A FATHER and son who dedicated 70 years of their working lives to local forestry have been honoured in the naming of a historic Penola reserve by OneFortyOne. Moving to Nangwarry in the 1970s as part of the '10-pound Pom' initiative, Ray Mills brought his young family out from the UK and devoted 25 years of work to the Woods and Forests Department, inspiring his middle son Geoff to follow in his footsteps for 44-years.

Loader on show

NANGWARRY Forestry and Logging Museum has recently seen a new addition to their collection after an exciting donation from OneFortyOne.

The donation, a Raygo Wagner log loader, was first used by Woods and Forests and was retired more than 15 years ago, after catching alight which resulted in extensive fire damage.

Weighing 45 tonnes and spanning across a total of 12 metres long, the machine can be spotted at its new home on the side of the highway in Nangwarry next to the entrance of the museum.

Cross returns home

CHARLOTTE VARCOE

THE veneration cross for Saint Mary MacKillop has been brought home to Penola.

The cross was constructed by the Knights of the Southern Cross from discarded floorboards of the original school of Saint Mary MacKillop.

Now, it has now been placed in the care of the Sisters of Saint Joseph and the Penola parish.

The cross has been travelling across the state over recent months, visiting many other parishes and sharing the story of the local iconic saint before returning to Penola.

Sister Loreto O'Connor said having the cross travel so far and wide in South Australia, was a great way to promote devotion to Saint Mary MacKillop and share the story of her life.

"It is fitting that the cross has now returned here to Penola," Sister Loreto said.

"It will finally end up in the Mary MacKillop Memorial school which we think is very appropriate seeing as Mary first started the school here in Penola in 1866."

Move to change water plan

AN amendment will be made to the Lower Limestone Coast Water Allocation Plan next year after an 18 month review period.

The review found the plan would need to be changed to remain relevant to the region.

The Limestone Coast Landscape Board (LCLB) completed the review and chair Penny Schulz an amendment would mean the plan would change and the process to determine the necessary changes would involve extensive consultation.

"We recognise amendment will create uncertainty and we are committed to a high level of transparency and stakeholder engagement throughout the process," she said.

"I encourage people across the Lower Limestone Coast to take up the opportunities to get involved and be a part of developing the revised plan."

The amendment would focus on new knowledge, sustainable allocation, environmental provisions, legislative and policy alignment, licencing complexity, administrative ease and the water market.

Dr Schulz thanked those who had been involved in the process so far.

"We are grateful for the input and commitment from our community, in particular of our Stakeholder Advisory Group," she said.

"Their contribution to the review has been invaluable and we look forward to continuing to work with them through amendment."

She said this amendment would ensure the changing climate was appropriately considered.

"Climate change is an increasingly important consideration for water allocation planning, adding a new layer of complexity," she said.

The 2013 Lower Limestone Coast Water Allocation Plan introduced important changes that transformed water policy in the Lower Limestone Coast.

It converted area-based water licences to volume and enabled the impacts of commercial plantation forestry to be managed through licensing.

While review recommends that amendment is required, it is only with this foundation that water policy reform in the Lower Limestone Coast is possible.

Dr Schulz said collaboration could ensure a sustainable and resilient water future.

"We are in a strong position as we move to amendment with the data, science and foundations of the current plan to build from," she said.

Sunrise students to the stage

SUNRISE Christian School marked the conclusion of a fruitful academic year with its annual school musical.

Taking a nostalgic journey back to the 1970s, the celebration commenced with an entertaining pre-show featuring a fashion parade and a synchronised swimming act.

Titled Tell Me the Truth, the musical centred around a TV game show that illuminated the truths about historical biblical figures and their collective role in revealing Jesus to the world.

This whole-school (R-10) production, directed by Mrs Simone Owen, involved students who took charge of every aspect, including singing, dancing, acting, costumes, set design, props, make-up, lighting, and sound. Renowned for nurturing student character and leadership, Sunrise Christian School showcased these qualities and more through its impressive school musical.

All done

THE Beachport and Southend jetties have finally finished their upgrades to maintain structural integrity while also boosting marine activity for the Limestone Coast.

The upgrades for both jetties included repairs to the landings, handrails and protective buffers, decking replacements, new safety ladders and refurbishments for framework and bracings.

More than 300 cubic metres of replacement timber contributed to the upgrades for the Beachport Jetty alone, while Southend's recently completed repairs to its lower landings after sustaining serious damage from swell waves in 2021.

Minister for Regional Development Clare Scriven said it was "fantastic" to see the Beachport and Southend jetties return to their former glory.

(It ensures) commercial users, anglers, swimmers, and tourists can continue to enjoy these iconic jetties for many years to come," Ms Scriven said.

"I would like to thank the Beachport and Southend communities for their patience throughout these upgrades, allowing us to make these jetties safe and sustainable for everyone to use.

"These two jetties are important infrastructure for locals living in these Limestone Coast communities, as well as the many visitors to this beautiful part of our state."

FAREWELL TO TONY: Penola Primary School students Leah Wilson, Emmie Copping, Xavier Baverstock and Tyler Ellul with Tony O'Connell at the oval.

PARK IN HIS NAME: Penola Primary School teacher Tony O'Connell has celebrated finishing working at the primary school with the oval being named after him.

Thank you, Mr O'Connell

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

AFTER 36 years of teaching at Penola Primary School, Tony O'Connell has decided to 'pass the baton'.

Mr O'Connell first began teaching 46 years ago at Coonalpyn Primary School before moving to Fraser Park Primary School in Murray Bridge.

After completing 10 years as a teacher, Mr O'Connell requested a transfer before being appointed to Penola Primary School where he has taught ever since.

"Teaching was something I had always wanted to do ever since I was seven or eight years old," Mr O'Connell said.

"I remember I used to look at the teacher at the front of the classroom and think, that is what I want to do.

"I never wavered from that and so I went straight from school to three years of teacher training, and then at the age of 20 I was off to Coonalpyn to begin my career."

Mr O'Connell siad he was very lucky to be appointed at Coonalpyn with his first principal, Geoff Cobbledick, being a "great mentor, a wonderful inspiration and a terrific friend".

He said education was a "dynamic thing" which was always evolving and changing along with society.

"Rapid advances in technology have also contributed to the changes in education," Mr O'Connell said.

"There has been a rapid change in technology so things have changed a lot and people say kids have changed but to me parenting has changed.

"I have met so many fantastic kids over 46 years and that is really why I wanted to become a teacher because I love helping people and I really have just met some brilliant kids; they are very honest and they give you great feedback about what you are or are not doing and I have just loved that about teaching."

He said that Penola Primary School was a fantastic place to have been for 36 years with great students, staff and parents.

"The Penola community is terrific; we have also had great staff over the years, both teachers and student support officers, and it is a group of people that again are really committed to doingm the best for all the kids in the primary school," Mr O'Connell said.

"The challenges have been few and far between, and the highlight each year is seeing the kidsmgrow in so many ways and develop their academic, sporting, and social skills."

As part of his farewell, Mr O'Connell was pleasantly surprised to have the Penola Primary School oval named after him, something he said was a "great honour".

"The Penola community put on a farewell show where they bestowed that honour upon me by naming the school oval after me," he said.

"I do have a strong background in sport with kids so it was very humbling and I knew nothing about it until Friday night when they made the presentation."

Mr O'Connell said although he was not retiring, he was stepping back from his work at Penola Primary School to focus on other work commitments with the Department for Education.

