Former Penola resident, Craig Broughill had the trip of a lifetime when he and his children supported his wife as a competitor at the Invictus Games in Hague, the Netherlands, last month.

Injured while serving in the navy, Craig's wife Vanessa competed in the Games, which were founded by The Duke of Sussex, Prince Harry, for wounded military personnel.

Meeting the Prince and the Duchess of Sussex was one of the highlights of their trip, along with supporting Vanessa in collecting a swag of medals including gold in long jump, silver for time trial cycling, and bronze for discus, which added to a silver for discus and bronze for long jump which she won at her first Invictus Games held in Sydney in 2018.

Craig was born in Penola, went to primary school in the town and still has relatives living in Penola.

As a young boy, Craig and his family moved away from Penola in 1993 to settle on Kangaroo Island.

Talking to The Penola Pennant, Craig said he joined the navy in March 2001 as a Combat Systems Operator, specialising in sonar systems.

"I was quickly deployed to the Middle East in 2002 and again in 2003 onboard HMAS Newcastle where I was specifically involved in the boarding operations to prevent illegal trading and maintain security in the region," Craig said.

"In 2008 I had a career change to work in Cryptologic Systems, which involved intercepting and analysing communication transmissions.

"In 2010 I was deployed again to the Middle East onboard HMAS Paramatta."

Craig was transferred to the Naval Cadets in 2013 where he still serves when the opportunity arises.

Driver arrested near Tantanoola

A woman was arrested for traffic offences and failing to stop for police at Tantanoola last Friday night.

The arrest was made after a car was detected speeding at 145 km/h in a 110 km/h zone on the Princes Highway, Tantanoola, just before 6pm.

The driver allegedly failed to stop for police but then experienced engine problems and was forced to pull over.

The driver, a 25-year-old Mount Gambier woman, was arrested and charged with failing to stop, speeding, driving disqualified and driving with unassigned plates.

She also tested positive to drugs.

She was bailed to appear in the Mount Gambier Magistrates Court on June 14.

Her vehicle was towed from the scene and impounded for 28 days.

Nangwarry store owner

By Kathy Fennell

There has been a changing of the guard at the Nangwarry Store after 23 years.

Kevin and Cheryl Dinnison operated the store up until April 19.

"It was really uncanny that we purchased the store from Geoff and Denise McDonald on April 19, 1999 and sold on April 19, 2022," Mrs Dinnison said.

"When we purchased the store our plan was to stay for five years and 23 years later we were still there."

The Dinnisons have had tremendous support from the Nangwarry community over the years, however the business was hugely affected by the Nangwarry Sawmill closing down.

Cheryl said: "I used to do a lot of lunches and catering for the mill which had an employment number at one stage of 400 people.

"We also had agencies for the Savings and Loans and Bank SA and when they were taken away it was another blow to our business."

Kevin said: "We opened the shop seven days a week and never closed once in the 23 years, except for half a day when we had a funeral.

"We plan to rest up a bit and spend more time with the grand children."

Cheryl said: "I miss them already as they used to come to the shop every day."

"I had a few tears when I walked out the door for the last time," she said.

The Dinnisons are very involved in the Nangwarry Football club so they wont be going anywhere during the football season.

The new owner of the store is Lewis Hanna from Alice Springs. Mr Hanna moved to Nangwarry about 12 months ago as the housing was affordable, the weather was much better, and there was an opportunity to buy a business.

"I, along with employee Mick Waye, plan to expand the takeaway food side of things and gradually add more stock," Lewis said.

The shop will continue to operate seven days a week with staff looking forward to continued support from the Nangwarry community.

Letter from the past - Mayor Des Noll and Mary Van Schaik hold the letter written by Mary's husband and former Mayor, Jim Van Schaik in 1995 for the Millicent time capsule.

Mayor's old letter

By Caroline Hammat

Nearly 30 people gathered in the Millicent library's history room on Tuesday to witness the opening of an envelope found in the town's recently opened time capsule which was sealed 27 years ago.

The enclosed letter was written in 1995 by Millicent's Mayor at the time Jim Van Schaik (now deceased) to the current mayor.

In attendance to witness the reading of the letter by Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll was Jim's wife Mary Van Schaik with Noel Boyle introducing the former Mayoress.

Mr Boyle read a short story about Mrs Van Schaik's time with Jim, supporting his role while they managed several businesses in addition to council and Mayoral duties.

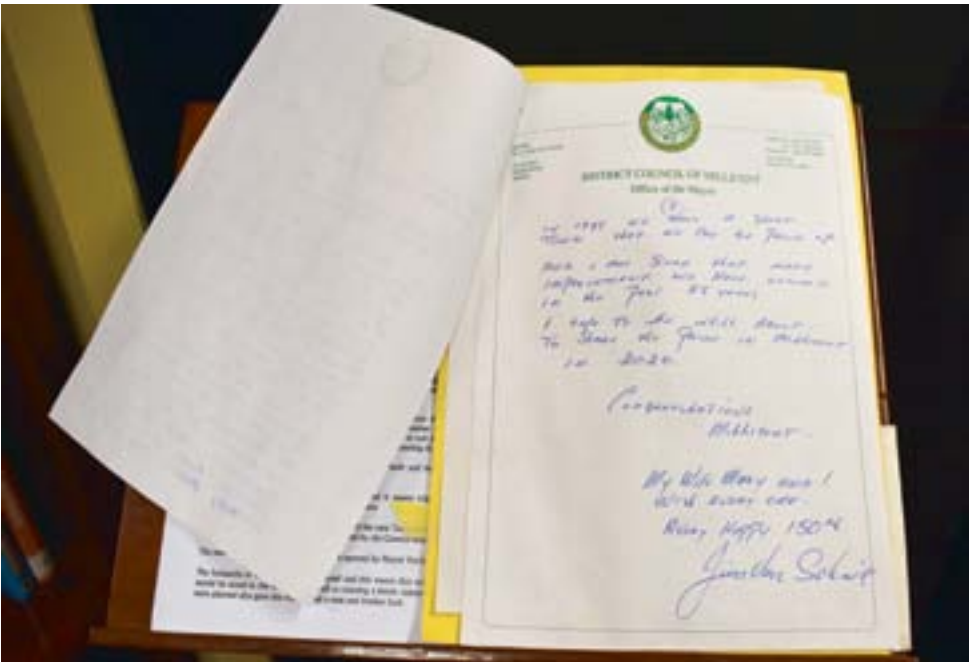

Before the letter was opened Des Noll applauded Mayor Van Schaik's vision, particularly in regards to the support he gave to building the new library which received a lot of debate at the time, but is now the centre of the Millicent community.

Mayor Noll compared the controversy surrounding the size and cost of the library in 1995 to the debate currently surrounding Wattle Range Council's planned new administration building.

The 1995 letter, addressed to the Mayor and residents of Millicent, reflected on the challenging period in history the town encountered as it suffered from declining population through lack of employment opportunities.

Mayor Van Schaik's letter spoke of hoping to restore confidence in the community with the forming of Millicent's Economic Development committee, Main Street committee and the Rendelsham Youth Camp Project.

Mayor Noll reflected on his involvement with the Rendelsham project (Noorla Yo-Long) at that time and he recalled touring the site with Mayor Van Schaik.

Pictured is former Mayor Jim Van Schaik's letter which was written 27 years ago and sealed in a time capsule until Millicent's 150th celebrations last year.

Mayor Van Schaik wrote in his letter, drafted on a District Council of Millicent letterhead: "In 1995 we have a great town that we can be proud of" and he was sure that many improvements would be undertaken in the next 25 years.

Touchingly Mr Van Schaik wrote: "I hope to be still about to share the pride in Millicent in 2020" finishing the letter by wishing everyone a very happy 150th from his wife and himself.

Mrs Van Schaik said it was a spontaneous decision to drop in to the library late last year during the Covid-19 delayed Millicent 150th celebrations shortly after the time capsule had been opened.

On arrival Mrs VanSchaik was handed a letter she had written for the time capsule about her business, Michael James Giftware, and was pleasantly surprised to also discover the letter written by her husband which she didn't know he had written.

Mr Van Schaik's youngest sister, Thea Richards from Mount Gambier, also attended the event with her husband Graeme, and said she found it quite emotional to hear the letter being read.

The letter is available in the library to read and residents have until May 13 to submit entries for the time capsule before it is resealed for the next 25 years.

CFS called to grass fire

Country Fire Service units were called to a fire on Tuesday at 1pm on Lossie Road about two kilometres from the edge of Millicent's town limits.

Grass fires burnt in two paddocks, one alongside a house, outbuildings and a large woodpile and the other nearby.

Firefighters controlled the fire and kept the damage isolated to the two paddocks despite strong wind at the time.

Country Fire Service units were called to a paddock fire on Lossie Road, Millicent, on Tuesday.

A special day for mothers

By Kathy Fennell

This Sunday will be a special occasion for the Flint family of Penola when they gather to celebrate Mother's Day.

In an interview with The Pennant, Sue Flint, along with her daughter and granddaughter Melissa and Tess Porter, gave an insight into what Mother's Day means to them.

Sue said: "We always made it a special day for my Mum.

"We gave her a small gift but were so thankful for how she provided for us as a family.

"Mum was a great cook and very good at sewing and was a great community lady.

"I am so lucky to have my family in Penola and will enjoy my time with them on Mother's Day."

Melissa said: "I am so lucky to have a Mum like mine.

"She is very generous, is there to help whenever I need her and is so supportive," she said.

"It is a special time to spend with family, and I feel very sad for those that don't have their mums with them.

"As a child growing up I never missed out on anything and I really enjoy Mum's cooking," she said.

Granddaughter Tess Porter said: "My Granny is generous, hard working and the kindest person I know.

"I will have a gift for my Mum, however I will just enjoy the love I can share with her on Mother's Day.

"She has supported me in whatever I have done in my life so far and I am so grateful for what she does for me."

Some Mother's will be showered with gifts and flowers, taken out for a meal but most of all will be remembered for just being Mum.

Mother's day was founded in the early 1900's by Anna Jarvis and is known to express respect, honour and love towards mothers.

