Ratepayer gripes

By Elisabeth Champion &amp; Kathy Fennell

A resurgence of the inactive Penola Ratepayers Association is being considered following a failed petition to save a row of trees.

The move comes after some Penola residents were left disappointed by a recent decision made by the Wattle Range Council to chop down a row of cypress trees in Clarke Street.

"If a section of the community want to set up those small community committees they are entitled to do that and that is what democracy is - people can get together and discuss these issues and bring them to council and have a sit down discussion around those," he said.

Earlier this year, public consultation was held with 14 comments received; eight in favour of keeping the trees and six in favour of removing them.

Ms Strother is now very keen to bring back the former Ratepayers and Residents Group and will have discussions with former members of the group in the near future.

The group was active years ago, but folded due to a drop in membership.

"I have spoken to a few locals who are very keen to start up the former Ratepayers and Residents group for Penola and Coonawarra district which went into recess some years ago," she said.

"I will need to make some more enquiries and go from there."

The main focus of the group would be local issues.

A former chairman of the group said that at the time the group was formed, the council "just wouldn't listen", and said the group initially started with some 180 members, but many got extremely disappointed with Council not listening to residents and the membership dropped off quickly.

The former Chairman said the whole aim of the group was to let the Council know what residents wanted for Penola and district.

Jodi Strother at the site in Clarke Street, Penola, where a row of Cypress trees were removed by Wattle Range Council last week. Ms Strother led a petition to save the trees.

Riddoch Ward councillor Chris Brodie said he would be happy to have conversations with the group, if it reforms, and added that ratepayers are always invited to contact him if they had issues to discuss.

"It's always good to get feedback," he said.

"I was a member of the group in the past, and I am a ratepayer, so I support it."

Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll was also supportive of the group.

"If a section of the community want to set up those small community committees they are entitled to do that and that is what democracy is - people can get together and discuss these issues and bring them to council and have a sit down discussion around those," he said.

"That's what the process is about.

"I am more than happy to work with them."

Township benefits

Letter to the Editor

On Friday, July 1, I attended a civic function arranged by the Wattle Range Council.

The purpose of the function was to celebrate, as a result of the amalgamation of the District Councils of Beachport, Millicent and Penola, the anniversary of the commencement of the Wattle Range Council on July 1, 1997.

I was invited to give a brief description of the District Council of Penola's participation in the then State Government's Local Government Reform Initiative, and the decision, after a comprehensive poll of residents, to enter into the merger with the District Councils of Beachport and Millicent.

I also took the opportunity to make some observations about how I saw the merger had benefited the township of Penola and the Penola district more generally.

The construction of the Penola Bypass is a mighty achievement that I doubt would have been able to be achieved by a District Council of Penola.

Local opposition to the Bypass, and debates around the eastern or western route would have, in my view, stymied progress.

The resolve of the Wattle Range Council to see the project through, reliant as it was on significant Commonwealth and State Government funding, was in my mind critical.

As for the route, the western side was in reality the only option, given the location of Penola's light industrial zone.

The more general benefit to the district that I mentioned is the skills, experience and expertise that is now available to the district in the Wattle Range Council, skills, experience and expertise that a District Council of Penola would not have been able to assemble.

The experience of the last District Council of Penola (1995-1997) demonstrated that the level of complexity and diversity of responsibilities in local government administration had long exceeded the capacities of the Council to administer the District for the maximum benefit to residents.

I have no doubt the Penola district is well administered due to the skills, experience and expertise within the Wattle Range Council.

I also made several observations in relation to the future of the Penola district.

Whilst the Penola Bypass is of enormous benefit to the town the Bypass does create a challenge, to ensure the rich attributes of the town are widely known and draw in the travelling public.

That is, by the Penola business community and civic interests (Mary MacKillop Centre, National Trust, Wattle Range Council and others) working effectively together to promote those rich attributes.

The District should continue to ensure that representatives the Penola district (Riddoch Ward) are always strong advocates for their district, whilst also being strong advocates for the Wattle Range Council.

And for those that are yet to do so, embrace the Wattle Range Council and use it to full advantage of the district.

A Beachport drive for AFL legend Gavin Wanganeen and friends went wrong when their vehicle became bogged on a beach and was swamped by waves.

AFL star's off-road driving lesson fail

By Elsie Adamo

Brownlow Medal winner and Australian Football Hall of Fame inductee, Gavin Wanganeen found himself in a sticky situation in Beachport last weekend, becoming bogged on a local beach with friends.

On Saturday morning the AFL legend and his family were enjoying a morning four-wheel-driving with another family along beaches between Beachport and Robe.

The car became bogged on a beach near Beachport.

At first, another car drove onto the beach to help them, but it also became bogged.

As the tide started to come in, all involved knew they might be in some trouble.

Luckily a group of Beachport locals were able to lend a hand to recover the vehicles from the beach.

Beachport resident Shannon Moran was one of those who helped get the car from the beach.

"We thought we better go down and see what we can do," Mr Moran said.

"We made a rope up that was 80 metres long, and it took three four-wheel drives tied together to tow it out.

"Then the loader came along to help us get it off the beach.

"It all came together, and not one got hurt which is the main thing."

Mr Moran said the group was careful not to get bogged themselves, staying clear of the beach when towing the cars out.

"We did not want to put anyone else's vehicles at risk," he said.

"The vehicles that were towing were up on hard ground, they could not have gotten bogged if they wanted to.

"We did it deliberately like that, the last thing we wanted to do was go down and help and end up creating a miserable day for somebody else if they got bogged as well."

According to Mr Moran the ute's doors were automatically locked after the water started crashing over it, and with the keys in the car there was no choice but to smash open the window to unlock the steering.

"There is always a comedy of errors that always happens when you are under pressure like that," he said.

The Ute was written off following the incident, but the second car managed to drive away still mostly intact.

Mr Moran said the car's owners were a family from Padthaway.

"They [the family] were nice people, they were so thankful," he said.

"They wanted to pay their way, and we said no you have had a bad enough day."

Not completely put off by their experience, the families came back that night to the Beachport Hotel.

"Gavin came back to the pub that night, put some money on the bar and came and had tea with us," Mr Moran said.

"It was to say thank you to us."

The beach in question has a bit of a reputation for being dangerous to drive along.

Mr Moran said it is the second time in the last year he has helped recover bogged vehicles from the incoming sea.

"That beach seems to be the one that brings a lot of people undone," Mr Moran said.

"Usually on the other beaches if you get bogged you do not lose your car, but on that one you can.

"Every person that was there that day learnt a lot about that beach."

Gavin Wanganeen uploaded videos from the event onto his Instagram account which quickly went viral nationwide.

Building meeting

By Elsie Adamo

Wattle Range Council held a community forum on Tuesday night to answer questions and take feedback on its proposed $9.2m administration office.

Held at the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre, more than 50 attended the interactive session which lasted almost two hours.

Council chief executive Ben Gower gave a presentation during the session outlining the main details of the project.

The new centre would provide for all office-based council staff who are currently working in three separate locations including the main office which was built in the 1930's as a school and Mr Gower said was beyond renovation.

The majority of questions asked during the session were centred around costs, consultation and design.

While many public questions and responses indicated there was support for updated office facilities for staff, much time was spent discussing the site's intended location on North Terrace.

When answering questions about the centre's location, Mr Gower highlighted that it had already been a three-year process to decide on the current site and there had been many different opinions expressed during that time.

"The message is it is really hard to make decisions like these when you have got so many options and so many different views," Mr Gower said.

"It is a very democratic process, but it can take a long time."

Council staff and most elected members were present for the forum, with some taking the opportunity to answer questions and make comments.

community members, who were worried the lengthy process could mean higher building costs.

When responding, Mr Gower said that ultimately decisions on the project have been and would continue to be made by elected members.

Mr Gower said the plans for the centre have considered future organisational growth and should remain fit for purpose for the next 50 years.

During the presentation, Mr Gower offered to show community members the current council offices following the session and answer any further questions.

Following the meeting Mr Gower and Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll said they believed the forum had been successful.

The decision to proceed with the new service centre is expected to be made by the newly elected council in early next year.

Penola's Josh Pahl makes the top four

By Kathy Fennell

Penola's Josh Pahl can hold his head high after finishing in the top four of the Australian Livestock and Property Agents association (ALPA) SA Young Auctioneers competition held at the Naracoorte Regional Livestock Exchange last week.

In its 16th year, the competition attracted 13 participants from Naracoorte, Mt Gambier, Bordertown, Kingston, Strathalbyn, Kingscote and Lucindale to a training school which was held prior to the competition.

At the training day participants were mentored by experienced auctioneers from Sydney, Melbourne and local areas.

Topics covered at the school were how to control nerves, breathing and several other valuable tips.

Four people from the school went on to compete in the competition.

"The junior auctioneer competition is a wonderful experience and opens a lot of doors for anyone that wants to choose a career in auctioneering," said Southern Regional Manager of ALPA, Mrs Liz Summerville.

Jack Guy from Nutrien in Bordertown won the competition with Nathan McCarthy from Elders in Bordertown runner-up.

Both Jack and Nathan will go on to represent South Australia at the National competition at the Sydney Royal Show and will compete against other state winners.

Contestants were judged on values, diction, presentation, voice quality and manner.

"I would not have been able to compete on sale day if I had not attended the mentoring school," Josh said.

"It really helped my confidence.

"The competition between the buyer and the auctioneer is daunting and it was a wonderful experience."

He is employed as a livestock agent with Southern Australian Livestock (SAL) in Naracoorte and he auctioneers each Tuesday at the sheep market in Naracoorte.

"I really enjoy auctioneering and was pretty happy with my first competition," Josh said.

"I have had great positive feedback and would like to now go on and build a clientele with SAL expanding further north and into Western Victoria."

Rural pride on display

By Kathy Fennell

Penola's Will Goodes contested the South Australian Country Shows Young Rural Ambassador competition held at the Adelaide Showgrounds last Friday.

He represented the Penola Show Society and the South East and Border Show Association and was one of eight contestants representing show associations from all over South Australia.

Although Will did not win, he said he enjoyed the experience and meeting other young people.

"I would encourage any young people, if they get the opportunity, to participate in this great competition," he said.

The Young Rural Ambassador program aims to highlight the importance of youth in rural Australia.

It is also gives young people a forum to express their views through education and experience and develop closer links with the primary industries of South Australia.

On judging day, entrants participated in a session with Annabel Homer on public speaking.