"I will be continuing with my school sport job (Sapsasa) with the Department for Education but I will be stepping away from Penola Primary to give me a bit more flexibility with the other things I do," he said.

"Sport is a great thing for kids, not just for them to improve the particular sports they are playing, but it also really helps them grow as people and helps with their interpersonal skills, resilience, and so many other things in life.

"It also helps them get out and meet people from all walks of life too because our kids get to go to Adelaide for a number of statewide sporting events."

"It is fitting that the cross has now returned here to Penola," Sister Loreto said.

"It will finally end up in the Mary MacKillop Memorial school which we think is very appropriate seeing as Mary first started the school here in Penola in 1866."

The cross represented a "sense of pride and gratitude" to Saint Mary MacKillop who remains a very prominent figure in the local community.

"The Mary MacKillop Interpretive Centre has two magnificent galleries showing the life of Saint Mary MacKillop and one on Father Julian Tenison Woods, who was also an extraordinary man and played a vital role in the story," Sister Loreto said.

"Visitors are certainly amazed that there is so much to see in these galleries! Visiting the original schoolhouse, which was built in 1867, and where Mary lived and taught is also greatly appreciated.

The Interpretive Centre is run by volunteers and is open 363 days of the year with thousands of people visit each year.

"Volunteers take great pride in this wonderful place, showing people these amazing displays," Sister Loreto said.

"Penola remained such a wonderful place which remembers and venerates Saint Mary MacKillop as the extraordinary woman she was."

Artist Morris' stroke of luck

melanie.riley@tbwtoday.com.au

COLERAINE based artist Jacky Morris was surprised to be reconnected with one of her mother's paintings recently when an unexpected Facebook post popped up on her newsfeed.

The Naracoorte Regional Art Gallery hosted an art op shop sale, where people donated "pre-loved or unloved" art, which was then sold on commission to raise funds for the gallery.

A painting had been given to the gallery by a Naracoorte couple that had held onto it for a while and after moving houses, had nowhere to display it in their home.

After recognising the painting on the Naracoorte Art Gallery Facebook page, Ms Morris commented for more information to clarify as she could only see the first name of the artist.

She said she did not recognise the painting itself, but more the style as one of her mother's pieces.

"I definitely knew the style, because it looked very much like my mums," she said.

"I naturally assumed she had painted that in her early days, it looks like her early work."

Sure enough, the painting was a piece from early in her mother's career.

Joan Read's career began in Naracoorte in the 1960's where she learned from the well-known artist John Goodchild and she then went on to have a life-long art career while teaching.

She was a palette knife artist and used oils, pastels and watercolours and stuck to the same style of artistry throughout her career.

Ms Read painted predominantly landscapes and Ms Morris said her mother was "well-known for her ability to do beautiful skies."

She painted plein air, and mostly painted from going out, taking sketches and notes and heading back to her studio to paint.

REUNITED: Jacky Morris was thrilled to secure one of her mother's pieces. Picture: SUPPLIED

"She was a brilliant artist and such a good colourist, she was fantastic with those beautiful tones," Ms Morris said.

Ms Morris said her mother was a highly regarded artist and did well for herself.

"Back then the way that you sold works was that you had them in galleries or exhibitions and mum sold just about everything she did," she said.

"She always did well."

Ms Morris said while she owned a number of her mother's paintings, she did not have any landscape pieces and was thrilled to secure one.

It had been given to the gallery for the op shop sale by Lester and Sandi Key, who originally bought the painting at the Lions Exhibition in the summer of 1975-1976.

The cottage in the painting is in Terowie, a small town in South Australia.

Mr Key took a particular liking to the painting as he worked on Kalabity Station at Olary and would change trains at Terowie.

Ms Morris said growing up with so much exposure to art through her mother that art came quite naturally to her.

"I was one of those kids that would draw on walls if I did not have something to draw on and I just had it in me that I was going to always be an artist," she said.

She said her mother did not want to be the one to formally teach her, and wanted her to develop her own style of art, which she did.

She said she considered her mother her inspiration, rather than her teacher.

Now, Ms Morris is predominantly an animal portrait artist, and has recently moved into some landscape painting.

She previously visited the region to hold workshops and paint and sip events and said she planned to visit again soon to check out the John Goodchild exhibition at the gallery, and is excited to reconnect with the area.

"It is like it has had a knock-on effect of me coming back so many years later - 55 years since that painting in fact, back to Naracoorte, where we were when I was a child and now joining back with the art society."

"This will be really nice, to have a reason to go back and get more involved," she said.

After consideration to move back to the region, Ms Morris said she felt this experience was a sign to stay put in Coleraine for now.

"To me, it feels very serendipitous," she said.

"It felt like I'm making the right decision by staying put."

Member of the art gallery board, Adair Dunsford said the op shop sale was a win-win for vendors and purchasers.

"We ended up with 250 items available, some pottery, paintings, tapestries, all sorts of things," she said.

"There were about 40 vendors from all over the place. Adelaide, Keith, Bordertown, Willalooka, Mount Gambier, and a few over the border as well."

After a three week run of the sale, Ms Dunsford said it was a successful event selling around 40 pieces of art on its opening night.

"We have had really good success with this, it has been pretty amazing," she said.

Three generations set to ring in the New Year

THIS New Years Eve three generations of talented musicians will come together for a one-off celebration to remember.

Local country singer Allan Webster is planning a rare performance with his son Mark and granddaughter Melody who both live in New Zealand.

Music runs in the Webster family and has always played a big part of their lives, with Allan performing since the age of 14.

Allan passed on his love of music and performing to his children with Mark going on to become an accomplished musician who performed in several school orchestras including at Generations in Jazz.

In 1986 Mark moved to New Zealand for a three month teaching contract and remained in the country after meeting his wife, Luisa, through teaching music and organising school productions.

ACROSS THE DITCH: 19 year old Melody Lui-Webster is sure to light up the stage in Millicent when she performs with her father and grandfather this New Years Eve. Picture: SUPPLIED

In 2004 their daughter Melody was born and her name seemed perfect for the young child who sang and danced as soon as she could walk and talk.

At only seven years old, Melody gave her first on-stage singing performance with her 'poppy' at the South East Country Music Club.

For a young Melody this was the beginning of an ongoing passion for performing for an audience, which continues today.

Within two years of this first public appearance the young singer was cast to appear in two international productions staged in Auckland and Wellington.

Those appearances, in Annie and The Sound of Music, fuelled her love of musical theatre.

Since then Melody has performed in numerous school and junior community theatre productions, taking the lead female roles in The Little Mermaid, Aladdin and Hairspray.

During 2023, alongside her university studies, Melody has continued to perform and appeared in the ensemble for Wicked, played the princess in Twisted, Tinkerbell in Peter Pan For Grown Ups and Fiona in Shrek The Musical.

Melody said she felt incredibly fortunate to have had so many diverse performing experiences and hoped to continue to share her love of singing and performing with the world.

The Webster family are looking forward to being together on stage in this one off event on Sunday, 31 December from 2pm until 5pm.

The three hour performance is at the Millicent Soccer Club and tickets are $20 each.

Bar facilities and tea and coffee are available and guests are welcome to bring their own nibbles.

KATE HILL

A father and son who dedicated 70 years of their working lives to local forestry have been honoured in the naming of a historic Penola reserve by OneFortyOne.

Moving to Nangwarry in the 1970s as part of the '10-pound Pom' initiative, Ray Mills brought his young family out from the UK and devoted 25 years of work to the Woods and Forests Department, inspiring his middle son Geoff to follow in his footsteps for 44-years.