It is a day to honour the contribution of mothers and acknowledge the roles of mothers in society.

In many countries around the world Mother's Day is celebrated on the second Sunday in May each year.

Australia celebrated Mother's Day for the first time in 1910 with a special church service, however it was not properly observed until the 1920's.

The tradition of giving gifts on Mother's Day started in 1924 when Sydney woman Janet Heyden was inspired to collect charitable gifts for lonely old mothers in Newington hospital who had lost husbands and sons in World War One.

As it is autumn in Australia, white chrysanthemums are the traditional flower for Mother's Day.

Sue Flint receives a kiss from her granddaughter Tess and daughter Melissa.

Family's brush with Royal couple at Invictus Games

In his navy career Craig has visited a lot of Middle East countries with Jordan, India and The Maldives being his most memorable.

"I met my wife Vanessa at Borneo Barracks, an army base just north of Toowoomba in 2008, where we were both completing our training," he said.

The Broughills have three children, Zachary, 10, Avyanna, 8, and Hamish, 7.

Vanessa began her Invictus Games journey in 2018 when she was first selected in the Australian team to compete in Sydney.

After her success there she was selected in the Australian team for the 2020 games that were to be hosted at Hague in the Netherlands.

However, due to Covid-19 these games were postponed twice and were finally held last month.

Craig said: "Vanessa's injury and illnesses include both physical and mental.

"She has had multiple surgeries to repair her shoulder and she suffers from depression and anxiety."

At the games Vanessa competed in athletics (100m and 200m sprints, long jump and discus).

She also competed in swimming (50m freestyle, breaststroke and backstroke, 100m freestyle and five by 50m freestyle relay), four minute and one minute rowing races, powerlifting, time trial cycling and criterium racing, sitting volleyball and a Landrover driving challenge.

"We are super proud of Vanessa and everything she has been able to achieve at these games," Craig said.

"She is an inspiration to our family and many others."

Craig said: "Attending the Invictus Games has been an amazing experience.

"Getting to know the rest of Team Australia, competitors from other countries and hearing their stories on what they had to overcome has also been so uplifting."

Craig said a special moment during the opening ceremony for the Games was when team Ukraine was introduced.

"The atmosphere and feeling in the stadium was remarkable as they had to leave their war torn country to attend the games and many would be returning to fight for their homes once the games had finished," Craig said.

Meeting Prince Harry and his wife Meghan, the Duchess of Sussex, was another special moment for the Broughills.

"Getting to meet Prince Harry and Meghan was a wonderful opportunity," Craig said.

"They seemed very down to earth people and easy to chat to.

"We spoke about The Hague and what a great place to host the games.

"They took great interest in the kids and were happy to speak openly about their own children," Craig said.

"The kids had an awesome time in the Hague and were very happy and proud to be able to see their Mum compete in the games and when we had a spare moment they were pretty keen to to get around Zuiderpark [the complex at which the Invictus Games was held] and do all the fun family activities."

"Another fun filled experience was the kids being able to drive the mini Landrovers," Craig said.

The Broughills have returned to their home in the Barossa Valley.

Welcoming museum tour

By Caroline Hammat

Residents of Millicent and surrounds are welcome to attend the fourth free event hosted by the Millicent (and surrounds) New Residents and Friends group.

Following on from successful walks at Lake McIntyre, the Mount Burr trails and a history walk at Kalangadoo, the group's next meet is a self guided tour at the Millicent Living History Museum with Millicent National Trust President Barry Long and volunteer member Colleen Hammat on hand to answer questions about the museum and local history.

Group leaders, Simone Berry, Darrell Looker and Emma Clay, all new residents themselves within the last few years, recognised a need to keep new people connected and making them feel welcomed to the area.

They set about filling that need by creating the new residents group which has been well attended at each event.

Penny Henley is one such new arrival to Millicent, having moved to the town ten weeks ago.

Ms Henley has attended two of the events and is planning her third outing with the group.

Originally from a large cattle farm in northern New South Wales Ms Henley eventually found herself looking for properties around the Adelaide Hills after moving to the area.

Meet and greet: New resident Penny Henley (left) with group founding members Darryl Looker and Simone Berry welcome the community to join them at their next event at the Millicent Museum where they are pictured.

After an unsuccessful 22 months of house hunting Ms Henley began to look further afield to Millicent.

Having only passed through the town once before Ms Henley recalled being impressed with the public facilities.

"They were among the cleanest public toilets I'd come across in the world, it's a funny thing to be impressed by," Ms Henley said.

"It's an incredibly friendly place; I arrived back at my place while I'd been unpacking to find a dear lady had left a paper bag of freshly cooked scones, some jam, zucchinis, tomatoes and a note welcoming me to the neighbourhood, she also potted up about 14 plants for me.

"Never let fear hold you back, new places, new faces, change is good," Ms Henley said.

She had high praise for the new residents pack supplied by Wattle Range Council (WRC) saying it has been a valuable resource, and that the community infrastructure is great for the size of the place.

Mr Looker agreed saying they have found the local council very supportive.

"Coming from the city I wouldn't even know where the local council was let alone going in through the front door and meeting the CEO."

"Amy Lawlor (WRC Tourism Customer Service Officer) put together a 12 month schedule for us, we are not sticking with that schedule but there are 12 different ideas.

"We would like to hear suggestions for other locations we can add and have plans to visit the Glencoe Woolshed and the community radio station.

"We want more interaction with people and a place they can ask questions and for recommendations."

Residents both new and old are invited to the self guided tour on Sunday May 15 beginning 11am at the South East Family History Group for morning tea before walking to the museum followed by a barbecue in the park.

Rural ambassador's visit to Sydney's Easter Show

By Kathy Fennell

Penola's Jake Rowe attended the Sydney Easter Show this year as part of the South Australian contingent of Rural Ambassadors.

His attendance follows him being announced as a runner-up in the SA State ambassador awards last year.

Due to Covid issues last year, awards for that year and this year were presented at the show in April.

Jake was the Penola Show Society's Rural Ambassador, then went on to win at regional level, and then became a State runner up.

Throughout his year in the role he has attended several country shows in South Australia and the Royal Adelaide show.

Part of his prizes included cash and an RM Williams clothing package.

"We toured the showgrounds as a group and I could not believe the size of the display halls," Jake said about the Sydney Easter Show.

"They were packed to the hilt with displays, showbags, commercial displays, cookery, horticulture plus lots more.

"With 100,000 people attending every day it was amazing to see such crowds there," he said.

He had a birds-eye view of the wood chopping which was an amazing experience.

"I met the wood chopping stewards and learnt the rules while watching some of the best axemen in the world," he said.

He said meeting the President of the Showmen's Guild of NSW, Aaron Pink was also interesting.

He spoke to Jake about the way the guild members live their lives.

"Their work is their life and there is a family history within the NSW guild of more than 100 years," Jake said.

Mr Pink also said that safety is paramount

Penola's Jake Rowe attended the Sydney Easter Show as a SA Rural Ambassador. Picture: SUPPLIED in the guild.

The SA Ambassadors also met up with other ambassadors from NSW, Victoria, Tasmania, Queensland and Western Australia along with the 2021 and 2022 Young Achievers finalists from NSW.

"We all attended a dinner where the 2021 and 2022 National Rural Ambassadors were announced," Jake said.

"Our very own South Aussie, Karl Milde was announced as the 2021 winner.

"You can just imagine the uproar from the SA contingent when the announcement was made."

Rowe will be a speaker at the SA Country Shows symposium to be held in Adelaide in July.

The symposium is held each year and is attended by representatives of show societies from all over country SA.

The South Australian contingent at the Sydney Easter Show.

Guest speakers address the gathering on different topics including, insurance, sponsorship, entertainment and more.

Another fantastic experience Jake participated in was a visit to the Easter Show control room.

"I had a chat with the ring master, John Angus, who has full control of running the show," Jake said.

"He is situated in a tower and has clear views over the whole main arena."

Jake has also produced a podcast with former ABC presenter Annabel Homer and included his history, work, show involvement and the ambassador program.

Jake said: "It was a very full on three days but I enjoyed every minute of it.

"I made lots of new friends and I encourage other young people to get involved with their local show.

"The ambassador competition can lead to wonderful opportunities.

"The future of our country shows is in the hands of young people," he said.

Jake will also participate in a study tour to Tasmania, Margaret River, Government House in Canberra, and the Brisbane Ekka later in the year and will attend the Royal Adelaide Show in September.

Jake is a cabinet maker and runs a successful business in Penola.

Skating to a scholarship

Scholarships with a difference are currently on offer to keen Limestone Coast skateboarders aged 15 and over.

YMCA Action Sports, in conjunction with Sport Australia, are offering Skate Coach scholarships which aim to teach people to become qualified skateboarding coaches and include how to manage skate programs and events.

Information from the Sports Australia on-line application values the scholarship at more than $700 and provides National Skateboard Coaching accreditation. The three month program is a combination of both online and in-person sessions which cover how to create skateboarding workshops, officiate competitions, understand legal compliance and risk management, and basic marketing skills.

Scholarships include a one year Skate Australia Membership, Skate Australia Skateboarding Coaching Accreditation, Working With Children's Check, First Aid and CPR certificate and Australian Safeguarding Children and Young People certificate.

Successful applicants will be part of a nationwide team delivering Action Sport programs such as the National Accredited Skate Park Leagues, All Aboard Skate Sessions (in-school and weekend sessions) and YMCA Skate Club. Applications are open until June and more information is available from Wattle Range Council's Community Development Officer or the YMCA Action Sports website.

Skate scholarship - Successful participants could be organising and assisting with future Millicent skate park competitions similar to previous events held in the town.

Brogan and Taine Wright used power tools and hammers to build bird tree hollows for the community with assistance from Men's Shed member Chris Matthias.

Holiday program success

By Caroline Hammat

Wattle Range Council's school holiday program was a success with many sessions booked out.

After having to cancel the 2021 summer program at the last minute due to Covid restrictions, the Autumn program was well supported.

