Gartner honours family

A beloved couple have been remembered in a slightly unusual way.

David and Helen Moulton have been remembered by local racing champion Brad Gartner, who has adorned his car with an image of the pair to raise awareness for Motor Neurone Disease.

Mr Gartner bought the car into the Prince of Wales Hotel on Saturday for the general public to see where more than 150 people attended.

After a lengthy wait the new entry door to the Penola Community library was officially opened last week.

Visitors from the Pinchunga hostel and day care participants along with school staff attended the event and enjoyed morning tea which was made by the school's cafe students.

Entry to the library can now be made directly off Cameron Street rather than have to go right up to the high school entry door.

Mrs Heather Devlin from the library said it is now so much easier for those in wheelchairs and mums with prams to enter.

"In the past it has been very difficult for these people to access the library as the original door was not very wide and it took some manoeuvring to get through," she said.

Teacher librarian Miriam Williams welcomed everyone to the opening including Mayor of Wattle Range Council, Des Noll, Manager of Penola Bendigo Bank, Tara Batt and residents of Pinchunga.

"It is actually quite appropriate that we reached into the celebration of book week, as the theme this year is 'dreaming with eyes open' and according to previous library colleagues, a front door opening to the street has been a dream of more than 20 years," Miriam said.

Trainee is top class

By Kathy Fennell

Penola High school has proudly gained another student traineeship.

Year 10 student, Skylah Petrie of Nangwarry recently gained a school based traineeship at the Nangwarry Primary school.

She applied for a Department of Education school based traineeship earlier this year, focusing on classroom support.

Skylah will complete Certificate three in Education-Classroom Support at the Nangwarry school.

This qualification will give her stage two (SACE) credits and will allow her to develop skills needed for her future career pathway of primary school teaching.

"I will spend two half days at the Nangwarry school and three days at high school," she said.

Skylah said she completed some of her primary education at Nangwarry so she knows many of the students.

"I will be spending time in the classroom helping the kids and teachers and I am really enjoying it," Skylah said.

When finished Year 12 she will go on to university to finish her studies.

"I had great support from VET co-ordinator Kathleen Phillips at the high school and I would encourage any students that want to go down this school based traineeship/apprenticeship path to seriously consider it," she said.

Skylah said it is a wonderful opportunity to be able to follow your career and complete year 12 as well.

Student and parents who wish to know more about the flexible options than can be offered can contact Kathleen Phillips at the high school on 87370000

Dads in the spotlight during twilight visit for kindy kids

By Caroline Hammat

McArthur Park Kindergarten hosted a special twilight opening Tuesday night to celebrate father's and other special people in the lives of the kindergartners.

The weather was perfect for the children to show their families around the outdoor play area and build up their appetites for the BBQ and snacks.

Kindergarten director Jo Wilson said "We have our 'fathers day special persons day' BBQ this afternoon and we make sure it's inclusive for all families."

"Our governing council have been going to community groups and businesses for our father's day raffle which was all donated to the kindy and is getting drawn tonight, the community involvement has been amazing."

Father's Day still special

By Kathy Fennell

One of Penola's oldest residents, Mr Alex Bowden not only celebrated his 95th birthday on the weekend but will also celebrate Father's Day on Sunday.

"I lost my Dad at the age of 69 so Father's Day doesn't really hold many memories, however it is a tradition," Alex said.

However Alex strongly agrees that as you get older family is very important.

"It was wonderful that I could get together with all my family (except one) and friends to celebrate my 95th birthday," Alex said.

Ken, Alex's twin son said he agreed with his dad that Father's Day is a tradition, however to be able to be around dad is fantastic.

"We are taking Dad to Mount Gambier to celebrate Father's Day with his granddaughter, Kirsty and other family members.

Ken said there were many families that didn't have their parents, and he was just so lucky to have both of his.

"I just don't know how I would feel if I didn't and it is great to be able to spend quality family time together," he said.

Penola's Alex Bowden with son Ken will celebrate Father's Day on Sunday.

She also thanked in particular Nick McBride who organised a school stimulus grant for urgent and important maintenance work and principal Lesley Okholm for making sure the new front door met the grant criteria.

"I would also like to thank the Wattle Range Council for giving us autonomy over our annual fund allocation, which allowed us to spread the cost of a new circulation pod and other furniture over a few financial years," Miriam said.

The local Bendigo bank branch was also extremely supportive with a $2000 donation of which 12 new chairs were purchased.

Manager, Tara Batt was presented with a certificate of appreciation.

At the opening Mayor Noll congratulated the school and the library for the work they have done on this project over many years.

"Libraries are the heartbeat of our community and the Wattle Range Council is very enthusiastic to support them.

The Council is extremely committed in supporting all of our communities especially with projects like this," he said.

A special cake was cut by Councillor Dean Burrow and his wife Eleanor who happened to be celebrating their 47th wedding anniversary.

Miriam also said it is hoped that seminar room will be ready for use by community groups and it is hoped a craft group can be formed where local talent can be showcased.

Change at the top for Robe council

By Elsie Adamo

Current Robe District Council Mayor Alison Nunan will not seek another term in the role at the Council elections in November.

In the Robe Council's August newsletter Ms Nunan stated she would not be nominating again for the Mayoral position in the upcoming election.

"Bradley [Nunan] and I have recently expanded our business, and I am finding the time commitment of both roles too much to manage effectively," Ms Nunan stated in the newsletter.

"I am happy to provide an insight to anyone who might be interested in what I have found to be an interesting and challenging role."

Ms Nunan had spent one term in the position, having been elected in 2018 convincingly over opponent James Yates.

The announcement will mean new leadership for the Council following the elections in November.