Standing amongst the reserve's towering oaks and cedar trees, Geoff Mills points out the road he walked up as a strapping teenager to face his first and only interview, in 1978.

First copping a grilling by the department head about whether he was the son of the legendary Ray Mills and eyed up and down, he was told, 'you look like a big strong lad, you can start Monday'.

Gaining the nickname of 'Millsy', the teenager was assigned to general gang duties and he quickly learned a day's work could involve anything and everything.

"In the forest, I did hundreds of different jobs like pruning, brake maintenance, planting trees, learning about the machinery – tractors, plows and spray units," he said.

"I even mowed the boss's lawn."

Geoff went on to work at the research department, supervising plots, growth rates and fertiliser trials and spent many days working alongside his father, completing fencing, planting and general firefighting duties.

An essential part of life in the forests involves fire crew duties and Geoff was to face several serious fire scenes in his first decade.

The Caroline fire of 1979, which burned through 7,668 hectares of softwood plantation and native forest was to pale in comparison with 1983's Ash Wednesday, which swept across South Australia and Victoria, claiming 75 lives and destroying 3,000 structures.

In 2008, Geoff was also part of a forestry crew sent by ForestrySA across to assist Victorian fire crews in covering the Black Saturday fires.

Geoff was to spend weeks on site, witnessing the aftermath of one of Australia's deadliest fire scenes and recalled it as a 'sobering experience'.

"It's such a beautiful place to live, but when you see all the burnt-out cars and houses and the police tape around them, I would never want to see that again," he said.

During his decades in the industry Geoff recalled many major advances in technology, however there are areas where mechanisation simply cannot replace a human.

"When it comes to planting pine trees, you just can't beat a person," he said.

"They still manually plant because they haven't got a machine that can plant trees as well as a person can."

Many a friendship was forged over a learning experience and the passing on of skills from the older generation of forest workers, Geoff said.

"When I was a young bloke and all the old guys are here, that's where you learn how to sharpen an axe, how to prove a tree problem and how to do everything, which is getting to be a dying art now."

HONOURED: The Penola reserve has now been named after Ray and Geoff Mills.

Pictures: KATE HILL

Geoff retired at the end of October, 2023, just missing the milestone of 45 years by six weeks. However, at 62, the time felt right, just as it was for his father Ray when he retired at the same age in 1993.

Geoff recalls taking his dad for a drive around the reserve where they'd both spent so many years.

Over the years, workers had planted trees from across the world there – towering oaks, cedars, Norfolk Island pines, maple trees and it was a favourite spot for the pair.

After announcing his retirement, Geoff said he 'knew something was up' because his boss picked him up and drove him to the reserve, where a surprise awaited him.

More than 60 of Geoff and Ray's friends, family and work colleagues had gathered there, and it was announced the reserve would be named in honour of the father and son who dedicated most of their working lives to the Penola forests.

Only one person was missing at the ceremony, his father Ray, who died in 2022 at 90 years old.

Standing under an oak tree which once cast a shadow over the old Woods and Forests Department depot in the reserve, Geoff said the next generation of Mills have already made their mark on the reserve.

On a sunny day, Geoff likes to bring his two-year-old grandson down to the reserve for a stroll and occasionally, to plant a new tree.

Retirement will bring more time to spend on his favourite things, including spending more time with his grandchildren, kayaking and fishing at Beachport, live music and perhaps, driving around in his dream vehicle.

"I've got my eye on a 1971 XY Falcon," he said.

"I'll just go cruising around here in that."

Ensuring a safe boat season

BOAT SAFE: Department for Infrastructure and Transport manager, marine safety and compliance Gordon Panton said it was the responsibility of all skippers to know any restrictions that apply to their vessel, or the waters they are operating in. Picture: FILE

MARINE Safety Officers are urging those taking to the water to slow down and be safe while boating this summer.

A new campaign, launching this week, is reminding skippers that speed limits apply in some areas and can vary based on location.

Department for Infrastructure and Transport manager, marine safety and compliance Gordon Panton said it was the responsibility of all skippers to know any restrictions that apply to their vessel, or the waters they are operating in.

"We need to ensure we are creating an environment that is safe and enjoyable for all water users, including marine wildlife," he said.

"Where there is no signed speed limit, we recommend travelling at a speed which gives you enough time to stop or turn your vessel to avoid any sudden danger.

"Be aware of the impact of your wake and wash on others and adjust your speed as you travel."

Already this boating season, Marine Safety Officers have issued dozens of expiations for speeding offences to boaters and personal watercraft operators.

Four-knot speed restrictions apply within 50 metres of a person in the water, a vessel or buoy displaying a flag, a person in or on a canoe, kayak, surf-ski, surfboard and within 30 metres of any other vessel, jetty, wharf, or other places a boat is being launched.

Mr Panton said Marine Safety Officers would be keeping an eye on everyone in the water this summer.

"This summer, Marine Safety Officers will be paying attention to vessels in restricted areas, particularly looking out for speeding but also making sure everyone has the appropriate safety gear with them – and penalties will apply for anyone caught doing the wrong thing," he said.

"We don't want to be stopping people from enjoying their day out by sending them ashore or issuing expiations, so make sure you are doing the right thing so everyone can enjoy the water safely."

Personal watercraft operators must display a 'RIDE SMART' sticker on their vessel and always abide by the conditions of the sticker.

Throughout summer, Marine Safety Officers will be on the water and at boat ramps ensuring boaters have the correct safety equipment and are travelling at safe speeds.

Every boat must carry safety equipment - like lifejackets, flares, and torches - suitable for its size and the waters it will be used in, and equipment must be in good working order, readily accessible and protected from the water and weather.

Marine safety crews have been busy this year with the operational clean up following the River Murray floods, however boaters are reminded to be aware of any remaining contaminants and debris that could create risks for operating vessels.

Unmarked navigational hazards and marine safety concerns can be reported: SA.GOV.AU - Reporting boat incidents (www.sa.gov.au).

Check which safety equipment is required for your boat at marinesafety.sa.gov.au

Loader on display at museum

melanie.riley@tbwtoday.com.au

NANGWARRY Forestry and Logging Museum has recently seen a new addition to their collection after an exciting donation from OneFortyOne.

The donation, a Raygo Wagner log loader, was first used by Woods and Forests and was retired more than 15 years ago, after catching alight which resulted in extensive fire damage.

Weighing 45 tonnes and spanning across a total of 12 metres long, the machine can be spotted at its new home on the side of the highway in Nangwarry next to the entrance of the museum.

The fire occured during its use at the Jubilee Sawmill, when the cab of the machine caught fire, leading to enough damage that the loader could not be used from then on.

Green mill scheduler Paul Roughana worked at the Jubilee mill at the time of the delivery of the unloader in the early 1980s.

He drove the machine for around six years and said he used it heavily through the Ash Wednesday fires.

While he was not working the day it caught on fire at the mill, he does remember hearing that the incident happened right after fuelling up, when Terry Bennier was driving it.

Mr Roughana said it is not likely an incident like that would happen now.

"It is definitely a lot safer today," he said.

"Today, they have all got fire suppression units and emergency stops."

This type of truck unloader is not commonly used anymore, but Mr Roughana said it was a good machine back in its prime.

"It used to get up speed and plenty of times I had to pull her up going pretty fast," he said.

"It was quite a good machine to drive I thought, it did its job well."

JOINT EFFORT: OneFortyOne's Andrew Hoath and John Munn were among those who helped transport the machine. Picture: SUPPLIED

Owner of the Forestry and Logging Museum, Vic Smith and his team had approached OneFortyOne multiple times trying to source the machine for the museum, but without the funds to have it transported, it stayed as a pipe dream.