Some days at the Millicent library had 100 children participate in craft and virtual reality events with more than 30 attending sessions on offer.

Outreach programs also proved popular with apple picking at Kalangadoo booking out days before the event was scheduled.

A Come and Craft day, held at the Kalangadoo Institute, attracted more than 40 participants with the technology sessions booking out and families coming from Mount Gambier and surrounding districts to join in the fun.

A feature of the program was the ability to give back to the community through a collaboration with the Millicent Men's Shed.

Men's Shed members worked with children to build wooden tree hollows for birds from pre-cut recycled timber.

The children were shown how to use hammers and power tools to safely build the bird hollows. Grandparent Liz Wallis was impressed with the school holiday program saying: "You can't speak highly enough, what the council and and library do is fabulous, there's heaps for the children to do."

In the afternoon the children met to see their bird hollows being installed in trees around the skate park and along the drain walking track, adjacent to the Domain nature playground.

Sarah Marzec, Wattle Range Council's Community Development Officer, said: "The installation was great and provided an amazing spectacle for visitors to the Domain Playground to see a cherry picker with staff installing the tree hollows."

Brumby's change of life

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent attendees at the recent Anzac Day mid morning service were witness to a unique experience when members of Naracoorte's Troop of the 3rd Light Horse Regiment (Australian Light Horse Association) formed a catafalque party at the Cross of Sacrifice.

It's unknown if a catafalque party with horses has been performed before in Australia and it's a possibility this was a first.

Rider Tim Goodes said: "We came to Millicent a few weeks ago for a meeting with Chris [Mathias, President of the Millicent Returned and Services League sub-branch] to work out what they wanted and he suggested we form the catafalque party.

"Our horses have never done that before and we didn't practice until the day.

"We got there at 9am and within half an hour every horse had nailed what they had to do."

Few people would have been aware that the horse ridden by Mr Goodes on the day is a rehomed Mount Kosciuszko brumby.

The brumby, Murray, was mustered in the wild, then retrained and broken in by a family friend. Purchased by Mr Goodes in September last year, Murray had only been in training as a Light Horse since December.

An extraordinary amount of time and effort goes into training the horses, with Mr Goodes explaining he would ride Murray around the streets of Kalangadoo after dark to get him used to walking through the town at night and prepare him for the dawn service appearance at Naracoorte.

"If he wasn't trained he probably wouldn't do what we wanted because of the dark," Mr Goodes said.

"It's the reason I walked up first to form the guard because the other horses wouldn't go on their own first.

"But Murray isn't as used to forming the (horizontal) line formation as the others so he was happy to go first and lead the others."

Mr Goodes is one of the original foundation members of the Naracoorte regiment and has been involved with the Australian Light Horse Association for about 10 years.

The association is a non-profit organisation tasked with preserving the history and traditions of the Australian Light Horse.

The Naracoorte regiment currently has six riders and four nurses who mostly appear at Anzac services but will perform elsewhere by invitation.

As the Light Horse they've been invited to events in Western Australia and the Jericho Cup in Warrnambool.

One of Mr Goodes' best memories was his involvement with the Gallipoli Trench Project in Geraldton, Western Australia.

The project is a life sized replica of Leane's Trench, a Turkish Trench at Gallipoli captured by Captain Leane and 200 volunteers from 11th Battalion on July 31/August 1, 1915.

"We were invited to attend a re-enactment and four of us put our hand up to go.

Brumby in town - Approaching the Cross of Sacrifice at Millicent's mid-morning ANZAC service are Cameron Strachan (Naracoorte), Ricky Moore (Mundulla), Simon Ellul (Penola) and Tim Goodes (Kalangadoo) on Murray.

"We had four horses donated to ride when we got up there; we had never seen these horses before and didn't know what we were getting.

"Machine guns and cannons were firing blanks, the full noise was unreal.

"If you shut your eyes you'd swear you were at war.

"The airstrip was right alongside, we had First World War planes landing next to us and flying over.

"It was a highlight of my Light Horse career."

Bike ride in memory of Lily

By Kathy Fennell

A group of cyclists on their way from Melbourne to Adelaide rode through Penola recently raising money for childhood cancer.

The 'Live for Lily' ride has been undertaken for several years.

The Tilby family of Penola and Hester family have known each other for many years, however it was tragic circumstances on how they met.

Matt Tilby said: "I met Sianne and Aaron Hester by chance at a Coonawarra celebration in 2015.

"In conversation I got talking to Sianne and heard the devastating story of their daughter Lily who lost her battle with cancer at the age of nine."

In July 2013, the Hester's daughter Lily, was diagnosed with an extremely rare liver cancer.

She endured six months of chemotherapy, six operations, radiation, other tests and scans and in 2014 she did go into remission.

However, the cancer returned and she passed away in August 2014.

A little while later Sianne faced her own battle with cancer and sadly passed away after a hard fought battle.

Aaron and his sons, Oli and Archie, had now lost their sister, mother and wife to cancer; heartbreaking for anyone.

"It had a huge impact on me as a father of three children; it really pulled on the heart strings," Matt said.

The Live for Lily ride has raised funds which go directly towards finding a cure for childhood cancer

While they were in Penola some donations were made by local organisations.

The local football club donated $500 as did Merrett Logging.

The Greenrise Sailing Club also donated to the cause.

Lessons in controlling your pests on farm

Landholders will have the opportunity to learn how to control a variety of pests at a masterclass being held next week at the Cornish family's Boolara property at Coonawarra.

People intending to go to the masterclass need to book by this Saturday.

The masterclass will held next Thursday and will include lessons on how to best control foxes, rabbits, deer and unpalatable grasses.

Participants will learn from experts in invasive species from the Department of Primary Industries and Regions, landscape and project officers from the Limestone Coast Landscape Board, and a National Parks and Wildlife Service ranger offering advice and support.

Supported by the Commonwealth Department of Agriculture, Water and the Environment, the masterclass will cover topics such as DeerScan, lures for foxes, the fox bounty program, rabbit warren destruction and fumigation, rabbit calicivirus, poison storage, signage, safety and bait laying, traps, Canid Pest Ejectors, identification and control of Coolatai grass, African lovegrass and Chilean needlegrass, and kangaroo destruction permits.

Attendees will also be able to purchase fox baits.

For more information and to RSVP contact Jen Gillis on 0447 115 053 or email jennifer.gillis3@sa.gov.au

Participants in a masterclass held earlier this year demonstrated a rabbit warren smoke machine. A similar masterclass will be held in Coonawarra next week.

Lights on for tests

The Rotary Club of Millicent are once again running their headlight testing campaign in preparation for winter driving ahead.

For tonight only, from 6pm to 7.30pm, anyone is welcome to join the queue in their vehicles and have their headlights tested for a gold coin donation.

Testing will be undertaken at Millicent Farm Supplies on North Terrace with participants asked to follow the signs.

Live music at the Tiger

By Caroline Hammat

Live music fans from across the district enjoyed a night of rock tunes recently at the Tantanoola Tiger Hotel.

Three piece band Tres Hombres had pubgoers dancing throughout the night to an appreciative crowd who are glad to see live music coming back.

Hotel licensee, Luke Kompo, is planning more live music events for the venue in the near future.

Steve and Michelle Galli were out to enjoy a night of live music.

Terry and Jenny Bishop with Michael and Alison Pink are great supporters of live music and happy to see it back.

New Tantanoola residents, Kaz Reid and her son Jai Cook, enjoyed a night out with Mount Gambier friends Carolyn and David Hamson.

Dropping in to see Tres Hombres were Tracey Watts, Karen Hayward and Tammy Hansen.

Caterina Mustillo from Sydney out at 'The Tiger' with Millicent friends Bronwyn D'Aniello and Hatty O'Meara Martin.

Supporting the live music event are Sue Hoffmann and Colin Brown from Tantanoola.

Some of the younger music lovers on the night were James D'Onghia and Lucy Thomas.

PENOLA COONAWARRA ARTS FESTIVAL

Thursday 12 - Sunday 15 May

12547985-SN18-22

Arts Festival nearly here

A premiere opera performance in a cabaret setting, a family pARTy in the heart of Penola, and a night of grass roots music heads up a jam-packed program for the 30th Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival next week.

Being held from May 12 to 15, the festival will have more than 40 venues across Penola and Coonawarra abuzz with more than 50 events including exhibitions, workshops, competitions, comedy, live music and performances. The festival begins at 5.30pm on Thursday, May 12, with the announcement of the winner of the John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Art Prize with an exhibition of entries at the Penola High School Hall.

With the festival this year coinciding with the 150th anniversary of the birth in Penola of John Shaw Neilson - one of Australia's most renowned poets of the late 1880's and early 1900's - the art prize pays homage to him and this year will boast prize money of $12,000 thanks to the long-term supporter The Balnaves Foundation. There will also be a Limestone Coast Local Art Prize of $1000 sponsored by renowned local artist Lois Hodge. A Design Prize of $1000 will also be revealed, offering the winner the opportunity to have their work incorporated into all marketing material for the 2023 festival.

At 7pm the same night, the doors will open at the Rymill Hall for an 8pm curtains up for a Co-Opera premiere performance of the one act comic opera 'Gianni Schicchi' by Giacomo Puccini, made possible by the Regional Arts Fund which supports the arts in regional and remote Australia. Other features of the festival include a Family 'pARTy' which will take place on Sunday, May 15, from 11am on the Mary MacKillop Memorial School's Oval, along with community activities 'Down the Lane' in Petticoat Lane and the surrounding lawns in the historical heart of Penola.

Families are invited to join arty activities, face painting and fundraising stalls for local schools supported by a grant from the Stand Like Stone Foundation. Enjoy local produce along with a free afternoon of entertainment featuring magicians, circus acts, music and a giant birthday cake.

The popular Literary Brunch will also be on the Sunday at Coonawarra's Ottelia with a stellar line up of film creatives including producer Nick Batzias together with director and screenwriter Justin Kurzel to explore their award-winning Australian film Nitram (Martin spelt backwards). The controversial film tells the story of notorious convicted murderer Martin Bryant in the lead up to the Port Arthur massacre in Tasmania in 1996. Seasoned or aspiring buskers of any sort who'd like to try their talent on an audience can sign up for the Bussing and Open Mic Competition which is the newest addition to the festival line up.

