Leaders of tomorrow

Riddoch Business and Community Association (RBCA) is seeking support from the community for a new leadership program to be held later this year.

After RBCA initiated its Penola and Coonawarra Youth Leaders Program in April last year, the latest program is being planned for September. An informal information session about the program, with networking and drinks, will be held next Wednesday from 5.30pm to 6.30 pm at Koonara Wines in Church Street, Penola.

Secretary of the RBCA Simone Kain said everyone was welcome to attend.

"We are looking for individuals to put their hands up to participate, businesses to support their younger workforce to participate, and anyone else who may have the means to support a young person to participate," Ms Kain said.

Positive season

By Kathy Fennell

The seeding is done, the sun has shone, the rain has been, the crops have a green tinge and this all augurs well for a very good cropping season ahead for farmers in the Penola district.

Local farmers Trevor and Simon Zadow crop 1700 acres in the Penola area which consists of wheat, barley, oats, canola, broad beans and carrots for seed.

They also run 2000 ewes which have just finished lambing.

"With the dry season we have had we had to dry sow our crops, however the rain we had after was most valuable," Trevor said.

"In January 1981 we moved to Dorodong from Lameroo where we purchased 560 acres and grazed sheep for 20 years.

"We sold that land in 2020 and purchased 1000 acres of sheep and cropping land near Penola.

"We have also purchased other land in the meantime so we are kept very busy," he said.

Trevor said he loves farming and had his first taste of cropping at the age of 15 with his father.

"It takes us about four to six weeks to seed dependent on the weather and harvest is ready in December and January."

The crops will be sprayed about six weeks after seeding for weeds and then again later in the year to control insects.

At the end of harvest all the silos will be full.

"Our main shearing is in September and October and with breeding our own ewes, we have plenty to do in the off cropping season," Trevor said.

"I won't be retiring anytime soon as I enjoy what I do and will continue on as long as I can."

Trevor was a shearer for more than 30 years and travelled around the country shearing in the Murray Mallee, Western Australia, Adelaide Hills and the South East.

Workers in high demand

By Kathy Gandolfi

Millicent is not immune to a nationwide shortage of workers with local employers searching in vain to fill positions that would traditionally have a line up of willing takers.

Almost a third (31 per cent) of employing businesses in Australia are having difficulty finding suitable staff, according to survey results released last week by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS).

And, according to new seasonally adjusted figures from the ABS, there were 423,000 job vacancies nationwide in February which is 27,000 more than in November 2021 and around 200,000 more than in February 2020.

Four of them are on offer at Millicent crash repairer, Dave Reilly's Panel and Paint.

Owner and operator of the business, Dave Reilly is looking for a vehicle detailer, an apprentice panel beater, spray painter, and a car wash attendant.

Some are full time jobs and they represent a 50 per cent increase on his current staff of eight.

Finding anyone to take on the jobs has been more difficult than Mr Reilly has ever experienced in his 43 years in the business.

"I can't get anyone, not even work experience kids," he said.

"I've never had to advertise before for apprentices, they usually just come in wanting a job."

Mr Reilly believed the situation was Covid-19 pandemic related but also blamed a shift in interests among the younger generation.

"Back in the day we could modify our cars, put on big wheels and loud exhausts and things like that; we tinkered with our cars," he said.

"Now they are just an A to B thing and the kids aren't that interested in cars like we were, it's a different set of interests.

"And cars aren't as mechanical as they used to be either; you can't just tinker with them at home because of the electronics and computers in today's cars.

"So there doesn't appear to be any real interest in the trade; no mechanical mindedness anymore.

"If you could fix cars with an iPhone there would be a line up for the jobs," he said.

Mr Reilly said he'd been busy putting the "word out there" that the jobs were up for the taking, asking around among crowds at local football matches, and even letting the high schools in the area know, but to no avail.

Dave Reilly hasn't been able to find people to fill four positions going in his paint and panel business.

He's even prepared to be flexible with hours to attract possible candidates.

"We're prepared to make the detailing job a 9 to 3 position, perfect school hours," he said.

Mr Reilly said filling the jobs was important for his business to cope with the workload and said there was a definite longevity in the industry.

"A car is still the second biggest purchase people make; people are still going to have cars and there will still be a need to fix them," he said.

"We're busy as and we're months behind; deliveries are slow, parts are hard to get, everything is snowballing; and there are lots of kangaroos," he said indicating that kangaroo hits are the major cause of panel and other damage on cars.

Mr Reilly recognised he was not alone in his quandary.

"It is a problem everywhere; everyone is having trouble filling jobs," he said.

"Everyone knows about the electricians and carpenters [being in demand] but automotive is screaming out as well.

"Every aspect of the trade is looking for people and there are real opportunities in the industry for people."

The Australian Chamber of Commerce and Industry (ACCI), in its 'Overcoming Australia's Labour and Skills Shortages' submission to the Australian Productivity Commission in March this year, recognised the situation as the most difficult seen in decades.

"The most pressing challenge facing business today is a shortage of skills and labour," said ACCI chief executive, Andrew McKellar, in the report.

"With workplaces under enormous strain, it is placing a handbrake on economic growth."

The report said businesses of every size, in every industry, in every corner of the country, are experiencing the worst skill and labour shortages in decades - a challenge that is worsening by the day.

"The unemployment rate of 4 per cent in February 2022 is the lowest rate since the peak of the resources boom in 2008," the report said.

"It is predicted that, as a result of unprecedented fiscal stimulus in response to Covid-19, unemployment will decline even further to around 3.75 per cent by the end of 2022 and remain at this level during 2023.

"Australia has not experienced unemployment rates this low in the past half-century - the last time we had the unemployment rate below 4 per cent was in the early 1970s."

South Australia's unemployment rate is the highest in Australia at 4.6 per cent as at May, with the national rate at 3.9 per cent.

Opportunity to voice opinion on council's draft budget

Verbal submissions on Wattle Range Council's 2022/23 draft budget will be heard at a public meeting next Tuesday.

Released for public comment earlier this month, the $31m draft budget and annual business plan includes council raising an additional 5.36 per cent in rate revenue.

As a result, the rate revenue will increase to $20.44m and there will be an operating deficit of $3.151m.

Rural, commercial and industrial properties will pay a lower rate-in-the-dollar than residential properties, with primary production paying 67 per cent and commercial and industrial 92 per cent of the residential rate.

Written submissions on the draft budget will be received until 5pm tomorrow and a public meeting will be held at the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre supper room next Tuesday where verbal submissions can be made.

The meeting will begin at 5pm and must allow at least an hour for submissions to be heard. Copies of council's 2022/2023 draft budget and annual business plan are available from each of council's offices and the Millicent Library or can be downloaded from council's website at www.wattlerange.sa.gov.au/haveyoursay

Timber excellence

Penola's Matt Tilby won a prestigious award at the Green Triangle Timber Industry Awards held recently at Mount Gambier's Barn Palais.

Mr Tilby won the Operations - Harvesting and Infield Chipping Excellence category.

Wood Flow Manager for the past four years at Merrett Logging, Mr Tilby manages the company's nine sites and works closely with Merrett Logging Director Adam Merrett who accepted the award on Mr Tilby's behalf as he could not attend the event due to family commitments.

Moving from the wine industry to forestry, Mr Tilby began his career in 2019 with no experience in logging.

With Merrett Logging he has streamlined the collection process of gaining digital data from operators promptly so daily records are accurate, customers are communicated with, and shortfalls or product issues can be rectified in a timely manner.

His nominator said he demonstrates daily his ability to solve issues in a safe and productive manner and builds positive working relationships across the industry.

"I was overwhelmed with winning the award and the messages of congratulations I received from family and friends," Mr Tilby said.

"I would like to thank the Merrett family for giving me the opportunity to work in their very successful business."

He also thanked the operators, truck drivers, mechanics and the management crew at Merrett Logging for their continued support.

"I have a beautiful family with my wife

Bridgette and children Ryder, Evie and Lola always supporting me," he said.

He received a certificate, trophy and $200 for his award.

Two RBCA scholarships offered for youths

"We must provide our youth with opportunities to be leaders, develop life skills, feel involved within their community, and sit at the decision making table."

Aimed at trainees, apprentices, front-of-business staff, and high school and university students, the Youth Leaders program is a 12 week online program with the RBCA partnering with Generation Thrive, an Adelaide based organisation, to deliver a series of self-paced online personal leadership workshops for 15 to 35 year olds.

"The program includes five facilitated group workshops, four individual personal leadership coaching sessions and a practical toolkit designed to provide the skills, habits and attitudes to thrive across all areas of their lives," Ms Kain said.

"This type of training is more important than ever," RBCA President Nicole Reschke said.

"Especially after the distractions, restrictions, and isolation young people have experienced over the last couple of years.

"The Riddoch Leaders program will develop and enhance participants' social and emotional capabilities while increasing personal accountability, self-leadership, resilience, and well-being.

"This will better prepare our young people and adults for success in their personal and professional lives."

Generation Thrive has been conducting its programs throughout the Limestone Coast for several years.

The Penola High School has been a recipient of the services since 2019.

Penola residents John and Glenda Kidman have sponsored students in the Year 10 program.

"Everyone should have access to personal development opportunities," Mrs Kidman said.

"This is why we choose to support Youth Opportunities' mission and the work they do in schools and workplaces to help young people in our community learn the skills to be their best."

When the inaugural program was held last year, seven participants from 14 to 17 years of age attended monthly meetings where they learnt about governance, leadership, time management, effective habit making, marketing, and communication.

"We had Liz Rymill from ABC Radio undertake media and communication training with the group to provide them with the skills to give effective presentations as well as have confidence when meeting people or having interviews," said Ms Kain.

The group also designed town merchandise including hoodies and t-shirts for Penola and Coonawarra which are available for purchase at Koonara Wines and the Visitor Information Centre with all proceeds reinvested in the community.

Various business people addressed the group as guest speakers.

Ms Kain explained that the aim was to build community connections.

"If they choose to leave the area for further education or employment, they're more likely to return if they have strong connections in their community," she said.

For the program later this year, the RBCA is offering two full scholarships valued at $1250 each.

Applications for the scholarships close on August 1, with expressions of interest for the program closing on August 8.

The program will begin on September 5.

Fundraising shop opens

Friends of Penola-Coonawarra Stand Like Stone Foundation sub-fund have been hard at it again organising its second fashion pop up market for 2022 to be held tomorrow and Saturday.