They were then introduced to people who attended the SA Country Shows Symposium where each entrant had to say something about themselves.

The afternoon judging session consisted of individual interviews with a panel of judges.

The day culminated with a dinner where entrants were required to make a short speech.

Cody Jones, from the Northern Agricultural Show Association, was announced as the winner.

Runner-up was Rebecca Clifford representing the Eyre Peninsula Show Association.

"It was an extremely hard decision to select a winner with all of the eight entrants being of a very high standard," one of the judges, Amanda Lock, said.

All entrants received a framed certificate and gifts.

Cafe to show support for foster children fundraiser

By Caroline Hammat

Haylie Callow and Kacie Hale from Milli-cent's Two Spoons Coffee House are swap-ping sensible workwear for pj's and slippers tomorrow as they join in with National Py-jama Day to help raise funds and aware-ness for children in foster care.

Last year Ms Callow and Ms Hale regis-tered to fundraise for the program because a couple of regular customers are foster parents and they wanted to show support in some way and recognise the importance of the work they do.

"We were all organised and got our tops and brand new matching pyjamas then we had a Covid lockdown for the week so we couldn't do it, we still raised a little bit, but it wasn't a lot of money.

"We were only talking about it recently and wondered when pyjama day is coming up again, it popped up on Kacie's Facebook page and said it was July 22.

"So we jumped on, registered and we are going try and raise as much as we can for them this time.

"Our target is $1000 hopefully we will reach it, I don't think we will, but I will do-nate $1 from every medium coffee sold.

"We are making cupcakes and cake pops so the profits from those and the tip money we get from that day will be donated.

"We encourage our customers to come in their pj's, it would be fun and any excuse to wear your pyjamas and slippers to work, I'm so excited.

"Hopefully it can help some kids in fos-ter care and I take my hat off to the foster parents," said Ms Callow.

For more than 10 years the day has aimed to raise funds for The Pyjama Foun-dation's Love of Learning Program which is offered to children in foster care who are Australia's lowest performing educational group.

Money raised allows community men-tors called "Pyjama Angels" to be recruited, screened, trained, and then matched with a child in care.

Together they read books, play educa-tional games, do home-work, empowering children with learning, life skills and confi-dence to reach their full potential.

Drop in to Two Spoons Coffee House on Friday, July 22 to support the team's fund-raising efforts and online donations can be made through the National Pyjama Day website by searching Haylie Callow.

Still playing: Ian Lines still loves to get out on the soccer field.

Committed to the game

By Jeff Huddlestone

For more than three decades, Ian Lines has been involved with the Millicent United Soccer Club.

He joined it in 1985, after moving to the South East from Adelaide for employment.

Mr Lines has been involved in many capac-ities, including, player, coach and committee member.

On the playing side, Ian estimates he's played between 600 and 700 games for the club and still takes the field each Sunday.

With another district businessman, Stuart Nuske, Ian is currently the co-president of the club, a role he took up four years ago.

The 60-year-old Tantanoola herb farmer, family man, husband, father of three and grandfather of four is a strong defender of country sport.

Millicent and Naracoorte are what he calls the 'country' clubs of the six, which make up the Limestone Coast Football Association..

The other four clubs, Apollo, Blue lake Rangers, Gambier Centrals and Internation-als, are all based in Mount Gambier.

Millicent United sometimes struggles to retain senior players because of education or work commitments

"The ones we do retain are very good. They stay, they are very loyal and helpful," he said.

Mr Lines said the junior ranks are doing well.

He said it's a matter of building from the ground up.

"It's a work in progress," Mr Lines said.

"In the men's senior grades it's a rebuilding process and my wife has run the girls competi-tion for 15 seasons.

"We're vey competitive and looking to make finals and going from there."

He said Millicent has faced a player reten-tion problem for the past 10 years.

"Either kids going on to Uni or moving to Mount Gambier or bigger cities for employ-ment," Mr Lines said.

"It's starting to turn around now.

"It's a reducing young population and a big issue for Millicent."

Mr Lines is also a big supporter of female involvement in sport.

"We are very strong on that and girls should be allowed to play what sport they want to," he said.

"They love it, they enjoy it."

Ian 's two daughters have played and his son continues to.

In fact, involvement with the MUSC has been a family affair.

Ian's wife, Sue, is the secretary of the club.

"She's heavily involved, we run the Mini Roos and the women's side of things as well as the men's and we've got a very good working committee", he said.

The Lines's are also active in other commu-nity activities, including the Tantanoola Prog-ress Association.

Millicent United fields girls and boys\jun-ior, men's and women's senior sides and the the MiniRoos.

Ever the club man, Ian has never held a po-sition on the LCFA, preferring instead to have strong input at the club level.

"It's important that the country clubs are represented because they tend to be a little bit forgotten," Mr Lines said.

"We have to make sure we've got a good representative."

The avowed soccer man conceded Aussie rules football is the number one sport in the district but said soccer is still competitive.

"Soccer is very popular but football and netball are very strong sports in our area but we're matching them." he said.

Ian said Naracoorte can source players be-cause of local meat works employment.

He said the best thing about being involved with Millicent United is the volunteering side of it.

"You get more out of it than you put in," Mr Lines said.

"It's not me - It's about putting back in.

I've got a son who plays, daughters who have and grandkids that want to and you've got to help out.

"The club is all about community and apart from that, I still enjoy playing," Mr Lines said.

Indigenous artwork decorates boards

By Caroline Hammat

The suggestion to include an Indigenous art component to the Full Throttle in Wattle school holiday program has been a resounding success.

Although officially ending the week earlier, organisers felt this year's NAIDOC theme of Get up! Stand up! Show up! fit perfectly with the skateboard painting workshop.

Millicent based artist Jenny Bishop facilitated the event held last week with all participants receiving a free skateboard to paint.

Ms Bishop printed sheets with Indigenous symbols the participants could copy from with some choosing to expand on those suggestions by adding snake and flag designs to their boards.

"The day went really well, the kids enjoyed it and it was really good to see their faces when they finished their artwork.

"I had the printouts (of Indigenous symbols) to give them a bit of an idea, and once they seen that they just went ahead, they were a really good bunch of kids each and every one of them.

"With those symbols they created their own little story on their skateboards, and when asked what the story was about they explained it and what the symbols meant to them.

"Some of the kids even got to learn about the Aboriginal flag because they didn't really know what it meant until I explained to them.

With Ms Bishop telling the curious artists that the black colour at the top of the flag symbolises Aboriginal people, the red stands for the earth and the circle in the middle represents the sun.

"I think everybody needs to know what it means because it's huge, and they understood that in the end.

"When they get out in the community and explain about that stuff because they've been taught about it, it's good."

Wattle Range Council's (WRC) Manager Libraries and Cultural Services, Janice Nitschke said the idea to include an Indigenous art workshop was floated when the organisers were discussing the upcoming programming.

"Emma (Clay, WRC Director Development Services) came up with an idea that she would like to see some Indigenous art included and to be part of their everyday lives.

"Through using these skateboards, which is something that they all can use, they've been able to look at the symbols, put together their story and understand Indigenous art.

"I think that's really important and want to thank Jenny for being involved."

Workshop participant, Hunter Josephs, summed up the day "Loved it, can't wait to pick it up tomorrow and then head straight to the skate park."

Displaying their newly painted decks are Jackson Josephs, Emily Lowndes, Hunter Josephs and Tamika Long with workshop facilitator Jenny Bishop.

Jenny Bishop helps Evalie and Jarrah Schaefer with the snake designs being painted on the bottom of the brand new boards.

Reward for stolen classic

By Caroline Hammat

A $20,000 reward is being offered to anyone who can give information leading to the return of a much treasured 1970 base model HT Holden Monaro recently stolen from a West Range property, north of Kingston.

The plum coloured car is valued at between $50-$60,000 in its current unrestored condition and originally belonged to Nick Downward's grandfather who left the car to his grandson after he passed away around 20 years ago.

"It is a pretty special car, my grandfather had restored it when he was in Dunkeld on a farm where he lived," Mr Downward said.

"He restored it with his neighbour, another farmer, they did a pretty good job back in the day.

"When he passed away he left it to me, I was a bit of a car buff as a young fella."

While currently holidaying in Queensland Mr Downward received a phone call that his car had been missing from the property where it was being stored.

"I was just devastated to get the news, being a family owned car and I've been collecting parts to do a full showroom restoration for the last 15 years or more, it's horrible," he said.

"I've been building a big shed in town specifically to restore this car in, it was only a week or two away from getting moved to the new shed.

"I've had it for a long time and I'm only in the position in my life now where I've got the money to do it, and about to do it, that's the most frustrating thing."

Mr Downward, has been sharing information of the theft and reward he is offering to social media sites, in particular ones dedicated to Monaro's, with the posts garnering plenty of attention leading to thousands of shares and comments.

"I've been following just about every known Monaro HT/HG/HK site on Facebook, I got onto them and shared the information with a reward of $20,000 for anybody that can lead us to get the car back," he said.

"They [the thieves] are pretty brazen, they've taken it away with a trailer it was in an undrivable state.

"I have all the original paperwork, registration plus photos of ID tags and body numbers so it can never be registered as is.

"Its the sentimental value, I just want the car back."

If anyone has any information in regards to the missing six cylinder Monaro they are urged to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Council member allowances to increase

Wattle Range Council elected members will soon be taking home almost $1500 extra a year in their allowances.

The South Australian Remuneration Tribunal announced the increases in allowances last week as part of its standard review undertaken once every four years for all South Australian councils.

Currently a Wattle Range councillor's allowance is $13,900 annually, but this will increase to $15,381.

The mayor's allowance will increase from $55,600 to $61,524, four times that of a councillor.

The deputy mayor receives one-and-a-quarter times the annual allowance of a councillor and will have an allowance increase from $17,375 to $19,226.

Modest increases have also been made to travel allowances for elected members.

Increases were made for all councils across South Australia.

The allowances vary based on the level in which a council has been categorised.

The levels are broadly based on the population and size of the council area, with Level 1A given the highest allowances and Level Five the lowest.

Wattle Range is a Level Three council, with surrounding councils Naracoorte Lucindale being a Level Three, Grant District a Level Four, and Robe a Level Five.

No submissions from councils on the Limestone Coast were received by the tribunal during the review process.

The change will not come into effect until after the the local government elections in November this year.

Travelling Magpie Goose

A Magpie Goose, which arrived at Millicent's Lake McIntyre recently, probably came from Bool Lagoon, according to local ecologist Abigail Goodman.