Getting ready for the festival from left Sally and Ulrich Grey-Smith, Lois Hodge and Cate Bell.

According to Festival Committee Chair, John Mossop, the festival's program of events this year represents the culmination of strong community creativity and dedication to the festival after a challenging couple of years.

"The Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival has distilled the traditional bumper line-up of events, turning its focus toward its much-loved hallmark events such as the Opera, Family Program and Shenanigans," said Mr Mossop.

"We have plenty of reasons to celebrate this year, reaching the 30 year milestone and 150 years of John Shaw Neilson, who forms the centre point of our unique Festival," he said.

"We invite everyone to come and experience what promises to be a fabulous Festival celebration, and to enjoy the performances, workshops, wineries, galleries, gardens, food and wine of Penola and Coonawarra over this exciting weekend," he said.

The full program of events can be found at www.artsfestival.com.au.

Balnaves of Coonawarra exhibition of puzzling art

Balnaves of Coonawarra will host a bright exhibition of art and jigsaw puzzles inspired by some of the iconic places of our region by talented artist Karen McKenzie.

The exhibition will be open for viewing at Balnaves of Coonawarra's Wine Room throughout the duration of the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival.

Born and raised in Mount Gambier, Ms McKenzie's passion is to paint bright and cheerful images of her local surroundings and further afield, with the recent adaption of her artwork into popular jigsaw puzzles.

Ms McKenzie has developed a range of puzzles featuring the towns of country South Australia where she spent her childhood growing up and enjoys the fact she can showcase the area through her puzzles which will be available to purchase during the exhibition.

Wine tastings, wine by the glass, and picnic cheese boxes will be available to purchase 11:30am - 4:00pm daily.

Festival brings benefits

With tickets sales for festival events already exceeding previous years, the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival is predicted to bring a much-needed economic boost to the region.

The festival attracts people from all around the region and further afield and Festival chairman John Mossop has welcomed the cash injection.

"It's hard to give an exact number to expect, but even when you just look at the people who come here and do performances, that is an income to the region," he said.

"They all have to have somewhere to stay and they'll go out to eat somewhere and a lot stay on for the whole festival, and then there are the people that come as visitors."

Mr Mossop said the festival did great things for the entire Penola Coonawarra region, not just the arts.

"The festival brings a complexity to the community to start with - not every community is about a netball club and a football club," he said.

"The arts give this community another dimension, which makes it an attraction."

He said the festival has historically attracted people from as far as Adelaide and Melbourne.

"The festival is activating locals, bringing people in from the Limestone Coast and then there is a percentage that come and stay from further away," he said.

"That all adds to the numbers for the accommodation, meals, coffees and pubs and hopefully they'll all buy a couple of bottles of wine on their way through and support the wineries as well."

This will be the first festival since Covid-19 restrictions have been lifted, so Mr Mossop was hopeful people would be looking for something to do.

"I think this year, coming out of a Covid environment, people are wanting to travel," he said.

"Everyone wants to go somewhere and do something, so I am hoping we get a bit of that post-Covid boost that weekend."

Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival Chairman John Mossop is expecting an economic boost to the region.

Calling all musicians

Start warming up those vocal chords, because the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival is hunting for talented musicians and poets.

The popular Open Mic Competition, which has seen the likes of Australian singer and songwriter Louise Adams grace the stage, is returning to the festival schedule this year and organiser Ulrich Grey-Smith has urged talented locals to apply.

"I really want to see poets come through as well as musicians," he said.

"One of the winners years ago was The Poet MJ from Kalangadoo, she is certainly well recognised internationally as a poet and has done quite a lot of performances around the place.

"Another person who started at Open Mic here who went on to be quite famous was Louise Adams - it was one of her first performances.

"That was back in 2010, and the rest is history.

"We have a bit of pedigree there and we are hoping we might unearth someone special going forward."

Mrs Adams rose to fame as the runner-up of Season 7 of The X-Factor and has performed across Australia and overseas.

The Open Mic Competition will be held at the Royal Oak Hotel on Sunday, May 15, from 3pm. Mr Grey-Smith encouraged those keen to enter the Open Mic Competition to consider signing up to do some busking over the weekend as well.

"We are looking for anyone who wants to perform but hasn't been able to, to busk in Penola over the weekend," he said.

"We are looking for poets as well as the regular type of buskers, and we are hoping some community choirs might have a go, and maybe even some ensembles.

"I'm hoping to get some students entries from schools around the place, and because it's the first one back for a little while, I am hoping the idea will build from this year, and we will get more uptake."

It has already proven popular with half a dozen local talents already putting up their hands to busk on May 14 and 15 from 9am.

Those enjoying the busker performances can play a part in the festival by submitting their people's choice vote for the best busker, using the QR codes.

The winner will receive a small cash prize.

To register to busk, visit the registration page on the festival website.

Registrations for the Open Mic competition will open on May 14.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

BLUE BLOODS 10, Thursday, 10.40pm

Twelve seasons in, the Reagan clan of New York City cops are like family to loyal viewers. While not everyone would be thrilled to have the New York Police Commissioner as their father, there are many would give an arm or a leg to have the moustachioed Frank (Tom Selleck, pictured) as their dependable, morally superior father; if you're in a scrape, he can be counted on for sage, upstanding advice. In "Tangled Up in Blue", tune in to see how the drama unfolds – and Frank reacts – when Jamie (Will Estes) is caught driving under the influence after unknowingly being given drugs at a party. Meanwhile, Erin (Bridget Moynahan) is stalked by a recently released prisoner.

GRIFF'S CANADIAN ADVENTURE ABC TV, Saturday, 6.10pm

The truth about travelling is that it turns many of us into grumps: catching flights, trains and visiting a never-ending itinerary of destinations can quickly mutate into a hard slog, rather than a fun adventure. That's exactly why witnessing someone else do the tourist thing from the comfort of your own home can be such a delight – especially when its bright-eyed comedian Griff Rhys Jones (pictured). This is a man who sees the funny side of everything and carries a backpack full of awe. His Canadian sojourn is punctuated with unexpected moments. This week is about "Frenchness", with Montreal, Quebec City, bagels and ice hockey on the menu.

PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF MALLACOOTA ABC TV, Tuesday, 8pm

This series has been a real eye-opener, to say the least. In the aftermath of the massive Black Summer bushfires that turned the skies red and ravaged the seaside town of Mallacoota, the recovery and rebuilding has been a painstaking, wrought process, captured here with great clarity and respect. In tonight's final, "That's A Lot Of Sausage Sizzles", there are glimmers of hope among the ashes. The town has struggled to find a way through the disaster, but the sense of community is a salve. Eighteen months on, only 11 of the 123 houses destroyed have been rebuilt. Tune in to find out how this heart-rending portrait of a broken town is resolved.

PICK OF THE WEEK

GRUEN NATION ABC TV, Wednesday, 8pm

If there's something strange in the election campaign, who are you going to watch? Gruen Nation! In the midst of a barrage of ads, speeches and ministerial visits – and a Prime Minister who decided early on that instead of kissing a baby's head, he might change tactics to washing a woman's hair in a hair salon – sometimes we need a panel of experts to enlighten us and give us a comedic pause through the noise of the campaign. Hosted by Wil Anderson (pictured), along with Todd Sampson, Russel Howcroft and a panel of insiders, tune in to smoke out the tricks of the trail, TV and TikTok that our politicians are using to influence your vote.

$96,860 - $102,400 + Super (PO3), vacancy number: 483831

A rare and exciting opportunity to be part of a revitalised senior management team in the South East region of South Australia means we are looking for a group of talented leaders and subject matter experts to step in and manage the SE drainage network.

The South Eastern Water Conservation and Drainage Board ("the Board") has a key goal of managing the South East (SE) Drainage Network and infrastructure to retain water and manage flows to benefit primary production, connected water systems and wetlands. This requires water regimes to be sustainably managed across both the upper and lower south east through optimal management, operations and maintenance of drains, channels and flood ways.

Reporting to the Board and Department Executive, the Manager will drive the development, management and delivery of the SEWDCB Management Plan to effectively manage the South East Drainage Network, a significant infrastructure asset that underpins the economic viability of the South East, mitigates the impact of flooding events and provides environmental benefits to wetlands. Your skills and expertise in leading, managing and developing a multi-disciplinary team of asset/land project and works, scientific, and business staff will be critical to your success in this role.

The Principal Engineer will bring extensive civil engineering expertise, particularly in design and maintenance of steel and concrete structures, to the management of capital works projects and maintenance programs to ensure the drainage network is fit for purpose. You will bring a minimum of a degree in Civil or Environmental Engineering, and post graduate qualifications in project management will be highly regarded.

The Principal Land Flows Management Officer will provide leadership and scientific expertise to manage and regulate water in the drainage network. With expertise in environmental water, vegetation and wetland management you will determine and implement the operating regimes of drainage infrastructure and report on the environmental and hydrological monitoring objectives of the Board. It will be essential that you hold a degree in ecology, natural resource management or environmental science, and a post-graduate qualification in Hydrology will be highly regarded.

Enquiries to: Shoana McManus, Director, Art of Staff Pty Ltd;

Navara PRO-4X Warrior

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

On the outside it's dark, some might say foreboding, the Navara PRO-4X Warrior, to give it its full title, is engineered for tough going off road and comfort while cruising the bitumen.

This is all down to the continued input of Aussie automotive product development and engineering consultancy Premcar, in which the pickup's off-road improvements were tested on regular road surfaces to ensure the everyday ride and handling were not compromised.

Enhancements in wheel, tyre and suspension come up with better ground clearance and improved ride and handling, while wider stance, redesigned front end, plus new Cooper all-terrain rubber, complete a range of rugged visual cues.

In practical terms, the PRO-4X Warrior has been given a gross vehicle mass boost of 100 kilograms to 3250 kg, plus a payload of 961 kg for manual vehicles and 952 kg for the automatics.