Sub-fund members Janet Brodie and Amanda Flint have been overwhelmed with support for the event in the past and are hoping that the next event will be just as successful if not more than previous ones.

The pop up shop will be held in the RSL Hall, Queen Street, Penola, and will be open from 4pm to 9pm on Friday and 9am to 12 noon on Saturday.

After three fashion pop up markets, just over $5000 has been raised for the Penola-Coonawarra sub fund.

These funds contribute to grants, scholarships and student support for the Penola and Coonawarra townships.

The event was awarded the 2022 Australia Day Community Event of the Year for the Wattle Range Council Riddoch Ward.

"Our last event at the RSL hall was an amazing success," Ms Flint said.

"The quality of clothing, some still brand new with tags attached, far surpassed our expectations.

"We live in a wonderful and supportive community and this event has had more success than we thought possible when we floated the idea in late 2020."

A gold coin donation on entry for the event is appreciated and Friday night is 'ladies night' with a glass of wine on arrival.

"It's a really fun atmosphere with lots of laughter and chatting," Ms Flint said.

"We are blessed with volunteers to help set up, run the event and pack up which is not the most glorious part of any event.

"We always like to let them know they are appreciated and can't do these things without their support."

Loo funded at Greenrise

By Kathy Fennell

Members of the Penola Greenrise Lake Advisory committee are delighted that Wattle Range Council has allocated $120,000 to upgrade toilet facilities at Greenrise.

The allocation has been made for next financial year in council's draft budget which was released for public comment recently and is expected to be adopted next month.

Chairman of the Greenrise Advisory Committee, Pete Bissell said: "Nothing major has been done to the toilets for quite sometime and with the amount of people using the Greenrise Lake area now the upgrade will be welcoming.

"There are many people that use the area including walkers, picnickers, joggers, young mums with prams, people attending funerals and individual groups," he said.

Council's Director of Engineering Services, Peter Halton said: "The toilets will have a full upgrade including new cisterns and cubicle along with new tiles, doors and painting.

"The septic system will also be refurbished."

New outdoor lighting will also be installed through separate funding.

The outdoor lighting will assist travellers who stay in the free camping ground to use the toilets at night.

It will also be a benefit for the Penola Lions Club Driver Reviver Van when it is used at night.

With the beautiful tree planted area available for caravaners to stay, the upgrade will be a great asset as some caravans are not self contained.

"We have had many working bees over time to re-paint the building and to keep up the maintenance and to keep the area tidy," Mr Bissell said.

Volunteers also help to trim and plant trees and maintain the area.

The Greenrise Lake Advisory Committee has eight members and meets about every two months and its purpose is to actively promote the use of the Greenrise Lake recreation area.

The committee consults with council with any recommendations and is subject to council's direction and control.

Choir prepares for festival

By Kathy Fennell

Choir enthusiasts at Mary MacKillop Memorial School in Penola have been practising regularly in readiness for the South East Music Festival to be held in October.

"We have been practising hard once a week, with Alida Brokken, Poppy Flint, Evie Tilby and Ava Briggs also auditioning for soloist and compere roles," said choir trainer, Kathy O'Connell.

Students are extremely lucky to have such an experienced trainer as Mrs O'Connell.

She has held this role for 32 years, 20 years at the Kalangadoo Primary School and 12 years at both the primary school and Mary MacKillop school in Penola.

This year the choir performed at the Anzac day service in Penola and also at school assemblies.

The 2022 festival will be held at the Sir Robert Helpmann Theatre in Mount Gambier.

The first South East Music Festival was held in 1988 involving 600 children from across 25 schools in the South East.

For the first 25 years it was held at the Civic and Arts Centre in Millicent and for the past five years at the Sir Robert Helpmann Theatre.

Choirs present four concerts and the aim is to promote and develop the arts for students in the South East.

Apart from choral music, the festival also features orchestral music, public speaking, dance and drama.

It is a fantastic opportunity for students to showcase their talents to family and the general public.

Beachport Golf Club President Lyn White and project manager Spinner MacGregor alongside the works underway to install a new irrigation system.

Upgrade for course

By Elsie Adamo

Beachport Golf Club is installing a new $350,000 irrigation system.

The new system will replace one installed more than 30 years ago.

Beachport Golf Club President Lyn White said the club decided to push ahead with the upgrade with the support of its members, after missing out on grants.

“We were not deterred by that,” Ms White said.

“We were lucky enough that we have a few generous members who said they were willing to give some money as long as it goes to this project only.”

The new system has meant excavations on sections of the course.

Earth movers and plumbers have been hired, but the club has saved money due to locals who have helped voluntarily.

“We are lucky we have a retired surveyor who has laid the course out for free,” Ms White said.

“Spinner MacGregor, who is a local builder in town... is running the project, so he has given up his job basically for two months.”

Around $50,000 has been funded from loans, with the remainder of the funds coming from members, community groups and sponsors.

“It is just fabulous, for a small club with less than 100 members to be able to pull off a $350,000 project is pretty impressive,” Ms White said.

“It is a great club, and the spirit within the club and the support from the community for the club has been great.

“It has been a whole team effort.”

Ms White said the team have been trying to minimise the impact of the project on usual activities, with golfing still allowed on the course.

“Most of the works are on the edge of the Work began last month on putting in a new irrigation system at Beachport Golf Club.

course, so we have been playing through them,” she said.

“I have seen some of the players down in the trenches looking for their ball, it can blend with some of the sand, so we have lost a few.

“It has been a new obstacle for the course.”

Ms White said the old system was labour intensive.

“In summer it can mean spending 45 hours a week just doing the watering,” Ms White said.

“We have to run in the daytime because they cannot run in the middle of the night.

“It is labour intensive, and it costs us a lot of money to hire someone just to change sprinklers.”

The new system would be significantly easier for the club to maintain, cutting down on operation costs.

“The coverage at the moment in the course is about 40 per cent, and we are hopefully going to get 80 per cent coverage once we have this system in,” Ms White said.

“It will run off a phone app, and someone can just be at home and say, ‘I want this row of sprinklers to run for 20 minutes’ and they adjust the time it runs and they will go on and off themselves.

“We will be able to put that money to other projects like our junior golf which started this year.”

The club expects the new system to last the next 30 years.

“We know we had to do it,” Ms White said.

“The last thing you want is driving into Beachport and seeing a brown golf course, it is the entrance to town, so it is really important.”

The works are expected to be completed in early August.

Further feedback sought on strategy plan

Meetings in Millicent and Penola today, and in Beachport tomorrow, are seeking further public input into Wattle Range Council’s draft 25 year Strategic Land Use Plan.

The meetings represent the second and final round of public consultation on the plan which is aimed at providing a strategic roadmap for the next 25 years of land use planning, infrastructure and community development in the Wattle Range Council area, and will also be used to initiate future amendments to the Planning and Design Codes which may include zone changes in some areas.

Being hosted by the consultants which are putting the plan together (Adelaide based planning consultants, Holmes Dyer) the community drop in question and answer session will be held at the Millicent Public Library today from 10am to 1pm.

In Penola today the same session will be held at Penola Foodland from 2.30pm to 4pm.

Tomorrow a session will be held at the Beachport Institute from 10am to 1pm.

An online survey on the draft is also available through council’s website where a copy of the draft plan can also be viewed.

Written submissions are also invited.

Submissions in this second round of community consultation close on July 15.

Festival canned

Beachport’s Crayfish Festival will not go ahead next year, despite being a success when held earlier this year.

Wattle Range Council has not included any funding for the festival in its 2022/23 draft budget released for public comment earlier this month.

The festival this year made a profit of about $9000 and attracted almost 2000 visitors.

Wattle Range Council chief executive officer Ben Gower said the event may return in 2024, but there was no official budget at this stage.

“We are going to have a breather for a year, and then have a look after that and see if we will have another one,” Mr Gower said.

“It will depend on a range of things.

“We would like to think given its success we would like to run future festivals, but that will be a brand new council by then as elections are coming up this year.

“We will see if the community still wants to support it.”

Mr Gower said that if there was an appetite for the event to be run completely by the Beachport community, council would consider what support may be offered.

“Normally what we try and do with these types of events is we will auspice and help run them for the first couple of goes until we find a sustainable solution,” he said.

“And then if a community group wants to take it over from us, we are more than happy to transition it.

“There are around half a dozen to ten events every year that are perpetually funded by council, not all of it, but a proportion.

“There is no reason to suggest we could not find a sustainable solution, given the success of this year’s event.”

Event volunteer Heather Burdon said it was disappointing the festival would not go ahead in 2023.

“We got really good feedback from this year’s festival,” Ms Burdon said.

“People were saying they were looking forward to coming back next year.

“It is just a shame it will not happen.”

Burr’s Independence Day

By Kathy Gandolfi

After having the pleasurable experience of devouring one of George Copelin's delectable hamburgers in the cafe at Mount Burr's solitary shop, I couldn't help but envy the 50 people who will be enjoying American Independence Day celebrations there this Saturday evening.

The wood fire provided the warmth, the music videos playing on a large flat screen television provided the ambience, the steady stream of people coming in to order food and chat provided the community charm, while the aromas from the busy kitchen provided the tummy growls that were truly satisfied by the results.

In that kitchen was 67 year old George Copelin who, with wife Rosie, will be hosts for the American cuisine dinner to be served in the shop on Saturday, the third such celebration they have held since the couple purchased the then abandoned store almost four years ago.

The shop will be decorated in a sea of red, white and blue for the American Independence Day dinner, harping back to Mr Copelin's connection to the United States of America.

Five years ago Mr Copelin moved to Australia from Miami to be with Rosie, a teacher in Mount Gambier.

After meeting on Facebook about 12 years ago, the couple became pen-pals and eventually met in person when Rosie took a trip to Florida and George likewise visited Australia on two occasions before taking the plunge to move to Australia to be with Rosie.

"There was nothing for me in the US to keep me there, so I came out to Rosie," he said.

The couple married in Mount Gambier in 2017 and their present occupation was sealed when driving through Mount Burr one day.

Originally from Miami in the United States of America, George Copelin will be hosting an Independence Day celebration this Saturday evening at the Mount Burr shop which he owns and operates with his wife Rosie.

George Copelin will be cooking up an American cuisine storm in the kitchen at the Mount Burr shop this Saturday.

"We were passing by and saw a sale sign on this building," he said.

"A cute little store in the middle of nowhere.

"It said it would be perfect for a couple, but I didn't read the fine print," he grinned widely adding that the shop had been busier than two people could handle and he praised his two staff who were busy serving customers.