As of yet, no one has publicly stated their intention to run for the mayor position in Robe.

Councillor Ned Wright told the South Eastern Times last week he is planning to nominate again for another term in his position.

Councillor Bob Bates said he would not be renominating for a position on Council. At the time of publication, other Robe Councillors had not publicly stated if they would be nominating for any positions. Contenders in the race for mayoral and councillor positions will not be made public until nominations close on Tuesday, 6 September.

Team Cobber at this years Car Trek.

Locals Michael McCourt and Scott Clarke have just returned from this year's Outback Car Trek.

Outback trek raises huge sum for RFDS

Millicent locals Michael McCourt and Scott Clarke have just returned from this year's Outback Car Trek, which was a great success for team Cobber.

The trek ran from Parkes in NSW westwards to Cameron Corner (border of SA, NSW, and Qld) and then eastwards to Hervey Bay on the Qld coast.

Car numbers were reduced from pre-Covid times.

However, approximately 70 cars participated in the trek, with about 15 support vehicles.

Team Cobber entered five cars and 1 support vehicle.

As a result of the wonderful support they received, Team Cobber raised more than $130,000 and the trek overall raised a little over $1m.

In addition to money raised for the RFDS, participants bring money into every town they visit during the trek - supporting local schools, sporting clubs and more.

It is estimated that the trek brings between $50,000 and $70,000 in gross turn-over to each overnight location across the trip.

On behalf of Team Cobber, Mr McCourt and Mr Clarke would like to thank the local businesses Boots Hay Hatherleigh, Millicent Farm Supplies, Creek Livestock, Elders, Fennell Logging, Michael Vawser, Millicent Crash Repairs, Millicent Industrial, Nutrien, Pat Harrold, Rabobank, RJC Evans, Teagles, William Buck, Woakwine Station and Woomera Homestead for supporting the Royal Flying Doctor via sponsorship of Car 153.

RFDS representative Charlie Patterson thanked the team and their sponsors.

"The flying doctor airlifts 20 South Australians every day - someone twice a day from the South East - to Adelaide for life-saving or specialist medical treatment,' he said.

Locals Michael McCourt and Scott Clarke have just returned from this year's Outback Car Trek, which raised more than $130,000 for charity.

"But the RFDS cannot do this alone. It relies on the community - people like you, our car 153 sponsors - to bridge the gap in its operational funding and to purchase its flying intensive care units at a cost of more than $7 million each.

"Thanks for your help."

This year the duo built a new trek car - a 1981 VC Commodore Sedan.

To meet the demands of the outback trek driving conditions, many modifications were needed, including replacing engine and gearbox, roll cage, sump guard, bull bar, racing harness seatbelts, an extra fuel tank, and two-way radio (UHF), flashing lights and dust lights and upgrading suspension

The team would like to thank local businesses Daikin Exhaust, Millicent Crash Repairs, Pasqua Marino and Trusted Automotive for helping set the car up.

Testing is bang on

International companies Schlumberger and TGS have lodged an application to conduct a 3D seismic survey in a massive area of the Otway Basin, part of which lies off the coast of Robe.

A spokesperson from the Department of Industry, Science and Resources confirmed last week that the Otway 3D special prospecting authority was validly lodged on August 16 and was currently at the screening phase.

“The Australian Government releases offshore petroleum acreage annually,” they said.

“All areas are nominated by industry but nomination of an area does not mean an area will be released.

“Feedback from all stakeholders, including government agencies, industry associations, fisheries, environmental organisations and the wider public will be considered prior to any release of areas.”

The spokesperson further said that all companies are required to abide by stringent regulations.

“Under the stringent requirements of the offshore petroleum regulatory regime, companies are required to identify, evaluate and reduce all environmental impacts of their proposed seismic survey to as low as reasonably practicable and acceptable levels,” they said.

“When demonstrating that impacts will be managed to as low as reasonably practicable and an acceptable level, companies must identify specific control measures, address relevant comments received during public consultation and demonstrate good practice consistent with relevant standards.

“Commonly applied management measures include avoiding overlap with important areas at biologically sensitive time periods for certain marine fauna, reducing the levels of sound being produced by applying engineering controls and powering down or shutting down the seismic source when marine fauna are observed within close proximity of the vessel.

The spokesperson said the government was committed to protecting the marine environment and ensuring sustainable practices by all marine users, now and in the future.

“There are strict safety and environmental standards for offshore oil and gas exploration activities, including seismic surveys, overseen by Australia’s offshore regulator - the National Offshore Petroleum Safety and Environmental Management Authority (NOPSEMA),” they said.

“A proposed seismic survey cannot proceed until NOPSEMA is satisfied that the environmental impacts and risks of the proposed seismic survey will be reduced to as low as reasonably practicable and an acceptable level.

“Where scientific understanding of potential environmental impacts is limited, NOPSEMA applies precaution to its decision-making to safeguard the protection of the marine environment.

Depsite these claims, Lisa Deppeler from Otway Climate Emergency Action Network (OCEAN) object to the proposal.

“We need to take urgent action on the climate and biodiversity crisis, not continue to allow massive, speculative expansion of fossil fuel industries,” she said.

The organisation claimed that during seismic surveys, destructive blasts of up to 250 decibels are let off every 10 seconds, 24 hours a day and said that these blasts are known to injure and kill marine species, either by the impact of the blasts themselves or by displacing species from traditional migration, feeding and birthing routes.

“Any gas located would take 15 years, at a minimum, to come online and be productive, by which time we need to have transitioned away from fossil fuels and their harmful emissions,” Ms Deppeler said.

