broke off from Mum and the family and went my own way, got a job and settled down with other people and other young fellas.

I went to work everyday with my cousin and we would ride a pushbike.

I have had every job since then, including down here in Millicent where I worked for 31 years before we brought our own house.

Earlier this year I received an apology from the department that I was part of the Stolen Generation.

I decided to accept the apology because I was contacted but I went through the motions and acknowledged that was what they did and we cannot change what happened or get back what I lost.

That was that.

I am just happy I have had a good life with my wife Lisa and we have gone our own way.

We met in 1972 and have been together ever since. All together we have six kids and have been married for 52 years.

I do not do much in the community now because I have ill health and have since I was about 36 when I had a stroke.

I have kept working though, I have worked since I was nine years old and kept working until I was 68.

I had a good relationship with Uncle Wilson who lived in Millicent and we did artifacts together and we used to go reconnect and go hunting, take cultural trips and talk about our stories but I had to reconnect with family and relatives because I lost all that when I was taken away.

Being taken away impacted me as an Aboriginal man because I had to learn how to be Aboriginal again but I just accepted everybody and over the years we had some really good friends. I was involved with the beginnings of Pangula Mannamurna all those years ago but we do not do anything culturally now because I had no education on it.

Scottish heritage on show

By Caroline Hammat

Keith Hamilton tackles the caber toss.

Light showers and a bit of Scottish mist did not deter visitors to Saturday's International Day of the Tartan event held at Glencoe.

Hundreds wandered through the gates of the Glencoe Community Hall grounds to enjoy a taste of Scotland for the day with many wearing a touch of tartan.

Day of the Tartan is an international celebration to remember the return of Clan Tartans to Scottish Clans in 1782.

The right to wear their tartans was taken by the British following the Battle of Culloden in 1746.

The Parliament of Great Britain introduced The Dress Act 1746 which included wearing the "Highland Dress" illegal in Scotland.

It is the first time the event has been held in Glencoe, according to organiser Alec Hamilton, who was wearing his Hamilton Clan kilt.

"I decided to have Day of the Tartan here because we only get the 1st of July on a Saturday once every seven years."

Mr Hamilton is a member of the Blue Lake Highland Pipe Band and has been involved with the Caledonian Society for 40 years.

"The Caledonians is a Scottish society and they promote things Scottish," he said.

"They support families that come out from Scotland, and we support the dancing and the pipe bands."

Cabers for the caber tossing demonstration were organised by Mr Hamilton.

"I'm prepared to show people what to do and let them have a go," he said.

"I've got almost a full size caber here but I don't think there would be anybody here today that would even be able to lift it.

"The heavyweight division is a minimum weight of 80kg and 5.9 metres long, the one here is about 5.4 metres.

"You have to remember they are wet today, and I am talking dry weight.

"But if you happen to have competition on the day and it's wet, then it's wet."

Smaller cabers were available for those keen to have a turn at tossing the log end over and landing it in a straight line.

Heather Considine grew up in Glencoe with her sisters, two of which joined her on the day out.

"We are all descendants of Scotty and Ivy Kennedy of Glencoe.

"Our father Scotty donated the woolshed to the National Trust, his father before him was Thomas Kennedy who donated the land for the war memorial.

"Scotty was a great sportsman and very popular character in Glencoe."

She has fond memories of growing up in Glencoe and time spent at the hall.

"We all did our debuts in the hall and went to dances there.

"In 1957 I was honoured to represent Glencoe Hall in a queen competition that was held annually.

"It was the big social event of the year and it culminated in the final at the Barn Palais.

"It's a lovely place, Glencoe," she said.

Local and interstate pipe bands performed throughout the day and highland dancers from Bell Studio entertained a large crowd in the Glencoe hall.

Stationary engines and veteran and vintage cars were on display along with a Bushman Combat vehicle in the morning.

Funds raised on the day benefit the Glencoe Community Hall, Caledonian Society and the Glencoe Woolshed.

Sea of tartan at Glencoe

By Caroline Hammat

Highland pipe band music drifted across the grounds of the Glencoe Community Hall on Saturday as visitors celebrated International Day of the Tartan.

Many in attendance proudly wore their Clan tartan on the day and none were deterred by the sporadic light showers.

Displays of stationary engines and veteran and vintage cars, and music and dance performances took place throughout the day.

The local Army Reserve, being a kilted Company, started the day with a flag raising ceremony and a Bushman Combat Vehicle was on show in the morning.

Terry Wilson admires Lindsay and Margaret Dines 1933 Chrysler.

Back to Glencoe for the day are Heather Considine with her sisters Barbara Sapiatzer and Brenda English and brother-in-law Bill Sapiatzer.

Selling hot soup are Charlie Scott, Lindy Doman and Lou Holland from the Glencoe Community Hall committee.

Event co-ordinator Alec Hamilton with fellow Mount Gambier Caledonian Society members Mary and Bruce Ridland.

Mount Gambier Veteran and Vintage Car Club members John Sturges, Kym Ricketts and Morry Mashadow.

Pvt. Sean Hunter and Pvt. Nathan Robertson of the 10/27 Royal SA Regiment, Alpha Company Mount Gambier.

John Wildman and Wilma Moore who stands with the Perth sign which represents her Scottish town of birth.

Admiring the stationary engine are Michael Stewart from the Horsham Pipe Band and Ross Anderson and Mack Ferguson from the Blue Lake Highland Pipe Band.

Vince Bradley, Ros Sare and Ron Wood rugged up for a day out at Glencoe.

Coconut and macadamia crusted chicken with honey mustard dressing

Prep Time: 15 mins
Cook: 45 mins
Serves: 3

30g NUTS PER SERVE

Ingredients

For the chicken
- 150g chicken tenderloin or breasts
- 1/2 cup (65g) macadamia nuts
- 1/2 cup (30g) desiccated coconut
- 1/2 tsp dried oregano
- 1/2 tsp onion powder
- 1/4 tsp salt
- Pinch of pepper
- 1/4 cup (25g) almond meal
- 1 large egg (65g)
- 2 tbsp (25ml) oil

For the dressing
- 1 1/2 tbsp (25g) Dijon mustard
- 2 tsp (15g) honey
- 1 tsp (5g) apple cider vinegar
- 1 tsp (5g) olive oil
- 1 tsp (5g) mayonnaise

For garnishing
- 1/2 tbsp chopped parsley

Method:
1. Mix almond meal, onion powder, dried oregano, salt and pepper in a shallow dish.
2. In another small bowl, whisk the eggs.
3. Blitz macadamia to fine crumbs.
4. Mix macadamia crumb and desiccated coconut in another shallow dish.
5. Slice chicken into bite size strips.
6. Heat 1 tbsp oil in a non-stick frying pan over medium heat.
7. Dredge (coat lightly) chicken with almond meal mixture, dip in egg wash then coat with macadamia and coconut crumb.
8. Place breaded chicken on frying pan. Cook for 5 minutes then carefully flip the chicken over with a spatula and cook for another 5 minutes. Add remaining oil if needed.
9. Once the chicken is cooked through, transfer chicken to a clean paper hand towel to absorb excess oil.
10. Meanwhile, whisk together dressing ingredients until an emulsion is formed.
11. Transfer chicken to a plate & serve immediately, with dressing on the side.

Tips & Hints
- Macadamia nut crust can go from perfectly brown to burnt very quickly! Use medium heat and don't go too far away while you're cooking. Increase to medium-high heat for the last 30 seconds to get an extra crispy crust.