"Rosie has put her whole heart into it; this is her baby."

With a varied career in the US, Mr Copelin had been an air traffic controller, taxi driver, forest ranger and chef; the last being the important one that has put the Mount Burr shop on the map.

His culinary skills were gained in what he calls "the melting pot" of Miami whose population is made up of cultures from around the world.

"I'm proud of where I come from; particularly on the culinary side with its unique array of flavours; it's a culinary sensation for your pallet."

This cuisine will feature on Saturday evening with bookings limited to 50 people to enjoy such delights as dinner roll cornbread, barbecue pork ribs, macaroni cheese, American style potato salad, corn niblets, and pumpkin pie among other dishes on the menu.

And why Saturday, which is July 2, and not July 4 which is the actual date of Independence Day?

That's completely logical according to Mr Copelin.

"The 2nd is on a Saturday, we wouldn't get people out on a Monday [July 4]; so there is a method in our madness," Mr Copelin said.

A public holiday in America, Independence Day is a bit like Australia Day.

"We [Americans] don't close up shop for a horse race," he laughed at Australia's penchant for public holidays on major race days but he loves it anyway.

"It's been easy to settle in.

"There is no gunfire at night.

"It's relaxed out here; I will go a happy guy," he said.

New era for iconic shop

By Kathy Gandolfi

Millicent Toy Kingdom, the South East's only dedicated toy shop, is on the market.

"It's time," said owners Bill and Helen Davis who are looking to retire after more than 34 years in the business.

Their shop, on the corner of Davenport Street and Kentish Place, is a mecca for children with aisles of shelves packed with a wondrous array of toys from Barbie dolls, jigsaw puzzles and board games to trampolines, remote control cars and the latest craze, fidget toys.

The shop also specialises in push bikes with a large selection in-store including the newest invention being electric push bikes, known as e-bikes.

Also available are buckets, plastic containers and a variety of rubber and foam products, harping back to Mr Davis's family history in business in the South East.

In the 1920's, Mr Davis's grandfather, Stan Davis was in business with Mr HS (Stan) May in a mechanics garage and service station in Mount Gambier.

The partnership of May and Davis was also a car dealership, conducted a booking service for air services from Mount Gambier to Adelaide, was instrumental in establishing an aerodrome at Mount Gambier in the 1930's, and also conducted bus services in Mount Gambier in the 1940's.

Mr Davis's father and uncle, Alec and Colin Davis, began Davis Bros Tyre and Battery Service in Mount Gambier in 1946 and went on to open 12 branches around the South East and Western Victoria.

Millicent's branch opened in 1957 and was originally situated where Banner Mitre 10 has its hardware store today.

The current building was constructed in 1972 with Davis Bros operating its tyre business in one part of the premises, and a new venture, Rubber and Plastics, which included Toyworld, in the other part of the building.

Mr Davis's introduction to Davis Bros began at the age of 10.

"I was banned from the business during the week, because I had to go to school," he said.

"But it was much more fun going down to the shop and changing tyres so I went straight down every Friday after school and on Saturdays first thing."

After he left school, Mr Davis did an apprenticeship with Beaurepaires in Adelaide in 1974 before managing Davis Bros' Mount Gambier store in 1976 and filling in as a manager when staff took leave in some of the business's other branches.

In 1977, he settled in Millicent and managed the Millicent branch of the tyre business.

Bill and Helen Davis outside Millicent Toy Kingdom - the name was changed from Toyworld to Toy Kingdom in 1989.

When Davis Bros sold its tyre business to Dunlop Olympic, Mr Davis worked for the new owners before spending two years as a car salesman at Bohner Ford (now Mac Ford).

He married Helen (nee Johnson) in 1982 and the couple took over Millicent Rubber and Plastics/Toyworld on May 1, 1988.

Staff at the time included Jim Mather with casuals Beryl Leonard and Jenny Hodgins.

Originally employed by Davis Bros in the tyre business as a 'fill in job', Mr Mather went on to manage the Rubber and Plastics/Toyworld store for Davis Bros for 30 years.

"When Helen and I took over the place, Jim was told he could stay in the job for as long as he wanted and he ended up staying here until he retired," Mr Davis said.

"Jim passed on all of his knowledge to me and was instrumental in helping us get on the right track," he said in admiration of Mr Mather.

In the ensuing 34 years, the couple have brought up their three children - Chloe, Ben and Adam - while riding and enduring the ups and downs of business.

Today, with the next closest dedicated toy shop in South Australia being at Victor Harbor, Millicent Toy Kingdom has customers coming from a wide area to shop from their impressive array which includes a selection of what Mr Davis believes has been the most successful toy.

"Lego has been the most popular toy - it was back then, and today it is stronger than it has ever been," he said.

"A lot of stuff comes and goes but the most consistent would have to be Lego."

While stepping away from the business will be difficult when it sells, the couple will have the knowledge that they have made many children happy.

"We've served children and then watched them grow up and served their children and we're almost at the third generation now," said Mrs Davis.

"It's all about seeing kids with smiles on their faces."

Piper’s showcase

By Kathy Fennell

Siblings, Simon and Emma Bowen, will present their 16th degustation dinner at Pipers Restaurant in Penola this Saturday and the event has been completely booked out.

The dinner is held in conjunction with the annual month long Cellar Dwellers event held each July.

Chef Simon and winemaker Emma, have collaborated to present a dining experience to showcase great produce seamlessly paired with wine specially chosen from the Bowen Estate cellar.

“The wine on the night will be from our museum stock including Chardonnay, Shiraz and Cabernet Sauvignon and will be at least 10 years old,” Ms Bowen said.

“We have diners coming from Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide who return each year for the dinner.

“The degustation dinner consists of five courses of smaller servings which is spread over a longer length of time,” she said.

The dishes served will be the chef’s choice where Mr Bowen will use his creative skills and experience along with matching wine to complement each course.

Ms Bowen has been the winemaker at Bowen Estate since 2002 and Mr Bowen has been at Pipers Restaurant for 16 years.

“It is a special night for Simon and myself as we don’t work together throughout the year,” Ms Bowen said.

Of course the ‘Front of House’ Erica Bowen, wife of Simon, can’t be forgotten, and you will greeted with a huge smile and made very welcome.

Erica has won an award for the best Front of House person in South Australia.

and food writer, Stephanie Alexander, and has been the owner/chef at Pipers Restaurant since 2006.

Both the siblings are extremely grateful to their parents, Doug and Joy Bowen, for giving them the opportunity and support over many years in their chosen careers.

Doug and Joy are extremely proud both their children with Emma following in her father’s footsteps in the wine industry, while Simon has certainly got some of his mother’s cooking skills.

With a Lebanese background, Joy would always be involved in cooking up a feast for her family and extended family.

“I love experimenting with recipes and collecting cookbooks is my passion,” she said.

“We have always encouraged and supported both our children in whatever they wanted to do.”

Pest goldfish found in Lake McIntyre

Lake McIntyre volunteers are urging people not to release aquarium fish into the popular bird attracting lake at Millicent after a large goldfish was found there recently.

As a result of the find, volunteer Rosey Pounsett provided a statement to The South Eastern Times as follows.

“What happens when your cute little goldfish outgrows its small fishbowl or aquarium?” Ms Pounsett started.

“What do you do with it?

“Well one thing you should never do is release it into your local waterways, be it a lake, river, drain or dam.

“Once released into the environment they can grow to extraordinary sizes.

“Some released goldfish have been recorded as growing to 1.9 kilograms and released koi carp grow even larger; up to one metre long and eight kilograms.

“These huge fish have been recorded and caught in the Vasse River in Western Australia.

“Several years ago, three goldfish were sighted in the shallows of Lake McIntyre, obviously having been put there by a member of the public.

“Perhaps this person thought they were doing the right thing, but releasing any sort of fish into an area where it does not belong is not being kind - either to the fish or the environment.

“We can only hope that the goldfish released were all the same sex and therefore have not bred, and that they will not cause any insurmountable problems to our native fish or the aquatic environment.

“Introduced fish of any sort can do a lot of damage to our native freshwater fish and their natural environment.

“Goldfish are carnivorous, so they will eat other fish, tadpoles, and the eggs of our native fish.

“Their feeding habits stir up the bottom of the waterway, disrupting plants and making the water turbid and muddy which can be a cause of algal blooms.

“They can also introduce diseases which can dramatically impact the number of native fish.

The goldfish caught at Lake McIntyre recently; it was bigger than an adult’s shoe. Pictures: SUPPLIED “Once released it is notoriously difficult to eradicate them.

“Earlier this month one of the goldfish that was released into Lake McIntyre was found floating and at risk of being eaten by a pelican.

“It was caught and removed from the water but had died of an unknown cause.

“If this fish had any type of exotic disease, it may have caused harm to the pelican or any other predator that could have eaten it.

“So remember, having any sort of pet is a responsibility.

“When the time comes for you to give up that pet, the responsibility does not end.

“Please do not release your goldfish into any of your local waterways.”

Shopping bag boom at Kingston

By Tyler Redway

Receiving national recognition for their handmade shopping bags, Kingston SE Small Steps group have made more than 20,000 and delivered them to businesses for free.

Volunteer Liz Wingard said the project took off “like wildfire” when the group began making bags for Kingston’s two supermarkets.

She said the group had received numerous donations of fabric and other material from the local community and beyond to enable the bags to be made.

“Now that we are becoming more well known, we have been getting fabric from all over Australia,” Ms Wingard said.

“We have expanded the project to putting shopping bags in about half the businesses in Kingston.”

Ms Wingard said the idea originally came from a conversation with her friend about their dislike towards single-use plastic bags in supermarkets.

After a while, the idea of using up-cycled old material to repurpose it into fashionable shopping bags came to fruition and the group started off using old pillow cases and doona covers.

“We just thought it would be a good environmental thing to do rather than the same plastic being used everywhere,” Ms Wingard said.

“Lots of people and individuals within the community [donate material] as well as upholstery and curtain fabric shops.”

She said although the bags were free, donations would still be welcomed to support the group’s cause.

She said the bags had not been distributed beyond Kingston due to them having a small Kingston logo printed on them, but there had been requests from other towns for the bags.

“Since there has been a little bit of publicity we have had requests from all over Australia and we have sent a few further afield to people who are talking about setting up a similar program in their town,” Ms Wingard said.

She said the project had been financially supported by the Stand Like Stone Foundation in starting up and with ongoing costs such as machine maintenance and purchasing thread.