“Moreover, Schlumberger and TGS have bypassed the process by which exploration titles are granted by the federal government, and have undertaken minimal consultation with affected communities.

“In effect, they are calling the shots here, not the elected government.

“It’s like the tail is wagging the dog. We are calling on the government to stop this proposal proceeding any further.”

Five years waiting

By Elsie Adamo

There is no end in sight to Kalangadoo’s five-year wait to determine if the town’s police station will be reopened.

The station has been left unoccupied since its police officer left in January 2017, but never officially closed by SA Police. Instead, the building has been left dormant for five years, pending the results of a review into regional policing.

Kalangadoo’s community was promised by the SA Liberal party if voted into Government in the 2018 election it would be reopened, but no attempt was made to do so.

The Regional Policing Review has been underway for years but was put on hold in 2020 due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

The Border Watch was told the report was in its final stages in September 2021, but 11 months later, the review outcomes are still to be released.

SAPOL did not respond when asked when outcomes of the review could be expected.

“The date for the release of the Regional Policing Review outcomes has not yet been determined,” a police spokesperson said.

“The Kalangadoo Police Station is part of the ongoing review of all Regional Policing Services by the Regional Review Project. The Kalangadoo response area will continue to be covered by the neighbouring police station of Millicent.”

A Regional Policing Review consultation paper dated February 2020, which was obtained by a freedom of information request, suggested one and two-person police stations may be scrapped after future reviews to better centralise operations.

Member for McKillop Nick McBride said he is aware the report has been drafted, but has not been alerted to its outcomes.

“I understand it is up to the Commissioner of Police to release,” Mr McBride said.

“It has always been my view that local police services should be maintained in our community, especially in regional areas. When in Government, I had numerous conversations with the then Police Minister regarding the review – and the future of the Kalangadoo Police Station.

“I do believe that we need to have clarity about the future of this station, and policing in regional areas in general. I look forward to hearing the outcome of the review, which is now long overdue.

“If the review has been finalised – the public should be able to access it.”

Meals on Wheels celebrated in region

By Elsie Adamo

The community celebrated National Meals on Wheels Day yesterday, recognising the program and its volunteers’ contribution to the community.

Meals on Wheels are available in Mount Gambier, Naracoorte, Millicent and Beachport, and Southend, with many volunteers needed to help get meals out into the community.

Chairperson of the Meals on Wheels committee for Millicent Graeme Richardson said there are around 80 volunteers that help.

“They like the society they live in, and they want to contribute back to it,” Mr Richardson said.

“But we are always happy to take on more volunteers. It is not a difficult process.”

Mr Richardson said those in the community have come to rely on the meals.

“It is daily social contact, and they look forward to their meals,” he said.

“We get good feedback from them. The meals are cooked at the Millicent hospital.”

Down the road in Beachport, Meals on Wheels started five years ago.

Margret Grieve was one of the locals who helped start the program in the town.

“Sue Wheel, Chris Bellinger and I sat down one day and decided that Beachport needed Meals on Wheels,” Ms Grieve said.

“We just decided it was time, we sat down and set it up.”

Currently, around 10 clients between Southend and Beachport are signed up to receive meals. The meals for those in the area are made in Adelaide, snap frozen and then sent down to be distributed.

“We have not got that many clients at the moment, but it has been difficult with Covid-19,” Ms Grieve said.

“It is not just supplying a meal, it is also checking on people. Because with Covid there has been lots of isolation, it has been difficult for people.”

Ms Grieve said in her experience, the Beachport clients have loved the services.

“They like the meals, they like the contact,” she said.

“They like the fact someone is popping in every day with a hot meal for them, but to also have a chat about what is happening around town.”

The service allows volunteers to undertake a welfare check on clients, ensuring they are feeling healthy, according to Ms Grieve.

“I think it works extremely well,” she said.

“People have been very happy with the service, and we have helped keep people in their own homes if possible.”

Sculptures enhance play

By Caroline Hammat

Students at Glencoe and District Kindergarten recently received an update to their outdoor learning area in the form of a carved redgum slide created specifically for the site which compliments a redgum canoe installed in term one.

Millicent wood sculptor Ant Martin and his wife Hat from Ant’s Redgum Gallery created both pieces with the most recent interactive sculpture delivered during the school holidays.

Director of the Glencoe kindy, Jes Cook, said “It all came about because we had some money given to us by the government to boost the economy during Covid times.

“It was money to boost our local economy and our site didn’t need to be repainted or anything so we decided we would put the money into our outdoor learning space, and the kids have always wanted a boat.

“I was at a nature playground in Adelaide and saw something similar (canoe) and sent Ant a photo asking if it was something he would be able to do for Glencoe kindy.

“We are a very nature dominated space and use lots of natural resources in our experiences that we offer to the children.

“We just had our rock pool redone and decided that a wooden canoe would fit the bill and be different to other sites.”

When the Martins delivered the canoe for installation Ms Cook asked about the possibility of a wooden slide as well with Ant saying he had the perfect log.

Ms Cook said “The kids really enjoy them and it’s open-ended play.

“The canoe was a floating bed the other day, they (the children) had all the sheets and pillows in it and were on their floating bed which is just lovely.

“For us it is unique and something we stand out for, the kids love it and I think we are very very lucky.

“To boost our economy and a local artist was a win win situation, for us and for Ant and Hat as well, especially during Covid.”

Mr Martin agreed it was a good situation and said “We had a few interstate jobs that just dropped off at the time and the gallery was affected as well.

“Everything just died off, I could still go to the workshop and do pieces, and selling firewood also helped get us through.”