The arrival of the goose at Lake McIntyre had some locals intrigued as the species is more commonly associated with northern Australia.

However, Dr Goodman said the goose most likely came from Hacks or Bool Lagoons, near Naracoorte, where a Magpie Goose reintroduction program was undertaken from the late 1960's through to the 1980s.

Using her own research and that of former Bool Lagoon Ranger, Mike Harper, Dr Goodman concluded that Millicent's Magpie Goose has favoured Lake McIntyre's permanent water body in preference to Bool Lagoon which has been dry since December 2021.

"The birds disappear from the lagoon in periods of dryness and return when the water returns but we mostly don't know where the birds go," said Dr Goodman.

Dr Goodman said Magpie Geese became extinct in the South East in the early part of this century but had been prevalent at Bool Lagoon prior to 1900.

"It was then a permanent wetland which would regularly flood out over the Mosquito Creek and Naracoorte Plain," she said.

"However, with reduced inflows, declining groundwater and drying trends the Lagoon dries out more frequently and for longer periods than it once did.

"The Magpie Goose was also regarded as an agricultural pest at the time so it was shot out.

"Published reports state that Magpie Geese had vanished from South Australia by 1911, however there are reports that the last bird was shot at Bool Lagoon in the 1930's."

In the late 1960's the then Fisheries and Fauna Department of South Australia, which managed Bool Lagoon Game Reserve, began a re-introduction program which was concluded by 1987 when a strong population of geese had been re-established there.

During the 20 year life of the program, Magpie Geese released at Hacks and Bool Lagoons were obtained from various locations including the Northern Territory and Victoria's Serendip Wildlife Research Station with the most successful introduction resulting from 271 hand reared birds from eggs obtained in 1985 from the Adelaide River floodplain in the Northern Territory.

At Hacks Lagoon, two large enclosures were built - the largest covering seven hectares - over land and water to provide an environment into which the birds could be released without flying away with the aim of having the birds re-establish the area as a breeding location for the species.

The program faced a number of hurdles, including foxes breaking into the enclosures, birds escaping and limited successful breeding despite incubators being used where possible to increase the chances of eggs hatching.

With the area being a game reserve, the program was also hampered by some birds dying from ingesting lead pellets left from shooting activities, while dry periods discouraged the birds from nesting.

However, persistence paid off and today thousands of Magpie Geese can be seen at Bool and Hacks Lagoons when there is water, with estimations of up to 4,000 birds and reports of other smaller flocks seen on neighboring farming properties from time to time.

"The enclosures have all been taken down now and the Magpie Geese are free flying at the Lagoons," said Dr Goodman.

With Bool and Hacks Lagoons being among her study sites when she undertook her PhD (Doctor of Philosophy) in Wetland Ecology, the areas are particularly significant to Dr Goodman.

"They are my 'heart place'," she said.

She has been so inspired by the area that she has recently set up a guided tour business, called South East Safari, focused on Hacks and Bool Lagoons and Butcher Gap Conservation Park.

"There are lots of people who like birds, plants, frogs etc but don't necessarily know what they are looking at ... they will definitely finish a tour with more knowledge than when they started," Dr Goodman said.

New mental health staff to start at Penola school

Students at Penola High School will have improved mental health and better learning outcomes with new mental health support staff due to start next term.

The State Government announced the start of the mental health support in schools, which was an election commitment to invest in the mental health and wellbeing of students.

Penola High School and surrounding schools will have access to the school based mental health professionals, who will provide a range of mental health services, including assessing and supporting students with newly developing mental health concerns.

The pilot will inform the roll out more broadly, seeing 55 new staff working in schools across South Australia by the end of 2023.

In a statement on Facebook, Principal Lesley Okholm said the program would be open to other schools.

"The beauty of this position is not only that Penola High School hosts it, but that we are working alongside our three feeder schools to enable students from Reception to year 12 to access support," she said.

"Penola Primary, Kalangadoo Primary and Nangwarry Primary are a part of our trial and will continue over the next five years to work with this professional as they require it.

"What this means is we do not wait until high school age before support is given, but instead aim to ensure our students are supported before their issues seem insurmountable.

"As a trial, we are able to explore how this position can best support our entire student population."

Premier Peter Malinauskas said supporting every child to get the most out of their school experience was at the centre of their education policy.

"More and more school students are experiencing mental health concerns that are having an impact on their learning," he said.

"These vital practitioners will help triage students, potentially providing early intervention options and referring students to external services.

"I am really pleased we're getting started early on what is a key investment in the mental health of young people in our State."

Penola Walk with History historic site

By National Trust of SA Penola Branch

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called Penola Walk With History to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

JOHN RIDDOCH CENTRE

Mechanics' Institutes were first founded in the 1820s in the United Kingdom as adult learning centres for craftsmen.

The Penola Mechanics' Institute was established in January 1863 with President George Byng Scott, Vice Presidents Alexander Cameron and John Riddoch, and Secretary Thomas Artaud.

During the early years lectures were held on many topics.

Father Julian Tenison Woods gave the inaugural lecture on 'The Advantages of Mechanics' Institutes' and members could bring a lady to this meeting, and subsequently even allow women to borrow a book.

A later lecture, 'Ten Years Experiences in the SE', was translated by Mrs Emily Neilson's father, Mr Wennerbom, into Swedish and sent home to Sweden.

Erected in 1869 – heralded by a grand procession led by Freemason, Richard McClure, which started at the Royal Oak Hotel for the Laying of the Foundation Stone by John Riddoch – this building was designed by architect WT Gore and built by George Gladstone.

The land was donated by Mr Donald MacArthur of Limestone Ridge.

It immediately became a great addition to the township as the scene of a great many social events such as balls, banquets, and public meetings.

In the 1880s it was reported that only the Adelaide Library contained a larger collection of books than the Penola Library which had 1531 volumes by 1867.

Silent movies, under the name Palace Pictures, were shown regularly from 1923 to 1932 by Eric Balnaves, John Bott, later Perc Bott, Mel Clayfield and Bill Raselle.

Mood music was played by Mrs Mooney, Mr Walter Balnaves, M Glynn and Mrs Davy.

A fire in the projection room caused much consternation.

Mr Perce Reid took over the lease until 1949 when Mr Frank Squire opened his Chevron Cinema.

George Mepstead was the indomitable caretaker and lamp lighter, and Mrs Willis Warner was the committee chairperson.

Previously a Penola Primary School teacher, she was a great campaigner for all things Penola.

Surviving several attempts at renovations and additions for a new Civic Centre, this building has since been used for many events including a children's activity centre run by Audrey Tregenza, assisted by Judy Rymill.

Since Council amalgamation it now houses the Tourist Information Centre and Wattle Range Council Office; Local History Display; Neilson Gallery where the original Library Reading Room table now resides; Local History Research Room & Penola Branch National Trust SA Collection.

Bargain hunting: Helen Joyce from the Millicent Craft Group is gathering items to donate to their giant garage sale this Saturday.

Bargains on offer

By Caroline Hammat

Bargain hunters are in for a treat this Saturday as the Millicent Craft Group hosts their second giant garage sale at the Millicent RSL Hall.

The craft centre has outgrown its Fifth Street building and is fundraising to expand their current premises and make it a more user friendly space that can also accommodate a waiting list of members wanting to join.

Craft group member Helen Joyce was involved in last years successful event and said "This time we are having it during a home game for the netballers and footballers so there will be people from out of town as well.

"There will be all sorts of things for sale, we've got 60 plus members so there are many donations from them, plus from businesses and other people that just want to get rid of some stuff."

Ms Joyce explained the hall will be set up with 12 different types of stalls with items sorted into categories.

"We've got clothing, accessories, kitchenware, a big stall of handicraft materials, bric-a-brac stall with things from 50c, gadgets and stationery, paintings and prints.

"We have a children's stall which is clothing, toys, anything to do with babies and a book stall that will also have cd's and records, cassette tapes that kind of stuff.

"Down the middle of the hall we are going to have plants and bigger items like small pieces of furniture, we know we have a drum kit and a BBQ coming."

The group are accepting donations for the garage sale and these can be dropped off on Friday July 22 between 9am and 2pm at the RSL Hall.

Saturday's sale begins at 9am until 1pm and is at the Millicent RSL Hall on North Terrace.

Coonawarra-Penola RSL welcomes new members

By Kathy Fennell

It was cosy and warm at the Coonawarra-Penola RSL recently when 30 members and friends gathered for its monthly lunch.

A delicious variety of warming casseroles and sweets were served and was certainly appreciated by all that attended.

Proceeds from the lunches go towards the general running of the branch with the major fundraiser proceeds going towards the refurbishment of the indoor toilets.

The RSL branch received a Federal Government grant for the toilets for $60,000 and has put $30,000 of its own funds from the branch's cattle scheme toward the project.

Mayor of Wattle Range Council, Mr Des Noll also donated to the project.

Work on the toilets is expected to start in September and should be completed by the end of December.

President, Mr Peter DeGaris said: "We would love to get some more members.

"Our monthly Sunday lunches are a great opportunity for people to get together, enjoy a meal and some comradeship."

According to the last census there are 60 return servicemen in the Penola post code area.

Mr DeGaris said: "I encourage all of these people to contact myself, any of our members or executive members."

Secretary Mrs Marie Cheers said they would welcome new members anytime.

"For just a small amount of $30 per year you can come and join us and enjoy the benefits," she said.

The branch commemorates several events throughout the year including AN-ZAC, Armistice, Vietnam's Veteran and Remembrance days.

The hall is available for hire and has modern kitchen facilities with excellent appliances.

It is a popular venue for meetings, small concerts and parties.

‘Compass’ leads the way

Richard ‘Compass’ North had to adjust the microphone considerably downwards at the Millicent Lions Club change-over dinner on Friday night when he took over the President’s position from Trevor ‘Big Trev’ Waring.

About 80 people gathered at the Millicent Football Club to see Mr Waring hand over the reins to Mr North.

One of the tallest men in Millicent, Mr Waring served through yet another difficult year affected by Covid-19 causing the cancellation of some events for Lions including Australia Day breakfast gatherings.

However, Mr Waring saw the positive side in his annual report.

“We have been very lucky with Covid this year; it has only caused a couple of problems and we have managed to have most of our functions and meetings,” he said.

He paid tribute to Lions Len Teagle who passed away at the age of 93 in August last year, welcomed Jack Gysbers as a new member, and acknowledged Fred Ellis who had achieved 55 years of service to Lions.