Ms Wingard also said she never expected the project to have such a large amount of recognition adding it had never entered the group’s minds.

“It has been overwhelming actually and we have had a huge response such as lots of messages from people instantly wanting to know about the bags,” she said.

Recycling pays off

By Elsie Adamo

A Robe business has been named as an Australia Post Local Business Hero.

‘Transmutation’ is a plastic recycling workshop and retail outlet, turning waste plastics into bowls, doorknobs, and pens on site.

The business also sells other items such as clothing, accessories, and homewares made from recyclable materials.

One of only four South Australian businesses to receive the honour, Transmutation will receive a ‘Heroes Package’ worth up to $5000 from Australia Post, as well as being featured on their website and in-store.

Bradley Scott, co-owner of Transmutation, said it was nice for the local post office to nominate them.

“We sort of knew we were in with a chance, but it was still a surprise,” Mr Scott said.

“It has been great.”

Mr Scott, along with his wife Narelle, settled in Robe after travelling across Australia.

“We started this plastic recycling business based on things I had seen on YouTube,” Mr Scott said.

“So, we built the little machines ourselves and then started recycling plastics.

“One thing led to another and then we had a collaboration with Aussie Bread Tag for Wheelchairs, who provide us with bread tags, and we donate to the charity, and they buy wheelchairs with our donations.

“They have 65 wheelchairs so far and we have done seven tonnes of plastic, so it has worked out well.”

The business has also collaborated with Country Road, creating items made from white bread tags for the brand.

Mr Scott said they will need to add some extra space to keep up with recent demand.

“Business is growing quickly,” he said.

“We are going strong, we are about to put another shed up.”

Australia Post Executive General Manager Retail, Catriona Noble said the program helps build connections between post offices and local businesses.

“Many of the small business heroes were nominated thanks to an established and strong relationship with their local Post Office team, so it is wonderful to see these connections strengthened even further,” Ms Noble said.

“This program is a great reflection of the important and essential role Post Offices play in connecting communities and supporting local business.”

Executive General Manager Customer and Commercial, Gary Starr said the program was created to help local businesses grow.

“We know small and medium businesses are the backbone of Australian communities and we are committed to helping them succeed,” Mr Starr said.

“I look forward to seeing each of the Local Business Heroes feature across our network and connecting them with even more customers.”

School kitchen garden proven successful

By Kathy Fennell

The Stephanie Alexander Kitchen Garden program for Year 5 and 6 students has been an outstanding success since it started in Term 1 at Penola’s Mary MacKillop School, according to co-ordinator and Year 5/6 teacher Alison Smith.

The program, which was launched in 2001 by renowned cook, food educator and author Stephanie Alexander AO, is designed to provide inspiration, professional development and support for educators to deliver food education to children and young people about fresh, seasonal, delicious food so they can form positive food habits for life.

Mrs Alexander went on to form the Kitchen Garden Foundation in 2004.

Prompted by her concern for the growing childhood obesity problem in Australia, the program has a hands on, fun approach.

Topics covered include propagation, fertilising, sprays and bugs, watering and harvesting.

“We have a worm garden and all the scraps are added which in turn is used for fertiliser,” Ms Smith said.

“Our harvest so far this year has included tomatoes, pumpkins, zucchinis, garlic, potatoes, broccoli, cabbages, beetroot and silverbeet,” she said.

“Our aim is to produce it, cook it and eat it,” she said.

Students collect the produce and a market is held each Wednesday from about 2.30pm to 3.10pm and is open to the public.

Proceeds from the sales go back into purchasing seeds and other requirements for the garden.

week of Term 2 with the crop taking 12 to 14 weeks to mature.

With the soon to be completed science room and kitchen at the school, students will be able to harvest the vegetables, cook and eat them, and share with staff.

“It is an absolutely amazing program and is used in schools from Queensland, Western Australia, the Eastern states right down to Tasmania,” said Ms Smith.

The Penola hardware shop has been most supportive of the program and has offered advice in many ways.

Students took part in sensory activities aimed at building their connection with nature as part of the Earthkeepers Camp
Picture: SUPPLIED

Students on camp

Rain, hail and cold winds did not stop more than 70 students from 22 schools experiencing the annual Earthkeepers Camp at Naracoorte Caves recently as part of the Young Environmental Leaders Program (YELP).

Conducted by the Limestone Coast Landscape Board, the camp provides students with a connection to nature and an opportunity to learn about working together to sustainably manage the landscape.

As participation numbers were high, three consecutive camps were offered with the last wrapping up on June 9.

Landscape Education Coordinator Vanessa Freebairn said it is encouraging to see interest in the program grow each year.

“I think it is a good indication of how much schools in the region value environmental education and are embedding it into school curriculum,” Ms Freebairn said.

“The Earthkeepers Camp is such a fun adventure where students get to explore the outdoors and appreciate the landscape around them,” Newbery Park Primary School Student Support Officer Angela Jones said.

Ms Jones has been attending the camp for the past eight years and said the Earthkeepers Camp was her favourite event of the year.

“The students really appreciate being out in nature and love going on bush adventures and really taking the time to understand the beauty they are surrounded by,” Ms Jones said.

The Earthkeepers Camp is part of the Young Environmental Leaders Program, which supports students on a year-long journey.

This includes sustainability projects with their school communities with the projects this year including Indigenous gardens, school waste audits and the construction of wildlife nest boxes.

Before leaving camp students wrote down a pledge listing the changes they will make in their own lives to have a positive impact on the environment such as reducing their energy use, recycling at home or riding their bicycle to school.

They also nominate how they plan to continue connecting with nature at home.

“I hope the students will be inspired to take their family on adventures in local forests and reserves now that they have a deeper appreciation of the local Limestone Coast landscape,” Ms Freebairn said.

The next young Environmental Leaders event will be held in Term 3 and will include students taking part in controlling environmental weeds such as bone-seed and bridal creeper.

Pranksters caused chaos

By Penola Local History Centre

The Pennant Penola,

CAUGHT – BUT GOOD

A section of the local pranksters produced their most astounding brain child to date over the weekend, but unfortunately for them it landed back in their laps a few hours afterwards due to some very smart detective work by our local police.

It's smart to flout the law and get away with it for a time but in the end the law always turns out to be the smarter.

It is expected that the bench will give these lads something to smart about for some time to come.

However, we must admit that when we viewed the setting so neatly arranged in the main street early on Monday morning that we chortled as much as other observers did.

Here's how it was arranged.
A council hut on wheels was towed from the precincts of the pound on the Casterton Road early in the evening of Sunday along the road at the back of the hospital, parked and chained to one of the verandah posts of the shops occupied by the fruit supply and W Shipham.

It was both seen and heard by residents as it rumbled its way to its resting place.
Then a stop sign and a pole was wrenched out of its lawful resting place and placed against the end of the hut facing up the street.
On the corner of the other end the Casterton-Dergholm road sign was neatly placed.
The post had been neatly sawn through so it could be moved.

Then to give the residence a more homely appearance a mat was placed at the front door and a green four-gallon oil drum placed upon it.

To complete the setting two white garden seats, requisitioned from outside the council chambers, were placed, one at the end of the van and the other on the footpath with several empty bottles lying beside it.

Everything was council property, excepting the empties, and it could be reasonably interpreted that the lads were having a crack at the recently appointed council public officers.

The same Sunday night around the north end of the town gunshots and 'whoopees' followed by accelerating cars were heard, and its happened before in the same locality.

This is how it ended on Monday:
Penola Police have interviewed persons responsible for Sunday night's movement of council property into the main street, the names of several men have been taken and further action will be taken.

The offenders were not teenagers, they are all over 21 years.

£10 PENALTY IMPOSED

Before Messrs P H Ferris and R J Skinner; JP's last Tuesday, Sgt H C E Brooks prosecuted M J B, P J H, T H D, H J H.

The prosecutor in presenting his case, said the offence could not be treated lightly, but he felt and asked the bench to take into account that no intended viciousness was apparent but only to play a joke on others.

Mr R J Skinner, JP, in addressing the court stated the bench could remember when they were young men, and they trusted the defendants would take the occasion as a well-earned lesson.

A fine of £10 was imposed with 10/- court fees in each case.

The history of the first stone cottage built in Penola

From The National Trust of SA Penola Branch

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called Penola Walk With History to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

RENFREY HOME

This four-roomed cottage with a lean-to at the back was locally known as the first stone house built in Penola.

It was possibly built by John Hogg, who officially owned a cottage and garden on the site from 1869 until his death in 1900, when it became the estate of his widow Sarah nee Stone.

Her nephew John Renfrey, who conducted a carrying business with a horse and dray in Penola, became the owner in 1909. This dray was also used to transport friends, relatives and the Penola younger set to picnics.

John Renfrey married local girl Margaret Condon and was one of the district's most popular residents, renowned for his kindness and cheerfulness.

He was keenly interested in the civic and sporting activities of the town and for many years was a committee member of the Racing Club, Show Society, Flower Show, Institute and the Public Park.

The Renfrey children were Edmund John, Marie, Nathaniel who bought a truck and took over the carrying business following his father's death, Isabel who worked for many years as a bookkeeper at Balnaves Store and was the last of the family to live in the cottage, and Thomas James who died at a young age following a career as a distinguished musician.

In about 2015 the property was purchased as a private residence for rental by builder Heath Mitchell, who renovated the house and added a new semi-detached kitchen and bathroom.

Cellar Dwellers Festival

By Kathy Fennell

The 18th Coonawarra Cellar Dwellers Festival will kick off in July and will continue with many events happening throughout the month.

The first event will be the Coonawarra Vignerons Back Vintage Regional Tasting on Friday, July 8, at Hollick Estates where 15 wineries will join together along with winemakers and vignerons.

Wineries included will be Banks Thargo, Blok Coonawarra Estate, Brand's Laira, Di-Giorgio Family Wines, Hollick Estates, Katnook Estate, Leconfield Coonawarra, Majella, Parker Coonawarra Estate, Wynns, Patrick of Coonawarra, Redman Family Wines, Rymill Coonawarra, Zema Estate, and Raidis Estate.

There will be 30 wines available for tasting, both red and white including varieties of Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz, Riesling, Bordeaux Blend, Merlot and Chardonnay.

The tasting will showcase the superior ageing of Coonawarra wine.

There are limited tickets available for the tasting however all tickets have been sold to the tasting dinner option which will follow.

A fun part of the evening will be the 'blind tasting' component.