Mr Martin enjoys seeing children interact with his carvings and said “I’ve always wanted to make a wooden slide and here we are we’ve made one, we just happened to have a big redgum log that lent itself to the job.”

Students help with rejuvenation of pond

Students from the Mary MacKillop school in Penola gathered to help revegetate the wetlands surrounding the Penola Mary MacKillop Centre.

The wetlands were part of the original architectural design to connect the 1867 schoolhouse, church and interpretive centre, and was a nod to the marshy conditions the early settlers would have encountered.

It also serves to hold stormwater run off from the buildings.

Established more than 20 years ago, the wetland/pond area needed some rejuvenation.

Interpretive Centre spokesperson Marie Valenzuela said over the last year a major revamp of the wetland area has been undertaken.

It included replacing the pond liner, which took several months and involved local businesses and many volunteer hours.

Once that was completed the trees, which had grown quite large, were trimmed and branches thinned.

A new pumping system was set up to help with the aeration of the water.

“Advice was sought from the Nature Glenelg Trust to provide a plan to restore the high aesthetic and biodiversity standard that the site previously held,” Marie said.

The centre was successful in obtaining assistance from the OneFortyOne commu-

Chris from Mary MacKillop school getting the plants ready.

“It is hoped that the wetland area will be used by many school groups as a place to learn about biodiversity and other environ-

“The wetland area provides a tranquil place for relaxing, reflecting and taking our minds off the hustle and bustle of daily life.

“Water naturally attracts people and water loving creatures, so maintaining and restoring areas as wetland is worthwhile and benefits the whole community,” she said.

Still racing on, after MND

There were tears of sadness and happiness when Brad Gartner totally surprised the Moulton family with his race car which he had personally designed and adorned the car bonnet with beautiful photos of the family's parents, David (Grub) and Helen.

Both families have been long life friends at the tight knit little community of Maaoupe, north west of Penola, where they run farming properties.

Helen (Moulton) passed away with Motor Neurone Disease 21 years ago with Grub being taken with the same disease last month.

Both families have been keen on car racing for more than 60 years, competing all over South Australia and Victoria.

Brad Gartner, at 18, decided to decorate the bonnet of his current racing car with photos of Grub and Helen.

"I had an upcoming birthday so I thought I would invite the Moulton family to my home for a barbecue and a few drinks, as we do on birthday occasions," he said.

The racing car was in its usual position under the carport and covered up as normal.

"A bit later in the night, we moved the car into the shed, and I asked everyone to come out to the shed, where it was uncovered," he said.

The Moulton siblings, Andi, Steven, Michelle and Mick were "absolutely gob-smacked" with what they saw.

"What can one say when someone does something like this that means so much to a family he loves as his own," Andi said.

"You showed us what family is all about.

"We saw our beautiful parents together for the first time in 21 years and not only for us to see, but for a cause to raise awareness for MND."

Mr Gartner bought the car to the Prince of Wales Hotel on Saturday for the general public to see where more than 150 people attended.

Brad Gartner with the Moulton siblings Michelle Wetherall, Steve Moulton, Mick Moulton and Andi Zerk.

The car is a Hyundai XL and Brad does circuit racing in Malala and Taillem Bend.

The next race will be on September 17 and 18 and will be Brad's last race in the car.

The bonnet will then proudly hang on the wall in the Moulton's shed.

So far about $3000 has been raised for the MND cause.

A raffle is also being run.

Postcards reveal history

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent's South East Family History Group (SEFHG) has recently been gifted a collection of 100 postcards dating back over 100 years ago.

Ruby McMahon's (nee Varcoe) collection of postcards date from 1905 to 1929 and include cards received from family, friends and servicemen.

The collection was offered to the group by Ms McMahon's grandson, Stephen Cocks, after the family came across them when cleaning up his mother's estate after her death last year.

Born in 1864, Ms McMahon was one of three girls of Hulda (nee Boneham) and John Varcoe who lived at the Wyrle on their property Monrovia.

After the death of her grandfather Ebenezer Boneham, Hulda moved into her grandparents home on Mount Gambier Road, Woodbine Villa.

Both Monrovia and Woodbine Villa have since been demolished but the postcards remain and offer a glimpse of the social history of the area, reflecting several different addresses Ms McMahon lived.

Group member Penny Richardson showed an interest in the cards due to her own connection to the Boneham's of Kalangadoo and soon discovered that Ruby was her own second cousin three times removed.

Ms Richardson was delighted to find two postcards among the collection sent from a direct ancestor, her third great aunt Laura Kent, who was Ruby's cousin.

"I was interested in reading the postcards to see who they have come from because of my distant family connection, my second great grandmother was Annie Boneham from Kalangadoo who married Thomas Kent from Millicent.

"The postcards give a fascinating insight into family connectedness and the effort put into maintaining relationships with friends and relatives.

Hearty greetings: Birthday wishes sent to Ruby Varcoe from her cousin Laura Kent.

"The postcards are a treasure trove of clues."

SEFHG researcher Colleen Hammat said "I will be researching the names on the back to see what other connections there are outside of the family, like Lillian Mott who has sent some of the cards, whether they are school friends or relatives."

The glimpse into early 1900's Millicent includes formal postcards sent for new year and birthday's with other cards showing family photos printed as postcards.

Although most of the cards are addressed to Ruby Varcoe there are a selection of others in the collection including some addressed to what is believed to be Ruby's grandmother, Mrs Boneham.

Postcards were sent from local towns including Millicent, Tantanoola and Mount Gambier with others sent from interstate during holidays.

McElroy home, corner of Portland and Arthur Streets in Penola.

House has long history

By National Trust of SA Penola Branch

In association with State Heritage, Penola’s branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called Penola Walk With History to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

MCELROY HOME (Private Residence)

This site marks the location of one of the earliest homes built in Penola.