Salmon & Egg Brown Rice Salad

Serves: 4

Ingredients
- 1 1/3 tablespoons wholegrain mustard
- 2 tablespoons white wine vine gar
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- Salt and pepper
- 500g microwave brown rice
- 210g canned salmon, drained and flaked
- ½ cup (50g) roasted almonds, chopped, plus extra for garnish
- 3 green onions, chopped, plus extra for garnish
- 6 medium boiled eggs, peeled and halved

Method:
1. Whisk vinegar, mustard and olive oil together in a large bowl. Season with salt and pepper.
2. Heat microwave rice according to packet instructions. Transfer to bowl. Add salmon, nuts and green onions. Toss well to mix.
3. Top salad with eggs and garnish with extra nuts and green onions. Season with salt and pepper.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

PICK OF THE WEEK

GOING PLACES WITH ERNIE DINGO
SBS and NITV, Saturday, 7.30pm

Get off the tourist track with the delightful Ernie Dingo (pictured) and take a journey with extra heart. A presenter on The Great Outdoors for more than 15 years, Dingo knows a lot about Australian wildlife and nature, making it an absolute pleasure to join him on his adventures around our beautiful country. Tonight, he returns with season five of this beautifully shot, uplifting travel show. Black Comedy's Aaron Fa'aoso's language and dance skills are put to the test at home in Bamaga, while Bianca Hunt breaks into Broken Hill's drag scene. Featuring the ancient forests and sand dunes of Pemberton, it's a salve for the soul.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

GOOD TUCKER
SBS Food, Thursday, 5pm

Not many people can lay claim to being a spice enthusiast and comedian in the same breath, but Suren Jayemanne (pictured) fulfils this role with aplomb in this cosy and enthusiastic new series. Part travel show and part foodie extravaganza, Jayemanne is exploring Victoria's regional towns and the smorgasbord of different cuisines that have flourished with the arrival of new immigrants. Tonight, Jayemanne and producer Matt Stewart are in Shepparton, which boasts Australia's first drive-through kebab shop.

THE ROOKIE: FEDS
Seven, Tuesday, 10pm

A spin-off of Nathan Fillion vehicle The Rookie, this female-led romp features Niecy Nash (pictured) as Simone Clark, a high-school guidance counselor who embarked on a radical career change, adapting her psychology knowledge to the art of criminal profiling, becoming the oldest recruit to ever to join the FBI at 48. In "Flashback", Simone's team launches a covert operation to support their boss, Garza (Felix Solis), when his character is called into question.

QUEEN OF OZ
ABC TV, Wednesday, 9.35pm

Rambunctious British comedian Catherine Tate (pictured) is the queen of silly, over-the-top character roles and she's in fine form in this lavishly exaggerated satire of royal life. As "spare" to the British royal throne, Princess Georgiana (Tate) has dedicated her life to partying. But, in a wickedly preposterous setup, the royal embarrassment has been shipped off to Australia to become a new head of state. In "They Used to Oink at Me", Georgie hosts a dinner party for her old school bully Jessica (Virginie Laverdure, La Brea) in the hope they can bond and revel in her life struggles.

Following an earlier stumble or two, the Rogue has redeemed itself.

The HiLux top-dog ute has taken its rightful place as the genuine hero of Australia's best-selling range of vehicles.

My introduction to the HiLux Rogue last year was fraught, with its motorised roll-top tray cover jamming centimetres from full retraction with no amount of button pressing – even physical exertion on my part - getting it to close.

Revisiting the MY21 dual-cab utility recently everything worked to order, which was welcome as the tonneau cover is the result of design and development by Aussie engineers as part of their task to produce a combination of toughness, complemented by a more recreational focus for a vehicle designed to go anywhere and be sold in markets around the world.

Toyota Australia's role in developing and evaluating the 2.8-litre four-cylinder turbo-diesel engine, rear suspension and hydraulic power steering was supported by teams from Japan and Thailand, as well as representatives from other markets.

The Rogue sells for $68,990, plus on-road costs and options.

The HiLux, in general, continues its reign as the best-selling vehicle in Australia and like all Toyota vehicles is covered by Toyota Service Advantage, with each of the first scheduled services costing just $250 each.

Out of Toyota's Melbourne design studio comes a dark vertical grille that cascades from the bonnet down to the prominent lower bumper and under-guard. LED headlamps, with dark internals, combine with bold outer corners of the bumper, which links to strong fog lamp surrounds.

An aggressive side profile continues the theme with robust fender flares, unique wheel-arch mouldings and an integrated resin sports bar making its debut.

Wheel-arches also are generous enough to take bigger, fatter alloys than the factory-fitted 18-inchers.

A new sports bar, made from resin, is easier to mould than steel, allowing it to have a more artistic 'sailplane' shape.

Out back are redesigned bumper and tailgate.

The tub itself is kitted out, up the walls too, like a fully carpeted lounge room (no place for gravel, rocks or rubbish), with marine-grade liner lifting appearance and coverage.

The design makeover is made complete by a chrome Toyota tailgate badge and new decals on the gate and sports bar.

The cabin is dominated by hard surfaces, which is hardly a serious criticism for a hard-working ute.

However, coming to the classy rescue are black perforated leather-accented seats with grey stitching.

The front seats are heated while the driver's seat has eight-way power adjustments.

Front and rear carpet mats are included for Rogue.

There's a deep cubby in the centre console and a double-decker dash-mounted glovebox, the upper section cooled.

Door storage includes convenient bottle slots.

Pride of place is a larger 8-inch display touchscreen plus control knobs, an upgraded multimedia system with Apple CarPlay or Android Auto, and a premium JBL nine-speaker sound system.

One USB point and two AC 220-Volt accessory sockets are standard.

Restyled instruments consist of analogue speedo and rev counter with blue pointers flanking a 4.2-inch multi-information display, which now incorporates a digital speed read-out and a pictogram showing the angle of the front wheels.

The beautiful lines together with the stunning green body is a real head-turner.

Satellite navigation is easier to use with enhanced voice recognition, while other additions include an electro-chromatic rear-view mirror, new ornamentation and blue illumination.

The upgraded 1GD turbo-diesel engine now develops 150 kW at 3400 rpm and 500 Nm between 1600 and 2800 rpm, gains of 15 per cent and 11.1 per cent respectively.

The six-speed automatic transmission has been recalibrated to allow earlier lock-up for improved acceleration and to ensure Toyota's temperature tolerances, especially when towing, were observed.

The HiLux Rogue carries a five-star safety rating on 2019 testing and is equipped with Toyota Safety Sense, including a pre-collision system with autonomous emergency braking and the ability to detect pedestrians around the clock and cyclists in daylight.

It is also equipped with high-speed active cruise control and lane-departure alert with steering assist.

Electronic systems include anti-skid brakes, vehicle stability and traction control, brake assist and electronic brake-force distribution, trailer sway control, downhill assist and an emergency stop signal (hazard lights).

Like every HiLux, the Rogue is equipped with seven airbags and a reversing camera.

Driving has been made easier by work done on the rear suspension, improving unladen ride comfort, while a new variable flow-control power-steering pump offers more help in low-speed manoeuvres such as parking.

Braked towing capacity has been uprated by 300 kg to 3500 kg, courtesy of the higher-output engine and a recalibrated six-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission.

Eco or Sport driving modes are accessed by pressing one of two buttons on the centre console.

Sport frees up engine revs and fun ride but Eco is worth ignoring.

It's a Toyota, so there's also a low-range mode for tough off-road driving.

Toyota claims a combined urban / highway fuel consumption of 8.4 litres per 100 kilometres.

Although the interior is dominated by hard surfaces, the perforated black leather-accented seats make the most of its presence.

The test vehicle worked out at 11.7 litres per 100 kilometres in suburban streets down to 6.4 litres per 100 kilometres when opened up on the motorway.

Improved ride and handling are all-encompassing with the MY20 Rogue.

Leaf springs and shock absorbers were retuned to improve unladen ride comfort without compromising the vehicle's ability to carry loads over uneven terrain, while low-friction rear shackle bushes add to ride comfort. Rear stability benefits from leaf spring front bushes with increased lateral stiffness.

Revised chassis mounts reduce vibrations and noise transfer to the cabin, particularly on rough roads.

A variable flow control power-steering pump improves steering feeling on winding country roads and reduces steering effort when parking.

It's a pity about the outsize 12.6 metre turning circle.