Guests can blind taste four of the 30 wines in the room and stand to win a couple of Coonawarra's prized wines if they can taste the wines correctly.

Executive Officer of Coonawarra Vignerons, Ockert Le Roux at Hollick Estate with the Cellar Dwellers program.

A shuttle bus will be available from Penola and tickets must be booked in advance.

Pick up will be at the Penola Foodland at 5.15pm followed by other pick up points at Alexander Cameron Suites, Coonawarra Motor Lodge and Must@Coonawarra.

A return bus will leave Hollick Estate after the tasting session at 7.35pm and following the dinner at 9.45pm which is to be confirmed.

Coonawarra Vignerons' executive officer, Mr Ockert Le Roux said: "We are looking forward to a wonderful month of July in our wine area."

"With the Covid pandemic hopefully on the back end, we have confidence in visitation getting back to normal, especially with visitors from the Western Districts of Victoria."

Mr Le Roux said: "There is general excitement in the area and people are looking forward to coming to Coonawarra to enjoy delicious food, cosy fires, great hospitality and famous wine."

"Everyone is just wanting to get out and enjoy themselves."

There will be more than 50 events and activities happening throughout July including exclusive wine tastings, museum wine tastings, lunches, dinners, cooking classes, high tea sessions and food will be available at participating wineries.

Another feature will be the Coonawarra wineries walking trail.

You can don your winter woolies, breathe in the fresh country air and explore the countryside at your own pace strolling through the vines.

There are six wineries that you can call on along the trail.

Further information is available at the Penola Coonawarra Visitor Information Centre.

The Penola Pennant will feature upcoming events throughout the month.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

PICK OF THE WEEK

TRUE COLOURS
SBS, Monday, 8.30pm

An ensemble casts spearheads this engrossing and moody crime miniseries, premiering tonight in line with NAIDOC Week. This four-part murder-mystery drama, starring Warriwuy Hick (Wentworth), Luke Arnold (pictured with Hick), Miranda Otto and Emilie de Ravin (Lost), was filmed in the MacDonnell Ranges near Alice Springs and features the Arrernte language. Hick plays Detective Toni Alma, who investigates a car accident that takes her on a hunt for a killer, exploring Indigenous art and the underhanded global art market in a fast-paced and fascinating exploration of culture and identity.

ABC 90 CELEBRATE!
ABC TV, Thursday, 8pm

It's time for the ABC to let down its metaphorical hair and bask in its wonderful history: it's not every day someone, let alone a TV network in Australia, turns 90. As streaming services compete to grab everyone's attention and the entertainment landscape shifts, it's a feat and moment in time that deserves a hearty celebration. Join hosts Craig Reucassel, Zan Rowe and Tony Armstrong (all pictured) for this special two-hour extravaganza that fondly looks back at the programs and the people that have made an impact.

RUGBY UNION
9Gem, Saturday, 7pm

Rivalry doesn't come much fiercer than the one between these two teams. For the first time in six years, the English are back on Aussie soil, and both Australia and England are chomping at the bit for victory. The last time England played here, they left unbeaten. Tonight kicks off the first of three matches in the Test Series, with clashes to follow in Brisbane and Sydney. After a string of losses to the English, the Wallabies will be looking to turn the tables and secure a win straight up at Perth's Optus Stadium.

FIVE BEDROOMS
10, Wednesday, 8.45pm

Living in a share house is many people's worst nightmare. Who wants to divvy up fridge space and label their food, let alone share a bathroom? But after watching this series, you could be forgiven for impulsively buying a house at auction with a bunch of ragtag friends. If Five Bedrooms is anything to go by, life-changing friendships, philosophical chitchat and life-affirming pranks await. Tonight, Harry (Roy Joseph, pictured) leaves regrettable voicemails on his boyfriend's phone, while the house gets an overhaul.

Kidman and Briggs win

George Kidman and Jeremy Briggs melded together to finally win the Penola Golf Club 27-hole foursomes event by less than a shot.

The field of 22 were treated to sunny conditions on the day.

The round got off to shaky start for Kidman and Biggs who scored a double bogey and bogey to begin the competition.

However, the pair began to find some rhythm, with pars on six of the next seven holes.

Their impressive run was brought to a halt with a double bogey on the 14th hole, as they finished the first 16 with a net score of 75.

After the lunch break Briggs and Kidman returned to form with six pars to finish the nine with a net score of 34.5 and a grand total of 109.5.

Ant Mathys and John Gregory finished close behind in second place with a score of 110.

The pair struggled early in the event with five doubles and a triple bogey in the first eight holes.

However, they found consistency on the back nine and finished seven shots better than the front nine.

Their momentum continued into the final holes, which was highlighted with a par on the final hole.

Leo Price and Lindsay Storer rounded out the top three with a net score of 112.

They had an impressive start to the event with two birdies on the front nine.

Storer also picked up two nearest-to-pin prizes in a strong day all-round.

Price and Storer managed to win a tight count-back from Nathan Williams and Will Miles.

Miles and Williams finished the first 18 holes with seven pars in a row and held the lead at the lunchbreak.

However, they failed to continue their momentum in the final nine holes where they scored five bogeys and a double.

Messenger in good form

The Penola Golf Club women held the final of the Laurel Wreath and Ladies Club Handicap Match Play competitions last week, with Rachael Messenger claiming the honours in a close contest.

Messenger, who has been in impressive form recently, defeated five-time winner Mary Cram.

Cram went the long way around to reach the final, having to beat four other women to book her berth.

In a tightly-fought contest in cool conditions Messenger came up with the win on the 14th hole.

Cram and club captain Kathy Mules presented Messenger with the Club Handicap Match Play trophy on the day but as the Laurel Wreath is a Golf SA event, her badge and trophy will be presented at the end-of-season wind up.

The remainder of the women played a stableford round, with Deb Redman winning with 34 points and Kathy Mules runner-up with 32.

Dynamic duo claim 2-4-2

A field of 36 bowlers took to the Millicent Bowls Club greens last Thursday for 20 ends of 2-4-2 competition.

In cool conditions the winning pair was Eddie Hann and Kym Steward, who posted the top score of 35+17 shots up to claim the $36 each cash prize.

Runners-up for the event were Rod Gibbs and Ross Warren with a score of 35+29, winning a bar voucher each.

Other winning teams for the day were Terry Lonergan and Peter Scanlon (34+17), David Reichelt and Merle Stevens (33+18), Robert Radley and Mary Clifford (32+12), Frank Cooper and Bill Burdon (32+9), Arthur O'Connell and Carl Schapel (31+5), plus Derek Bowering and Rob Chambers (29+1).

Tantanoola apply pressure to Robe

Tantanoola 53 d Robe 40

The battle for third and fourth on the Mid South East netball ladder provided an entertaining contest on Saturday.

Tantanoola made the trek up the coast to face Robe and returned victorious after a tough contest.

The Tigers set the scene in the opening term, with a strong start and smart team work from Emma Gould and Jami Walker in the goal circle.

Robe defenders Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins were forced to work overtime, as the Roosters found also struggled to settle in their goal circle, with some inaccurate shooting. Tantanoola took advantage and went to the first break eight goals clear.

In the second quarter Robe gained some confidence and momentum, with some strong pressure all over the court.

That provided Halle Carter and Annie Hunter good use of the ball and they were able to convert through goalies Tori Gluyas and Sarah Laurie, who shot with confidence and accuracy.

Tantanoola returned to its strong start as the third term kicked off, as defenders Tayla Rowe and Kate Bromley made it hard for Robe's goalies to capitalise on their turnovers.

Robe's Tori Gluyas went down with a serious ankle injury, which stopped the game for about 15 minutes.

Demi Carter replaced her at goal shooter but Tantanoola kept the pressure on and made the most of any opportunity.

The Tigers took their chances and extended the lead to nine goals at the final break.

From there Robe fought hard and had some good passages of play but were unable to keep the momentum.

Tantanoola celebrated the win in a contest where Kate Bromley played her 200th A Grade game for the club.

Best players for Tantanoola were Kristy Varcoe, Bromley, while for Robe, Perkins and Grant were named best.

Hatherleigh stylish win

Hatherleigh 63 d Nangwarry 32

After going down to a tough Mount Burr roster last week, Hatherleigh bounced back in style against Nangwarry in Round 11 of Mid South East netball.

The Eagles came out firing at the Nangwarry venue, turning over the first two centre passes.

Erin Watson and Tegan Telfer worked the ball with ease into their goalies who were able to capitalise on the opportunities.

The Saints began to find their feet and with an intercept from Shannon Higgins, then great movement from Kylie Heaver and Tahlia Wilson, they were able to get on the board.

Hatherleigh defenders Demi Vanderhorst and Lara MacGregor worked tirelessly to apply pressure to Nangwarry's goalies, while accurate shooting from Maddie Redman and Abby Wight saw Hatherleigh go to the first break with a six-goal lead.

Unfortunately for the Saints Ange Pratt left the court, replaced by Cassie Dinnison in the goal circle.

Hatherleigh once again hit the court running, as Georgia Hunter applied plenty of pressure and made it tough for the Saints to bring the ball down the court.

Dinnison created some space for Nangwarry and worked well with Wilson to convert any opportunities but Hatherleigh's defensive pressure down the court was too strong.

Watson and Telfer continued to work hard to create space and pass into their goalies perfectly, while Higgins and Carly Ploenges worked tirelessly in an attempt to stop Redman and Wight but they once again shot with high accuracy.

Hatherleigh increased the lead and went into half time with a 14-goal lead.

The third term was a bit more even, as Nangwarry started strong with an intercept from Ebony Lawson, which allowed the goalies to capitalise.

Hayley Burner and Watson provided an entertaining clash in the middle, both bringing the ball down the court well.

Higgins and Ploenges continued to work hard in defence, while both teams' goalies remained accurate.

Hatherleigh extended the lead slightly, then stepped it up a notch in the final term.

An intercept from Hunter off the first centre pass saw the Eagles deliver the ball into their goalies with ease.

The pressure began to show as Nangwarry made a few errors, which Hatherleigh was able to capitalise on.

The Saints continued to run out the game but Hatherleigh proved too strong for the home side with a 31-goal victory.

Best players for Hatherleigh were Redman and Hunter, while Wilson and Lawson were best for the hosts.

Magpies post strong win

Kalangadoo 78 d Kongorong 33

Kalangadoo rebounded well after last week's loss to Glencoe, with a strong win over Kongorong in Round 11 of Mid South East netball.