The land was originally purchased from the Government by Alexander Cameron in 1854 and sold to Stephen McElroy in 1855.

Stephen and his wife Margaret, together with children Mary and Antony, arrived in the South East in early 1847 having driven some stock overland for David Fletcher Minnitt, who held the lease of Krongart at the time.

The original dwelling, built by Stephen, was a four roomed slab house with a shingle roof and two wooden chimneys.

It faced Portland Street.

A vegetable garden and fruit trees were established adjacent to the house.

At the rear of the dwelling a well was dug, this spot being the highest point in a relatively flat area.

A cool cellar was also excavated which was trellised with grape vines over the top.

Margaret played her part in early Penola by taking in Irish immigrant girls arriving here from Portland and other ports.

She would care for them until they found suitable employment.

The two youngest children, Antony and Margaret, who were born at Piccanninni Yabba just south of Penola in 1848, were both married in their parents’ house. Anthony married Helen Shaw Neilson in 1866.

The house was later burnt to the ground and a more substantial home was built, sited closer to the Arthur Street corner.

Antony and his wife Helen lived there until their deaths in 1912 and 1917 respectively.

The house, which was modified over the years, remained in the family until the death in 1973 of Mrs G W Pannell, one of Antony and Helen McElroy’s 12 children.

Descendants of these early pioneer settlers still reside in the district.

Kalangadoo primary school students and staff celebrate book week.

Schools celebrate reading in style

By Kathy Fennell

Schools in the Penola district celebrated the annual book week last week with the Penola High school participating for the first time.. Students from primary schools in Penola, Nangwarry and Kalangadoo along with the high school and Mary MacKillop school all presented parades of students and staff dressed in book characters.

Some very interesting characters appeared throughout all the schools with many spending a lot of time in designing their costumes. Students and staff from all schools became involved in many daily activities throughout the week.

The week creates lots fun and encourages students to enjoy reading. The event is promoted by the Children's Book Council of Australian and is held annually.

Book week started in 1945 and has contin-

Star Kobe named in All Australian team

15 year old Kobe Gibson recently returned from Lavington in New South Wales after being selected to participate in the 2022 School Sport Australia Championships. Competing in the 15 and Under Boys Australian Football State team Kobe was also named in the All Australian team after a stand-out performance, a highlight of the trip he shared with five of his South Australian teammates.

Kobe said his favourite part of the experience was winning gold against Victoria "They had not been beaten in a long time, it was special because all us boys had created such strong bonds throughout the week.

"Our team went extremely well not losing a game during the entire carnival, we were able to beat each team convincingly, being the reason why we won gold.

"I played a forward role who rolled into the middle for stoppages, my role was to protect the inside of the ground during ball ups and not allowing opposition teams to use the middle of the ground easily.

Joining Kobe on his trip to Albury were his mum, dad, grandparents and brothers Cruz and Jaga.

Kobe's mum Melanie said "The team had an awesome week and Kobe had a great week himself, we loved it as much as him."

Through a Wattle Range Council Youth Development Foundation grant Kobe received a $200 cheque to assist with costs associated with attending the competition.

Kangaroo Inn off to Royal show

By Elsie Adamo

Kangaroo Inn Area School are off to the Royal Adelaide show this weekend, with students travelling down to start setting up today.

The school's agriculture students have prepared goats, steers and merino wethers for the competition, attending for the first time since the Covid-19 pandemic began.

Kangaroo Inn Area School agriculture teacher Deb Neale said the students were excited to show off their hard work.

"They are so excited to get there this year," Ms Neale said.

"It is a pretty big thing at our school. A lot of preparation goes into preparing livestock for competition.

"They get to showcase all their hard work."

According to Ms Neale, the event allows the students to learn about agriculture as well as some essential life skills.

"We follow the curriculum, so the students are learning things like preparing livestock for competition, safe handling skills, putting weight on livestock and collecting data," she said.

"But I think at the show it goes back to developing that relationship with animals, how to work as a team, being independent, all those sorts of life skills.

"The students do have to be quite independent at the show, they need to be organised, so those skills have been developing leading up to the show, and that is when you see it all come through."

Ms Naele said the students had missed the opportunity to attend the show over the last two years.

"Over the last couple of years, we had still prepared them for competition," she said.

"We still did the program. We just have not been able to get to the part where we can exhibit the animals, which is the most exciting part for our students.

"This year will be fantastic because they will get to do that again."

Schools from all across the state participate in the show, when asked Ms Neale said you could never know how well other schools will perform, but she knows her students have been working hard.

"It is hard to say, but we think our animals are amazing," Ms Neale said.

"The steers are on track; they are looking particularly good."

Kangaroo Inn Area School is one of only four specialised primary industries/rural operations schools across the state. Ms Naele said she is happy the subject has remained popular amongst students.

"I really think agriculture in this day and age is just such a relevant skill for students to learn," she said.

"There are so many opportunities within agriculture, and school is such a great place for the students to develop that interest. What they learn here is a really good foundation.

"I have had students that have not come from farming backgrounds that have ended up going into the agriculture industry after they leave school, and that starts here."

Students from the school will attend the show over the next week, with competitions running from this weekend through the following seven days.

Crowd pleaser: Gary King second left performs live with The Executives in 1966 at a Sydney shopping centre.

Gary King: 1946-2022

By Jaesen Jones

GARY KING: 1946-2022

Never one to be the centre of attention, locals were surprised that this modest man living in Millicent, South Australia, was once a member of one of Australia's biggest '60s pop groups, with hit records and a string of television appearances.