"Initially, five or six years ago they said we could have it, but it was our responsibility to get it here and I could not do it," he said.

"We have not got that kind of money. You are looking at thousands and thousands for that."

After giving up on the idea of being able to source the machine, Mr Smith was shocked when John Munn from OneFortyOne reached out offering the machine including delivery.

"When out of the blue they said yes, I was so surprised. And happy too," Mr Smith said.

"He said 'we will deliver it, pick it up as it is and drop it off at the site, the rest is up to you,' and that's what they did."

Winterfields Float Hire, Williams Cranes, Trident Tyre Centre, Lv Dohnt & Co Nangwarry, Wattle Range Council and South Australia police to escort the loader were all amongst the businesses involved with the transportation of the machine.

All businesses offered the help either at minimal cost or none at all, with OneFortyOne covering any costs that were involved for the transportation.

The machine site will include a fence around the raygo and an informational plaque on display.

To have it ready for display, Mr Smith decided to have the jaws of the machine welded open permanently and planned to get started on the restoration of the machine soon.

Restoration will include a fresh coat of bright yellow paint and sourcing a second-hand cab to replace the fire-damaged cab.

His first thought was to have it displayed on the side of the highway and hoped the machine would entice visitors to the area and to the museum.

"It couldn't be in a better place could it?" he said.

Mr Smith said he was overwhelmed by the support from the Wattle Range Council.

"The Wattle Range Council has been fantastic to us," he said.

"I was amazed when they gave us permission to put it there."

The council assisted in putting pads down for the delivery of the machine and supported the removal of tree limbs and shrubs to make room for the machine.

To see the new addition and to have a look through the museum, call into the Nangwarry Forestry and Logging Museum any time.

If the museum is unattended, call Vic or Chris and they will see to have it opened as soon as they can.

There is a small viewing cost of $5 for adults and $2.50 for kids.

Limestone Coast Today values your opinion.

If you have a view or wish to comment on any community issue we would like to hear from you.

EDITORIAL

WITH 2023 coming to an end, I've been taking this week to reflect on the year, and wow, what a year it has been.

It's been a big year in news, with the tragic death of Brevet sergeant Jason Doig, and the loss of beloved locals on our roads.

We had political upset when Member for Mackillop Nick McBride left the Liberal party, and in October, Naracoorte hosted the Country Cabinet.

As a community the Limestone Coast came together to support each other through hard times, digging deep whenever it was needed.

As a team, we attended more than 100 community events, did hundreds of interviews and took thousands of photos.

Of course the highlight for me has been the purchase of the ACM titles Naracoorte Herald and the Border Chronicle, and the launch of Limestone Coast Today.

It was something new and exciting, which can be daunting, but I am absolutely thrilled by the community's feedback - everyone has embraced the new format, and it's been so wonderful to bring all the region's news to everyone.

The team and I can't wait to bring you more news that matters in the new year.

I hope everyone has a very happy new year and a prosperous 2024.

Lis Champion, Regional Editor

Spotlight needs to remain on our region

A TIME for reflection before more action in MacKillop.

It's time to take stock and reflect on the year that was, while also looking forward to the year ahead.

Year 2023 was certainly a time of change for me, with my decision to turn Independent a significant one. However, I know it was the right decision for me to be able to serve you the people who live and work in MacKillop.

As an Independent, I believe I am now in the best position to get the greatest outcomes for and more investment in our region by being free to work with all sides of government. I am excited with the opportunities that are now in front of us and am driving towards, and beyond, the 2026 election.

I was born in MacKillop and have lived and worked here for the majority of my life.

My passion for our community has never waned.

I'm absolutely committed to our region and remaining in politics here to ensure a better future for our community.

LOOKING BACK: Nick McBride reflected on 2023.

I will continue to connect with as many people as I can to get your insights and develop the best ways forward together as it is always my mission to work hard to get the best outcomes for the MacKillop electorate.

I'm an MP and businessman who understands the ups and downs of farming, fluctuating commodity prices and the challenges that are faced by the individuals, small businesses, and industries that support agriculture.

My focus for 2024 will continue to be improving our regional roads, working with government to allocate crucial funds and addressing the enormous maintenance backlog that exists. I also hope to welcome the Intelligent Pavement Assessment Vehicle (iPAVE) into MacKillop in the New Year to easily locate areas that require new works and redevelopment.

We continue to need a range of additional housing options in MacKillop – from social to affordable housing. We need to work collaboratively with all tiers of Government and the private sector for these needs to be realised.

The ongoing doctor shortage in our region, and in particular our coastal towns, continues to impact our local people. There is no easy fix for this, but I will advocate strongly for solutions through the State and Federal Governments.

Mental health care, home care, and palliative care also require our combined attention and action. We must listen to our frontline workers and ensure that they are part of the solution when addressing problems within the current system.

It is crucial that we also work to provide facilities that enable students to live and work where they study. I am a big believer in the study hub model and look forward to continuing to advocate for and seeing progress in this area as the benefits in addressing local skills shortages are obvious.

Our region of MacKillop is vitally important to the economic success of the State.

It is my view that the spotlight needs to remain on this region.

I sincerely welcome your input and invite you to take part in my MacKillop Community survey so my team and I can continue to be informed about and work on what matters most to you. We wish you a very Merry Christmas, and a Safe and Happy New Year.

Nick McBride MP

Liberals all ears for locals

CHARLOTTE VARCOE

LISTENING TOUR: Member of the Legislative Council Ben Hood will join Nicolle Flint and Member for Barker Tony Pasin on a Liberal Listening Tour in MacKillop next month. Picture: FILE

THE MacKillop electorate will host the Liberal Listening Tour next month with Member of the Legislative Council Ben Hood and chair of the Liberal rural and regional council Nicolle Flint hitting the pavement.

Member for Barker Tony Pasin will also be attending the tour.

The tour will include a range of events across the electorate such as meetings with community groups, local stakeholders and small and family businesses.

Mr Hood said it was important for the Liberal Party to hear first hand what the issues were "on the ground" from small family businesses.

He said this was done by listening and being out in the regions which help the party develop "practical policies" in future elections.

"This tour we are hitting every town just like I have been doing over the last four or five months with our cyber security, senior forums, coffee catch ups and politics in the pub," Mr Hood said.

"Nicolle Flint is the chair of our rural and regional council which is a body in the Liberal Party made up of regional members and it is one of the most important bodies of the Liberal Party as political parties and grassroot organisations are the members that choose and pre-select their candidates or senators."

Mr Hood said to have Ms Flint as chair of the council was fantastic with the former Member for Booth "knowing community engagement".

"That was why I want her along on this trip because she is a fantastic advocate for Liberal values," he said.

"This is the work of a political party to get out and be on the ground, listen and just because MacKillop happens to currently be held by an independent or used to be a Liberal, we are not going to stop listening in MacKillop or Mount Gambier or any other electorate in the state that we currently do no hold."

Mr Hood said the tour would be focused on the MacKillop electorate due to being the paired member and the electorate being a "much bigger electorate".

"We need to be able to do these listening tours over a number of days because you have got to get so many communities," he said.

Member for MacKillop Nick McBride said he would not be "distracted and threatened" by anyone's interest in his electorate.

"I think the more attention that is brought onto MacKillop the better," Mr McBride said.

"If the Liberal Party had a greater understanding of MacKillop perhaps four years ago when they were in government things might not look so distant as they did when I was a member."