“It has been an honour to be President of the Millicent Lions Club, there is still a lot to do and I wish Lion Richard and his board all the best in the coming year,” he said.

“I have really enjoyed my year as President and I would like to thank everyone for all their support throughout the year,” he said adding a special mention for his wife Wanda.

Richard ‘Compass’ North, pictured centre, was the focus of attention at the change-over dinner as he became the new President for the Millicent Lions Club for 2022/23. Attending the night to see him inducted into the role was his daughter, Tamara, and wife, Sue.

Mr Waring presented awards to his “left and right hand man”, Secretary Leon Miels, and to Ian Harrison for his work with the Christmas raffle.

The Club donated almost $15,000 during the year including to causes such as the Lions Flood Appeal, Lions Ukraine Appeal, Food-bank, Childhood Cancer and Millicent High School scholarships.

Lorraine Hyland was announced as the Club’s annual Volunteer of the Year Award winner.

An award that began in 2003, it acknowledges a member of the local community, not necessarily a Lion, and Mrs Hyland will receive her award at a function in September.

Lifelong passion

By Caroline Hammat

Tanya Hunter does not remember a time in her life when she was not painting or creating in some form.

From winning a father's day drawing competition as a child to creating marketing displays in her former job at the ANZ bank she has always found enjoyment in observing things and rendering them in some form.

Ms Hunter, with other members of the Limestone Coast Art Collective (LCAC), is currently preparing for her next exhibition as part of the annual South Australian Living Artists Festival (SALA) and spoke to the South Eastern Times about her arts practice and her involvement with the collective.

"I haven't had any formal training and just want to throw together whatever works to achieve my desired outcome and I do a huge amount of research before investing in tools and supplies.

"I love exploring different mediums and want to try everything.

"Currently I am exploring encaustics where I paint predominantly with bees wax and a blow torch.

"I have worked with resin in the past and find they are similarly fluid and somewhat unpredictable, which I enjoy.

Inspiration for Ms Hunter's work is whatever piques her interest at the time, poetry, nature, emotions or a pre established theme.

"I like doing things that challenge me and stretch my abilities, which is why my work is not often repetitive, I do some and then move on to the next challenge.

"I like to work with mediums that I think suit the project I am working on, for example bees will feature in my current work done in encaustics."

The Nature of Resilience is the title and theme of the upcoming exhibition with the eight LCAC group members interpreting the theme in their own way.

"I was initially going to use lighthouses as a metaphor for strength and endurance, I moved from this to using bees as a litmus test for the fragility of natural resilience.

"I have been tested over the last few years and as a result I am sharing a variety of works produced over this time to demonstrate my own resilience."

Appreciative of the opportunity to be involved in the SALA exhibitions through her involvement with the LCAC Ms Hunter said

"My art practice is generally a very isolated meditation, I disappear alone in to the back corner of our shed where I have what passes as a studio set up and get lost in my art for whatever time I can spare.

"I love it when I sign it and bring it out to share with people and the best way for me to do this is through things such as SALA.

"I love that the arts are encouraged and supported, and being part of a group (LCAC) who share your passion is a great motivator and helps keep me on track.

"While we work individually on our project

Artist at work: Tanya Hunter in her studio space working on one of her paintings for the Nature of Resilience exhibition.

towards our final joint goal, we regularly share what we are doing, discuss our challenges and give constructive feedback to each other.

"It's a useful tool ensure you are making progress and it's interesting to see your work through others eyes.

"We are so fortunate as artists to have this opportunity to exhibit in our home town and I have been privileged to show work with some success."

Nature of Resilience will feature all eight members of the LCAC artwork including Ms Hunter's, the exhibition opens Friday July 29, 6.30pm at the Millicent Gallery.

Penola's Karyn Prelc has been nominated for the SA Woman Award.

Nominated for award

By Kathy Fennell

Karyn Prelc has been nominated in the leadership category of the SA Woman Awards.

"I was absolutely gobsmacked when I found out I had been nominated," Ms Prelc said.

"I was checking my emails and couldn't believe what I was reading and I was very humbled, speechless, emotional and touched to think that someone would nominate me for this award."

The SA Woman Awards are in its fifth year and it recognises the contribution women are making in South Australia in the economy, communities and families.

The leadership category is for a woman who has demonstrated exceptional leadership, overcome challenges, shown determination and exemplified team spirit in a business or organisation.

Ms Prelc has been a school teacher for 33 years and last year decided to take a break and has now ventured into real-estate.

She has taught at Meningie, Millicent, Penola, Nangwarry and Naracoorte and was presented with her 30 year certificate of recognition in Adelaide.

Apart from teaching Ms Prelc has also experienced many leadership roles.

"Leadership to me is to enable others to mentor and set an example," Ms Prelc said.

"Women have role models and it is important that leadership is strong and based on advocacy and not hierarchy," she said.

Ms Prelc helps run the 600 acre sheep and cattle property with her husband Eric.

Finalists of the Award will be announced in late August and there will be three finalists in each category.

An awards gala dinner will be held in September at the Adelaide Convention Centre.

Karen Bowden clocks up 20 years at children's centre

By Kathy Fennell

Penola's Karen Bowden has just completed 20 years service at the McKay Children's Centre.

Mrs Bowden commenced duties at the centre in 2002 as a casual employee and is now employed full time.

"At the time I started at the centre I was enjoying being a stay at home Mum to Kirsty, Matt and Monique and I actually didn't know I would love this job until I started working there," Mrs Bowden said

"While at high school I did work experience at the local kindergarten and schools which may have fostered my interest in choosing this career.

When I started you did not need any qualifications and as an unqualified worker your role was quite limited."

Mrs Bowden had the opportunity to gain some qualifications some years later gaining a Diploma in Children's Services at the Gladys

Smith Early Learning Centre in Millicent under the guidance of the late director, Diana Manhood.

"She conducted training sessions through the TAFE system for students to obtain their qualifications and after seven years as a part-time student I gained my Diploma," Mrs Bowden said.

"I am currently Room Leader for babies to three years olds but as an integrated site you come in contact with all ages including three to five year olds and school children.

"Some of the children I cared for now have their own children

"It is lovely to see children who have left the centre and are now at school poke their head through the fence and say hello.

"Even at the supermarket there is always a 'hello' and a big wave," she said.

Mrs Bowden commented that in the past 20 years there has been some big changes.

"You now need qualifications to gain employment which can make it challenging to find staff," she said.

"The way we document children's learning has evolved from lots of photos, learning stories to the now digital world where parents can see what their children are doing daily via an app."

Mrs Bowden said over the past 20 years she has met many people who have guided her with their leadership and inspiration and has made many long friendships along the way.

"I currently work with an amazing group of educators," she said.

"I plan and implement a program that includes documenting each child's learning through play, reading books, messy fun with paints, slime, lots of sensory fun and singing with rhythm and beat.

"I love coming to work at the centre so I will be here for a few more years yet."

Mrs Karen Bowden with her 20 year certificate of service at McKay Children's centre

In January 1936, 50th Jubilee celebrations for the Mount Muirhead School were held. Up to that stage more than 500 children and 22 teachers had passed through the school. During the celebrations, competitions were held including a wheelbarrow race, which this photograph - supplied by the South East Family History Group - depicts. While most of the names are unknown, the man in the second barrow from left is Charlie Barnes being pushed by Harry Bratchell. They won the race. The man in the third wheelbarrow from the left is Victor Hateley (father of Millicent's Colleen Hammat). Second in the race was W Werchon and L Telford who are believed to be pictured with the sixth wheelbarrow.

This old photograph of the Mount Muirhead School is from the Millicent National Trust Museum collection. While the date it was taken is unknown it is certainly from the school's earlier years. The school was built in 1885 by Mr W Inns, assisted by James Mott, of Millicent. It opened on January 25, 1886, with 18 students who were George Matheson, Mary Matheson, Frank P Major, Walter R Major, Mary Jane Fensom, Henry Fensom, Adolph Northern, Charles Northern, Marie Northern, Mary Ann Black, John Black, Hector Gillis, Alice Dean, Agnes Dean, Ellen Grey, Alfred Thomas Grey, John Towers and John Matheson. The first teacher was Fred W Martin.

Muirhead’s last teacher

Compiled with assistance from the South East Family History Group

The last teacher at the long gone Mount Muirhead School, Myra Lillywhite, now of Adelaide, will celebrate her 99th birthday next Monday.

Almost 80 years ago, Miss Lillywhite was fresh from teacher's college and came to Millicent for her first teaching appointment at Mount Muirhead School only to have it close forever just a few months later in May 1943.

However, it was the start of a long and accomplished teaching career for Miss Lillywhite and her written reminisces, which include entries about her time at the Mount Muirhead school, prompted her eldest nephew Bob Stace to visit Millicent recently to research the little school that launched his aunt's career and in turn inspired him to also pursue a career in teaching.

While holidaying in the Mount Gambier area, Bob visited the South East Family History Group (SEFHG) research centre in Millicent which resulted in him providing a photograph taken in 1943 of his aunt and the last students to attend the school, following appreciated assistance given to him by SEFHG President, Noel Boyle.

He was unable to see the school itself as there is nothing left of the building and the site is distinguishable only by an unfenced triangle of land on the south east corner of the junction of Rocky Camp Range Road and Mount Burr Road at the base of Mount Muirhead.

Bob said Miss Lillywhite had never married.

“As a female teacher back then, if you married you had to resign, so she just kept on teaching,” Bob said.

“I admire her and she was a real influence on my life to become a teacher and school principal.”

Miss Lillywhite was 19 years old when she came to Millicent; her first time living outside Adelaide, new out of college and with no support in her role at the one teacher school.

“My first appointment was at the Mount Muirhead School, a little one room building with side porch and verandah, situated about four or five miles from the South East town of Millicent, just before the road rises up to the Mount Burr forest area,” Miss Lillywhite wrote in her memoirs.

“I lived in Millicent with an elderly couple who provided board and lodging for the local teacher.

“I rode my bicycle to school and back each day and got to know some of the farming families en-route.

“There were seven children on the roll, one in each grade, and it really was a co-operative effort to ensure all were appropriately occupied and involved.

“As a city girl, this was certainly a new experience for me.

“Soon after the school year began we decided to have a good clean up around the grounds.

“I came across a piece of hoop iron and gave it to my Grade 7 lad to put on the rubbish heap.