Gary Lawrence King was born 16 May 1946 in Helensburgh, a small coal mining town situated roughly halfway between Sydney and Wollongong. Growing up he attended Helensburgh Primary School before heading to Sutherland High School. Gary always felt a strong connection to Helensburgh throughout his life.

Born into a musical family with six siblings, it was perhaps inevitable that Gary would learn to play a musical instrument, being taught the bass guitar by older brother Brian. Gary would later say that he chose bass as there was a distinct lack of bass guitarists in the otherwise fertile grounds for musicians that was Helensburgh.

By 1966 Gary had joined Brian's band The Kingwoods, playing regular gigs across Wollongong's northern suburbs. The band would become The Associates, and, after linking with manager Harry Widmer in late 1966, The Executives.

As a member of one of Sydney's most popular, if not most successful, music acts of the '60s, Gary's life for the next three years was one of endless tours and concerts, with the band performing all over Australia. Between 1966 and 1970 The Executives released eight singles, including the top ten hits 'My Aim Is To Please You', 'Sit Down, I Think I Love You' and 'Windy Day'. The band was a regular feature on Channel 9's 'Bandstand', and made cameo appearances in shows such as 'Sippy'. Gary even appeared on Graham Webb's TV dating gameshow, 'Blind Date', where he won a date with blonde model Marian Richardson!

But it wasn't just about music, Gary also had a love of cars. Having a preference for Fords, he owned a V8 Ford Falcon during the '60s. In the early '70s he kept himself busy during his spare time rebuilding a green Austin Healey sports car, which he subsequently sold to fellow-Executive Ray Burton. More recently, Gary took great pride in his blue V8 Ford Mustang GT. But he was also very grounded, owning more practical vans for his day-to-day activities.

When The Executives left Sydney for Los Angeles in early 1970, Gary found himself in the thick of the west coast music scene, even partying with Janis Joplin the night before she died. For the next two years he did session work in LA and played the live circuit in Seattle and Vegas, performing with the likes of Robert Blackwell, best known for his work overseeing the early hits of Little Richard, and oud-master John Bilezikian.

The earth shook - quite literally - when Gary met Gloria Kenyon during the San Fernando Earthquake in 1971. The pair married in 1972 and with Gary effectively retiring from performing they returned to Australia the following year where Gary started a milk run in Canberra. However, the USA beckoned strongly and in 1975 Gary and Gloria returned to LA where Gary secured an accounting position with ABC/Dunhill Records.

In 1977, now with young daughter Aimee, the family moved north to Mendocino County. Always practical with his hands, Gary built a large house overlooking the Pacific Ocean, where they settled in the early '80s. It was here where he and Gloria opened a record store, and, during this time, he re-wired the sound equipment at Mendocino's Hill House Inn, the setting for the popular TV mystery series 'Murder, She Wrote'. He spent what was left of his spare time playing soccer in the local community.

Over the next 17 years the King family would share their time between Mendocino and Australia, before Gary returned to Australia permanently in 1999. After spending time at the Gold Coast, Northern NSW, and St Mary's Tasmania, Gary settled in Millicent.

It was here where Gary would rekindle his love for woodworking, making many pieces from chopping boards through to windows, French Doors and full kitchens. There was always a story behind the wood chosen for any particular project, and the practicalities of using particular cuts. Earlier this year Gary had enthusiastically commenced building a new house on his Millicent property. Having a long time interest in cooking, he also owned a food van, and could be seen at festivals and markets around Victoria selling his famous fish tacos, salsas and other delicacies.

However, proving that one can never rid themselves of the music bug, in 2015 he returned to playing the bass guitar and hit the stage again for the first time in 43 years, playing at various open mike/jam sessions around Millicent, Mt Gambier, Canberra and Melbourne, and using the same cherished cherry-red Fender Jazz Bass that he purchased in 1970. More recently he was a member of Millicent band, 4 On The Floor, where they got to experience his love of puns, extremely dry wit and infectious, positive approach to life, along with his steadfast bass lines and many years' experience 'in the biz'.

Gary passed away suddenly on Sunday, 31 July 2022, aged 76, after a short battle with cancer. Gary was his usual high-spirited self throughout his fight but it appears an infection was just too much for his body to endure.

Gary will be sadly missed by daughter Aimee, son-in-law Esam, grandsons Ikkai and Keahi, along with brothers Brian and Keith and sister Margaret and their families. And, of course, his beloved dog Cooper, who was by his side wherever he went.

McArthur Park Kindergarten students Mason, Zoe and Halo joined in with the book week celebrations.

Toyota Yaris Ascent Sport

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

It may be short on words but 'family car' is long on the desirable characteristics of a passenger vehicle: affordability, space, versatility, comfort and convenience, power reliability, fuel economy, safety and looks, all jostle to be taken into consideration.

This goes a long way to explaining the success of the five and seven-seat sports utility vehicle, or Mum's minibus, the eight-seater people mover, which can take the kids and all their kit.

However, there is another side to family life.

Sons and daughters leave home and start families of their own.

It is often left to Mum and Dad to bring the family together with visits to their offspring.

A gas guzzling minibus is the last thing the downsized duo needs.

This is where a small economical runabout comes to the fore.

Something like the Toyota Yaris Ascent Sport hatchback, a versatile compact capable of carrying four adults, or a couple and all their luggage, the latter on a considerable road test distance.

At an affordable $22,130, plus on-road costs, the car is the entry level to the Yaris line and the only variant with a six-speed manual transmission.

The others, including petrol/electric hybrids, have a direct shift CVT, which adds just $1500. A CVT-equipped hybrid on SX and ZR attracts a further $2000 over their equivalent petrol variants.