The Rogue is up against some of the stiffest competition in the premium luxury ute market and it's fair to say the power roll top would be considered an important selling point for the Hilux 'hero'.

Fortunately, the test automatic tonneau was back on track.

So is the HiLux Rogue.

Sustainability at the fore

Australia's beef industry is taking its commitment to sustainability to a new level with the Australian Beef Sustainability Framework (ABSF) 2023 Annual Update reporting a decrease in carbon emissions, more forest on grazing lands, and, for the first time, the setting of ambitious goals to guide investment and attention into the future.

The ABSF Annual Update is a yearly scorecard and snapshot of the sustainability performance of the industry, reporting on a number of priority issues to monitor progress against recognised standards and metrics. This year, in its sixth edition, it has increased the number of indicators to 54, spanning the four foundational themes of: best animal care; environmental stewardship; economic resilience; and people and the community.

ABSF Sustainability Steering Group (SSG) chair, Mark Davie, said this year's Annual Update showed areas of significant progress as well as opportunities for further improvement.

"There is plenty to celebrate, Australian Beef businesses produced over 20 billion meals this year, and progressed on nearly all our sustainability metrics," Mr Davie said.

ABSF Sustainability Steering Group (SSG) chair, Mark Davie.

2023 highlights

Australia's red meat industry has set a target of being carbon neutral by 2030, known as CN30, and progress towards this goal is evident, with net CO2e emissions in 2020 of 45.21Mt, 64.07 per cent below 2005 levels.

"This is an outstanding result and the lowest recorded to date, given a number of contributing factors," Mr Davie said.

"Methane emissions in 2020 were the lowest recorded, primarily due to a reduced national herd, and carbon sequestered in on-farm vegetation was the highest ever recorded."

Encouragingly, as much of Australia broke drought across 2020 and 2021 and the national herd increased, satellite imagery shows forest on grazing land in the same period increased by 780,000 hectares.

"This demonstrates the responsible management of natural resources by our producers, further underscored by the removal of primary vegetation also at a record low," Mr Davie said.

Fresh data has flowed from an updated Life Cycle Analysis, the first in four years, which calculated 400 litres of water were required per kilogram of liveweight gain for raising cattle, a decrease of 18 per cent. The improvement comes from reducing reliance on irrigation, reducing losses associated with the supply of water and a slight decrease in water consumption through improved genetics.

The Australia-United Kingdom Free Trade Agreement coming into force promises to reinforce the economic resiliency of the industry, with a significant increase in tariff-free beef access in year one and a transition to tariff, quota and safeguard free trade over a 15-year period.

Advances have also been made in animal welfare, with the feedlot industry increasing the percentage of feedlot capacity with access to shade to 63 per cent and on track to reach its goal of 100 per cent by 2026.

Awareness of Australian Animal Welfare Standards for Cattle has reached 100 per cent for the first time, and the mortality rate of stock on live export ships continues to improve. According to reports tabled in Parliament, in 2022 the mortality of cattle during sea voyages has more than halved in two years to a record low of 0.05 per cent.

"The only two negative trends were a decline in water efficiency by processors due to reduced throughput and a reduction in ground cover across semi-arid regions due to a drought."

Mr Davie said there are also challenges to overcome such as finding an appropriate metric for on-farm biodiversity while work is underway to develop an indicator of mortality on domestic road transport.

"We want to make sure our consumers and stakeholders understand there is more to do but the supply chain is serious about continuous improvement when it comes to sustainability, when you buy Australian beef, you are investing in a supply chain that can have a positive impact on 50 per cent of the Australian land mass," Mr Davie said.

Five new goals for sustainability

Chair of the Red Meat Advisory Council, John McKillop, said setting goals was a natural evolution for the ABSF.

"Australia's global competitors have either set, or are currently developing, sustainability goals for beef," Mr McKillop said.

"To stay competitive, to keep building trust with our consumers and maintain our favourable access to markets, we need to continue to be proactive on sustainability and place metrics around what it is we want to achieve."

After a process of stakeholder engagement, development and consultation, the Australian beef industry has committed to the following five goals:

- The Australian beef industry is guided by the five domains of animal welfare. The industry provides all cattle with an environment in which they can thrive in accord with these domains.
- By 2030, the Australian beef industry will demonstrate its net positive contributions to nature.
- The Australian beef industry will achieve net zero greenhouse gas emissions across its production and processing sectors by 2030.
- The value of Australian beef industry products and services doubles from 2020 levels by 2030 resulting in a profitable and resilient industry.
- The Australian beef industry is trusted, attractive to a diverse workforce, a source of pride and belonging, and makes a positive contribution to the food security of Australian and international communities.

Mr McKillop said the next step would be to set targets to track our progress towards achieving the five goals.

"It is important to show our progress, even if we fall short, because sustainability is about constant improvement in an evolving ecological, economic and social setting," he said.

"The industry has made great strides over the past decade or more and established its sustainability credentials.

"We should be proud of what has been achieved but we need to keep improving. As an industry we need to prioritise what work needs to be done to be world-leading in our sustainability performance and clearly demonstrate to our stakeholders we are serious about it."

Coordination key to driving down impacts of feral animals

Further funding has been awarded to four organisations, including the South Australian Department of Primary Industries and Regions, to continue delivering the national pest animal management coordination program.

The program is helping reduce impacts of feral pigs, deer, cats, foxes and wild dogs.

The four successful organisations, awarded $3.16 million in funding, are: Australian Wool Innovation Ltd, South Australian Department of Primary Industries and Regions, Australian Pork Limited, and Invasive Animals Limited (trading as Centre for Invasive Species Solutions).

National management coordinators are taking on leadership roles, working with industry professionals, communities and First Nations land managers to reduce the impact these pests have on our agriculture and environment.

Pest animals can prey on native wildlife, newborn lambs, reduce crop yields, destroy habitats, damage fences, spread weeds and disease, and foul up fresh water.

National Action Plans have already been agreed for feral pigs and wild dogs. The National Biosecurity Committee will shortly consider the National Feral Deer Action Plan, following consultation earlier this year.

"Feral species like foxes, cats, deer and pigs do enormous damage to our native wildlife and precious places – they kill threatened species and damage critical habitat," Minister for the Environment and Water, Tanya Plibersek said.

"Feral cats and foxes kill more than 2.6 billion animals like threatened birds and lizards every year, that's over 7.1 million every night.

"And they've contributed to the extinction of at least 34 native mammal species and threaten a further 150 species, like the bilby.

"The Albanese Labor Government is committed to protecting our precious species and leaving nature better off for our kids and grandkids – extending this program is just one way we're working to achieve this."

Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry, Murray Watt said the estimated annual cost to Australian agriculture from established pest animals like foxes is around $600 million.

"The Australian Government supports the national coordination of priority established pest animal initiatives through key policy frameworks, such as the Australian Pest Animal Strategy.

"Increased adoption of best practice pest animal management, as well as improved coordination and information sharing, maximises outcomes of pest control efforts and drives down negative impacts on agricultural productivity and the environment.

"National management coordinators are bringing together stakeholders to increase adoption of best practice methods, improve control methods, address knowledge gaps, and consider First Nations communities and their expertise to maximise outcomes.

"Farmers, natural resource managers and communities will benefit through training opportunities and resource sharing, increasing adoption of humane best practice control methods, such as baiting and trapping."

Marking 44 years of racing

HISTORY: This year will mark 44 years of greyhound racing in the South-East. Picture: SUBMITTED

By David Lewis

It was back in the early 1970s Mount Gambier was granted a licence to conduct legalised mechanical lure greyhound racing in South Australia.

The controlling body of the day was the National Coursing Association (NCA) and licences were also allocated to Angle Park (city), Gawler, Strathalbyn, Port Lincoln, Whyalla and Port Pirie.

At the time the NCA, which operated out of a small office in Leigh Street, Adelaide with a staff of one, had made the call it believed seven greyhound tracks would be quite sufficient.