With wider track – 1600 mm from 1570 mm - ground clearance has been lifted from 220 mm to 260 mm, while approach angle goes from 32 degrees to 36 degrees and departure angle trimmed from 19.8 degrees to 19 degrees due to the fitment of a full-size spare tyre with alloy wheel.

The Aussie developed Warrior has taken on the standard equipment of the PRO-4X, including a new 7-inch driver assistance instrument cluster, a high resolution 8-inch touchscreen display incorporating Apple CarPlay and Android Auto connectivity and leather-accented interior.

Battle ready: Nissan has gone off-site to produce a battle-ready Warrior.

Competitively priced at $69,990, plus on-road costs, the Navara PRO-4X Warrior automatic on test comes up against some mighty opposition in the Mazda BT-50 Thunder ($68,990 drive-away), Toyota HiLux Rugged X ($69,990) and Ford Ranger Raptor ($77,690).

In typical Navara 'ready for anything' style, up front the PRO-4X Warrior carries a new Nissan winch, compatible Safari-style bull bar with integrated LED light strip and new 'Navara' branded red skid plate, plus a 3 mm steel secondary under-body protection plate.

The robust black test vehicle, with a new decal pack announcing the Warrior's presence from all angles, sported model-specific fender flares adding bulk to the body width, while a new towbar set-up out back was on hand for any serious towing.

The pickup rolls on Cooper Discoverer All Terrain AT3 275 / 70 / R17 tyres with increased tread depth and specific pattern.

Unlike others of the big pickup ilk, the PRO-4X Warrior eschews sombre cabin decor, relying on grey headlining to give the space a light and airy ambience.

Occupants will never be left wondering what they are riding in, the word 'Warrior' is plastered all over the place, from the embroidered front headrests to the orange accented floor mats.

Occupants have the benefit of a smart key, satellite navigation, Apple CarPlay and Android Auto.

The screen helps the driver slot the big truck (nearly five-and-half metres long) into car park spots with 360-degree cameras.

In a move to keep costs down, engineers left the engine alone.

It's the regular Navara 2.3-litre twin-turbo four-cylinder diesel engine delivering 140 kW and 450 Nm, putting power to ground through a seven-speed automatic transmission in our test vehicle.

With seven airbags, the PRO-4X Warrior features intelligent forward collision warning and intelligent emergency braking, as well as vehicle dynamic control, brake limited slip differential, anti-skid brakes, electronic brakeforce distribution, traction control and brake assist.

The high revving engine produces enough power to handle various loads, while the bulky body and wide tyres add wind and road noise to the hum.

A turning circle of 12.7 metres puts parking moves at a premium.

Nissan claims fuel consumption at 8.1 litres per 100 kilometres on the combined urban / highway cycle.

The test car turned in 10.1 litres per 100 kilometres over a week of town and country driving.

A revised suspension with new spring rates provides more front-end support, hence less body roll.

Reworked front and rear damping provide greater control of wheels, improved isolation of the cabin from impacts and reduced float when towing or with loads.

Head, leg and shoulder room all-round the cabin is above average and air-con outlets are extended to the rear seating, which on a long run can be unforgiving in its firmness.

Adjustable tie-down anchors run the length of the lined tub, while a hatch-style electric sliding rear window in the dual cabin gives a chance to carry extra-long items or give extra cab ventilation.

With Aussie engineering input, Nissan has come up with a Warrior that could rattle a few of the enemy on home soil and beyond.

Beautiful sunshine in Penola attracted many spectators to the football and netball matches against Lucindale at McCorquindale Park recently.

Included in the visitors was former local Louise Hastie (visiting from Scotland) along with husband Dave and two daughters Elsa and Charlotte.

Louise's brother Todd Russell also was a visitor from the Mornington Peninsula.

"It was a fantastic opportunity for us to catch up with all our mates at the footy," she said.

Massive win for Eagles

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 17.18 (120) d Tantanoola 5.3 (33)
The Hatherleigh juggernaut continued on Saturday, as the Eagles easily accounted for Tantanoola in Round 4 of Mid South East football. On their home deck the Eagles were simply untouchable, with a steady nine-point first-quarter lead to set the scene.

It was the second term which broke the game open, with a five goal quarter, while holding the Tigers to just two.

That equated to a 31-point half-time advantage and the Eagles did not back off from there.

Another three majors were added in the third quarter but it was the final stanza where Hatherleigh broke loose.

With the game in hand it would have been easy to sit back and allow the game to run its course.

However, the Eagles had different ideas, as the banged on seven major scores to run the game out in style.

Coach Jake Dowdy led by example, with seven goals to his name, while Jack Skeer (3) and Jordan Galpin (2) were other multiple contributors.

Dowdy it was a good win after some tough going early on.

“It was pretty windy and they took it up to us for the first half,” he said.

“It was a bit of a slug but we got the job done.”

The Eagles were without star forward Jake Wight, who suffered a broken wrist against Robe last round, while a couple of other niggling injuries forced the Eagles to refocus at the attacking end of the ground.

However, it did not seem to matter as Hatherleigh again had plenty of players stand up. “I think we share the ball around and have a lot of goal scoring options,” Dowdy said. “We have worked had on trying to get clean entries into the 50 which is working quite well so far.”

Mark Marriott continued his good form in the 2022 Mid South East football season, with a best-on-ground performance for Hatherleigh.

Despite holding a comfortable lead up to the long break, Dowdy said the contest was a lot closer on the ground than the scoreboard suggested.

“They were really taking it up to us, were hard at it with a lot of pressure,” he said.

“Early on our skills weren’t up to it but we worked on it after half time and the last half opened up for us.”

That was certainly the case as the Eagles limited the Tigers to just 13 points after the main break and banged on 69 points in total.

Despite having the game in hand at the final break, in the last quarter the Eagles kicked seven majors to ice the game.

“We wanted to make sure we ran it out and it was probably our best quarter,” Dowdy said.

Hatherleigh now has a week off with the bye, a timely break to ensure all players return fit and ready to go for Round 6 against Glencoe.

Matt Cordy was again in fine form for Kongorong in the Hawks win over Nangwarry on Saturday.

Hawks chalk up first win

By Trevor Jackson

Kongorong 12.19 (91) d Nangwarry 5.4 (34)
Nangwarry would have hoped to chalk up its first win for many years when the Saints travelled to Kongorong to face the Hawks in Round 4 of Mid South East football.

However, that is not the way the day panned out, with the home side on top throughoutthe contest.

Despite being win-less going into the match, took up the challenge from the first bounce and began to apply scoreboard pressure.

Nangwarry kicked just the one major in the opening stanza, while Kongorong added four, plus five behinds to take a 23-point lead to the first break.

Another four majors in the second term saw the home side extend its lead, with the Saints struggling to make headway into the growing deficit.

By the long break the margin had blown out to 42 points and a victory loomed for Hawks.

While the Saints worked hard around the ground, they could not find the big sticks and continued to watch as Kongorong chased victory.

The final term saw an improvement from the visitors, as the Saints banged on two majors while holding the Hawks goal-less.

However, by that time the lead was insurmountable and the Hawks celebrated.

Saints spearhead forward Andrew Hyland contributed three of the side's five goals, with delivery the biggest issue as Kongorong controlled play around the ground.

Goals were shared around by the Hawks, with Harrison Evans, Matt Cordy and Fraser Brewster topping the list of best players.

For Nangwarry, Thomas Vanderhorst, Ben Just and Matthew Pratt were named best.

Demons win

By Trevor Jackson

Port MacDonnell 13.10 (88)
d Mount Burr 11.10 (76)

Port MacDonnell claimed its second win of the Mid South East football season on the week-end, with a 12-point victory over Mount Burr.

The Round 4 clash had been transferred to the Mount Burr oval due to renovations on the ground down at the Bay but the reigning premiers still had the measure of the Mozzies.

Without coach Simon Merrett on the job, Kev Thomson stepped up to the plate and ensured the Demons chalked up another victory.

However, they were forced to work hard for the win, with scores tied at the first break, before the Mozzies stretched their advantage in the second term to go to the long break eight points up.

The Demons needed something special to remain in touch and the third quarter provided just that, as they banged on five majors while holding Mount Burr to just three, heading to the final break with a handy five-point advantage.

The final term played out reasonably even but the Demons held on for a well-deserved victory.

Thomson led by example up forward for the victors with five goals, while Brandon Newton (3), Lennox Lewis (2) and Mason Brown (2) also kicked multiple majors.

Tim Sullivan showed his versatility, with a goal and several intercept marks at the defensive end to stifle the Mount Burr forwards.

Thomson said it was typical of the big ruckman, who refuses to rest, preferring to play an active role around the ground.

“Tim had an unreal last 10-12 games last year and he got even fitter in the pre-season,” he said.

“I have played A Grade for about 15 years and he is the most dominant player I have played with.

“He is our number one ruckman and is just a competitor.

“You try to get him to rest forward during a game and doesn't want a bar of it, he just wants to ruck and be in the thick of it.”

Likewise, Thomson said the likes of Rhys Timms and Wade Chant were also in good touch throughout the game.

“Wade Chant had the job on Jack Gregory and he played the best game I have seen him play,” he said.

“Rhys Timms at centre half back played the best game I have seen him play.

“They are all young boys so the club is heading in a pretty good direction.”

Thomson said he expected a tough hitout against Mount Burr, especially on their home deck.

He said with the regular coach out of action he was happy to step up to the plate.

“They are a young quick team, while we have a few more big bodies in the mid-field,” Thomson said.

“They controlled the game for the first half so it was good to get the win in the end.

“I knew early in the week Simmo was struck down with Covid but I was up for the challenge.

“I have been his assistant for two-and-a-bit years and I enjoyed the time, the opportunity and the challenge.”

Another challenge looms this weekend against Nangwarry, with some sibling rivalry thrown into the mix.

With the Saints up and about, coached by Kev's brother Luke, Kev said it was an important game to win.

Strong game for Roosters

By Trevor Jackson

Robe 18.15 (123) d Glencoe 6.5 (41)

A six-goal haul to Harry McInnes helped Robe to its second win of the Mid South East football season.