Ownership costs include a five-year warranty, extendable to seven years, up to 10 years on the hybrid battery and five annual services capped at $195 each.

Conveniently to hand on Ascent Sport is standard equipment which includes Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, LED daytime running lamps, tail and stop lights; auto retractable door mirrors with LED turn signals; and power windows.

For the first time on a Toyota vehicle in Australia there are safety features designed to make Yaris the world's safest compact car.

They include front-centre airbags, sensors that can detect vehicles or pedestrians at intersections when making turns and secondary collision braking.

The all-new Yaris is shorter and lower than its predecessor, with a longer wheelbase (40mm).

Despite the lower roofline, interior headroom is not compromised, the driver and passengers sitting lower thanks to the new Toyota B-platform.

A sporty exterior boasts a stand-out cascading grille, longer bonnet, sculpted door panels, character lines and a shorter rear overhang.

There are 12 exterior colours, including Cherry Blossom in the case of the test vehicle, which elicited compliments from onlookers who marveled at the subtle change of hue from off-white to lavender, depending on the light.

The Toyota Yaris Ascent Sport has an all-black interior, offering an open, spacious and comfortable cabin with ample headroom and an up-market ambience with high-quality seat fabrics.

Despite a wider centre console, there is no room for an armrest, hence no leaning post for the driver.

Gearshift and cup holders take up the space.

However, the new platform allows the driver's seat to be set lower and further back towards the centre of the car, creating an appealing driving position and helping to lower the vehicle's centre of gravity by around 15mm.

The steering wheel is set closer to the driver, with wider tilt and telescopic adjustments.

Electric steering is tuned for a light feel at low speed and responsive feeling at high speed.

Driver information is sourced through a 7-inch touchscreen and a 4.2-inch multi-information display in the instrument cluster.

Bluetooth connectivity includes phone and music.

With enhanced voice recognition, there's access to Siri, Eyes Free, Google Now voice commands.

AM/ FM/DAB+ digital radio is in the hands of six speakers, while USB video playback is on offer when the vehicle is stationary.

The new direct-injection three-cylinder 1.5-litre petrol engine's 88 kW and 145 Nm forge gains of 10 per cent and 2.7 per cent over the previous 1.5-litre four-cylinder engine, the result of a lighter block and crankshaft, reduced frictional losses and high-speed combustion technology.

Advanced safety technologies include a pre-collision safety system with autonomous emergency braking, active cruise control, automatic high beam, and technologies to assist with cornering, staying in the intended lane and detecting speed signs.

A reversing camera and a full suite of brake assist and traction-control systems, including active cornering assist are also standard.

Eight airbags include driver, front passenger, two front centre, two front side, two curtain shield.

The new front-row centre airbags are designed to offer additional protection in a range of accidents.

They can act as energy-absorbing cushions between the driver and front passenger in side crashes, or in passenger-side crashes when the driver is the only occupant.

They can also provide safety benefits in rollover accidents.

The entry-level Yaris Ascent Sport had the last laugh, lapping up the highway kilometres, or taking on heavy traffic in the country's two largest (and congested) cities.

Although the lack of factory-fitted sat-nav was a drag.

Google is no competition here.

The new 1.5-litre petrol engine produces more power and torque, while using less fuel than the 1.3 and 1.5-litre four-cylinder engines it replaces.

Tagged with the 'Sport', engine performance is not all that impressive.

In slow city traffic high revs are the key otherwise stalling is the downfall.

Toyota claims the new Yaris manual uses just 5.4 litres of fuel per 100 kilometres on the combined cycle.

The test car clocked 7.9 litres per 100 kilometres while flitting around towns on the route and 3.7 litres per 100 kilometres on the open road.

The little motor was quiet enough at low revs but let out a raspy reply when urged to work higher up the scale.

The manual gear shift at times was not of Toyota's usual high standards and needed firm handling to avoid connecting with the wrong gear.

On the upside, the new platform underpins a significant increase in body rigidity, which contributes to agility, stable handling, ride comfort and lower noise and vibration.

A 270-litre cargo area incorporates a two-level deck board.

Big items can be accommodated with 60:40 split-fold rear seat backs folded flat.

Front door pockets take up to a dehydration-beating 1.5-litre bottle, rear door pockets up to a 600ml bottle.

The test took place mostly under clear winter skies, all on sealed roads, the Yaris also coping with early morning frost in the Southern Highlands and being rain bombed on the Hume, all the way to drawing together relatives and friends – a genuine family car.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

PICK OF THE WEEK

FARMER WANTS A WIFE
Seven, Sunday, 7pm

Forget The Bachelor and Married at First Sight, this wholesome reality series has the most impressive strike rate for helping people find love – the Australian series alone has resulted in nine marriages, two long-term relationships and 25 babies. Host Natalie Gruzlewski brings together five new farmers, including 27-year-old sheep and cattle expert Paige (pictured), on a quest to find true love by inviting their potential matches to join them on a date. Former Sunrise host Sam Armytage, who now lives in the country with her husband Richard Lavender, returns to the small screen as a mentor to the lovelorn participants. “I fell in love with a farmer myself, so I can’t wait to help them find the one,” she says.

CELEBRITY IOU
9Life, Thursday, 8.30pm

As long as you’re rich and kind of famous, it’s perfectly acceptable to make over someone else’s home without their knowledge. Identical twins Jonathan and Drew Scott present this feel-good series where they help celebs transform the home of someone special. Tonight, The Office star Rainn Wilson (pictured) renovates the house of his son’s former nanny. While the end result is pleasing enough, it’s Wilson’s high jinks that entertain. Topless and wielding an axe, he takes the fun up a crazy notch.