“‘Oh No, Miss,’ he said, ‘that’s for you to kill the snakes’. Oh! No!

“On another occasion, when the autumn leaves were falling in abundance, we swept the grounds, made a big bonfire and lit it to get rid of the rubbish; very satisfying!

“But sirens sounded very shortly and out came the local CFS [then Millicent Bushfire Fighting Association, now Country Fire Service].

“Alas, my city upbringing was showing up once again.

“However, all was well, and we’d learnt another important lesson.

“My seven students came mainly from the Mount Burr area, and there was already a bus taking secondary students from that area into the Millicent High School.

“So, at the end of the first term, the decision was taken to close our little school and transfer our students to Millicent Primary School.”

Miss Lillywhite was sent to Claypans Public School, near Mannum, which was also a one teacher school.

She was only there for two weeks when she had an opportunity to visit Adelaide to see her family for the weekend and called in on the Department of Education at the same time (the Department used to open on Saturdays back then).

“As a result of that visit, the Department advised her of yet another transfer, this time to Mount Gambier High School to fill an urgent vacancy there,” Bob said adding that there appeared to be a bit of a “tug-of-war” for his aunt’s services due to a shortage of teachers during the war years and as she was more qualified than most at the time having spent two years at teachers college instead of the normal one year.

She spent the rest of 1943 at the Mount Gambier High School and wrote that she had fond memories of her six months in Mount Gambier.

“It was an interesting place to live and work and I enjoyed exploring the many areas of natural beauty,” Miss Lillywhite wrote in her memoirs.

“I celebrated my 20th birthday in July that year with a few friends in a shelter overlooking the Blue Lake, enjoying a hamper of homemade goodies which my mother had lovingly baked and sent from Adelaide.”

Miss Lillywhite went on to teach at Strathalbyn, Mount Barker and in the Northern Territory where she became the senior mistress at Darwin High School.

In 1960, she became the founding headmistress at Elizabeth Girls Technical High School, and then Dean of Women at Salisbury Teachers College which later became part of the University of South Australia.

“She was a pioneer in girls and women’s education in South Australia,” Bob said.

“Her life has been a model for everyone else.”

And it all started here at the tiny Mount Muirhead School.

Last teacher at Mount Muirhead school, Myra Lillywhite will celebrate her 99th birthday at her home in Adelaide next week. Photo taken last week and supplied by her nephew, Bob Stace.

‘Barwell Boys’ 100yrs on

Compiled with the assistance of the South East Family History Group

A meeting of two ladies in Beachport recently had special significance as they were daughters of ‘Barwell Boys’ who arrived in the district 100 years ago from England.

‘Barwell Boys’ refers to the participants of a South Australian Farm Apprenticeship Scheme which employed British boys, aged between 15 and 18, to work on farms in South Australia.

While the scheme began in 1913, a special push was made by South Australian premier, Henry Barwell, in London in early 1922 to help replace thousands of men who were killed at the First World War.

Last month marked the centenary of the arrival of the first ‘Barwell Boys’ at Port Adelaide’s Outer Harbor on the steamship ‘Largs Bay’ in June 1922.

Other ships followed until the scheme was abandoned when Premier Barwell was defeated at the State elections in 1924.

The scheme had attracted less than 1500 of the 6000 participants hoped for.

Some of the boys came to the Millicent area, including the fathers of Pat Hateley and Gloria Glencorse who met in Beachport recently.

Mrs Hateley lives in Beachport and Mrs Glencorse travelled from her home in Renmark for the visit.

The pair are related by marriage but also specially linked by their fathers’ shared histories as ‘Barwell Boys’ who arrived in the Millicent district 100 years ago in 1922.

Mrs Glencorse’s father was Alfred ‘Alf’ Dyer who arrived on the ship ‘Ballarat’ and was appointed to Ebenezer Frank Rivett Boneham, of ‘Monrovia’ at the Wylie, Millicent.

Mrs Hateley’s father was Charles ‘Charlie’ Mole who arrived on the ship ‘Balranald’ and was allocated to Mal McDonald, of ‘Woomera’, at Furner.

ALF DYER

Alf had dreamed of joining the English navy and when he was 12 he won a scholarship to Greenwich Naval College and later served on the training ship ‘Arethusa’.

At the age of 15 he was due to step up his training and before doing so he made a trip home to see his family.

Travelling on a steam train, Alf got a hot cinder in one eye and the doctor told him he would no longer be able to join the Navy because he had lost most of the sight in that eye.

He was told of the Barwell Scheme and Alf sailed from Gravesend on July 6, 1922, arriving in Adelaide six weeks later.

On August 23, Alf was among six boys who were put on a train to the South East.

Allotted to Frank Boneham of ‘Monrovia’ on the Wylie, Alf worked there for several years, and the Boneham family continued to assist him even after he had left their employ.

At ‘Monrovia’, Alf was taught to muster and handle sheep and cattle, ride a horse, drive a car, chop wood, milk cows morning and night, and make butter.

He also grew vegetables and plated dahlias, fed the chooks, mowed the buffalo lawn with a hand mower and trimmed a boxthorn hedge; and Vasey Watts taught him to drive a team of horses pulling harrows.

When one of the shearers - Jack Whennen - contracted measles, Alf learnt to shear and afterwards Mr Boneham allowed him to go shearing elsewhere while continuing to stay at ‘Monrovia’.

He later moved to a neighbouring farm where he worked for Jack Alleyn for three years.

Later Alf share-farmed with Mrs Boneham’s brother, Hughie Agnew, and went fencing and potato digging with Len Whitehead; surviving through the Great Depression breaking stones for the council, and planting pines trees for the government.

He met his wife, Coral Hateley, through the Salvation Army which held services in a former Presbyterian chapel at The Wylie.

The Hateleys had arrived in the area the same year as Alf and Coral played the organ in church, accompanying Alf when he sang there.

Alf converted from the Church of England, married Coral in 1929, and built a house on 20 acres purchased from the Hateleys.

The couple had two children, Bernie, born in 1930, and Gloria in 1933.

By 1938 Alf had sold his first block and, with assistance from Mr Boneham, purchased 70 acres he called ‘Comely Brae’.

He later worked for IT Williams at Chetwynd and Alf’s singing prowess fitted in with Mrs Williams’ own love of singing along with her daughters, Arvon and Pearl, as accomplished musicians.

Coral developed Tuberculosis (TB) and was advised to move to a warmer climate so, in 1943, the family moved to a fruit block at Renmark.

Coral died in 1948 at the age of 42.

Alf remarried in 1949 to another Salvation Army girl, Eunice Mellor, and the couple had two sons, John and Graham.

Alf’s first son Bernie died of cancer in 1964 at the age of 31, and his second wife Eunice died of cancer in 1985.

Alf died in Renmark in 2004 just short of his 98th birthday.

His daughter, Gloria, still lives in Renmark from where she travelled to visit her relative and fellow ‘Barwell Boy’ daughter, Pat Hateley (who married Gloria’s cousin Ronald Hateley) whose father was Charles Eustace Mole.

CHARLIE MOLE

At the age of 16, Charlie was one of 106 boys who were in the second contingent of ‘Barwell Boys’ to come to South Australia.

A photograph of the contingent was sent home to England to Charlie’s mother, Harriet, who responded in a letter: “... they do look a smart lot of boys and I am proud to think my boy is amongst them. I feel sure they will all get on and make good. I only wish we were all out there, things are not very bright here and we thought we would give Charlie a chance, from being a tiny boy he’s always wanted to be a farmer.”

From left: Gloria Glencorse (nee Dyer), of Renmark, and Pat Hateley (nee Mole), of Beachport, met in Beachport recently and reminisced the 100th anniversary of their fathers coming to the Millicent area as ‘Barwell Boys’ from England.

Charlie was apprenticed to Mal McDonald of ‘Woomera’ at Furner for three years but stayed for 19 years.

He married Clare Ryan, daughter of Philip and Margaret Ryan, of Tantanoola, in June 1928.

By 1939 he decided to move into Furner itself at about the same time a new school was being built there.

The couple had two daughters at the time, Francie and Pat, while Phyllis and Terry were born after the move to Furner.

Charlie was well respected in the district and he was usually the Master of Ceremonies at most gatherings in the area.

For 18 years Charlie was employed by the highways department and was camped at the Millicent depot of the department.

At the time of his sudden death in 1961, the South Eastern Times printed an obituary which read: “He was of a cheerful nature and known throughout the district by many motorists, for whom he was always ready with a friendly wave.

“He was a very keen player of indoor bowls and won the match at Furner on the evening prior to his death.”

Charlie is buried in the Furner cemetery, where Clare also joined him in 2000 after her death at the age of 90.

OTHER ‘BARWELL BOYS’

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

Spirited guests:
Rose Mclver and Utkarsh Ambudkar
in Ghosts.

PICK OF THE WEEK

GHOSTS
10, Wednesday, 8.30pm

Can you have too much of a good thing? When it comes to TV, history says no. Like the British shows The Office and Shameless that were made into hit US versions, Ghosts is just as nice stateside. Originally a British show, this American adaptation is true to the original with zany humour as it delves into a world where ghosts – including a 1980s scout leader, a Viking, a 1500s Native American and a partying financier from the '90s – interrupt the lives of their house's young new owners Samantha (Rose Mclver, iZombie) and Jay (Utkarsh Ambudkar). Tonight, Viking Thorfinn's (Devan Long) bones are uncovered, creating a dilemma for Jay and Samantha.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

LAW & ORDER: SVU
10, Thursday, 8.30pm

After 23 years of embodying detective Olivia Benson, actress Mariska Hargitay (pictured) could surely be forgiven for sometimes momentarily forgetting who she is in real life. To her credit, Hargitay's performance hasn't dimmed throughout her decades in the record-breaking role. In fact, tonight's 19th episode of season 23 could be Benson's strongest turn yet. In tonight's instalment, "Tangled Strands of Justice", Benson is more than fired up when Garland (Demore Barnes) asks her to reopen a missing person case from 9/11, which he worked on as a rookie officer.

KENSINGTON PALACE: BEHIND CLOSED DOORS
SBS, Friday, 8.30pm

As far as stickybeaking goes, there are some closed doors that the general population doesn't fancy opening. But this snoop, which takes in the British royal family's stunning 300-year-old residence, is both educational and sumptuous. The grandeur, history and liberal use of gold paint is breathtaking. The home where Prince William and Harry grew up is now partly open to the public as a museum. Join the curators as they explore Queen Victoria's teenage years and Princess Diana's wardrobe.