"SA didn't need a greyhound track on every street corner," it said.

But with changes along the way to the controlling body, further tracks were later approved for Kulpara (straight track), Barmera and Port Augusta.

Those tracks have since closed, as have Port Lincoln, Whyalla, Port Pirie and Strathalbyn.

So what remains now, in what has become a vibrant industry, are tracks at Angle Park, Gawler, Murray Bridge (which replaced Strathalbyn in 2018), and Mount Gambier.

The South Eastern Greyhound Racing Club (SEGRC)), as the Mount Gambier club was originally named, conducted its first registered race meeting at the Glenburnie racecourse on Saturday, July 21, 1979.

However, the recent reappearance of the club's original minutes book, which recorded in handwritten form its first tumultuous five years, is an important part of the club's history.

It all began when 60 people attended a public meeting held in the supper room of the Town Hall on Thursday, September 14, 1972.

Following a secret vote, Messrs. R. Clark, J. Cruise, E. Lewis, N. F. McDonnell, J. O'Brien, J. O'Connor, C. Potter, A. Steele, J. Taylor, J. Walters, R. White, J. Sullivan and B. Wittwer were elected to the caretaker committee.

Later that night, it was moved that two committee members meet with delegates of the A. & H. Society to ascertain the extent of their interest in greyhound racing being conducted at the Showgrounds.

But by April the following year the SEGRC secretary had been instructed to write to the NCA, informing the controlling body that negotiations with the Show Society had fallen through and the club was now negotiating with the City Council and private bodies.

In the meantime, the sale of beer tickets had been introduced as a form of fundraising, as had the raffle of a greyhound – valued at $200 and donated by Jack Cruise, father of present-day trainer Lee Bartholomew.

A motion that a Ladies Committee be formed lapsed as there had been no seconder.

However, by 1978 the Ladies Committee had become an integral part of the SEGRC.

Then, in late 1975, following an approach to the Mount Gambier Racing Club, the SEGRC received a letter indicating its support for a greyhound track at Glenburnie.

In March 1977 a 21 year lease was signed with the racing club.

Yes, things were really looking up.

At around the same time the SEGRC had also received a letter from the Wimmera Greyhound Racing Club (Horsham) inviting the club to enter a contestant in the "Miss Wimmera Greyhound Racing Queen" competition.

By Sunday, June 24, 1979, the SEGRC was ready to conduct a Gala Opening Day picnic meeting at Glenburnie as a lead-in to the club's first registered meeting a month later.

Nine races were conducted at the Gala Opening Day over distances of 289 metres, 476 metres and 667 metres.

The distance race was won by the Eric Lewis trained Kori Amore in a time of 43.05 seconds.

Interestingly, the $5000 Eric Lewis Memorial will be run over 732 metres on Anniversary Cup day at Tara Raceway on Sunday, July 23 and complement the $8000 Exchange Printers Anniversary Cup (512m) and the John Reid Memorial Maiden (305m).

This year will mark 44 years of greyhound racing in the South-East – 1979 to 1996 at Glenburnie prior to the club's relocation to Lake Terrace East in 1997.

Outdoor archery returns

A relaxed evening of indoor archery and suitable weather for an outdoor archery round entertained the members of Blue Lake Archers over the weekend.

The indoor range was back to an easy-paced club-style event for Friday night, the timing gear was having a rest and all archers were able to shoot at the same time for a more-normal social atmosphere.

Two rounds of the familiar Australian 18-metre round produced two different winners.

Garry Jacques dominated the opening round, where the top four archers all equalled or exceeded the 300-point benchmark.

Jacques led home Matt Delaney by three points as Blade Delaney and Jeff Puckridge rounded out the top four.

Matt Delaney had equalled his previous personal best in the first round and went one point better in the follow-up round to set a new PB of 280 points off the bow.

Fiona Allison made a charge up the field to act as Delaney's main rival at the top of the result list, but Delaney held off the challenge to celebrate the win and the PB for a memorable night on the indoor range.

Sunday was reasonable for a winter day, with mild wind conditions and only occasional very light drizzle that was not enough to stop the competition on the archery range.

The dual events set up on the range were a 30-metre Geelong and a triple-distance Short Canberra over 50, 40 and 30 metres.

Allan Oschar and Alex McDonell have progressed steadily with their accuracy since taking up the sport and pushed their adjusted scores out of reach of their rivals to be the leaders at the end of the day.

Oschar set a new PB and won the day 21 points clear of McDonnell, both archers exceeding their benchmarks.

A single round of indoor archery takes place at the Blue Lake Gymnastics Club, Malseed Park, Friday at 7pm, followed by the Archery Australia National and State Indoor Archery Championship at Malseed Park, Saturday at 10am.

Australian Indoor 18 metre, Round 1, handicap scored, benchmark 300 points: Garry Jacques 307 (off the bow 266); Matthew Delaney 304 (279); Blade Delaney 301 (227); Jeff Puckridge 300 (293); Paul Freeman 278 (266); Peter Donhardt 276 (253); Fiona Allison 271 (180); Seth Delaney 267 (200); Jerome Koopman 236, (off the bow only).

Australian Indoor 18 metre, Round 2, handicap scored, benchmark 300 points: Matthew Delaney 303 (off the bow 280 PB); Fiona Allison 294 (203); Jeff Puckridge 291 (284); Garry Jacques 272 (234); Jerome Koopman 237, (off the bow only); Seth Delaney 218 (151).

Outdoor rounds, handicap scored, benchmark 900 points: Allan Oschar 938, Geelong, (off the bow 662 PB); Alex McDonnell, Short Canberra, 917 (753); Seth Delaney, Geelong, 890 (749); Matthew Delaney, Short Canberra, 888 (812); Anthony Cox, Geelong, 887 (816); Jeff Puckridge, Short Canberra, 877 (842); Blade Delaney, Short Canberra, 854 (653); Dale Tschirpig, Short Canberra, 670 (off the bow only); Callum Oschar, Geelong, 449 (off the bow only).

Big win for Magpies

KALANGADOO 75 d ROBE 38

Kalangadoo put in a strong performance on its home court in Round 11 of Mid South Eastern netball.

Robe started the match strongly and through a high level of defensive pressure, was able to quickly unsettle Kalangadoo's attack line and force some early wayward passes.

The Roosters' goal shooter Demi Carter became a focal point in attack and converted accurately and strongly for her team to give Robe the early upper hand.

Kalangadoo's circle defence of Lauren Kain and Lara Munro were able to take some timely intercepts to peg back the margin back, and took a one-goal advantage at quarter time.

The second quarter saw the Magpies' defence restrict Robe's scoring opportunities.

Kalangadoo's Chloe Peacock and Robe's Lucy Perkins had a tight speedy contest with Peacock making Perkins' earn every possession.

Emma Grant worked tirelessly to curb Abbey Duncan's impact in attack, with some tight contests.

Annie Regnier ran hard for Robe, finding space and creating some nice passages of play.

The Magpies extended their lead going into the main break with a 12-goal advantage.

At the main break, Robe brought Tori Gluyas into goal attack and moved Halle Carter into wing defence.

VISION: Jayde Peacock makes a pass into the circle.

Kalangadoo also took the opportunity to make some changes, switching Peacock and Jane Auld on the wings, which saw Auld make a mark on the game, creating turnovers through the mid court.

Her efforts were rewarded with some patient netball in attack. Munro continued to have an impact on the game, creating turnovers and rebounding strongly for Kalangadoo to restrict Robe to six goals for the quarter.

Kalangadoo went into three quarter time with a hefty 55-27 lead.

During the final quarter, the Magpies were able to build on the momentum of the third quarter with goalies Duncan and Ebony McDiarmid finding space and converting accurately.

At the other end of the court, the defensive pressure and timely intercepts were making it hard for the Robe goalies to get many opportunities, scoring seven goals for the quarter.

Kalangadoo extended the lead further in the final quarter to claim a 47-goal win.