Abbey Duncan set the scene for the Magpies with a strong opening term, while Kongorong's Riley Buckingham and Sarah Lucas adjusted to the quick pace of Kalangadoo's goal circle and worked relentlessly to curb the influence of Duncan.

However, Kalangadoo went into the first break with a 20-8 lead.

Kongorong centre Rach Perry worked hard in the second quarter to find space and feed her goalies Tilah Buckingham and Emily Lightbody, who were forced to adjust due to the tight defence of the alangadoo defensive circle.

Magpies' goal defence Lauren Kain stepped up her pressure, causing intercepts and touches at the centre pass, while goal shooter Kori Collins positioned herself as a focal point in attack and contributed to Kalangadoo going into the main break with a 31-goal lead.

At half time Kongorong made a couple of changes, switching Tilah Buckingham into goal shooter and bringing on the fresh legs of Evie Sealey into goal attack.

The switch of Buckingham into the goal shooting position allowed some long passes, which were evenly contested by Kalangadoo's Reanna Wetherall.

Riley Buckingham made an impact defensively, using her speed to take some timing intercepts.

The final quarter saw a high work rate from both teams and Kalangadoo's circle defence continued to work hard and made the most of rebounding opportunities.

The Magpies ran the game out well for a strong return to the winner's list.

Best players for the victors were Duncan and Kain, while Perry and Lynley Page were best for Kongorong.

Kalangadoo's Kori Collins focuses on the hoop during the Magpies big win over Kongorong on Saturday.

Entertaining clash goes down to the wire

Glencoe 43 d Mount Burr 39

Glencoe paid no notice to Mount Burr's home-court advantage in Round 1 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

The two sides were embroiled in a tough contest from start to finish, with the Murphies running out deserved victors.

The visitors started strong with their defensive pressure all over the court, which forced Mount Burr to work hard for every possession.

The Muprhies made the most turnovers, with Sarah Edwards taking intercepts through the centre court.

Malinda Markiewicz and Jenna Paproth combined well to be a strong focal point in the circle and finished off with accuracy.

By the first break the Murphies had etched out a seven-goal advantage but the home side was up to the task in the second quarter.

Glencoe led by 7 goals at quarter time.

Mount Burr made a couple of early changes, with Heidi Clark and Sarah Nulty to wing defence and goal attack respectively, with Simone Westerman and Zoe Brown off.

The Mozzies then increased the intensity, with strong drive into attack through Laura Schultz and Meg Fennell.

Ebony Clark was the focal point in the circle and combined well with Nulty.

Glencoe continued to use Markiewicz as a focal point in the circle, while Mount Burr's Madi Haggett stepped up at goal defence to limit Paproth's opportunities.

Glencoe's Jenna Paproth looks to take possession under plenty of pressure from Mount Burr defender Olivia Dean.

In a solid term, Mount Burr pegged back the lead by four goals to remain in the contest.

Glencoe then showed a more patient approach, with Donna Jaeschke feeding Markiewicz with precision, which allowed her to shoot with accuracy.

The Murphies' defence made the most of missed opportunities, with Sarah Edwards continuing to apply defensive pressure.

Glencoe turned the tables and extended the lead by four.

The final quarter was played at high intensity, as both sides tried to create a break and have the upper hand.

Heidi Clark had intense pressure over the ball and created turnovers, which assisted Haggett and Dean by limiting opportunities for their attack line into the circle.

This allowed Haggett to restrict Glencoe's goalies from having easy shots.

Mount Burr made the most of the defensive turnovers to feed the goalies but unfortunately it was too little, too late and the Murphies claimed the honours.

Best players for the victors were Ashlea Edwards, Chloe Pfitzner, while best for Mount Burr were Schultz and Haggett.

Mozzies hold on for win

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr 8.10 (58) d Glencoe 6.18 (54)

An entertaining game unfolded at Mick and Jean Walker oval on Saturday as Mount Burr claimed a nail-biting victory over Glencoe in Round 11 of Mid South East football.

With the home-ground advantage Mount Burr would have started hot favourite but that mattered little to the Murphies as they took the game deep before falling just short.

Inaccuracy in front of goals was the biggest killer for Glencoe, with 18 minor scores doing the damage.

In contrast, the Mozzies kicked just 10 behinds and kept their noses in front at every change.

The scene was set with a 20-19 opening term, with the Mozzies struggling to break free of the visiting Murphies.

From there Glencoe's kicking woes began, as the Murphies peppered the big sticks with little return. By the long break the Mozzies still held the advantage, again by just one point, despite having just three shots on goal.

The Murphies had eight shots and could not find the middle often enough, with just one major score for the term.

Mount Burr drew clear in the third term and opened the margin to one straight kick.

It set up a scintillating final stanza which did not disappoint.

Again the Murphies had more shots on goal but at the end of the day the Mozzies celebrated after a hard-fought victory.

Only Jack Gregory kicked multiple goals for the victors, with two next to his name.

Tory Weaver kicked three for the Murphies and snared himself a spot in the best players.

For the victorious coach Reece Duncan it was pleasing to snare the win after such a tight contest.

"It was a real slog-fest," he said.

"It was certainly anyone's game until the very end.

"I think in the third quarter we thought we might be able to break away when we scored a couple of goals but to Glencoe's credit, they kept coming and pushed us to the end."

Duncan said some rolling showers passing through made conditions slippery but he said it was simply about pressure and the Murphies applied plenty of that.

"It was back and forth, then turnovers," he said.

"When we got two in a row I thought we could be right but they scored the next couple and it was back to game on.

"The pressure at both ends was hard to score against."

Duncan said his players appeared to be flat throughout the contest but a spark came from a debutante which he thought may have lifted the side.

"We were just cruising along and didn't really have a spark," he said.

"We were in a flat mood and it showed.

"Young Charlie Bevan debuted - he is 14 years old and played his first A Grade game - he came in and kicked a goal in the second quarter.

"I thought that might have been the spark and the boys were up for about five minutes but we could not maintain it."

The result saw the Mozzies remain in fourth position, despite Robe also securing a victory.

It provides plenty of interest in the back half of the season as the ladder tightens up for that coveted fourth position.

"The win last week helped us a bit but every game is a must win now," Duncan said.

"Robe is right there with us and I think it will be like that for the rest of the season.

"These are the games last year where we weren't winning but this year we have been able to win the close ones and grind them out, which was pleasing."

Magpies swoop on big win over Hawks in Round 11

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 27.15 (177) d Kongorong 7.9 (51)

Kalangadoo continued on its merry way in Round 11 of Mid South East football, with an easy victory over Kongorong.

The opening term did not set the scene and while the Magpies were out to an early lead, they did not blow the game apart in the first stanza.

However, a combination of tight defence and their trademark running game, the Magpies denied the Hawks any real opportunities up forward, holding them to just two behinds for the term, while adding a couple of majors and seven minor scores to go to the long break in a commanding position.

Any hope of closing the margin was soon dashed, as the Hawks were mauled by the Magpies in the second half.

In true style they added nine majors in the third term, then finished the game in style with 11 goals in the final term.

With 27 goals on the board, it would be easy to expect a Michael Krieger show.

However, while the young gun forward kicked seven majors, he was joined by Ben Mules with four, then five other Magpies with three each.

Magpies coach Kevin Stark said he felt the scoreboard did not represent the true battle on the ground, as the Hawks pushed hard to the final siren.

"I thought they fought hard and even in the last quarter they had a strong patch where they had some good play out of the middle and converted on the scoreboard," he said.

"You can't take any credit away from them for what they did in the last quarter.

"They are a young side but when they were on and doing what they wanted to, they moved the ball well and did some good things."

Kalangadoo's Sam McManus looks to move the ball forward during Round 11 of Mid South East football on Saturday. Picture: LACHLAN ONIONS

Despite that effort from the Hawks, the Magpies still finished the game off well, creating an extra-long final term.

With 11 goals of their own as the game began to wind down, the Magpies certainly did not appear to back off.

However, Stark said it was not all easy going.

"I thought they defended well, especially in the first half," he said.

"We didn't find scoring easy and needed a lot of repeat entries to kick those goals."

The hard work paid off and Stark said he was pleased with the contribution up forward, led well by Krieger.

"He consistently does his thing and racks up big scores," he said.

Stark also noted if the a side did relax this season, the price could be expensive.

"We always talk about a four-quarter effort and it showed on Saturday if you do relax for five minutes, you pay the price," he said.

"It means you can't cruise through a game, you have to be on.

"In the last quarter they could have stopped trying but they ran the game out.

"That was good for them and good for us.

"All in all I was pretty happy with how it went."

Hatherleigh 29.21 (195) d Nangwarry 4.2 (26)
Nangwarry was brought back to earth with a thud on Saturday in Round 11 of Mid South East football.

After breaking the drought last week and winning their first game for many years, the Saints faced the rebounding Hatherleigh and as expected, the Eagles brought their A-game.

The Eagles were on the rebound after going down to Mount Burr last round and were always going to come out hard, despite coach Jake Dowdy sitting the game out.

The Saints found that out in the opening term, as they kicked one straight goal while Hatherleigh banged on 10, plus five behinds to boot.

While the second term saw the Eagles add just five majors, they returned to true form in the third with a nine-goal quarter to take a 159-7 lead to the final break.

The Saints managed three majors in the final stanza to save some face but it was all about the Eagles as they romped home for a stinging victory.

Even with 12 individual goal scorers, Brad Mitchell managed to contribute eight in an impressive display up forward.

Mark Marriott contributed four, while a long list contributed two each.

Approaching the contest, Dowdy said there was plenty to be wary of, as the Saints would still have been riding the wave of last week's drought-breaking victory.

"They had a pretty good win the week before so I told the boys they would be up and about and come out firing," he said.

"We came off a loss and we touched on that pretty seriously.

"It is one of those things you learn from and you have to put it behind you but you still want it in the back of your mind.

"With any team, if you switch off anyone can really have a crack at you."

As for bouncing back after that loss to Mount Burr the previous week, Dowdy said he was pleased with how it panned out.

"There are two ways you could go," he said.

"You could play some ordinary football and plod along with a win or get back to the style you want to play and really put the foot down.

"That's what we did and I was pretty happy with that."

A 10-goal first term certainly settled any nerves and the Eagles simply rolled on from there, with 11 goals in the final term to run the game out.

As the season progresses there are no easy contests, with the Eagles up against it again this weekend when they face Robe.

Dowdy said he feels the attitude in the group is on target and they are ready for a big second half of the season.