BACK ROADS
ABC TV, Monday, 8pm

Of all the blink-and-you'll-miss-it places to have featured in eight seasons of this delightfully inquisitive series, Hebel is probably the smallest town that presenter Heather Ewart has had the pleasure of exploring. The Queensland and NSW border whistle-stop has a school with just six students enrolled, but the tiny place has a story bigger than its parts. Ewart meets local grazier Frank Deshon (pictured with Ewart) and his family, who came to Hebel's rescue when drought hit, buying the town's entire real estate portfolio.

Home advantage

By James Murphy

Glencoe v Tantanoola

Glencoe has built some solid momentum over recent weeks and will enter its Round 14 Mid South East football clash against Tantanoola favoured to take the points.

The Murphies will take confidence from big wins in their previous two outings, while bolstered by the home-ground advantage.

There will also be some added incentive, as the club holds its annual premiership reunions celebration.

This year nine premierships will be acknowledged, with the most recent the 2007 A Grade title.

That match was fittingly played and won against Tantanoola, with bragging rights on the line against the Tigers again - albeit with less at stake this time.

Last round's upset over Robe saw coach Tom Edwards lead the midfield group of Dylan Childs, Patrick Mitchell and Zacc Cocks as they took control of the game from the inside.

Henry Smith was a reliable target in the forward line and he will be looked to again, while at the other end of the ground Sam Giersch was impenetrable off half-back.

After a close opening half, Glencoe broke the game open in the third quarter in an impressive display over the seashiders.

If the Murphies can shake off some accuracy issues early in the match, Tantanoola could be in trouble.

Finals hopes may be a stretch this year, but with eyes on the future Glencoe intends to finish the minor rounds on a high.

Tantanoola is in a similar situation as it sits two places below the Murphies in eighth on the ladder with three wins for the season.

They will take confidence from the last meeting between the sides, where they trumped Glencoe by three goals.

Jack Dawe and Braydn Reilly were best for Tantanoola in that clash, while Marc Roberts led an even contribution in front of goals.

More recently the Tigers were stung by Hatherleigh last round to the tune of 131 points and after a week off to dwell on the loss, they will be eager to bounce back this week.

Troy and Jordan Hatt were the Tigers' best in that game and they will look to back up their efforts.

However, it will be a tough task and if the Murphies uphold their current form, they should be untroubled on their home deck.

Do-or-die round for Roosters

By Lachlan Onions

Robe will be eager to return to form when it travels to Kongorong for Round 14 of Mid South Eastern football.

The game is a must-win for the Roosters if they are to stay in the finals hunt.

With just five rounds left in the season, Robe occupies fifth place on the ladder and is four points behind Port MacDonnell in fourth.

The Roosters suffered stinging defeats in their last two games and will be eager to set the record straight.

In Round 12, Robe lost to Hatherleigh by 126 points and lost to Glencoe in Round 13 by 65.

With a large gap in percentage between Port MacDonnell and Robe, the Roosters cannot afford to lose a third game in a row or else it could spell an end to their finals aspirations.

Kongorong heads into the game off the back of a strong win over Nangwarry in Round 13, where the Hawks won by 84 points.

However, Robe will prove to be a much tougher task and the Hawks will need to be at their best if they are to stand a chance.

Back in Round 5, the Roosters were far too strong for Kongorong and claimed a 46-point win.

Sam Clements was best on ground for Robe and Lachlan Hentschke kicked five goals.

Kongorong has won just three games this season and will need Jarrod Ryan and Scott Fleming to put in strong performances in the forward line.

Tom Wachtel will look to use his size to full measure in the ruck for Robe, while Hentschke will look to continue his impressive efforts in front of goal which has seen him kick 19 majors in eight games this season.

Jack Kelly will also be a key player for Robe if they are to get over the line.

Despite a difficult two weeks, the Roosters will have enough strength to win this clash and keep their finals hopes alive.

Jack Kelly will be an important player for Robe during the Roosters Round 14 clash with Kongorong.

Strong turnout for Millicent social bowls

Last week's 2-4-2 round of social bowls at the Millicent Bowls Club once again had a good turnout with 37 participants.

Before play began, tournament director, Derk Pietersma, welcomed Nigel Ross, one of the long-time night bowlers.

Pietersma also announced the Millicent Bowls Club season opening for 2022/23 will be held on September 11.

Gary Wilson and John Buhlmann claimed the win and finished with an impressive score of 35+27.

Steve Skeer and John Drew put in a strong performance and claimed second place with a score of 34+14.

Other winning teams were, Steve Carnellor/Frank Cooper 33+12, Ian Ross/Bill Burdon 33+11, David Reichelt/Andre Reinders 33+8, Malcolm Wright/Kym Stewart 32+19, David Nuske/Lyn Scudds 31+16,,Derrick Lindh/Derek Bowering 30+7 and Jan Buhlmann/Rosslyn Varcoe 30+7.

Winners Garry Wilson and John Buhlmann.

Anticipated clash looms

By Lachlan Onions

An exciting contest awaits this Saturday when Kalangadoo hosts Mount Burr in Round 14 of Mid South Eastern football.

The Magpies remain the benchmark of the competition as they occupy top spot on the ladder with 10 wins from 11 games.

Mount Burr will head into this game confident it can cause an upset and shake up the race for finals as the competition heats up.

After a slow start to the season, where the Mozzies won just one game in their first five fixtures, Mount Burr has transformed into the in-form side of the competition.

The Mozzies have won their last seven games, which included an impressive win over the second-placed Hatherleigh and have not lost since Round 5, where they played Kalangadoo.

The Magpies were far too strong for Mount Burr when these two sides last faced and claimed an emphatic 119-point win.

Kalangadoo will take to the field for the first time in three weeks, after a bye Round 13, followed by the competition-wide week off for the SA Country Championships.

The Mozzies will need to start strongly and expose any cobwebs that may be present if they are to have a chance against the top-side in the league.

Sam Wallis will look to continue his strong form for the Mozzies which has earned him places in the Mid South East Interleague and South East Zone sides.

Kalangadoo will need to restrict the impact of Hamish Smith, who has 40 goals in 12 games this season.

Meanwhile, Mount Burr will have its work cut out as the Magpies have a host of star players in their line-up.

Sam and Tye McManus have been in scintillating form for Kalangadoo while Michael Krieger has been near-unstoppable in the forward line this season and has kicked 55 majors in 10 games.

The depth for Kalangadoo is almost endless as Patrick Davies and Lachy Jones have been forces to be reckoned with.

Despite the strong form of the Mozzies which has left them undefeated for over two months, the Magpies' vast array of talent will prove too much and will claim their 11th win of the season.

Patrick Davies looks to break a tackle during the Round 5 encounter between Mount Burr and Kalangadoo.

Saints make coastal trip to face Demons

By James Murphy

Port MacDonnell v Nangwarry

A consecutive home game for Port MacDonnell will hand it an opportunity to bounce back from its disappointing Round 13 result.

The Demons fell to Mount Burr by a single point prior to the bye and now face the Nangwarry Saints at the Bay this week.

They will be favoured heavily for the win but will take caution against the Saints as their last meeting was a little too close for comfort.

Nangwarry kept within firing distance throughout the game and at the final siren conceded a 23-point loss.

Joel Virtanen was the man of the match for the Saints, while Kev Thomson topped the best players for Port MacDonnell.

Thomson snagged five majors on the day - a feat replicated by brother and Nangwarry coach Luke Thomson.

However, it was Nangwarry's Andrew Hyland who top scored with six goals.

He has continued to be a focal point in the Saints' forward line and will be one to watch this week.

Virtanen has also upheld his form and the Nangwarry captain will look to lead by example again.

For the home team it will be a matter of putting things back on track with a win.

The reigning premiers have not tasted victory since Round 10, with a bye followed by tough losses to Kalangadoo and the Mozzies.

The Demons sit in fourth place on the ladder and while they maintain a one-win buffer over fifth-placed Robe, a strong win over the Saints would be a valuable percentage boost.

We are well and truly in the business end of the season and if they are to stand a chance at defending their title, they will need to build some momentum over the final five rounds.

Port MacDonnell's Tim Sullivan will be one to watch when the Demons host Nangwarry this weekend.

There were solid signs shown in the loss to Mount Burr, with the Demons holding their guests goalless in both the second and fourth quarters.

A similar effort on Saturday will shut down any chance the Saints may have of claiming win number two.

Brandon Newton was exceptional against the Mozzies and his high work rate can be expected to continue, while the likes of Mark Smith and ruckman Tim Sullivan also carry form into the clash.

Port MacDonnell should post a convincing win at home and kickstart its run towards finals.

Cece tops the field at seaside

A field of 48 South East Veteran golfers took to the Naracoorte course on Monday, where Robe's Rob Cece topped the field.

He claimed the Division 1 honours with a creditable 38 points from Millicent's Terry Chant with 36 and local stalwart Brian Sherlock on 35.

Mike Lyons won Division 2 with a 36-point score, while Grant Wood and Glen Tilley rounded out the podium with 33 and 32 respectively.

The prized Ross Orchard trophy was shared by Phil Hunter and Arthur Niejalke.

The ball rundown was to a low 27 points and there were four nearest the pins, with Gordon Fleming, Bob Tonkin, Brian Duldig and Colin Rex collecting.

A straw poll was held on postponing the AGM for a week because of a clash with a Pro-Am event. Confirmation is to come after a committee meeting.

The next round of competition will be held in Robe on August 1, followed by a round at Mount Gambier's Blue Lake Golf Club on August 15.

60 years of the Hunt Club

The Penola Hunt Club celebrated its 60th anniversary recently with a hunter's competition and a formal hunt at their Sugarloaf and Spots Hill properties in Mount Benson.

The committee worked hard throughout the year to ensure the celebration was a success, with a focus on the representation of the family-friendly environment.

The event kicked off on Friday June 8, with last-minute preparations and safety checks to make sure the course was ready for the competitors on Saturday.

On the Saturday, the competitors were driven around the course before the hunter's trial began.

The Open competition was the first to get underway and riders had to tackle 47 jumps.

Master Jenna Bignell was the first up and each competitor entered the trial at 10 minute intervals.

There were a couple of mishaps along the way but fortunately no one was injured.

After the hunter's trial, it was time for the hunter panels, which was judged by former master and life member Blue Barnard.