Robe began the season with a bye and suffered a loss in Round 3 against the powerhouse Hatherleigh.

In Round 4 the Roosters travelled to take on Glencoe and showed their full potential, in control from the first bounce.

Even with the rain tumbling down early, Robe simply controlled the contest, despite a steady opening term.

A rain squall crossed the ground and slippery conditions followed but by the first break the Roosters had built an 11-point advantage.

Glencoe looked to fight back in the second quarter, with two majors to keep in touch but at the other end of the ground Robe found plenty of possession in its attacking 50.

Nine shots on goal resulted, with three of those converted for full points and by the long break the margin had crept out to 22 points.

With Glencoe still in touch at half time, the game was still up for grabs.

However, what unfolded in the third term blew the game apart.

The Roosters began to run and kicked more accurately, which saw the margin extend to 54 points and only the formalities remained.

Not content with that margin, Robe added a further six majors in the final stanza to ice the game.

McInnes was impressive with his bag of goals, while Oliver McInnes (3), Fred Batzias (2), Jed Jarrett (2) and Thomas Miller (2) all contributed multiples.

Coach Tom Wachtel led by example again, named best for his side, along with Harry McInnes, Sam Clements, Jed Jarrett and Lachlan Hentschke.

For Glencoe, Sam Giersch, Jack Edmonds, Patrick Mitchell, Thomas Edwards, Dylan Pfitzner and Ben Hentschke were named best.

Match of the round down to the wire

Robe 52 d Glencoe 50

The Mid South East netball Round 4 match of the round between Glencoe and Robe lived up to expectations, with a hard-fought, tightly contested contest going down to the final whistle.

Robe claimed the honours, but by just two goals in a cracking contest.

The first quarter was played at a high-intensity and a frenetic pace, with both teams creating strong attacking play.

Sarah Laurie was the focal point for Robe in their goal circle, creating plenty of space and finishing strongly with 11 goals from 13 for the quarter.

At the other end, Glencoe goal shooter Ma-linda Markiewicz created space and netted 10 from 11.

It was Glencoe who got the early break, turning over Robe's first centre pass through a strong Sarah Edwards intercept.

Glencoe's Chantelle Cocks left the court only a few minutes in with injury and was replaced by A Reserve player Bec Edwards.

Glencoe took a one-goal advantage into the first break.

Robe came out firing in the second quarter, bringing Alannah Jennings into the match at goal keeper to help reduce Markiewicz's influence

Lucy Perkins and Annie Hunter increased their defensive pressure in the goal third, making it hard for Laura Edwards and Donna Jaeschke to find the circle edge.

Tori Gluyas started to come into the game, using her trademark long-range shooting accuracy to score 11 from 12 for the quarter.

Robe went into the long break with a four-goal advantage.

The Roosters made a number of changes at the long break, with Perkins switching into wing attack and Ellen Ramke returning to the game at wing defence.

However, it was Glencoe who came out strongly, scoring the first five goals of the quarter off the back of intercepts and strong rebounding from Sarah Edwards.

Jaeschke provided plenty of run and created lots of play, while Jenna Paproth moved well in the goal circle and used her front drives to advantage, then finished with accuracy.

Perkins stepped it up early in the third and was the main play-maker for Robe, driving strongly to ensure the score did not blow out and Ramke also gained a number of important touches.

Scores were all tied up at 40 a-piece going into the final quarter to set up an entertaining finish to the contest.

Halle Carter took the goal attack bib for Robe, allowing Gluyas to move to goal shooter, while Laurie headed to the bench.

The Robe defenders were able to get their hands to a number of balls in and around the Glencoe goal circle and send the ball down to Gluyas, who made good space to net nine goals for the term at 100 per cent accuracy.

Perkins continued to dominate the attacking end but Glencoe refused to go away, turning the ball back on numerous occasions.

However, the supply was near continuous from the Robe defenders and they managed to hold on by two goals at the final whistle.

Best players for Robe were Ramke and Jennings, while Paproth and Markiewicz were best for Glencoe.

Tant Tigers take points from Eagles

Tantanoola 42 d Hatherleigh 33

In a game which was deemed a must win for both sides, Tantanoola came out on top and take the points against a tough Hatherleigh outfit in Round 4 of Mid South East netball.

Hatherleigh started with the first centre pass on its home court but it was turned over and the Tigers were first on the board.

Hatherleigh struggled to get into the game in the first quarter, as Tantanoola forced multiple errors and convert.

Hatherleigh's Erin Watson applied plenty of pressure to Tantanoola's Casey Walker, with neither player giving an inch.

The visitors went to the first break with an eight-goal lead.

Both sides remained unchanged going forward.

Hatherleigh's defence worked overtime to create opportunities but they continued to waste them with errors.

Emma Gould was a stand out in the Tigers' attack and combined well with Jami Walker.

The Eagles upped the defensive pressure and made Tantanoola work hard for every ball but the Tigers stayed in control and extended their lead, going to the main break with a 29-15 advantage.

Abby Wight combined with Maddie Redman in the goal circle and the home side began to find some good space, then added to the scoreboard to keep in touch.

Demi Vanderhorst came into the game at goal keeper and was matched well on Gould.

An ankle injury to Casey Walker saw her leave the court, replaced by Kristy Varcoe, while youngster Ebony Cytrowski filled the wing defence position, with the Tigers taking some time to settle and adjust to the changes.

Hatherleigh's Chelsea Galpin worked tirelessly to gain possession and help lift her side in the third quarter but it was the visitors who took a 12-goal lead going into the last term.

The home side came out firing in the final stanza and displayed some impressive passages of play and transitions down the court.

However, Tantanoola remained composed and while the Eagles won the last quarter, it was too little, too late and the Tigers prevailed.

Best players for the victors were Tayla Rowe and Gould, while Vanderhorst and Wight were best for Hatherleigh.

Hawks claim breakthrough first victory

Kongorong 44 d Nangwarry 37

Kongorong and Nangwarry went into their Mid South East netball Round 4 clash winless, with the Hawks emerging with their first victory of the season.

It was a well-earned two points in an entertaining match.

The young Hawks were strong out of the box, with the defensive pressure of Sarah Lucas, Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody creating problems for the Saints' attack.

Nangwarry stepped it up in the second quarter as Hayley Burner gained crucial intercepts, while Cassie Dinnison and Ange Pratt combined to reduce the margin from four goals to two at half time.

With the change of Rachel Perry and Kate Wright in the mid-court, Kongorong's Tilah Buckingham and Evie Sealey had some great feeding into the circle and finished off well in the windy conditions.

Nangwarry's Hayley Vanderhorst, Shannon Higgins and Burner continued to apply strong defensive pressure, with Ebony Lawson and Kylie Heaver moving well through the mid-court. However, it was not enough as the score line stretched back to seven goals in the Hawks' favour, as Buckingham got her hands all over the ball time and time again.

The young Hawks continued to pile on the pressure in the last quarter, finishing with as much intensity as they began to claim their first win since 2019.

Buckingham was awarded the Anzac Day medal for most valuable player.

Best players for Kongorong were Buckingham and Sarah Lucas, with Burner and Higgins best for Nangwarry.

Mozzies hold on in tough contest with Demons

Mount Burr 44 d Port MacDonnell 37

In another tight Mid South East netball clash, Mount Burr prevailed against a determined Port MacDonnell.

The game started evenly, with both sides scoring from their centre passes.

Pressure passing caused many turnovers, with Mount Burr shooter Ebony Clark and Port MacDonnell shooter Toni Gilmore dominating the circle for their respective teams.

The Demons took a two-goal advantage at the first break, with no changes from either side.

Port MacDonnell stepped up the intensity in the second term, as goal defence Alana Winter created many turnovers early.

Mount Burr wing attack Meg Fennell and centre Laura Schultz took some timely intercepts and Clark continued to dominated in the circle, scoring all the opportunities as the Mozzies created a one-goal advantage at the main break.

Isabelle Sneath replaced Kristy Sneath at wing defence for the Demons while the Mozzies remained unchanged.

Mount Burr continued to put themselves under pressure with their passing, while Port MacDonnell took a five-goal lead mid-way through the quarter.

Mount Burr goal defence Madi Haggett and goal keeper Olivia Dean started to get on top of the Demons' goalies and created turnovers, while goalies Clark and Zoe Brown found their range and combined well to take a four-goal lead at the final break.

The contest was set up for a blockbuster final term but both sides struggled to capitalise on opportunities early.

Mount Burr settled first, with Schultz creating many turnovers through the centre.

The Mozzies stepped up the defensive pressure and the game went for goal-for-goal late in the quarter but the Mozzies had done enough to claim a six-goal win.

Best players for the victors were Schultz and Madi Haggett, while Winter and Narelle Lewis were best for the Demons.

Mount Burr goal attack Zoe Brown makes good position to receive the ball during the weekend's round of Mid South East netball. Picture: TREVOR JACKSON

Kev Thomson led Port MacDonnell to a hard-fought victory last weekend and will look to continue that trend when the Demons face Nangwarry in Round 5 of Mid South East football.

Robe will hope coach Tom Watchel can lead them to victory against Kongorong in Round 5 of Mid South East football this weekend.

Round 5 previews

By Trevor Jackson

Round 5 of Mid South East football kicks off this weekend, with some interesting contests set to play out.

Tantanoola v Glencoe

First up Tantanoola hosts Glencoe in what is an important contest for both sides.

Both sides come off big losses in Round 4 and will want to put their season back on track.

Tantanoola went down to an impressive Hatherleigh, despite a determined first half.

While the scoreboard suggested the Eagles were on top, the Tigers certainly made them earn their first-half advantage.

Tantanoola sits down in seventh place on the ladder with just one victory this season.

That could change this weekend but they will certainly need to throw everything at the Murphies if they are to prevail.

Glencoe will look to regroup after a big loss to Robe on their own home deck.

While the first quarter in the Round 3 clash was low-scoring, with a rain squall crossing the venue and creating slippery conditions.