He said he was looking forward to all he could bring to MacKillop as an independent and remained firm in ensuring MacKillop mattered.

"I think I am in the best position possible for those outcomes to progress," he said.

"We all know the MacKillop electorate is a conservative area and it has been a very strong Liberal area and I had one of the strongest Liberal votes at the last election.

"I believe if we stay true to our cause that MacKillop matters more than anything else the outcomes I can bring as an independent working with any political party are for the outcomes that matter."

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

LIDIA'S KITCHEN
SBS Food, Thursday, 6.30pm

'Tis the season of get-togethers and obsessing about food. In the gap between Christmas and New Year, what better to do than keep the food inspiration rolling? In this cheerful cooking series, chef Lidia Bastianich (pictured) oozes enthusiasm and know-how; she's a sunny sort anyone would love to have as their relative, effortlessly milling about in your own kitchen with uncomplicated and delicious dishes. Tonight, it's all about whipping up restaurant-style meals at home – be warned, you might feel inclined to host a New Year's dinner party. From Lidia's gorgeous garden, she makes mealtime magic with gnocchi and pan-seared fish embellished with balsamic.

BIG FAT QUIZ OF THE YEAR 2023
SBS, Monday, 7.30pm

When it comes to his stand-up, pundits either love or loathe Jimmy Carr (pictured). Known for acid-tongued quips that throw political correctness and traditional morality to the curb, he's a man who knows how to shock. Carr has hosted this pub-style quiz show in every annual special since its inception, making this 2023 roundup an astonishingly impressive 20th gig. After two decades of taking the mickey out of the year's headlines, Carr also clearly knows how to make the masses – and his guests – laugh. Tonight's special features veteran on-screen villain and Big Fat Quiz favourite Charles Dance, along with hard-hitting questions such as "Who went viral for wearing a puffer jacket?"

PICK OF THE WEEK

DEATH IN PARADISE
ABC TV, Friday, 7.30pm

A Christmas special surrounded by sand and bathed in the glowing sun? While most of us appreciate a good old-fashioned snow-covered spectacle in the festive season, this cheerful British crime caper probably represents an Aussie Christmas better than most. Set amid the blue skies of the fictional beach town Honoré and filmed in the French-Caribbean island of Guadeloupe, it's stinking hot – just the way most of us know Christmas. In this warm seasonal celebration, detective Neville (Ralf Little, pictured) is busy trying to crack the case of a murdered podcaster, but the arrival of his mother (bearing parsnips and Brussels sprouts) enforces some Christmas cheer.

CHANGING ENDS
ABC TV, Wednesday, 9.05pm

British comedian Alan Carr found fame as the host of his celebrity chat show Chatty Man, where he chinwagged with big-name guests. In this charming autobiographical series, the endearingly camp funnyman opens the door into his childhood. As an 11 year old obsessed with the series Murder, She Wrote and with a fondness for earmuffs, Oliver Savellis (pictured) is remarkable as the young Alan, growing up in 1980s Northampton. Completely uninterested in sport, much of the humour comes from Alan's fraught relationship with his football-mad dad (Shaun Dooley). Clearly a labour of love from Carr (who occasionally narrates and stars), don't miss this rich period comedy that sparkles with knowing winks.

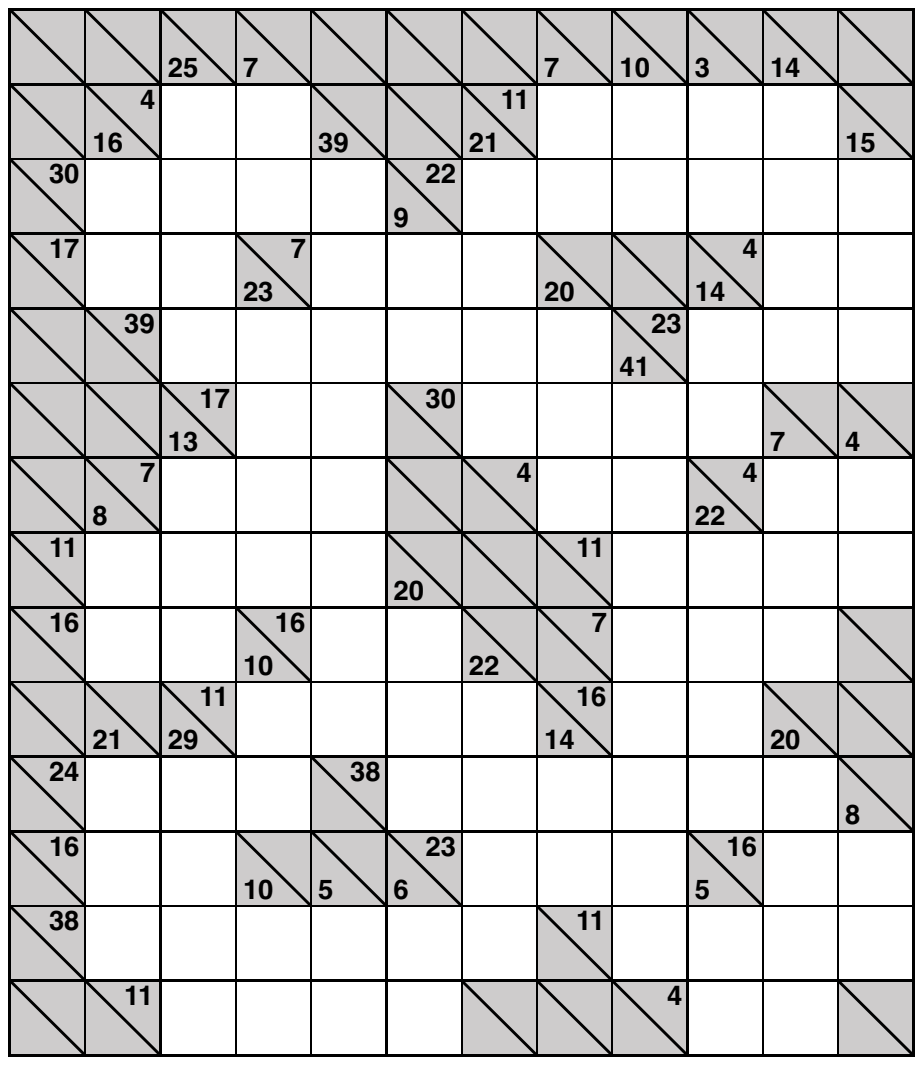
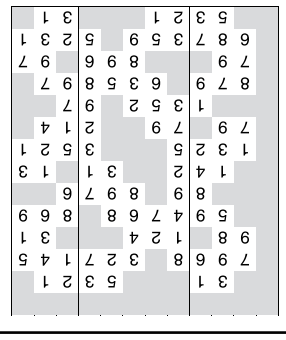
KAKURO

No. 001

Complete the grid by entering a number from 1 to 9 in each empty square so that the horizontal and vertical sequences add up to the clue number above it or to the left of it. No number can be repeated in a sequence, so a clue of 4 can only mean 3 and 1, never 2 and 2.



SOLUTION:



CALCUDOKU

Every row and column must contain the numbers 1 to 6 once each, with each outlined section equal to the number in the top left of the area when the noted mathematical operation is used. For subtraction and division, start with the largest number in the section.

Santa visits local store

THE Christmas extravaganza family fun day held at K&B Mitre 10 Millicent in the days before Christmas proved a hit with children.

At 1pm Santa arrived and over the course of the next few hours more than 80 children stopped by the store with their parents and carers.