Perkins and Grant were the best players for the Roosters, while Kain and Munro were the best for the Magpies.

Demons ultmately too good for Hawks

PORT MACDONNELL 55 d KONGORONG 46

Port MacDonnell hosted its neighbours the Hawks in what is always a fun, friendly rivalry in Round 11 of Mid South Eastern netball.

The first quarter was a close one - all goalies starting off nervously with a few misses early, before settling in and getting some scores on the board.

Megan Hein and Kori Collins in the goal circle were working well together for the Bay, while down the other end it was Tilah Buckingham doing the majority of shooting for the Hawks as Port MacDonnell captain and goal defence Alana Berkefeld kept Hawks goal attack Evie Sealey relatively under control.

The Demons held a slender lead 11-9 at quarter time.

In the second quarter, Tilah Buckingham's height was proving troublesome for the Bay's Alysha Coon, as she scored 11 goals and missed just one attempt.

Liza Mutch at centre and Shannon Scheidl at wing attack for Port MacDonnell provided good drive into attack, while Riley Buckingham and fill-in Emilia Kerr were working hard in defence for the Hawks, Hein and Collins were dominant in goals for the Bay.

LEADER: Megan Hein was a key player for the Demons in their win over the Hawks on Saturday. Picture: FILE

The Demons were having a hard time pulling and only held a three-goal lead at half-time.

The third quarter saw a few changes for the Bay, the experienced Michelle Moore came on into centre and had a great tussle with Ebony Lawson who was having a good game for the Hawks.

Port MacDonnell also switched Coon and Berkefeld.

Coon drove well down the court at goal defence, while Berkefeld put the pressure on Tilah Buckingham.

Hein had a strong quarter - shooting 10 goals to help the Bay extend its lead to seven at the final change.

The Hawks switched defenders Riley Buckingham and Kerr in the last quarter, while Port MacDonnell remained unchanged.

Riley Buckingham did some nice work at goal keeper and created a few turnovers for her team.

Collins had a strong quarter at goal attack and was well-supported by Hein who was having a great game.

Tilah Buckingham and Sealey in goals for the Hawks continued to work hard but Berkefeld and Coon slowly gained the upper hand.

The Demons ran out winners but Kongorong were hard to shake and put in a strong overall performance.

Hein and Collins were the best for the Demons, while Sealey and Kerr were the Hawks' best.

Showers cut 2-4-2 action

Last week 26 Millicent Bowls Club members registered to play a 2-4-2 competition, with the weather looking settled at the start.

However, just after commencing the game light showers of rain started and continued for the afternoon, causing tournament director Kym Stewart to cut the game back from 20 ends to 13.

The win went to the team of David Botting and Steve Skeer with a score of 30+4, ahead of Terry Barnes and Neil Whelan with 28+9.

Other winning teams for the day were, Malcolm Wright/Carl Schapel 28+7; Ian Ross/Aaron Emonson 28+6; Alan Correl/Lyn Scudds 28+1; Joy Warren/Peter Varcoe 26+1.

Webber wins at Millicent

In cool overcast conditions, there were 17 women who played a par round for the Anne Whitty Memorial Trophy and the second round of the Olympic event at the Millicent Golf Club last week.

Kathy Webber claimed the win in A Grade with a score of +1, while Heather Anderson was runner-up with a score of -2.

In B Grade Lois Tilley was the winner with a score of +3.

Annie MacLennan was the runner-up after a count-back with a score of -1.

Tilley also won the nine-hole competition with a score of +3 on the back nine.

Janet Watson, Liz Redman and Helen Chilton were the ball winners.

Webber was nearest to pin on the third hole, Lyn Watson was the nearest for the second shot on the 16th, MacLennan was closest for the second shot on the 17th and Tilley was the nearest for her second shot on the fifth hole.

Tigers bite Mozzies hard

By Trevor Jackson

TANTANOOLA 11.13 (79) d MOUNT BURR 5.8 (38)

Tantanoola added to a day of upsets with a 41-point victory over Mount Burr in Round 11 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

Down the road Kalangadoo was busy touching up Robe and the Tigers were in on the plan.

They began their assault with a relatively even first quarter, leading the Mozzies by just four points.

It was the second term where the Tigers began to break away, with three major scores while holding the Mozzies goal-less.

That opened the margin to 16 points at the main break and what followed was another even quarter of football, with both sides adding a major score, but Tantanoola also adding four behinds to extend the margin to 20 points.

There was still time for the Mozzies to stage a come-back, but it was not to be, as the Tigers finished the game in style with four major scores, while holding the Mozzies to just one.

Coach Jack Dawe led the charge with four goals, Jordan Hatt contributed three and Corey Baker two.

For Dawe it was an impressive victory, specifically the margin.

"It felt like we were in control the whole game," he said.

"We went into the game with five of our best 12 out, so we went in still confident, but not having our best side.

"But everyone just turned up and had a crack with a set game plan.

"We did what we had to do and everyone won their 50/50 contest.

"It was a good team performance and shows we are going in the right direction."

Despite the final margin, Dawe said there were times throughout the contest where his players needed to withstand a charge from the Mozzies.

"The first 10 minutes of the second quarter they pretty much doubled us inside 50, so they got it down there a lot but we capitalised when it did go down to our forward line," he said.

"Our half-back line was really good.

"Once it got down there we ran off well and our mid-field took control around stoppages.

"Our small guys got on top which helped."

A highlight of the win was the second half, including the final term where the Tigers ran the game out hard.

"In some of our previous games we had matched some teams all game, but had a lapse in the third quarter," Dawe said.

"To not have a lapse against Mount Burr and finish off strong was really good to see.

"The guys wanted it bad and didn't give up."

Dawe said the last time the club had won more than three games in a season was back in 2018.

The Tigers have now chalked up four wins and look to be heading in the right direction.

"We have a young side and their experience it is starting show," he said.

"We have a game plan and are sticking to it.

"Things are looking up, so as long as we can hold them together we will be fine."

TEAM EFFORT: Tantanoola coach Jack Dawe was rightly pleased with his side's win over Mount Burr on Saturday. Picture: FILE

Tantanoola seals a solid and important victory

TANTANOOLA 49 d MOUNT BURR 39

Tantanoola claimed a solid 10-goal win on its home court in the latest round of Mid South Eastern netball.

Emma Gould, playing in her 100th A Grade game for the Tigers, came out firing, scoring the first goal of the game off her team's centre pass.

Mount Burr's intensity and desire for the ball was evident, chasing up any loose balls.

Although Tantanoola had a majority of the play, they let the Burr back into the game with many unforced errors.

The defensive circle pressure from Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe made Mount Burr goalies work hard for every goal, with interceptions and strong rebounds.

The accuracy of Ebony Clarke kept Mount Burr in the game as the Tigers took a one-goal lead at the first break.

The match became more physical and with several highlights from both sides.

Rowe took an impressive intercept and her combination with Bromley was creating intense pressure.

Clark continued to dominate with accuracy and very good body positioning.

Laura Schultz for Mount Burr was making her presence felt with speed through the centre and creative passing into her goalies.

Both teams worked overtime to gain a lead but the score margin did not change from the first quarter at the main break.

The third quarter saw changes for Tantanoola with Keryl Ousey and Gould switching positions which had an immediate impact on the game.

Gould took control of the attack line by directing the play and Ousey became a focal point shooting 23 of 29 goals in the second half of the match.

Casey Walker also went next level taking many timely interceptions.

Tantanoola's defence was a highlight, creating held balls and strong rebounds.

Schultz continued to show up for the Burr and was rewarded with Clark shooting with an accuracy of 81 per cent.

The Mozzies were tenacious all game and despite finishing the third quarter seven goals down, they were strong at every ball.

Mount Burr changed its defence line up in the last quarter with Olivia Dean moving to GK to try to combat Gould and Ousey.

They gave their all, but the height and strength of their opposition was a big ask.