"A little bit earlier before the Port Mac game we were getting over sides pretty easy," he said.

"Now we have had two losses and teams are getting better, so every game is going to be hard.

"Robe is a pretty big rival with us and it is always a physical and heated game.

"They are fighting for fourth place with Mount Burr so they will be playing their absolute best."

Dowdy likened the season to a roller coast-er, with any side up on any given week.

He said while his side has suffered two losses, it appears there are no structural issues as such but more a mental approach.

"We beat Kalangadoo, so we know our best is good enough," he said.

"We just have to make sure we bring that.

"It has been a roller-coaster ride, from the best football we have played to the worst.

"Mount Burr last week put us under a fair bit of pressure and we might have gone away from how we normally play because of that pressure.

"I think this week we switched off in the last quarter and took it a bit easy with the game well and truly over.

"We just need to get a bit better at staying switched on for four quarters."

Roosters home over Tigers

Robe 12.10 (82) d Tantanoola 7.8 (50)

A second-quarter burst from Robe helped set up its win over Tantanoola in Round 11 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Roosters came into the game well rested after a bye, while the Tigers were licking their wounds after a loss to Nangwarry the week before.

The opening term suggested a tight contest, with Robe ahead by a solitary point.

However, it was the second quarter where the Roosters began to find their feet, banging on four major scores to the Tigers' two.

That put a bit of distance between the two sides on the scoreboard but neither could make much impact in the third.

Robe managed one major score to open the margin slightly but as the final quarter approached, it was anyone's game.

Scoring returned for both sides as the game wound down but it was Robe that made the most of it, with five majors to the Tigers' three to claim a hard-fought victory.

Goals were spread through the Robe camp, with eight individual goal scores, led by Kaden Woodward with four and Tom Williams with two.

Jack Dawe was a shining light for Tantanoola, with three goals to his name.

It's time to make a stand

By Trevor Jackson

Round 12 of Mid South East football throws up some interesting challenges.

The premiership ladder is certainly not set at the top end, with plenty riding on the remaining games of the season.

It adds pressure to all games for those in a position to challenge for post-season action and now is the time to make a stand.

Port MacDonnell v Kalangadoo

As the reigning premiers, Port MacDonnell faces a huge challenge on Saturday against Kalangadoo.

At home the Demons are always tough, with the prevailing coastal wind and wet, low-lying ground a challenge for all visiting sides.

The Magpies sit clear at the top of the ladder, while the Demons are in a battle to retain third place, with Mount Burr and Robe nipping at their heels.

It places a lot of importance on this clash for the Demons, who could well slip out of contention within weeks and leave the door open for the Mozzies and Roosters.

Kalangadoo appears a cut above the rest of the competition but did fall to Hatherleigh a couple of rounds ago to show it is possible.

The Demons have won seven of their nine outings and cannot be discounted.

They should be well rested after a bye and coach Simon Merrett has said all year he wants his side to peak at the right time.

That time is here, with the two sides below in good form.

Much will come down to stopping Magpie spearhead Michael Krieger up forward but even if the Demons do achieve that, Kalangadoo has shown much versatility up forward, with many options to score.

At the other end, the likes of Kev Thomson, Tim Sullivan and Will MacDonald are all capable of kicking bags.

With strong backline and onballers on both rosters, the game promises to provide plenty of entertainment.

Names such as Tye and Sam McManus, Lachy Jones, Patrick Davies and many more highlight the Magpies roster, while for the Demons, the likes of Mark Smith and Ned Wilke typify the strength of the current flag holders.

It is fair to say Kalangadoo would start hot favourites, as they do in every game this season but as has been seen all season, any side can claim a win on any given day.

When the two sides last met in Round 3, Kalangadoo claimed a huge victory on the back of a five-goal haul to Krieger.

It will be a big hill to climb for the Demons, even at home, with the Magpies to win and further strengthen their hold at the pointy end of the ladder.

Kongorong v Mount Burr

Mount Burr has experienced an up-and-down season, with six wins and four losses.

Kongorong has not tasted much success this year, with just two wins from its 10 outings.

Since a bye in Round 6, the Mozzies are unbeaten, with a couple of interesting scalps, none more impressive than the victory over Hatherleigh in Round 10.

The Mozzies controlled that contest and ran out 21-point victors.

Mount Burr has also accounted for top-four contender Robe, while some other close games have played out against bottom sides.

Last time the two sides met in Round 3, the Mozzies claimed a big win, as Jack Gregory had a day out and banged on nine goals.

However, they had to work for the win, with the Hawks leading up to the main break.

While there have been some highs and lows this season, the Mozzies should have enough in the tank to account for the Hawks, even at Kongorong.

Glencoe v Nangwarry

Glencoe will not go into its clash with Nangwarry with any complacency.

The Saints have been knocking on the door in many games this season, which culminated with its drought-breaking victory over Tantanoola just a couple of weeks ago.

Kalangadoo looks set to claim another victory in Round 12 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Murphies have certainly struggled to link good performances together this year, as have most sides in the competition.

Back in Round 3 the two sides played out an entertaining contest, with the Saints right in the game until half time.

Glencoe then stretched its advantage, only to see it eroded in the final stanza.

In the end the 23-point deficit was too much for the Saints to overcome but they certainly pushed hard right to the final siren.

Neither side is in a position to challenge for finals football but the Murphies would not want to swap places with the Saints and end up on the bottom rung of the ladder.

That looms as a real danger, as Kev Thomson certainly has his boys revved up this year.

After that win over Tantanoola, the Saints were brought back to the hard reality of football, with a big loss to Kalangadoo.

On the other hand, Glencoe pushed Mount Burr to the final siren last round and would hope to carry some of that momentum into this clash to avoid a loss and a possible stint in the cellar.

It is certainly a tough one to tip but I think the Saints can bounce back and claim their second win of the season.

Hatherleigh v Robe

Robe travels down the highway to Hatherleigh in the hope to claim a win to remain in touch with the top four.

The Roosters sit just outside finals contention, equal on points with Mount Burr but a couple of percentage points down.

A loss will be a tough pill to swallow and will place extra importance on all games as the season plays out.

Hatherleigh has suffered just the two blemishes this year, one against the reigning premiers Port MacDonnell and the other, a shock result against Mount Burr.

The Eagles returned to form against Nangwarry last week but will face a tougher test against the Roosters.

Back in Round 3 it was certainly a rollercoaster of the contest, with the Eagles up all day but pushed hard by the Roosters.

Hatherleigh ran out 45-point victors but did not have it all their own way.

However, as the season closes in on the Nangwarry coach Luke Thomson will look to claim his side's second win of the season when they face Glencoe in Round 12 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

business end, the Eagles will want to recover from their recent loss to Mount Burr and show they are a real challenger for the Magpies at the pointy end of the ladder.

With the home-ground advantage, the Eagles should claim this one comfortably.

Understaffed Roosters

Hatherleigh v Robe

Hatherleigh hosts Robe this weekend in the Mid South East netball match of the round.

After losing Tori Gluyas to an ankle injury last weekend, Robe's Sarah Laurie and Demi Carter will have to work hard in the goal circle, moving and shooting with accuracy.

Lara MacGregor and Demi Vanderhorst's pressure in the circle will force Robe to make every possession count.

The tussle between Tegan Telfer and Annie Hunter down the court will be tough, with both players fighting hard for the ball.

Both have a good drive down the court and feed their goalies accurately.

Hatherleigh's Maddie Pulmer and Abby Wight will combine well and shoot with accuracy but Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins will fight for every rebound.

With changes having been made to both teams since last round, this game could go either way.

Glencoe v Nangwarry

Second-placed Glencoe takes on the winless Nangwarry at home.

Nangwarry took it up to Hatherleigh for the first quarter last week but are struggling to string four quarters together.

Glencoe will utilise the strength of Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks in their defensive circle to put the pressure on for Nangwarry's Tahlia Wilson and Ange Pratt.

Any turnovers by Glencoe will be transitioned smoothly down the court to Jenna Paproth and Malinda Markiewicz in the goal circle.

Shannon Higgins and Carly Ploenges will work hard for the Saints to turn balls over and give their goalies an opportunity to score.

Glencoe will come away with the points at the end of the game.

Kongorong v Mount Burr

Mount Burr head down to Kongorong to face off against the Hawks and with both teams coming off losses last week, they will be eager Hatherleigh and Robe will fight out the Mid South East netball match of the round on Saturday.

Port MacDonnell and Kalangadoo will go head-to-head this weekend in Round 12 of Mid South East netball.

Buckingham and Sarah Lucas will work tirelessly to curb the influence of Ebony Clark's accuracy, combined with Zoe Brown in goals.

Both Rach Perry and Laura Schultz will work the ball down the court for their respective teams and will feed the ball with accuracy into their goalies.

After a well fought game, Mount Burr will come away with the win.

Port MacDonnell v Kalangadoo

Port MacDonnell will host Kalangadoo this weekend, with the Demons well rested after a bye.

Port MacDonnell's Kirby Carrison and Toni Williams combine well in the goal circle but the pressure of Kalangadoo's Reanna Wetherall and Lauren Kain will be hard to battle.

Alana Winter's height and strength in the Demon's defensive circle will be key in shutting down the accurate shooting of Abbey Duncan and Kori Collins.

Jayde Peacock and Liza Mutch will have a good tussle through the mid-court.

Peacock has strong drive to the circle and will feed her goalies with accuracy, with pressure applied by Demons Mutch and Jess Lynch.

Kalangadoo will finish the game with another win.

Mundulla 10.16 (76) d Penola 6.6 (42)

Penola's third-quarter fightback was not enough as Mundulla claimed another win and defeated the Eagles by 34 points in Round 9 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara football.

The first three quarters were an enthralling contest between second and 10th on the ladder.

"I thought it was a fantastic effort," Penola coach Brad Maney said.

"It was arguably our best effort since Round 2.

"It might not look like we played four quarters of footy but I felt as though we did and there was a lot of satisfaction with our performance."

Penola started the game strongly as it went toe-to-toe with the second-placed Tigers and the scores were tied at the first break.

"Whilst we had the wind in the first quarter, we struck a bit of rain which was a bit of bad luck," Maney.

The Eagles were unable to keep the pressure on the Tigers in second quarter as the away side were held scoreless and Mundulla went into halftime with a 12-point lead.

The game returned to life in the third term when Penola had the breeze and the Eagles kicked three goals to be within five points of the home side at the final change.