The Murphies struggled, without a major score in the opening term and the Roosters simply went on from there.

The Murphies' other loss this season came at the hands of the benchmark Kalangadoo in the opening round.

They would certainly like to record another victory to remain in touch with the pointy end of the field, now sitting fifth on the ladder.

In a tight contest Glencoe should do enough to claim the points.

Nangwarry v Port MacDonnell

Nangwarry is still searching for that elusive victory and will have another chance on Saturday against Port MacDonnell.

The Demons have started their season at a steady pace, similar to last season where they peaked at the business end and claimed the premiership.

Despite that, they have only lost one game from their three hitouts.

That was to last year's runner-up Kalangadoo.

Both Kongorong and Mount Burr pushed the Demons but they were able to hold on and claim the honours despite the pressure.

The Saints have started without a win after four outings but have showed some renewed vigour. They went down to Tantanoola in the opening round in a tough hitout which almost yielded a win. They also pushed Glencoe right to the final siren, with just a couple of goals separating the two sides.

The Demons can not take this one for granted and are sure to throw everything at the contest.

The reigning premiers should do enough to claim the win and the Saints will have to wait for another day for their first victory in 2022.

Robe v Kongorong

Robe will be riding the wave of success after last week's big win over Glencoe, while Kongorong also tasted success against Nangwarry.

The Hawks head up to the seaside venue to face a tough home side and will be hard-pressed to return victorious.

The win against the Saints last round was comfortable but it was the Round 3 clash against Mount Burr which showed a bit more promise.

For three quarters the hawks were in the contest but let their game slip in the final quarter and lost by a fair margin.

If they can show that same intent for four quarters against Robe they could well return with the points.

However, Robe began the season with a bye and once underway in earnest showed they are up for the challenge.

They comfortably disposed of Tantanoola, before succumbing to a tough Hatherleigh outfit, then hit their straps last week against Glencoe, claiming a big win.

On their home deck the Roosters should have enough to account for the visitors and remain right towards the pointy end of the ladder.

Mount Burr v Kalangadoo

A tough round faces Mount Burr, despite being its second home game in a row.

The Mozzies welcome the benchmark of the competition in Kalangadoo and the Magpies appear set to go through the season again undefeated.

So far the Magpies have taken all before them, with three convincing victories from three outings, including a big win over the reigning premiers Port MacDonnell.

The Mozzies struggled in the opening two rounds but seemed to find some form recently, with a strong win over Kongorong in Round 3, followed by a close loss to the Demons last weekend.

However, the Magpies appear a class above at the moment and will claim the points without too many issues.

Club rides

The Penola Hunt Club opened its 2022 season last week with an Anzac Day hunt at the Sugar Loaf.

A working bee on the Sunday kicked off the weekend.

Many hands made light work and volunteers were able to construct a long-drop toilet, as well as several new jumps for the course.

Existing jumps were also checked and cleaned to ensure they remained safe for use.

After the work was done a few riders stretched the legs of their steeds, before the horses were plaited up ready for Monday's main event.

Monday morning rolled in and a few more riders and horses came with it.

By 11am everyone was saddled and ready to go, with black armbands worn in memory of Chipsy Childs.

The shout of "Tally Ho" started the hunt and riders followed their leader around the pristine course.

As the hunt grew on the weather warmed up, with short breaks taken regularly to rest horses and riders.

David's tree signified the halfway mark, where Peter DeGaris from the RSL presented the Anzac ceremony.

Riders gathered around the flag and the last post was played, followed by a minute silence.

Horses were tended to during the break, before a toast was made to Childs and the hunt resumed.

Upon completion of the course, riders waited for their masters to dismount, before packing up.

A good day was had by all, with a strong field in the opening hunt of the season.

Sharing the family spirit

By Lachlan Onions

It was a family reunion on the court for Penola Netball Club last weekend.

Sisters Kimberley Wilson, Teegan Galpin and Aimee Lepley took to the court together in their B Grade clash against Lucindale.

It was the first time that three sisters have played for Penola.

"It was the first time I've played alongside both of them," Wilson said.

"I played with one of them last year but with babies between all of us, last weekend was the first time we'd all played together."

Penola claimed victory in their clash over Lucindale to get their season off to a strong start.

The sisters have been playing netball since junior level.

"We started playing netball since we were allowed to at eight-years-old," she said.

"I'm the coach of the B Grade team and it just happened to work out that we were all in the same team."

"Hopefully we can chase down another premiership."

Match of the round set to be a nail-biter

Tantanoola v Glencoe

Tantanoola will host Glencoe in Round 5 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

Touted as the match of the round, it promises to be an entertaining clash.

Glencoe's Donna Jaeschke drives hard down the court and accurately feeds her goalies, Malinda Markiewicz and Jenna Paproth.

However, Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe will apply plenty of pressure, to make the Glencoe goalies earn every possession.

At the other end of the court Emma Gould will continue to shoot with accuracy, combining with Jami Walker, a formidable duo for any opposition.

Kristy Varcoe will fight for every possession down the court for the Tigers, chasing any potential loose balls and feeding her goalies with accuracy.

This game will be one to watch, with match ups all down the court.

However, Glencoe's strength will help them to secure the points. In a real nail-biter.

Robe v Kongorong

Robe will look to boost its percentage this week when the Roosters host Kongorong.

However, the Hawks will not go down without a fight after celebrating their first A Grade win since 2019 against Nangwarry in Round 4.

Robe's Sarah Laurie and Tori Gluyas are a focal point in the circle and are both accurate.

The Hawk's defensive pressure from Sarah Lucas, Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody will make it difficult to feed into the circle.

Alannah Jennings will put the pressure on for Kongorong's goalies Tilah Buckingham and Evie Sealey and will be ready to fight for any potential rebounds.

The combination of Lucy Perkins and Annie Hunter down the court for Robe will make for a steady game, with the Roosters to claim the points.

Port MacDonnell v Nangwarry

Port MacDonnell will head to Nangwarry this week, with hopes of a second win for the season.

Hayley Burner and Shannon Higgins will combine in the defensive circle for the Saints and apply plenty of pressure on Toni Gilmore and Brooke Williams, with Gilmore's accuracy in the goal circle a crucial part of the Demons' attack.

Liza Mutch and Ebony Lawson will both fight to work the ball down the court for their respective teams, while Alana Winter's defensive pressure for the Demons will force Nangwarry's attack to earn every goal.

This game has the potential to be a close one but the Demons will finish the day with the points.

Mount Burr v Kalangadoo

Mount Burr will host Kalangadoo this week and both teams will be up for the challenge.

Madi Haggett and Olivia Dean will create every possible opportunity for a turnover in the defensive circle for Mount Burr, while Kalangadoo's Maddy Bonanno and Kori Collins will be fed accurately by Jayde Peacock and Sophie Wrightson.

After a tough tussle, Mount Burr will come out victorious.

Dynamic duo ends drought

There were celebrations at Penola Bowling Club last Saturday as Scott Degenhardt and Jack Clifton claimed victory in the Lower and Upper South East play-off for the regional champion of champions competition held at Naracoorte RSL.

The duo took part in the Men's Pairs and defeated Tintinara's Mike Lawson and Kevin Munro.

Degenhardt has mentored Clifton for a number of years.

This victory ended a nine-year drought for Penola Bowling Club as it was the first time a team had won a champion of champions competition against the Upper South East since 2013.

The last side to complete this feat was in the Women's Fours, where Shirley McIntyre, Kathy Fennell, Maureen Konynenburg and Gerardine Williams claimed victory.

Robe summer season ends on a fine note

Robe Bowling Club held their summer closing day and annual general meeting on May 1.

Participants were treated to fine weather for the final day of the summer season.

Rob Lawrie, Nola Peel, Paul Truelove and David Robinson claimed the win with 29 pointson the day.

A count-back was required to split second and third place as two teams finished on 27 points.

Dean Burgoyne, Doug Baker and Leanne Cameron claimed second place ahead of Glenn Wright, Ross Denning and Pam Robinson in third.

After the game was completed, the championship badges were presented to the winners of each competition.

Lorraine Denning, Tracey Gray, Bronwyn

Matthews and Jo Sykes claimed the Women's Fours championship.

The Women's Triples title was claimed by Kerrie Boyd, Ann Moore and Valma Jennings.

Jennings was in fine form throughout multiple competitions as she claimed the Women's Singles championship as well as the Women's Doubles alongside Nesla Boundy.

The Men's Fours championship was won by Rob Hooper, Vic Dawson, Josh Waddell and Mark Murphy.

Rob Lawrie, Dean Burgoyne and Harold Manton claimed the Men's Triples championship.

Lawrie also won the Men's Veteran's and Men's Singles championships.

Gordon Brown and Glenn Wright were champions for the Men's Pairs.

The AGM was held later in the day as Harold Manton was elected president, with Stephen Kennett and Judy Bermingham as vice-presidents.

Peter Roachock was named secretary while Pam Robinson was elected as treasurer.

22 players took part in Thursday's social bowls, sponsored by Robe Caledonian Inn and Sky Seafoods.

Pam Robinson and Peter Roachock claimed victory with 54 points ahead of Bronwyn Matthews and Dean Woodward on 52 points.

Third place went to Robbie Dahler and Paul Truelove.

With the summer season done and dusted, social bowls will be held on Thursdays and scrungers on Saturday during the winter.

David Robinson, Nola Peel, Paul Truelove and Rob Lawrie claimed the win on Sunday at Robe Bowling Club.

Close game predicted

By Lachlan Onions

Penola Football Club make the long trip to Keith on Saturday for the third round of the Kowree Naracoorte Football League.

The game is expected to be a close contest as the Eagles enter the game off the back of a triumphant win in Round 2 over Naracoorte.

Keith lost their first two games, but Penola coach Brad Maney expects a strong performance from the Crows on Saturday.

“They’re an exceptional football team, I don’t look into their results at all,” Maney said.

“If anything, we probably go into the game as underdogs again.

“Keith is one of our largest travel days and it’s quite a skinny oval so we will have to adjust.

“The great thing about having a young group is that they are naïve in some ways and we will just relish the opportunity and see what happens.”