Next up was the hunter's challenge, which was an obstacle course which featured a bridge, gate, coat and Stirrup Cup.

Long time Penola Hunt Club member, Brit-tany Francis was the judge for the event.

After the competition phase ended, every-one rallied together to pack up and get ready for the birthday celebration.

Once night fell, the hunters headed to The Shed at Spot's Hill for a dinner of baked potatoes and homemade desserts.

This was followed by presentations for the competition winners and an auction was held.

Patrons then took part in a quiz about the club's history before getting ready for Sunday's hunt.

Hunters were greeted to cold weather on the Sunday morning before the start of the celebratory hunt.

All riders were ready to go at 11am as the day began with a minute's silence and a toast for the fallen Hunt Club members.

Master Bignell shouted "Tally Ho" and the hunt then began.

Bignell safely guided riders over the jumps before they ventured off to sight all of the red plaques from the 'Buy A Jump' fundraiser.

As the hunt continued across the property, riders took a moment to recognise their memorial lane, which honours fallen members.

The group went to Stirrup Cup where they tended their horses before they enjoyed a barbecue lunch with past and present members of the club.

The lunch was followed with a toast to the landowners, where there was a surprise as former master and president Barnard, presented Bignell with life membership.

Bignell has been a member of the Penola

Hunt Club for 22 years and has held most of the committee positions along the way.

She is a highly valued and respected member of the club and took on the role of master for the first time this year.

A few more speeches took place before the club sang happy birthday and saddled up for the second half of the hunt to make their way back to the camp at Sugarloaf.

The latest round of Sporting Clays action at Lake Bonney saw Mick Banning win the Highgun with an impressive score of 46/50.

The AA Grade competition was closely contested and in the end, Bruce Parker narrowly came out on top with a score of 44/50.

Parker edged out Tony Sellars by one target, while Mark Fabris was the final place-getter with a score of 33/50.

Like the AA Grade, A Grade was also nail-biting contest and the top three shooter were separated by just three targets.

Brenton Ferguson scored 45/50 to defeat Bill Dyson by one target and Romain Devaud, who scored 42/50.

Steve Bellinger was the winner in B Grade with a score of 42/50. Mitch Moody and Angus Madden rounded out the top three as both shooters scored 40/50.

Heart-breaking defeat

By Lachlan Onions

For the second year in a row, the South East Women's Zone team was defeated in the grand final of the SA Country Championships.

The carnival got off to the perfect start in Whyalla on Saturday as the South East claimed two dominant victories.

In the first game, South East defeated Eastern 46-0.

Penola's Shandeen Balshaw came off the bench and led the goalkickers with two majors, while Sophie Arkun, Dellie Brown, Zoe Hawker, Kendell Saffin and Alice Tentye all kicked one goal each.

Tess Andrews was named best on ground in a strong performance from the vice-captain.

"It was very windy, we had a very fast side and their ball game was quite good," South East Zone coach Michael Hunt said.

"Being a windy day played into our hands."

He said with the windy conditions, the South East moved the ball as fast as possible and because of the weather, there was more ground ball, which suited the team.

"There were two or three transitions from defence that ended in goals that were as good as I've seen in our league," Hunt said

He said a major aspect of his side's play style involved applying pressure from the forward line.

However, it was not all smooth sailing for South East, as captain Scarlett Jarrad's carnival came to an end when she sustained a knee injury.

"That was a big loss, she's a great leader," Hunt said.

"She can play forward, back, midfield, when she is around the ball, she does a lot of hard work and creates a lot for the other players.

"The other two leaders, Tess Andrews and Annabel Mould, stepped up, the whole team stepped up but it was obviously a big loss to the side."

The second game on Saturday was a rematch of last year's grand final when they took on Northern.

South East claimed revenge in a one-sided contest.

For the second game in a row, South East did not concede a goal and Northern was only able to score three behinds in a game which ended 21-3.

Brown, Arkun and Saffin all kicked their second majors of the carnival as South East booked its place in the grand final.

South East took on the second-placed Southern Districts in the grand final, a team which also won both of its games on the Saturday.

Hunt said there was a little bit of nervous energy in the lead up to the game and because his side wasn't in their football season, soreness had set in.

It was a tense first quarter and South East took a one-point lead at the first break.

Hunt said his side didn't capitalise on the pressure they applied in the first quarter and would have liked to try and put more scoreboard pressure on Southern Districts.

The strength of Southern Districts was on full display when it dug deep and took the lead in the second quarter.

"The pressure in the first quarter was hard to maintain," Hunt said.

Despite the South East's best efforts, Southern Districts extended its lead to 21 points at the final change.

"They were certainly a better marking side than us, they had some really tall girls," Hunt said.

"We had a 10-minute period in the third quarter where we got a bit rattled, including us on the bench."

Both sides kicked one goal and one behind in the final term as Southern Districts defeated South East 44-23.

"I'm very disappointed but I was super happy proud of our girls' efforts," Hunt said.

"They left nothing on the table, so there is nothing to be disappointed about apart from the fact we weren't quite good enough to get the win."

Tentye kicked two majors in the grand final for South East while Kellsie Turner kicked her first goal of the carnival in the grand final.

Six players from the South East were named in this year's Team of the Championship.

Tentye, Saffin, Andrews, Mould, Erin Horsnell and Chelsea Frost were recognised for their efforts.

"We had six in the team of the year, four from South Gambier which is a credit to them," Hunt said.

"Alice Tentye and Kendell Saffin were very good and kicked some of the best goals from set shots in women's footy.

"Chelsea Frost on the wing was really good, Erin Horsnell in the middle was excellent, Tess Andrews dominated in the centre and Annabel Mould was probably if not the best but certainly second-best ruck in the comp.

"Zoe Hawker and Sophie Arkun were quite good as well.

"A girl that is only playing her 11th or 12th game, Zhane Crawford, she really brought some pressure to town and she is going to be something special when she has 20 or 30 games under her belt."

Hunt said he was proud to have such a strong representation in the Team of the Championship as his side played a "really unselfish" style of football, which he said brought a number of players into the game.

Magpies favoured

Kalangadoo hosts Mount Burr this weekend in what is set to be the match of the round.

After a well-fought battle in Round 5, the Mozzies will look to redeem themselves and bring the fight to the Magpies.

When these two sides last played, Kalangadoo claimed a nine-goal win where Reanna Wetherall and Kori Collins were best on court.

The Magpies are currently on top of the ladder with nine wins in 11 games and could extend their lead at the top to three points with a win on Saturday.

The Mozzies are fifth place on the ladder and will hope to cause an upset as they try to stay in the finals hunt.

Mount Burr's Ebony Clark is a focal point in the circle and will be fed with accuracy from outside the circle by Meg Fennel and Laura Schultz.

Wetherall and Lauren Kain will look to combine well in defence for Kalangadoo, the pair will look to force as many errors as possible when the ball enters the circle and pick up any loose balls.

Down the other end of the court, Magpies Kori Collins and Abbey Duncan have been incredibly accurate in the circle.

Mount Burr's Madison Haggett and Olivia Dean will have to work around the clock to try and curb the influence of Kalangadoo's goalies.

This match is set to be a close one, with either team able to come away with the win.

Jayde Peacock will be pivotal for Kalangadoo when it hosts Mount Burr on Saturday.

Robe's Sarah Laurie will be a player to watch in the circle in this weekend's game against Kongorong.

Roosters take on young rivals

Kongorong hosts Robe on Saturday for Round 14 of Mid South East netball and the young Hawks side will make the Roosters earn their win.

The third-placed Robe will head into the clash full of confidence and will believe they can get a result against the eight-placed Hawks.

When these two sides faced off in Round 5, the Roosters claimed a 52-goal win at home.

However, Kongorong will look to continue its momentum from Round 13, where it comfortably defeated Nangwarry.

The Roosters will look to go one better than the last round, where they drew with Glencoe at home.

Tilah Buckingham's height will make it easy for Kate Wright and Tori McIntyre to feed the ball from outside the circle.

Robe's Halle Carter has stepped into the goal circle and has shot with accuracy to earn the goal attack bib, she will combine with Sarah Laurie in attack.

Emma Grant and Ellen Ramke have worked tirelessly in the defensive circle this season for Robe and will make Tilah Buckingham and Evie Sealey earn every goal.

Down the other end of the court, Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody will keep the pressure on for Robe's goalies and will do their best to shut down any opportunities to score.

Despite a strong fight from the Hawks, the Roosters will have enough strength to come away with the win.

Close game expected

Tantanoola will take on Glencoe in Round 14 of Mid South East netball in a game which will be an exciting contest.

After a close game against Hatherleigh last round, the Tigers will head into Saturday's game with fire in their bellies ready to battle it out against the Murphies.

This game is poised as a crucial encounter for two of the stronger teams in the league.

For Glencoe, a win is necessary for it to stay within reach of the first-placed Kalangadoo, while Tantanoola will need a win to keep the pressure on the top three sides and to give it some breathing space to the rest of the table.

A loss for the Tigers will place the side under a large amount of pressure for the final stages of the season in a finals race which is expected to go down to the wire.

When these two sides met in Round 5, the Murphies claimed a dominant 72-43 win away from home.

However, Tantanoola has won its last four games and will look to claim revenge when it travels to Glencoe on Saturday.

The Murphies' Jenna Paproth and Malinda Markiewicz combine well and shoot with accuracy in the goal circle.

However, Tantanoola's Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe will force turnovers and secure any possible loose balls.

Donna Jaeschke's ability to move the ball seamlessly down the court will benefit the Murphies and will be hard to stop.

Emma Gould and Jami Walker's shooting and moving within the circle have made them one of the more difficult sides to defend against this season.

Casey Walker has effectively fed the ball to the pair this season from the circle and will make it hard for the Glencoe defenders to get any turnovers.

However, Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks are skilled in defence and can create pressure and force mistakes from their opposition.

In what will be a tough game, the Murphies will come away with the points again but the Tigers will not go down without a fight.

Glencoe's Malinda Markiewicz will look to put in a strong performance in the circle when she faces Tantanoola again on Saturday.

Toni Gilmore's movement in attack will put pressure on the Nangwarry defenders on Saturday.

Demons look for strong result over struggling Saints

Nangwarry heads down to the Bay for what is expected to be a wet game on Saturday for Round 13 of Mid South East netball, when they play Port MacDonnell.

The Demons will look to increase their percentage with another good win over the Saints.

Back in Round 5, Port MacDonnell claimed an emphatic 39-goal win at Nangwarry and will be confident it can achieve a similar result on Saturday.