Brad Bryant was once again named amongst Penola's best players during his side's loss to Mundulla on Saturday.

However, the Tigers' strength was displayed in the final quarter as they kicked five goals to win by 34 points.

"Mundulla showed their class and the reason why they have won four premierships," Maney said.

"Their system and ball use really shone through late in the game.

"The better team lifted to get the win."

Drew Clayfield was once again the Eagles' main man in the forward line as he kicked two goals for Penola.

Scott Merrett put in another strong performance and was named Penola's best on ground.

Merrett has been in solid form since the Interleague bye after he was one the the Eagles' best players in Round 8 against Kingston.

Brad Bryant was once again one of Penola's best players with another strong performance.

"I thought Brad Bryant was enormous, he rebounded from halfback and went through the midfield, he was really strong," Maney said.

He was full of praise for his younger players, who stepped up against strong opposition.

"Jacob Pfitzner played his best game of the year across halfback and showed what the Penola supporter have become used to seeing over the last 10 to 15 years," Maney said.

"I thought Dale Bunnik dominated his position in the ruck.

"Lochy Neale had a really good game in his second game, Caleb Lythgo continues to shine and Jacob Robbie did a really good job on Darcy King for us."

James Hinge continued his impressive form for the Tigers as he kicked two goals to make it 14 majors in four games this season.

Jacob Robbie and the Penola Eagles will have a tough task on Saturday when it takes on Lucindale in Round 10 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara football.

Tough task

By Lachlan Onions

Penola Football Club will take on Lucindale on Saturday for Round 10 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara football.

The Roos will enter the game as hot favourites but they are not invincible as was recently proven by Naracoorte in Round 9.

Lucindale has won eight of its nine games this season and is six points clear at the top of the ladder.

The Roos have been a force to be reckoned with this season as they have both the best attacking and defensive record of the competition.

Back in Round 1, the clash between these two sides at McCorquindale Park was a one-sided contest where Penola was defeated by 94 points.

Since then, the Eagles have since shown signs of promise and have put up a fight in multiple games this season.

The Eagles go into the game full of confidence after a strong performance against Mundulla. Penola coach Brad Maney said he hopes his side can put in a stronger performance than the last time they met.

"I really think we have grown a lot since that game and I think we understand them more as an opposition," he said.

Maney hopes his side can continue on from their promising performance against the Tigers.

"If we can have another four-quarter performance, I would be really happy," he said.

Brad Bryant, who was recently named in the South East Zone squad, will need to be at his best if Penola stand a chance against the Roos.

Drew Clayfield and Zac Deane will look to have an impact in the forward line on Saturday, but former Port Adelaide player, Tom Logan will look to thwart any chances for the Eagles who only managed four goals in the Round 1 clash.

Lucindale have plenty of options going forward which was highlighted during its Round 6 clash against Padthaway, when the Roos had five players kick three majors.

A win remains highly unlikely for the Eagles but Maney's side will hope to put in another competitive performance to build towards the back end of the season.

Eagles face league-leaders

By Lachlan Onions

Penola will look to return to the winner's circle when it takes on league-leaders Lucindale in Round 10 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara netball.

These two sides faced off back in Round 1 where the Roos won by nine goals.

After a shaky start to the season, the Eagles have ben one of the in-form sides of the competition but will look to bounce back after a shock defeat at the hands of Mundulla last weekend.

The clash sets itself up to be an exciting clash as the top six sides in this year's competition have proven capable on any day.

The Eagles will hope April Possingham can make a return to the side this weekend as she has been pivotal for them in attack.

Penola will be tested in the circle as it takes on the side with the best defensive record this season.

After eight games, the Roos have conceded just 268 goals, at an average of just over 33 per game.

Lucindale enters the game in strong form, with three consecutive wins.

Trudy Lane and Lucy Meyer will look to put Penola's defenders to the test in what should be an exciting matchup when they take on Brooke Klemm and Maddy Teakle.

The Eagles will be eager to redeem themselves after their disappointing loss in Round 9 but the Roos should have just enough strength to claim what will likely be a very close contest.

A tough challenge awaits the Eagles when they take on Lucindale in Round 10 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara netball.

Gartner takes on desert

By Lachlan Onions

A poor run of luck was not enough to stop Penola's Greg Gartner from finishing this year's Finke Desert Race.

Gartner finished ninth overall but could easily have finished on the podium on another day.

The weekend started with the Prologue time trial where Gartner finished ninth out of 150 competitors.

Sunday's first 226km leg started strong for Gartner and his team. After 60km he caught the car in front continued to push hard.

"We couldn't get past the truck in front because the dust was so bad," Gartner said.

"We nearly had seven crashes trying to get past them so we just had to sit behind them."

He said the hold up cost him potentially six or seven minutes, which cost him second place on the grid for the final leg.

Instead, Gartner had to settle for seventh for Monday's final leg.

"We were pretty disappointed because we put a lot of hours into the truck," he said.

Gartner said his truck remained in good shape and was confident ahead of the final leg.

"Sixth was 25 seconds in front, so we knew we had to really push hard because we would have been in his dust," he said.

"The first 40km to Alice Springs is not very dusty and you can find spots to pass.

"So we knew we had 40km to get him."

Gartner moved up to sixth place just before the 40km mark and began to push hard in clear air.

With 30km left in the race, Gartner's truck gave a "flutter" and had no fuel pressure.

"We had fuel issues and the truck kept stopping and starting," he said.

Gartner said his car stopped just 1km from the finish and would not go.

"We sat there for 10 minutes and everyone we overtook, went past us," he said.

"We gave it one more go and idled it in first gear for the final stretch to finish ninth.

"It was a pretty testing race but to finish in the top 10 is a good achievement."

Despite the unfortunate end to the race, Gartner remained upbeat about finishing the final leg.

"The Finke Desert Race is a challenge to finish at any level, so to finish the Finke in the top 10 was great," he said.

This was Gartner's 16th Finke Desert race and has driven alongside Mount Gambier's Jamie Jennings and had Craig Carrison as his engine builder for each of those races.

Annual bridge tournament held at Robe

By Lachlan Onions

The 26th annual Robe Bridge Tournament was held on the weekend at the Robe Golf Club.

There were 98 competitors who congregated for the event to earn the title of the best bridge builders in the region.

The number of competitors was not as high as previous years, but it was still a strong field nonetheless.

Robe Bridge Club committee member Lou Constable was pleased with how the event unfolded.

"It went really well, it was extremely successful," she said.

"Everybody is serious about their bridges but everyone enjoys coming to Robe and having a nice social time."

Constable said the event has always been popular with the community.

She was secretary of the club for five years before she handed the mantle over to Ruth Main who took on her first tournament as secretary.

Constable worked alongside Main and tournament director Rex Whitford to ensure the day was a success. Therese Demarco and Pam Morgan-King were the winners with a final score of 101 points.

Shooters in action at Bonney

The Lake Bonney Sporting Clays hosted its June event and eight shooters took part in the Fabris Family 80 target SXS shoot.

Mark Fabris claimed the AA Grade win, while Tom Weir was the winner in A Grade.

Cliff Lee claimed first place in B Grade, ahead of Dale Fabris.

Chris Wright was the winner in the Veteran's competition, ahead of Kevin Dyson and Wayne Gurney.

There were 40 shooters who competed in the John Hill Memorial 80 Handicap target English Sporting shoot.

The Highgun was won by Daniel Banning, while Steven Scheidl was the winner in AA Grade.

Doug Cowland claimed the A Grade competition, ahead of Mick Brennan and Simon Withers.

The B Grade competition was claimed by Graeme James, ahead of Ben verberna and Bob Clark.

Daniel Badman shot clear to claim the C Grade win, ahead of Matt Collins and Perry Gurney.

In the Veteran's competition, Peter Klieve claimed the win, while Rolf Bugden was runner-up and Ernie Scheidl rounded out the top three.

Rebecca Kober was the winner in the Women's competition, ahead of Georgia Beighton and Sam Freeman.

The Sub-Juniors competition was won by Tyler Collins and Liam Millard was the runner-up.

100th milestone for Eagles' Georgia Gray

Georgia Gray will take to the court to play her 100th senior game this Saturday when Hatherleigh takes on Robe in B Grade.

Gray played in juniors, then started competition netball in Under 13's in 2011.

In 2014, she played 17 and under and also made appearances in B Grade.

She made her A reserves debut in 2015 and began her senior netball career in 2016 when she joined the B Grade team.

Gray has continued to play B reserve as well as B Grade and is a strong defender who reads the ball well.

On top of playing for Hatherleigh, she has also represented the Mid South East SAPSASA team as a junior and was a member of the 17 and under country championships side.

Alongside playing, Gray also umpires and looks after player's children on game days.

Eagles' Georgia Gray, pictured with ball, will make her 100th senior appearance on the netball court for the B Grade clash between Hatherleigh and Robe this weekend.

Tigers win nail-biter

Mundulla 44 d Penola 43

A nail-biting finish resulted in the end of Penola's four-game winning streak, as Mundulla claimed an upset one-goal win over the Eagles.

Penola hit the court for the first time in three weeks and were without star shooter, April Possingham.

That moved Ash Earl to goal shooter and Siobhan Adams to goal attack.

The Eagles were off to a great start and put in an impressive shift in defence to take a three-goal lead at quarter time.

Ash Earl worked the ball well in the circle, while Tara Millard worked hard at centre to extend the away side's lead to four goals at the main break.

Despite the positional changes elsewhere on the court, the backline remained solid as Maddy Teakle made some great intercepts throughout the game.

Tess Porter marked her return from the State Championships with an impressive game as she defended strongly and helped create opportunities in attack.

The third quarter remained tightly contested as the Tigers reduced the deficit to three goals with one quarter to play.

The Eagles flew out of the blocks in the final quarter to extend their lead to six goals but Mundulla refused to die and brought it back to a two-goal game.

Penola's strength looked like it would pay dividends as the reigning premiers extended their lead out to five goals with just five minutes remaining. However, the Tigers played with nothing to lose and put the pressure on the Eagles. Mundulla's pressure paid off as the Eagles were hesitant on the ball and made a number of crucial turnovers late in the game.

The Tigers clawed their way back to snatch victory from the grasps of defeat just seconds from fulltime.

Penola remain in sixth on the ladder with seven rounds remaining in the season.

With the absence of star-shooter April Possingham, Siobhan Adams (pictured) was deployed at goal attack during the Eagles' loss to Mundulla on Saturday.