The afternoon was full of free activities including the opportunity to decorate an ornament for the Christmas tree, face painting and fresh popcorn.

Santa Claus was seated near the front door and patiently listened to numerous wishes from children who were excited to see him.

Manager of K&B Mitre 10 Kat Ross said

"It's fantastic, the community support has been huge, it's been busy from the word go,

"The kids keep on coming in, they love having a chat with Santa and getting their faces painted."

Staff joined in on the festivities by donning Christmas themed attire for the day.

STAFF FUN: Andrew Lesslie and Kat Ross took a short break to give Santa their own wish list for Christmas.

CRAFTY CHRISTMAS: Displaying their decorated Christmas ornaments were Charlotte McIntyre and her cousins Stevie and Frankie Aberle.

CAROLINE HAMMAT

FAMILIES gathered at Millicent's Rotunda parkland for the annual Christmas fair organised by the Millicent Combined Churches.

Gospel band Ngoma arrived from Adelaide to provide entertainment throughout the day and led the community carol singing.

Students from St Anthony's joined together and performed the nativity play with performances by the Salvation Army and Mount Gambier City Band between acts.

The second Millicent's Got Talent contest took place in the afternoon with six different acts stepping up to share their skills.

The Schaefer family Acrostars performed a tumbling routine, while others played piano, sang, danced and even did math sums for the audience.

Mayor Des Noll, Ngoma band member Atida Niyikuri and Sandra Melrose were tasked with the difficult job of judging the performances.

Ewan Grant from Triple M radio and Arthur O'Connell from 5the FM community radio were mc's for the day.

The day wound down with mayor Noll delivering his annual Christmas message and Santa Claus made an appearance for excited children.

CHRISTMAS STORY: Joseph and Mary, played by Charlie Bromley and Lindy van Eeden, made their way to the makeshift inn at the parklands.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT: Matilda, Edith and Lisy Stephan and Jo Hughes settled in to watch the afternoon show.

ROTUNDA ROCKS: The band Ngoma provided toe tapping entertainment throughout the day.

TRIUMPH SPITFIRE

BY DAVID PIKE, MARQUE MOTORING

THE Triumph car originated as a sideline for the successful motorcycle business which unfortunately went bankrupt in 1939, and Triumph was finally bought up by Standard in 1944.

In 1946 the first Standard-Triumph car appeared.

It was the 1800 Roadster which was aimed at the export market and had three-abreast seating, a steering-column gear change and was the last car in the world to offer a `dickey' seat behind the driver. Initially it was fitted with a 1776cc engine exactly as supplied by Standard for the Jaguar 1.5-litre models, but from 1948 it was equipped with the 2088cc Standard Vanguard engine and was called the 2000 Roadster.

To fill an obvious gap in the US sportscar market between the MG TD and the Jaguar XK120 Standard developed a new sportscar designed around the Vanguard engine and gearbox and so the TR series of Triumphs came into being.

As the TRs gradually became larger, faster and more powerful, Triumph determined to fill the smaller sportscar void created with a new, smaller sportscar, the Spitfire, which would also compete against the popular Sprite/MG Midget cars from the BMC stable.

The Spitfire design utilised a rather unique steel backbone-type chassis frame with a two-seater body adapted from a Michelotti style with the componentry borrowed heavily from the Triumph Herald sedan parts bin and modified to suit.

This included the engine and transmission as well as the all-independent suspension and the steering gear.

Initially the Spitfire developed 47kW from its 1147cc engine with a top speed of 145km/h, and various options were offered including overdrive, wire wheels and a detachable hardtop.

LOOKING BACK: The Spitfire was an extremely successful car with a total of over 314,000 being produced during the 18-year production life of the marque.

Early in 1965 the Mark II Spitfire was launched with a six percent increase in power and two years later the Mark III entered the marketplace with a new 1296cc engine which boasted 56kW power output giving the car a top speed close to 160km/h.

At the end of 1970 the Spitfire became Mark IV, with a different, swing-spring, type of suspension resulting in very much improved road holding, and a restyled body shell which featured a cut-off tail, and a more angular optional hardtop.

The final derivative, produced from late 1974 to 1980, had a 1493cc engine, a genuine 160km/h top speed when no anti-emission gear was fitted. All in all, the Spitfire was an extremely successful car with a total of over 314,000 being produced during the 18-year production life of the marque.

NEW MINI COUNTRYMAN

BY ALISTAIR KENNEDY, MARQUE MOTORING

THE Mini Countryman has been around since the 1960s when, as a small station wagon, it sold alongside the classic Mini.

After being off the scene for a number of years, BMW brought it back in 2010, this time as the first Mini.

While it could be argued that the Mini Moke that was built in Australia until the early 1980s could be classed as an SUV, the Countryman came with a raft of features not seen in the cute little Aussie Moke.

To start with it had a roof – something that was an optional extra on the Moke!

But back to the present, and the latest version of the Countryman which has just arrived here and will go on sale in the first quarter of 2024.

It comes with innovative new technology including a host of new driver assist technologies, markedly increased versatility and an array of customisable options.

The new design philosophy of 'Charismatic Simplicity' pays homage to the minimalist design of the classic Mini while allowing each individual model to showcase its own unique character.

New Countryman comes with two variants, 2WD C and AWD S. Each has three equipment level.

C has Core, Classic and Favoured; S has Classic, Favoured and JCW Sport.

Prices range from $49,990 for the C Core to $63,990 for the S JCW Sport.

On-road costs to be added.

New Countryman is marginally longer (13 cm) and taller (6 cm) than the outgoing model.

It does provide a larger luggage volume than before, up to 505 litres with the rear seatbacks in place and 1530 litres when folded.

The entry-level Countryman C comes with a three-cylinder turbocharged engine that produces 115kW of power and 230Nm of torque.

ROAD TEST: The entry-level Countryman C comes with a three-cylinder turbocharged engine that produces 115kW of power and 230Nm of torque.

This allows it to complete the standard sprint from 0-100km/h in 9.0 seconds.

Countryman S gets a four-cylinder turbocharged engine that delivers 150kW of power and 300Nm of torque.

The Countryman C comes as standard with 18-inch light alloy wheels, while the Countryman S receives 19-inch light alloy wheels in its standard kit.

Light alloy wheels of up to 20 inches in various designs are optionally available for further customisation.

Standard safety features include six airbags, ABS brakes with cornering brake control, autonomous emergency braking, blind spot monitoring, lane change warning, dynamic stability control, exit warning, intelligent emergency call, rear collision prevention and rear cross traffic alert with brake intervention.

Driving Assistant Plus package is optionally available for Countryman C and standard for Countryman S.

It adds camera and ultrasound-based assistance including active cruise control with stop and go functionality, collision prevention, surround view, remote 3D View, drive recorder and parking assistant.

Fitted with the new Mini Operating System 9, the Mini Interaction Unit can be operated intuitively via touch or voice, with the user interface reminiscent of an everyday smartphone. The new Mini Countryman now boasts wireless compatibility with both Apple CarPlay and Android Auto.

2. Steam, microwave or boil broccolini until just tender. Cool under cold water to prevent overcooking. Drain and set aside.
3. Heat oil in a frying pan over medium-high heat. Cook mushrooms until golden and softened, about 5 minutes.
4. Sprinkle half the cheese into the base of 8 tortilla boats. Divide mushrooms and broccolini into boats, pour ½ cup of egg mixture into each. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Place 4 boats into an air fryer basket and cook at 160°C for 20 minutes. Repeat with remaining boats.