The Mozzies never lost their intensity and the Tigers struggled to pull ahead despite having the majority of the play.

After a tough battle, Tantanoola won the game by 10 goals.

Bromley and Gould were the best players for Tantanoola, while Clark and Schultz were Mount Burr's best.

Glencoe embraces history

All is in readiness for the Glencoe Football Club to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the official opening of its clubrooms on Saturday, July 22. Looking back it is interesting to see how such a project came to life so many years ago.

Prior to the completion of the existing clubrooms in 1973, the changerooms doubled as the clubrooms. It was clear the arrangement was inadequate, which created much debate for a resolution.

After an offer from the local RSL to use their hall was rejected, it was decided at a general meeting of members in September 1972 to build new clubrooms at the oval itself.

As a result, a building committee was formed, with the inaugural meeting held on November, 27 1972 comprising Stan Jones (president), Alf Peacock (secretary), Doug Agnew (assistant secretary), Peter Mitchell Snr, Alastair Pegler, Stan Needham and Max Guerin.

The site for the new building was crucial and a most generous offer was made by Lindsay Bignell to donate the block of land he owned which was adjacent to the oval.

That did not entirely resolve the site issue, so the football club was able to purchase another parcel of land from Trevor Bignell and Margaret Young which gave the club all the space it required.

When the clubrooms were finally completed in July 1973, the total cost was $28,000, funded by a bank loan of $12,000, debentures totalling $5,000, $3,000 from the Rural Unemployment Relief Fund and a considerable amount of voluntary labour.

The Deputy Premier of the state, Mr Des Corcoran, officially opened the new venue on July 22, 1973. To mark the occasion in a fitting way, the club organised a function attended by many visitors from all the associated league clubs and visitors from many parts, as well as a great number of Glencoe people, who had long waited for this day.

It was a grand day for the Murphies and it marked a significant step in Glencoe's history.

It brought together East and West and gave them a mutual meeting place.

It also broke down the barriers between men and women, with the clubrooms were open to all and it was, over the years, to become a place for community and family gatherings.

Des Corcoran put it well, when he said in his speech "that the same tradition that had assured success for the teams on the field over the years they had played in the league had been responsible for the wonderful rooms".

He also praised the fact such a short time had elapsed since the committee first went into action and went on to pay tribute to club president, Alastair Pegler, president of the building committee Stan Jones and those who had worked hard to make a dream a reality.

It is interesting to note, some bar prices at the time of opening – schooner of beer 23 cents, butcher of beer 17 cents, a small bottle of coke 10 cents and an 18 gallon keg of beer cost $45.

The Glencoe Football Club is extremely proud of not only its clubrooms, but all its facilities which have been made possible by many hardworking volunteers since its establishment in 1910.

The club will celebrate the 50th anniversary with the cutting of a special cake to mark the major milestone, in the clubrooms after the home game on July 22.

Murphies show class to claim a comfortable victory

GLENCOE 53 d HATHERLEIGH 34

The reigning premiers showed their class with a commanding victory in Round 11 of Mid South Eastern netball.

Glencoe started well with quick transition, while the goalies of Chantelle Cocks and Jenna Paproth were finding space and capitalising on Hatherleigh's early mistakes.

However, the defensive combination of Maddie Redman and Elly Redden were stepping up to get hands to many balls, allowing Hatherleigh to work back into the contest in the second half of the first quarter.

After a back an forth opening term, the Murphies held an early three-goal advantage.

The second quarter was highly contested with mid-court players of Erin Watson and Rosie Nettle for Hatherleigh and Donna Jaeschke and Alice Tentye for Glencoe displaying expertise in feeding their respective goalies.

Lara MacGregor was making Tentye work for every ball and managed to get a few crucial turns for Hatherleigh.

The game was balanced on a knife's edge at the main break with Glencoe holding a two-goal lead.

The Murphies remained unchanged in the third quarter, while Hatherleigh made a change in the goal circle bringing Abby Wight on.

The scores were level halfway through the third term before Glencoe took control with strong teamwork and accurate shooting from Paproth to go into the last eight goals up.

The Eagles made another change in their defence end putting MacGregor in the circle with Redman where they defended strongly and created turnovers.

However, with Glencoe's physicality, Hatherleigh could not convert its opportunities with many errors and as a result, the Murphies steamed ahead to claim a 19-goal win.

Tentye and Cocks were the best players for Glencoe while the Eagles' best were MacGregor and Redman.

Eagles soar on past the Murphies

HATHERLEIGH 20.12 (132) d GLENCOE 5.7 (37)

While Round 11 of Mid South East football threw up a couple of interesting results, over at Hatherleigh the the Eagles easily accounted for Glencoe.

To opening term threatened to see another upset, as the Murphies looked every bit up to the task.

They trailed by just four points at the first break, but from there it was all about the Eagles.

Hatherleigh held Glencoe scoreless in the second term, banging on four majors to open the margin to 30 points.

If that was not enough, the Eagles then kept the Murphies to just two behinds in the third term, while adding five goals and a behind and the game was done.

However, while the Murphies regrouped and managed to come up with a couple of major scores in the final stanza, the Eagles were not done and slammed on another seven goals and a handfull of behinds to claim an emphatic 95-point victory.

Tom Hutchesson and Jake Wight were in form in front of the big sticks, with four goals each, while Patrick Chay, Gerard McGrath and Sam Telfer added three each.

Jed Telfer rounded out the multiple goal scorers with two.

The result sees the Eagles back in the top four, with a small percentage margin over the fifth-placed Mount Burr.

Demons dominate a one-sided contest

By Trevor Jackson

PORT MACDONNELL 24.20 (164) d KONGORONG 4.7 (31)

It was a one-sided contest at Port MacDonnell in Round 11 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Demons accounted for Kongorong to the tune of 133 points, with a huge first half denying the Hawks of any opportunities.

With a 48-1 opening term, the writing was on the wall and it did not improve for the Hawks after the first break.

The Demons added to their seven first-quarter goals with another seven, falling just one point short of the 100-mark by the long break.

Kongorong could only add another solitary point to complement their one from the opening term.

While Demons coach Josh Woodall could have been excused for putting the cue in the rack after the long break, that was anything but the case.

Eight third-quarter goals to just one suggested the Demons were looking to fine tune their game and they did just that, despite a somewhat subdued final stanza.

The Hawks managed three major scores to just two in the final term but it was all academic, as the Demons were simply untouchable on the day.

Surprisingly there were no big bags of goals for the victors, with Colby Munro and Woodall adding five majors each.

Will MacDonald and Tim Sullivan kicked three each, while Liam Bottomley, Kyall McLean and Jake Schleter kicked two each.

Munro's five goals took him to the lead in the league standings with 35 majors, equal with Mount Burr's Jack Gregory.

ON TARGET: Jake Schleter was among the goals as Port MacDonnell easily accounted for Kongorong on Saturday. Picture: FILE

Women's squad announced

The women's South East Zone Team to compete in this weekend's South Australian Country Championships has been named with some of the best players from the Limestone Coast Women's Football League.

Premiers Mundulla boast the largest contingent of players with seven players in the main squad and an eighth player in Renae Feder as an emergency.

Casterton-Sandford's Makayla Hutchins is the other emergency player in the squad.

The team will be coached by Michael Hunt and Fiona Young, with Scarlett Jared and Ella Little as assistant coaches.

SOUTH EAST WOMEN'S ZONE TEAM

- Casterton-Sandford: Zhane Crawford; Gabby Sullivan.
- Kongorong: Evie Sealey; Jade Longbottom.
- Kybyolite: Dellie Brown; Ella Boston.
- Millicent: Kelsie Wilkinson; Kalli Brown.
- Mundulla: Erin Horsnell; Casey McElroy; Zoe Hawker; Nat Twigden; Kellsey Hinge; Melody Maddern; Natasha Horne.
- North Gambier: Mikaila Pitt; Luca Roulstone; Alice Tentye; Emmason Ilsley; Laura Chester.
- Penola: Jasmine Ryan; Heidi Berkin; Riley Mitchell; Shandeen Balshaw.
- Emergencies: Renae Feder (Mundulla); Makayla Hutchins (Casterton-Sandford).