Maney is under no illusions of the talent pool that Keith has at its disposal heading into their Round 3 clash.

“They’ve got a fantastic forward in Lewis Hender, a local who’s had a tremendous SAN-FL career,” Maney said.

“George Thring’s a good coach, they’ve been consistently up the top since he took the role.”

Penola enter the game without Anders McShane while Luke Walker is a doubt after he sustained a hamstring injury late in the game against Naracoorte.

The Crows will look to Seb Schreiber as they look to claim their first victory of the season.

Schreiber claimed best on ground in the first two games for Keith this season.

The Eagles will hope that their momentum from their win over Naracoorte carries through to Round 3 in what will be a tightly-contested matchup.

Maney hopes Penola’s first win will provide the platform for future success at the club.

“We individually assess ourselves against our three trademarks each week,” he said. “Through that, we our building a culture of sustained success.”

Demons too strong for Penola

Naracoorte 51 d Penola 42

Penola’s A Grade Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Netball Association premiership defence has struggled to click into gear this season as they suffered their second loss of their campaign after just the two rounds.

Naracoorte were too strong for the Eagles as they claimed their first win of the season.

Penola entered the game expecting a difficult task as they were without a number of key players due to injuries, illness and a wedding.

The Eagles managed to field a side as Sally Skeer and Karly Honner stepped up from the A reserves.

Penola had a promising start, but Naracoorte were equal to the challenge and pounced on every mistake by the away side.

The Demons capitalised on every mistake to take a five-goal lead at the first break.

Naracoorte continued to put the visitors to the sword as they extended their lead to eight by halftime.

Maddy Teakle and Chloe Long kept the away side in the game with their defensive pressure and rebounding.

Penola threatened to pull off a comeback as they reduced Naracoorte’s lead to just five goals by the end of the third quarter.

However, a centre-pass turnover to begin the fourth quarter brought the Eagles’ momentum to a halt.

The home side were too strong as they went on to claim a nine-goal win.

Tough task for netballers

By Lachlan Onions

Penola Netball Club will hope to claim their first win of the season this Saturday as they take on Keith in the Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Netball Association.

Both sides enter the game off the back off disappointing losses in Round 2.

Penola have struggled to reach their heights of last season where they were premiers.

Their squad depth was tested against Naracoorte as they struggled to field a team with injuries, sickness and a wedding.

The reigning premiers lost their first two games by nine goals and face a difficult task of turning their form around when they make the trip to Keith.

They will be hopeful of being back to near full strength after their squad depth was tested last weekend.

Keith enter the game off the back of an 18-goal loss to Lucindale on Saturday.

However, the Crows were successful in their first game for the season as they defeated Mundulla by 24 goals.

Their shooters were on fire as they shot with pinpoint accuracy in the first game and notched up an association-high 70 goals.

Danielle Vankalken enters the game with 73 goals this season for Keith.

Siobhan Adams makes a pass during Penola’s A Grade game against Naracoorte on Saturday.
Picture: LACHLAN ONIONS

Maddy Teakle will likely matchup with Vankalken on Saturday’s game.

Teakle has been a consistent performer for Penola and will need to continue that form into Round 3 for the Eagles to come away with a result this weekend.

Redemption for Eagles

“We do lose him next week as he goes back to school, but we will get him for a couple of other games next school holidays.

“For a 16-year-old to make the impact he did, was fantastic.”

The Eagles held on to win the game by 19-points as they secured their first win of the season.

Bradley Merrett was on fire at centre-half back as he claimed best on ground honours.

“Merrett played one of the best games of country football that you will ever see,” Maney said.

“I’d be surprised if he didn’t have 15-20 intercept marks, he was incredible and the difference.”

Deane had a strong game as he kicked three goals and was heavily involved in the contest in his second game for the club.

“He’s been fantastic,” Maney said.

“He’s a fantastic trainer, the level of intensity that he has brought, it is contagious.”

Porter flying high with Thunderbirds

By Lachlan Onions

Tess Porter has been relishing the opportunity to take part in the Adelaide Thunderbirds netball academy.

Porter has been playing netball since she was five years old and began playing league netball for Penola Eagles at the age of 10.

Now 16, her long-term commitment to the sport has been rewarded with this great opportunity.

"There was a selection process that involved two trials," Porter said.

"This led me to wanting to develop into a better netballer, because it's a State pathway.

"I wanted to get into the team so I really worked on my fitness beforehand and little skills that would build me into a better player.

"When I found out I got in I was absolutely thrilled."

Porter sees this opportunity as a chance to not only develop as a player, but also make new friendships along the way.

"It's really exciting that I can combine with metro girls as well as other country teams," she said.

The academy involved six training sessions throughout the season including two in Adelaide.

The first session of the season took place on Sunday in Keith, which gave Porter her first taste of what to expect.

"The first session was really good as long as you were mentally fit for it as it was six hours long," she said.

These longer sessions mean that the netballers have to be both mentally and physically strong.

"I have learnt a lot already," Porter said.

Adelaide Thunderbirds co-captain, Maisie Nankivell was in attendance to help develop and inspire the academy players.

"To be able to learn from State coaches and from players who play at a very high level, is really inspiring," Porter said.

"I definitely look up to Maisie (Nankivell), especially as she's a country girl and played in the KNT (Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara) league as well.

"It's really inspirational to see what she's done and know that I can maybe someday accomplish it too."

Porter has always dreamt of being a professional netball player but now her dreams are becoming a reality as the path forward is clear.

"I never really expected to get far, but making teams and academies has given me faith," she said.

"I've been partaking in lots of school events and it gets me very excited for the future because I've known what you have to do to be able to make it professionally.

"It's really made me excited to go further and my drive is stronger."

Porter has her sights set on making the Under 17s State side which is the next step in her development.

John Drew with Millicent Bowls Club president Peter Hyland.

John Drew made life member

John Drew was given the honour of being appointed as a life member of Millicent Bowls Club on April 27.

Drew has been a part of the club for over four decades and was recently recognised for his contribution.

He served as president of the club in 2003 and was the secretary from 2010 to 2012.

He claimed the 1995 Championship Fours, won the Championship Triples on four occasions and the Championship Pairs in 2018 and 2020.

Throughout his time at Millicent he has proven himself to be a valuable asset and has been instrumental in winning thousands of dollars for club projects in the last 15 years.

Drew has installed the PA system and speakers in the club room and has also assisted to set up programmes for the club's accounting and set up the club website.

Through his knowledge and expert skills in appropriation writing, Drew has allowed the club to obtain $112 thousand for projects at the Millicent Bowls Club.

Roper and Wright take out bowling pairs

Action returned to Millicent Bowls Club on April 28 as 33 players took part in the 2-4-2 pairs game.

The game was contested over 20 ends with Derk Pietersma as the tournament's chairperson.

Malcom Wright and Bryan Roper claimed victory on the day with a strong score of 35+18.

The runners-up were a triple team, as Orr Grosvenor, John Drew and Terry Barnes claimed second with a score of 32+11.

The other successful teams included Derek Bowering and Eddie Hann on 31+6.

Ian Kuchel and Derk Pietersma ended their game on 30+5 while Rob Chambers and Denis Clifford also scored 30+5.

Steve Skeer and Iain Campbell ended their day with 30+4.

The final winners were Joy Warren and Neil Whelan with 30+2 as well as Malcolm McRobert and Steve Carnellor on 30+1.

The women's competition kicks-off on Tuesday at 11am.

Bryan Roper and Malcolm Wright claimed victory at Millicent on April 28.

Veterans at Beachport

Beachport attracted 47 players for the latest round of South East Veteran's golf.

John Howe claimed the win in Division 1 with 35 points.

A count-back was needed to decide second and third as Penola's Lindsay Storer claimed second ahead of Robe's Rob Cece on 33 points.

Chris Carr claimed the win in Division 2 on 31 points. He was closely followed by Brian Amos on 30 points.

Third place went to Alan Webster on 29 points as he finished ahead of Robert Thompson by count-back.

The Ross Orchard trophy went to Tony Bishop and Bob Orchard.

Grant Howe and Terry Chant from Millicent claimed the nearest-to-pin.

The next round is at Horrow on May 16 followed by Casterton on May 23.

Redemption for Eagles

By Lachlan Onions

Penola 12.8 (80) d Naracoorte 10.1 (61)

The Penola Football Club earned its first victory of the season as they defeated the Naracoorte Demons by 19 points on Saturday.

The Eagles entered the game as underdogs after their poor performance against Lucindale in Round 1.

However, from the first bounce, Penola were up for the challenge as they dictated play early in the first quarter.

"My message at half time was very similar to what it was the whole day that we just needed to stick to our process."

"It was a massive four-quarter effort from all 21 players we had out there."

"I'm not sure many people in the league would have tipped us for the win, but internally we knew what we were capable of."

"I'm just glad we got the result that we deserved after that effort."

"The way our midfielders attacked the ball from the centre bounce was exceptional."

Their efforts were soon rewarded as Zac Deane kicked the first goal of the game midway through the first term.

Drew Clayfield took to the field for the first time in Penola colours since 2017 and it did not take long for him to have an impact on the game.

He kicked two goals in the opening quarter to give the Eagles a 14-point lead at the first break.

"Drew Clayfield was really important to us with his presence up forward," Maney said.

"With such a young group, he's a leader that motivates them and inspires them to bring the effort."

Clayfield was dominant in the forward-line for the entire day as he kicked five goals to mark his return to the side.

Naracoorte entered the game fresh off a 97-point win in Round 1 and soon fought back in the second term.

"We had a really rough eight-minute period towards the end of the second quarter where we just let the game get away from us a little bit," Maney said.

"My message at half time was very similar to what it was the whole day that we just needed to stick to our process."

Maney's team went to another level in the third quarter as they kicked five goals and led by 14 at the final break.

Naracoorte fought back in the final term to set up a thrilling finale but the Demons' hopes were thwarted by young-gun Anders McShane.

"Anders kicked a really crucial goal in the middle of the last quarter when Naracoorte were making a charge," Maney said.