Tips & Hints:

- Oven method: bake in oven 180°C (fan-forced) for 25-30 minutes.
- Store cooked taco boats in the refrigerator for 2 days, or wrap and freeze separately for 1 month. Defrost in the refrigerator overnight. Reheat in the microwave, or in the air fryer on low for 10 minutes.
- Place unused tortilla boats in a sealed container and refrigerate or freeze.
- Other flavour combinations include chicken and corn, pesto and salami or feta and spinach.

Raspberry Meringue Trifle

Cook + Prep time: 90 mins
Serves: 14

Ingredients

Sponge

- 6 eggs, at room temperature
- 165g (¾ cup) caster sugar
- 150g (1 cup) plain flour
- ½ tsp baking powder
- 70g unsalted butter, melted
- 3 x 125g punnet raspberries

Jelly

- 2 tbsp (28g) powdered gelatine
- 1 litre blackcurrant and apple juice
- 300g (2 ½ cups) frozen raspberries

Custard

- 500ml (2 cups) thickened cream
- 1 tsp vanilla bean extract
- 110g (½ cup) caster sugar
- 1 tbsp cornflour
- 6 egg yolks, at room temperature
- 500ml (2 cups) thickened cream, extra

Meringue

- 6 egg whites at room temperature
- 550g (2 ½ cups) caster sugar
- 180ml (¾ cup) water
- 1 tsp cream of tartar

Method:

Sponge

1. Preheat oven to 180°C fan forced. Grease and line the base of two 22cm round cake tins.
2. Beat eggs and sugar together in the bowl of an electric mixer for 10 minutes or until thick and foamy.
3. Sift together flour and baking powder three times into a bowl. In three batches gently fold the flour into the egg mixture using a large metal spoon. Add the butter and fold gently to combine. Pour into prepared tins and bake for 15–20 minutes or until cakes are golden and spring back to the touch. Allow to cool for 3 minutes in the pan, then invert onto a wire rack to cool completely. Cut each sponge into 4 cm pieces. Set aside.

Jelly

1. Combine gelatine and 250ml (1 cup) blackcurrant and apple juice in a large bowl and stir to combine. Set aside.
2. Place remaining blackcurrant and apple juice in a medium saucepan and bring to the boil over high heat. Pour over the gelatine mixture and whisk to dissolve. Set aside to cool slightly.
3. Pour into the base of a 26cm trifle dish. Scatter over the frozen raspberries and refrigerate for 45 minutes.

Custard

1. Place cream and vanilla in a small saucepan over medium-high heat until almost boiling.
2. Place egg yolks, sugar and cornflour in a small bowl and whisk to combine. Gradually whisk the hot cream into the egg mixture until combined.
3. Return the cream mixture to the saucepan, reduce heat to low, stirring until well combined and the custard is thick. Remove from the heat, pour into a large bowl, cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate until cold.
4. Place extra cream in the bowl of an electric mixer and whisk to stiff peaks. Add the custard and whisk to combine.
5. Spoon half the custard cream over the set jelly. Top with sponge and fresh raspberries and remaining custard cream. Refrigerate. Next make the meringue.

Meringue

1. Place the water, cream of tartar and half the sugar in a medium saucepan over medium-high heat. Bring to the boil and cook for 6 minutes, or until it reaches 115° on a sugar thermometer.
2. Meanwhile, place the egg whites in the bowl of an electric mixer and whisk on high until stiff peaks form. While the motor is running, add the remaining sugar 1 tablespoon at a time, whisking until glossy. Gradually add the hot syrup in a steady stream while the eggs are whisking and whisk for 8 minutes.
3. Spoon onto the trifle, making swirls with the back of the spoon and, using a kitchen blowtorch, carefully toast until the meringue is golden (see tip).

Cards of cheer at craft group

THE Limestone Coast Social Group have been busy this Christmas season, making festive Christmas cards to share with their family and friends.

The group is run by Resthaven Limestone Coast Community Services and clients and staff came together for the activity and enjoyed a morning tea while making cards for friends, families and fellow clients.

Relieving assistant manager, Kate Farana said it was important to the group to bring joy to those in the community who may need a little extra this year.

"Clients also made cards for their fellow clients who are isolated or do not have family and friends to celebrate with at this time of year," she said.

During the crafting session, clients and staff used this time to reflect on what Christmas means to them and shared memories of the Christmas season.

Alice Cruickshanks and Brenda Sutherland recounted their family Christmas traditions from their childhood throughout the war.

"During the war in Scotland, it was a treat to receive tinned peaches from Australia," Ms Cruickshanks said.

"We also enjoyed steak and kidney pies, which we made at home and then baked at our little town's bakery.

"We loved watching the snowflakes fall on Christmas Eve."

"My family had no money for presents due to the war," Ms Sutherland said.

"On Christmas morning, I was surprised to receive a wooden sled, and I spent all day sledding down the hill outside my home.

"Later, I found out that my uncle who worked at the railways, had used railway sleepers and tracks to make my sled and the sled has forever remained a meaningful gift all these years later."

The group members shared their favourite Christmas food which included roast meat, homemade bread, prosciutto and cheese.

This social group is just one of the many wellness supports available for older people through Resthaven Limestone Coast Community Services.

THE Tatiara community has again paid respects to South Australia Police Brevet Sergeant Jason Doig who was fatally shot in Senior last month.

At the Tatiara District Council December meeting mayor Liz Goossens took a moment to remember Sgt Doig.

"I would like to formally address the tragic passing of Brevet Sergeant Jason Doig," she said.

"Our thoughts go to his family and friends and certainly to the Lucindale community."

Ms Goossens then paid respect to all emergency services, highlighting Sergeant Michael Hutchinson and Constable Rebecca Cass.

"We are grateful to these people especially as many of them are volunteers and they continue to keep us safe," she said.

"As our community pulls together we will continue to support one another and all our SES, CFS, ambos and police."

Boxes to help bird populations thrive

NESTING boxes will be installed in the Bool Lagoon area to help save threatened woodland bird species.

Several community groups, Friends of Bool and Hacks Lagoon, Naracoorte District Men's Shed and Birdlife Australia, received a grant from the Limestone Coast Landscape Board (LCLB) to build and install the boxes.

The partnership saw 60 artificial hollows made, with instillation expected to take place in 2024.

Birdlife Australia wetland bird program coordinator Bradley Clarke-Wood said the funding support had been critical.

"The funding has been crucial in helping us achieve our goals," he said.

LCLB team leader habitat conservation Robbie Andrew said he was excited to see firsthand the positive impact these efforts will have on the local woodland bird populations.

"Supporting this local project and seeing so many community organisations work collaboratively to craft the nest boxes has provided a successful outcome," he said.

Limestone Coast Grassroots Grants funding applications will be open in March 2024.

Tigers partner with academy

THE Limestone Coast Regional Sporting Academy (LCRSA) has announced a new partnership with the Glenelg Football Club.

As a result football specific skill sessions will be provided to selected female athletes from across the Limestone Coast region on top of gym programs and ed ucation sessions.

"The LCRSA is committed to providing local athletes with the opportunity to achieve excellence in sport and life," LCRSA coordinator Adrian Maywald said.

"The Glenelg Football Club is an institution that also fosters excellence which is why we are so pleased they have chosen to partner with us.

"We are excited to be offering a girl's program to start with."

With the growth of women's football across the nation,

"Girl's football is growing all the time and it is vital that the female athletes in our region are given the opportunities to succeed," Maywald said.

"We will continue to work with Glenelg on the possibility of supporting the male academies that are already successfully running in our region."