Nice course, tough set-up for veterans

A field of 46 SE Veterans golfers lined up at Lucindale last week and found the course in top condition, albiet hard, because it had had Pennants there the day before.

Kingston's Milan Hodak was one of the previous day's participants and just snuck home the first division on a count-back with 35 points, from Tim McLean and another Mount Gambier player, Russell Lewis on 34.

Second division went to Millicent's Noel Chant with 34 points, from Mount Gambier's Max Clifford on 32 and Dennis "Shiner" Smith with 31.

The ball rundown was to 25 points and the Ross Orchard trophy went to Col "Swampy" Wright and Geoff Bond.

The Scotch was taken home by Kingston's Bruce Stillwell.

The next game is at Millicent on July 17, followed by Robe on July 31.

Senior Colts on a roll

JUNIOR COLTS

KINGSTON 4.7 (31) d PENOLA 3.1 (19)

On Saturday, the Eagles came up against Kingston who was one place lower than them on the ladder and a team that Penola had beaten in the first round of the season.

Kingston started stronger than the home side kicking the first goal of the game and were unlucky not to have converted more if not for inaccurate kicking.

It was a welcome site to have George Kain back in the side after returning from boarding school in Adelaide.

He impressed in the first half with explosive centre-clearances and penetrating kicks into the Penola forward 50.

Penola struggled to take advantage of its forward entry opportunities and put pressure on the opposition.

Finn Malone worked hard to find space and present himself on a regular basis and was rewarded with a late goal in the second quarter to give the Eagles their first major score of the game.

Zavier Baverstock worked hard to inspire his side in the first half with strong physical contests and desperate efforts.

The second half was an evenly matched affair, Will Harris and Luc Baverstock combined well linking hand passes and short kicks to help drive the ball forward.

This strong work in the midfield allowed Joel Crawford to kick two goals in the third and fourth quarter.

The game was set up for a tantalising finish with Penola trailing by one goal with 10 minutes left.

However, the home side ran out of legs and Kingston kicked two unanswered goals to claim a 12-point win.

Best players for Penola were Luc Baverstock, George Kain, Will Harris, Finn Malone, Zavier Baverstock and Joel Crawford.

SENIOR COLTS

PENOLA 9.10 (64) d KINGSTON 5.3 (33)

The pressure was on the Eagles as they made their way out onto the McCorquindale Park oval on Saturday as they knew they needed a win to move up the ladder into the top five.

Penola started the game full of run and won the ball out of the centre after a nice passage of play.

Ned Skeer kicked to Thomas Currie who passed to Ryder Tilby who finished off for the first goal of the game.

Skeer was giving Penola plenty of drive off halfback along with Finn Skeer, Johnny Gosse and Toby Zerk.

Ryder Tilby kicked another first quarter goal, after the ball spilled free from a Marcus Brand tackle to give the hosts a 13-1 lead at the first break.

The second quarter started with a quick goal to the Saints.

Penola wasted a few opportunities in front of goal before Currie passed to Tilby for a goal.

The Eagles went into half time with a handy 3.8 (24) - 1.1 (7) lead.

Kingston drew first blood in the third quarter with the opening goal of the opening goal of the half.

However, the Eagles got a clearance out of the middle with Minge dominating ruck giving out on ballers first use to kick forward to Bodhi Lear who crumbed well for a nice goal.

Kingston responde d once again but the Eagles remained unfazed.

To finish the third quarter Jack Henry put in an inspiring piece of play as he smothered the ball, picked it up and kicked it truly to give the Eagles an 18-point lead at the final change.

Penola continued to dominate in the fourth quarter as Jojo McCarthy fought for the ball against two opponents to win the contested ball.

He then hand-balled to Johnny Gosse, who kicked to Thomas Currie who put the ball through the big sticks.

The Saints replied with a goal before Kaleb Moulton combined with Tilby who slotted his fourth goal of the contest.

Penola finished off a great day of team football with a nice goal to Ben Copping to put the icing on the cake.

Currie, Brand, Tilby, McCarthy, Skeer and Gosse were the best players for Penola.

PENOLA 41 d KINGSTON 17

Off the back of a solid training with the A/A Reserve squad, the 13A girls came out with personal goals they wanted to achieve and a positive attitude.

The conditions were slippery and the girls adjusted accordingly with strong accurate passes and solid footwork across the court.

Excellent shooting and tight defence saw the Eagles get up with a comfortable win which was just the confidence boost the side needed.

Emma Gosse and Poppy Flint were Penola's best players.

DIVISION 2

KINGSTON 37 d PENOLA 34

Penola girls played well in the first quarter starting out strong.

It was a highly contested game but the Saints proved too good and claimed a three-goal win.

The Eagles' best players were Nellie Lear and Macey O'Brien.

DIVISION 1

PENOLA 36 d KINGSTON 33

Facing off against the current number one side in the division is never an easy task and Kingston true to form was not just going to go down without a fight.

The first quarter was an all-out battle and the Saints ended the quarter with a one-goal lead.

Some changes in the second quarter by both teams did not manage to turn the tides in either team's favour as both teams struggled to get the upper hand as the visitors remained ahead by one goal at the main break.

The third quarter saw things change off the back of some great defence by Stella O'Brien, Heidi Berkin and Phoebe Manarangi, which was rewarded in turn by the Penola shooters.

The lead went back and forth in the last quarter with both sides grappling for possession.

As the roar from both sides supporters intensified, Penola managed to maintain its composure to take the win.

Manarangi and O'Brien were the best players for Penola.

C GRADE

PENOLA 51 d KINGSTON 23

The Eagles have had a massive shake up mid season.

Ellie Oswald played her last game in the blue and white and the club wished her the best in her new work venture.

The Kingston defence had the Eagles rattled early but composure and communication from Chicago Smith allowed for a calm flow.

Defensively, the girls worked hard on gaining rebounds and working the ball back to attack.

Sarah Gartner and Eva Manarangi shot well in what was an 11-goal improvement since the last time they faced Kingston.

Leticia Gosse and Lucy Catlin were Penola's best.

B GRADE

PENOLA 77 d KINGSTON 11

The B Grade side had a very unsettled start to the game where individual mistakes caused several turnovers.

However, the Eagles capitalised on the opportunities they did have and kept pushing the score line out despite a scrappy first half.

The score once again did not accurately reflect the quality of the game with Penola defeating Kingston by 66 goals.

Monique Maney and Ava Copping both worked tirelessly all game really focussing on timing and defensive pressure earning them the best player awards for the game.

A Reserves

PENOLA 67 d KINGSTON 39

Playing at home in mild winter conditions, the A Reserves side hit the ground running.

Penola settled early and linked up down the court effectively.

With limited use of Hannah Klemm this week, Tess Porter moved into circle defence for a change up.

This also gave Heidi Berkin the chance to run at WD.

Kasey Venables and Karly Honner worked hard getting good position under the ring and fed the ball well to each other as they both had a strong day on the offensive end.

Some strong defensive pressure all over the court gave the Eagles lots of attacking opportunity.

A late change due to blood saw Ava Copping hit the court and slot into C to finish the game.

Kingston fought hard all day but could not match Penola's teamwork as the hosts ran out 28-goal victors.

Porter and Tara Millard were the Eagles' best players.

CLEARING KICK: Kalangadoo's Tye McManus kicks forward as the Magpies take control over Robe.

PUSHING THROUGH: Kalangadoo's Lachy Jones looks to break free from a Robe tackle.

Premiers flex muscles

By Trevor Jackson

KALANGADOO 14.12 (96) d ROBE 9.8 (62)

KALANGADOO gave notice on Saturday it cannot be discounted for this year's Mid South East flag with a comprehensive win over the previously undefeated Robe.