Port MacDonnell is currently seventh on the ladder with five wins in six games and will need to win this clash by a comfortable margin to keep its finals hopes alive.

Kirby Carrison and Toni Gilmore move effectively together in the goal and are both accurate shooters.

This means Nangwarry's Shannon Higgins and Carly Ploenges, will have to work overtime to shut down any passes into the circle to limit opportunities.

The tussle between Liza Mutch and Ebony Lawson through the midcourt will be on to watch, while Port MacDonnell's Jess Lynch will have to work hard to shut down the drive from Kylie Heaver.

Heaver has regularly gotten the ball to her goalies on a regular basis this season and will need to be at her best on Saturday.

The Demons will use their home-court to their advantage and will have enough strength to claim the points.

Star players make return

By Lachlan Onions

Penola will return to action on Saturday for Round 12 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara football when it hosts Keith.

The Crows have been one of the stronger sides this season and are fourth on the ladder with seven wins from 11 games.

Back in Round 3, Keith claimed a win at home against Penola in a one-sided contest.

The Eagles were no match for the Crows who ran out 91-point victors.

Penola heads into this game off an unenviable run of fixtures.

The Eagles' Round 12 clash will be their fifth game in a row against a top five side, a run of games which tested the limits of the side.

Penola will be eager to redeem itself after it was comprehensively defeated at home in Round 11 by Naracoorte.

Eagles coach, Brad Maney said the bye for the Country Championships could not have come at a better time.

"The last two weeks have been incredibly disappointing, the bye has come at a really good time for us," he said.

Maney said he planned to use the week off to allow the team to switch off and clear the mindset.

"When you lose, it gets really hard to keep motivation up," he said.

The Eagles will be rejuvenated by a number of key players who are expected to make their returns this Saturday.

"We should welcome back a string of really good footballers," Maney said.

"Gus Eckermann is finally, hopefully, going to play his first game for us after having a knee injury all year.

"Zac Deane will come back in and Brock Egan is also looking like he will come back."

Maney also expects centre-halfback Brad Merrett, to return after he missed the Eagles' game against Naracoorte.

"We are going to have a massive contingent of our top-end talent come back in for the Keith game which is really exciting," Maney said.

"It is just uplifting, it is going to help everyone's mindset to know that we are going in with a side that we feel can win a game."

Keith will enter the game as hot favourites after it defeated Lucindale before the bye and will look to continue its strong form this season.

However, the Eagles will look to build confidence as all eyes turn towards Penola's run home, where Maney believes his side have a strong chance of getting results.

"We are more than ready for the fight for these last five weeks," he said.

Brock Egan will look to make his return from a double-hamstring injury on Saturday when Penola hosts Keith.

Penola hosts Keith in important clash

By Lachlan Onions

The Eagles will host Keith this Saturday for Round 12 of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara netball.

With just five rounds to play, every win is vital for Penola as it looks to defend its A Grade premiership and a loss for either side could have major implications in the lead-up to finals.

After a slow start to the season, the Eagles find themselves in fifth place on the ladder, with five wins and five losses.

Keith have impressed this year and defeated Penola when these two sides faced off in Round 3.

In the grand final rematch, the Crows pulled off a comeback win to defeat the Eagles by nine goals.

Penola held a two-goal lead at the final change but Keith found another gear in the final quarter and scored 20 goals.

The Crows will be eager to bounce back after they were comfortably defeated in a four-quarter performance from Lucindale.

Keith is just two points behind the Roos in first place, while Penola is three points behind the fourth-placed Kybybolite.

The Crows boast one of the best goal-scoring records in the league, with 570 goals in 10 games.

Erika Lamont has been a mainstay in the circle this season for Keith with 239 goals, while Mary Wachtel and Danielle Vankalken have both been dangerous shooters for the Crows as well.

Maddy Teakle and Brooke Klemm will look to shut down the Keith goalies and will be confident after strong performances against Naracoorte in Round 11.

At the other end of the court, April Possingham has shot with unrivalled accuracy this season, with 306 goals from 354 attempts.

Possingham will be supported by Ash Earl at goal attack who has scored 128 goals in nine games this season.

Despite the changes made to Penola's midcourt throughout the season due to injuries, Tara Millard, Siobhan Adams and Victoria Henderson have become a strong force in the middle and will look to dictate play.

If the Eagles are able to field a full-strength side for the second-successive match, then Penola should have just enough strength in what will be a game of fine margins.

Champions are crowned

By James Murphy

It went down to the wire but the South East men's zone team earned the state bragging rights when it won the SA Country Championships over the weekend.

The final verdict came down to a single point, as the South East defeated Central 44-43 in Sunday's grand final.

The win gave South East its fourth Country Championship title, while it marks the first success since the River Murray Football League shifted to the Eastern zone.

South East entered the grand final as the underdog, but a huge team effort pushed them across the line after a high-quality display from both teams.

The weekend started on a less positive note, with a tough loss to the Eastern zone.

With only two games each to decide ladder position for Sunday's finals, it was do-or-die for the South East in the second match against Northern.

Thankfully, an improved effort led by Hatherleigh's Mark Marriott pushed them to a 33-point win and the percentage boost required to finish day one in second position.

Up against an undefeated Central in the decider, the scene was set for a tough game.

A strong start from the South East set up a handy lead in the first quarter and at the first change they held the advantage 22-6.

With a one-to-two goal breeze, the wind advantage swapped hands in the second term and a couple of unanswered goals from Central reeled the margin back in.

Just one behind for the quarter left the South East two points up at half time and it remained anyone's game.

Brayden Kain came alive in the forward line in the third quarter and he both opened and closed proceedings in South East's three-goal term.

In the end that was enough to hold Central at bay and despite a push in the final stanza, South East snagged a valuable behind which held off its opponent to clinch the win by a point.

South Gambier talent Todd Reid was named best on ground for the grand final, in a game where the backline proved the difference.

"He had a really solid carnival and played really well in the championship final across the half-back line," head coach Jack Kelly said.

"He really stepped up to the plate - the whole backline in that last half was what won it for us."

Tom Gaden, James Paprotny, Brad Bryant and Jacob Eats were also part of South East's rock-solid defence and could hold their heads high after a strong performance.

Hatherleigh's Mark Marriott was another standout across the championships and the ruckman proved the difference when it counted.

"He won our best player," Kelly said.

"He is good around the ground, he is good below his knees and gave us first use in the ruck.

"I don't think we would have gotten anywhere near winning it without big Mark."

Kelly also gave credit to his on-field leaders, with captain Matt Willson showcasing his usual class across the weekend.

Vice captain Tom Whittlesea was also solid in all three games and his three goals against Northern were a highlight.

Kelly described the weekend as a rewarding experience and could not have been happier with the way his team conducted itself.

"The grand final that was a ripping game of footy," he said.

"We probably didn't have the best zone side that we have had in previous years, but all of the players bought into the whole weekend and made friendships on the bus ride up and then played really good footy."

Entering the grand final against a confident Central side, Kelly was impressed with the way the South East boys stepped up on the big stage.

"We definitely went in as the underdogs and came out on top by one point," he said.

"It was really pleasing and really rewarding.

"Probably half the blokes are still going to play finals this year and still have an exciting five or six weeks of their normal season left.

"But for other blokes that was their grand final."

The accolades for the South East were not confined to winning the main event and in addition to the state title, six players were named in the team of the championships.

That included Willson, who also earned the Don McSweeney medal for player of the championships.

He was joined by Tom Whittlesea, Brad Bryant, Mark Marriott, Pat Davies and Jacob Eats in that team.

Kelly, in his first stint as head coach, was also honoured with recognition as coach of the championships.

He was proud to receive the Bill Murdoch medal but credited the players and support staff for their input.

"Full credit to Ben McGregor from Port Mac and Nick Davis from Mundulla, the two assistant coaches," Kelly said.

"As a group I thought we coached well.

"I get a medal at the end of the day, but a lot of the stuff behind the scenes was because of those two.

"Full credit goes to the blokes playing and the blokes behind the scenes."

With one job in mind for the weekend, to be able to make it a reality was something special.

"Our role for the weekend was to go up there and play some good footy and win it - and we did that and ticked every box," Kelly said.

"And it wasn't from star players going out and kicking six goals on their left foot from the boundary line.

"It was just a massive team effort and we can throw a blanket over the whole team.

"Everyone played their role right from number one, down to 24."

For those selected in the team of the championships, an opportunity to play state football now presents itself.

They will compete against country Western Australia in a curtain raiser to the Adelaide v Carlton AFL match at Adelaide Oval on July 30.

The team will be coached by Rick MacGowan, a two-time SANFL premiership Central Districts player and Jack Oatley medallist, who also spent two years at Hawthorn as assistant coach under Alastair Clarkson in 2008-10.

Bryant: Pride of Penola

By Lachlan Onions

Brad Bryant's strong season continued on the weekend as he was named in the Team of the Championship at the SA Country Championships in Whyalla.

It was a strong weekend for the South East men's team as it claimed the SA Country Championship title in a dramatic grand final which went down to the wire.

"Obviously winning the tournament is pretty fun as well as getting to meet lots of new people you don't get to spend too much time with," Bryant said.

He said it was a "good weekend all-round."

Bryant spent the carnival in the backline and was Penola's only representative in the South East side after a string of strong performances for the Eagles and the KNTFL Inter-league side.

His selection in the team earns him an opportunity to represent SA Country in a state game against Western Australia.

"Making Team of the Championships is pretty cool too, it's always something I wanted to do and I got my opportunity now," he said.

"I made the team last year, but there was no state game because of Covid, there was just the Team of the Carnival.

"It has been a goal of mine for a little while, probably the last few years as I get a bit older, I wanted to do it at least once."

Bryant said one of his goals has been to play at as high of a level possible.

The Penola co-captain has been in impressive form this season and previously earned praise from Eagles coach, Brad Maney, who described Bryant as a "professional footballer playing country football."

"My body is feeling good and I have been very consistent," Bryant said.

"Consistency is what I try and focus on."

Bryant will don the SA Country gear on July 30 in a curtain-raiser for the AFL clash between Adelaide and Carlton at the Adelaide Oval.

Bryant looks forward to this experience and said it would be one of the highlights of his career.

"I have never been on Adelaide Oval before so that will be cool," he said.

"Obviously I would much prefer team success and winning a premiership at Penola but I will take the little self-successes as I go."