Maywald hopes the new program will help realise the talent in the region which may have previously gone unrecognised.

"Athletes that do not live in the metro area face many hurdles in achieving their sporting goals," he said.

"The academy is working towards removing some of these hurdles for not only the athletes but the families as well.

"Glenelg are going to provide the athletes with specialised elite coaching that will enhance and develop their talent.

"We look forward to supporting these athletes, along with Glenelg to hopefully achieve their goals in the sport."

"The opportunity to partner with an organisation that is the reigning SANFL Premiers and a recent SANFLW Premier is extremely exciting."

Glenelg FC CEO Justin Scripps also weighed in on the partnership.

"The Glenelg Football Club is committed to supporting our junior players to fulfil their potential and play football at the highest level," he said.

"The opportunity for our talented South East junior girls to access the LCRSA program will compliment our academy program and provide a much more holistic approach to their development."

Pairs ham it up before bowls break

THE Mount Gambier Bowls Club held its annual men's pairs hams day prior to Christmas.

The popular event attracted a large field of 26 teams from across the Lower South East and Western Victoria.

All teams had an opportunity to play under the roof of the Bob Cranwell centre on the B Green, with many commenting on the benefits of playing without the wind and weather elements.

Winners for the day were Mount Gambier RSL's Michael Fox and Chris Waugh with a total of 105 points.

They narrowly edged out Bill Richards and Ron Cox who had 104 points, while David Beaman and Gary Fox rounded out the top three on 101.

MINOR PLACINGS

- 4th - B. Roper/A. Emerson 89 points; 5th G. East/D. Parker 83 points; 6th G. Smith/N. Miller 82 points.

Rivalries reignited

THE South Australian National Football League (SANFL) is preparing to reignite its fierce rivalry with its Victorian counterparts (VFL) through a highly-anticipated State League clash.

The blockbuster is to be held in Adelaide during the 2024 AFL Gather Round festival.

The West End state team will tackle the Big V for the first time since 2016 across the weekend of April 4-7, with a venue and date still to be confirmed.

Coming off four consecutive wins against the WAFL, SANFL stars will have two opportunities to don the cherished red guernsey next year, including the annual state game to be played against the WAFL in May next year.

SANFL Executive General Manager Football Matt Duldig said the match provided a unique opportunity to showcase the talent in the SANFL League on a national stage as part of Gather Round.

"We are thrilled to see the return of a SANFL versus VFL match for the first time since 2016," he said.

''To reignite a rivalry that dates back to the late 1800's is really exciting and to do that over Gather Round when football is on show in SA will be a treat for footy lovers from all over the country."

SANFL triumphed against the VFL by 19 points at Adelaide Oval under the guidance of Graham Cornes back in 2016, before the VFL ceased its involvement in state representative football in 2017.

The Croweaters boast an admirable record against their Victorian foes, winning six of their past seven meetings with their only loss coming in 2002 at Adelaide Oval.

"Having a VFL versus SANFL state league representative game back on the calendar in 2024 is really exciting for the competition and the VFL-listed players in contention for selection," AFL Head of State Leagues Jennie Loughnan said.

"It gives the best players in the VFL the opportunity to aspire to wear the famous 'Big V' jumper and showcase their talent on a weekend where all AFL clubs will be in South Australia for Gather Round, with AFL recruiters watching on.

"I thank the SANFL for working with us and acknowledge the VFL clubs who have thrown their support behind the concept."

Life-saving tool for athletes

THE Penola and Districts Little Athletics Club is now well equipped to keep athletes and spectators even safer, thanks to the addition of an Automated External Defibrillator (AED) to its facilities.

The enthusiastic group of primary school children, parents and spectators meet at the Penola Primary School oval throughout the latter part of the year.

According to president Emma Bowen, defibrillators for local sports organisations like Penola and Districts Little Athletics keep players safe, protect spectators and are a vital tool for the community.

"Every minute is vital (in an emergency) so having it near the oval means we can get it to someone within a minute," Bowen said.

The AED is accessible for both children and adults without the need for changing accessories and has been installed on the exterior of the Penola Primary School gym. Bowen said applying for the funding to purchase an AED - and placing it in the school grounds - was a way to give back to the community.

"We have been very fortunate to have access to the Penola Primary School oval and grounds for many years, so it was a natural choice to place the AED where it would be accessible to the whole school community and beyond," she said.

The purchase of the AED was made possible thanks to funding through the Office for Recreation, Sport and Racing under the active club program, together with contributions by Penola and District Community branch of Bendigo Bank, TDC Property and Livestock and Bowen Estate. An Automated External Defibrillator (AED) is a portable electronic device which is used to diagnose and treat sudden cardiac arrest by delivering a shock to the heart.

The AED is designed to be user-friendly - even for people with little or no medical training - and provides step-by-step instructions on how to use it in an emergency situation.

Eagles with grand final flurry

Scores were tied up halfway through the final stanza, but Naracoorte held on to take a hard-fought victory.

Onto the B Grade and the Eagles were again victorious, this time to the tune of seven goals over Border Districts.

Penola was unbeaten throughout the season, easily the strongest side, with Borders second on the ladder with five losses.

In the grand final, the Eagles held a seven-goal advantage at the long break and while they lost the third quarter – by two goals – they rebounded to claim the fourth by the same amount and run out premiership victors.

Penola's Jade Lythgo was named best on court.

The third and final premiership flag came from the C Grade wide, which also showed its class with a 32-25 victory over Mundulla.

It was a tough and even contest throughout, with the Eagles taking the lead at the first break by just two goals.

They extended that to three goals at the main break, but Mundulla came back in the third, but could only close the margin to two goals.

The Eagles showed their true desire in the final stanza and claimed the quarter by five goals for a strong win.

The young Division 1 girls unfortunately went down to a determined Kingston after trailing for much of the game by a single goal.

Kingston won the opening term by that margin, then both the second and third terms were equal.

However, in the final term Kingston stepped up the intensity and claimed the premiership flag by just four goals in a classic contest.

Overall it was a huge year for the Eagles netballers, the pride of Penola in 2023.

MORE SUCCESS: Penola C Grade netballers joined the premiership success for the Eagles.

Final event of the year

THE final South East Field and Game Association event of the year was held at Burrungule Park on December 17, with 107 sporting clay shooters nominated for the 50 Target event.

Sponsorship came from Whitty Engineering, South East Vets, South West Freight, Elders Gambier Farm Supplies and Collins Court Butchers to make the event possible.

The summer weather conditions were near perfect for competitors to tackle the course set by Ken Atkin and his hard-working crew.

Jacqui Doloughan and her hard working group of women once again put on a magnificent Christmas dinner for the 70 members and their families after presentations.

Danny Bellinger shot 48/50 to claim the Gambier Shooting Supplies High Gun and shot one possible round of 25.

SENIORS: Winner Leigh Dunn, runner-up Maurice Banning, third place Chris Wright.

CHEERS: Penola players celebrate a premiership.

Eagles dare

THE highlight for Penola netballers in 2023 came in their assault on the Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara grand finals.

No less than five teams represented the Eagles, with three premierships the result.

The A Grade claimed a dominant 51-28 goal premiership win over Keith in a faultless display.

It was well deserved for a side which lost just three games in the minor rounds and finished second on the ladder behind Keith.

Brooke Klemm was voted best on court in the grand final.

While the A Reserves side went down in the big dance to a determined Naracoorte, it was by just two goals.

After leading by five goals at the first break, the tables turned and the Eagles chased a five-goal deficit at the final break.