It was not a small win either, with the 34-point victory on their home deck showing the reigning premiers are certainly still to be taken seriously.

It all began in the opening term as the Magpies set about dismantling the Roosters, with a 26-point lead at the first break.

A somewhat subdued second quarter saw the Magpies kick just two major scores, but they held the Roosters to one, extending their lead further.

After the long break the contest continued along the same vein, with Kalangadoo surging forward with another three major scores, with Robe only able to add two.

By the final break the margin had stretched out to 41 points and the Roosters had a huge job ahead.

As it turned out Robe outscored the magpies in the final term, but it was too little, too late and the Magpies celebrated.

There were no big bags for the victors, as Ben Gregory topped the list with three majors.

Two goals went to Scott Agnew, Jack Casey, Lachy Jones, Ethan Maney and Tye McManus in a team effort in front of the big sticks.

Joel Bryant kicked four majors for the Roosters, with Zac Deane adding another two.

"Beating Robe was a huge win for us," Magpies coach Alex Lyon said.

"We had an interrupted start to the season personnel wise, but we have a few bigger blokes back now and it gives us a lot more flexibility position wise.

"We were able to strengthen our backline by putting Justin Bromley back at centre-half-back.

"We picked up Liam Hay who was a premiership player in 2009, has come back as a ruckman and is doing a great job.

"Jack Casey has come back from injury, so we are a different side down the spine now."

Lyon noted the Roosters were not at full strength, but were still dangerous if given the chance.

It appeared Robe had regrouped at the final change and threatened to run over the Magpies.

"They hit back at us for about 10 minutes in the final quarter – I think it got back to about 22 points and I started getting bit nervous," Lyon said.

"Luckily the boys dug in, won a few centre clearances and we were able pile on a couple of goals towards the end of the game to ice it."

Lyon said it was a pleasing win considering Kalangadoo's patchy form this season.

"We feel we haven't gone backwards since our loss to Mount Burr, which was a poor performance by us," he said.

"Since then we have been steadily getting better.

"I think the way we are timing our footy this year has been good, so hopefully we can keep improving and be there at the end."

Lyon praised mid-fielders such as Tye McManus, Brad Auld, Lachy Jones and Dylan Bromley, along with Sam McManus on the wing.

He said the improvement in the mid-field made a big difference to the outcome of the game.

"It was probably our best performance through the mid-field," Lyon said.

"They won a lot of clearances, the tackle count was huge and the pressure they put on the Robe mid-fielders was good.

"That was our most complete performance out of the guts.

"Those boys were a lot more organised around the stoppage and are like a team within a team."

However, Lyon said the overall team performance was where the game was won.

"It was a complete game," he said.

"The back six were awesome and the forward six isolated a lot more one-on-ones."

One other aspect of the contest which caught the attention of the coach was that of Ben Gregory, who he said had a point to prove.

"Zac Deane had his measure in Round 2 and played really well on him," Lyon said.

"Gregory had a point to prove and was keen to have a decent game on Zac.

"He played really well on him, took a lot of contested marks and stayed central."

At the end of the day the Magpies are well in the running this season and appear to be coming into their best football of the year.

"We went through 2021 undefeated and lost the second-semi and the grand final, so it is never won," he said.

"This time of year is when clubs can get a bit wayward when it is cold and the ovals are muddy, but we are getting more numbers on the park than we have had.

"It is an enjoyable place to be at the moment."

Solid Penola fight

By Lachlan Onions

KINGSTON 11.20 (86) d PENOLA 10.7 (67)

A spirited Penola A Grade line-up put up a solid fight against Kingston in Round 10 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara football.

Despite suffering an almost never-ending injury list, Penola matched Kingston in the opening stages of the contest and trailed by just five points at the first break. However, the Saints' class shone through in the second stanza as they booted three goals and held the Eagles to just seven points in the quarter to take a 43-22 lead at half time. Yet the home side remained unfazed as they fought back in the third term with three goals to reduce the deficit to 16 points.

There was little to separate the two sides in the last quarter as Penola kicked four goals, while Kingston scored 27 points to claim a solid 19-point win. For the Eagles, Brock Egan and Brodie Foster led the way in attack with two goals each, while Chris Draper and Todd Lockwood both snagged three goals each for the Saints.

Despite the loss, there was plenty for Penola coach Brad Maney to be pleased with after a solid team performance.

"I was really pleased with our effort," he said. "During the week, we took the pressure valve off and just aimed to play footy and measure ourselves on a couple of indicators and it seemed to work. "When you look at it as a whole, from when we played them in Round 1, it was about a 90-point turnaround so I'm very happy." He said the main difference between the two sides was Kingston's class on the outside.

"Kingston was able to get out on the outside a little bit in the second quarter and towards the start of the last quarter," Maney said. "So they should to be honest, they are a very good football side and they are in the top five. I felt like we won the contest and our back six competed really well but they were able to get on the outside just a little bit too often and that was probably the difference."

With a depleted line-up due to injuries, players were forced to play in several unfamiliar positions with none more obvious than utility Scott Merrett, who at one stage was playing in the ruck for Penola.

"Our injury list is just ridiculous at the moment," Maney said. "You expect to get a few injuries throughout the year but not what we have had. For our club and its depth to continue to stand up and compete, I think it is a testament to where we are as a group and as a larger squad."

"I think Scott (Merrett) played about four or five roles on Saturday and I thought he was really good."

Scott Merrett takes a contested grab during Penola's clash with Kingston on Saturday.
Picture: LACHLAN ONIONS

It was another star performance from Jordan Galpin, who has been a revelation since his return to the nest this season.

"He has been a godsend," Maney said. "When the game slows down in these sorts of conditions, he really does relish it, he thrives in the tight contest. His last two games, you could argue they have been his best two games for Penola and he has played close to 100 games here now."

Penola will now have a week off with the upcoming SA Country Championships this weekend before they prepare for the final six games of the year. Maney said the final month and a half of the season is going to be about preparing the team for success in 2024.

"We are just going to wind things down this week and get a bit of recovery in," he said.

"Then we have six games to go and we hope to get a few wins in the back half of the season and turn the tables on those sides that beat us."

Brooke Klemm makes a pass under pressure.

Kingston in a thriller

A GRADE

KINGSTON 51 d PENOLA 50

Kingston claimed a narrow comeback win over Penola in the latest round of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara netball.

Penola went into the clash without its experienced shooter in April Possingham this week, so the Eagles knew they were up for a challenge.

Tegan Lythgo moved back to GS and Siobhan Adams had a run in the goal circle, with Hannah Klemm stepping up to the plate in WD.

Penola found early momentum in the first quarter to be up by five goals at quarter time.

The tussle between Brooke Klemm and Kaitlyn Ward was one to watch all day, as they both showed their athletic ability under the post.

Jordyn Adams provided countless intercepts through C against a strong opponent in Eliza Wright.

Adams was well supported by a very controlled Kaitlin Egan pushing the lead ahead out to eight goals at half time.

Lythgo stood tall at times pulling in some great balls and offensive rebounds.

Nevertheless that never stopped Piper Stenner as she managed to take some great turnovers.

The Saints never gave up and really started to capitalise on their turnovers in the third.

Ward was fed beautifully by the Saints' WA Georgia Exton as multiple times the ball was pin point from the centre third line to right under the ring.

Penola's mistakes were punished with Abby Mules and Ward not missing a goal in the second half.

The Eagles were leading by as much as 12 goals throughout the game, yet found themselves even at 36 all at three-quarter-time.

Karly Honner entered the game in goals a few minutes before the last break and provided early stability at the beginning of the last quarter.

However, some costly turnovers from the Eagles allowed Kingston back into the game once again.

The Saints' accuracy eventually got the upper hand, taking the win by one goal in a huge upset against the top of the table Penola.

The Eagles' best were Egan and Jordyn Adams.

13C

Players had to content with slippery conditions in the 13C game.

The Eagles were impressive throughout the contest and Saige Braun was the best player.