MARRIAGE
ABC TV, Saturday, 8.30pm

Sean Bean and Nicola Walker (both pictured) ferment in domesticity in this intimate portrait of a long-term marriage. Anyone uncomfortable with drawn-out silences will be challenged by the subtly simmering drama (if you can call it that), as dishwashers are unloaded, TV is watched and potatoes can be the catalyst for a restrained argument. On screen, marriage is usually the site of devastating secrets, but here the ins and outs of life play out in all their nuance. In the premiere of the four-part story, we meet Ian and Emma, a couple in their fifties. Tune in: your patience will be rewarded.

GHOSTS
10, Wednesday, 8.30pm

Many try, but few succeed when it comes to American adaptations of beloved British comedies. While Ghosts doesn’t yet breathe the same rarefied air as The Office, Shameless or Whose Line is it Anyway?, the show’s quirky premise and loveable characters hold universal appeal. This week, the ghosts discover you’re never too dead to learn life lessons when 11th-century Viking Thorfinn (Devan Long, pictured) enters therapy, and 1700s militiaman Isaac (Brandon Scott Jones) decides to share a revelation with the group.

Sullivan is a clear winner

By Trevor Jackson

A solid back end of the season saw Tim Sullivan run away with the Mid South Eastern Football League best and fairest Mail Medal on Sunday.

Players and officials filled the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre for the annual awards, hosted by the Port MacDonnell Football Netball Club.

The Port MacDonnell big man certainly caught the eye of the umpires late in the season, as he began to poll votes with regularity.

After 12 rounds Sullivan closed in on leader, Kalangadoo's Tye McManus, with just two votes separating the pair.

In Round 14, three votes against Nangwarry saw Sullivan move three votes clear at the top of the table and the honour was never in doubt from there.

Glencoe's Zacc Cocks and Hatherleigh's Michael Telford moved up to second place but by then Sullivan had the medal in the bag.

He finished off in style with a further three votes in the final round to rack up 27 votes, 10 clear of Cocks and Telford who finished equal runners-up.

Just the day before Sullivan had helped his Demons to a first semi-final win over Mount Burr, with two goals and a third-best player.

Throughout the season his work around the ground was clearly noticed, as he was tireless around the ground, in the ruck and up forward.

He paired up well with fellow Port MacDonnell big man Will Macdonald, with the Demons now through to the preliminary final, to face either Kalangadoo or Hatherleigh.

At this stage of the season Sullivan has played 17 games, appearing in the Port MacDonnell best players' list on 14 occasions, adding 37 goals along the way.

Earlier in the day other awards were announced, with Hatherleigh named club of the year, ahead of Robe.

Life memberships were presented to Mount Burr's Nathan Muhovics and former South Eastern Times journalist Fred Smith.

Kalangadoo's Scott Agnew claimed the Reserves leading goal kicker, while best backman went to Mount Burr's Sam Wallis.

The Mozzies were again in the awards, with Reece Duncan named coach of the year.

Most valuable player went to Kongorong's Matt Cordy.

Kalangadoo's Chris Mules claimed Reserves best and fairest Carthew Medal, ahead of Glencoe's Tory Weaver.

Robe's Joel Bryant was awarded the Farmer Phil Scanlon Memorial rookie of the year, while Kalangadoo's Michael Krieger was a clear winner in the A Grade goal kicking stakes.

Krieger finished the minor rounds with 84 goals, well clear of Mount Burr's Hamish Smith (63), with Nangwarry's Andrew Hyland in third place with 60.

The Bill Hanel Memorial Under 21 honours

went to Tye McManus.

Senior colts - Best and fairest Malseed Medal: Maverick Cooper (Kongorong) 23 votes; Joint runner-up: Joel Bryant (Robe), Ellis Cushion (Tantanoola) 21 votes.

Leading goalkicker: Harvey Jones (Hatherleigh) 91 goals.

Joint player of the year: Ellis Cushion (Tantanoola), Harvey Jones (Hatherleigh) 10 games.

Jim Maney Memorial Trophy donated by Maxine Maney.

Mount Burr's Reece Duncan was named coach of the year.

Kalangadoo's Michael Krieger with the leading goalkicker trophy.

Junior coach of the year: Tom Williams (Kalangadoo).

Junior colts - Best and fairest Mansell Medal: Lachlan Brierley (Glencoe) 37 votes; Runner-up - George Considine Memorial Medal: Charlie Bevan (Mount Burr) 36 votes.

Joint leading goalkicker: Daniel Ferguson (Glencoe), Charlie Bevan (Mount Burr) 50 goals.

Joint player of the year: Lachlan Breierley (Glencoe), Charlie Bevan (Mount Burr) 14 games.

Pleasant day on the bowling greens

Cool and dry conditions greeted 42 players for a 2-4-2 game at the Millicent Bowls Club last week.

After some spirited play, the win went to Carlene Godden and Robert Radley with a score of 34+11 shots up.

Denis Clifford and Neil Whelan claimed second place with a score of 33+21.

Other winning teams: Jan Buhlmann/Iain Campbell 32+10; Lurlene Reinders/John Buhlmann 32+9; Faye Hill/Peter Scanlon 32+6; a triple of Steve Skeer/Frank Cooper/Glen Tilley 31+9; Ian Ross/Carl Schapel 31+4; Peter Bate-man/Terry Barnes 30+4; Malcolm Wright/Bill

Burdon 30+4; Rob Chambers/Andre Reinders 28+1.

Women are reminded their pennant practice is scheduled for September 9, 16 and 23.

All players must have their names in by 9-30am for a start at 10am.

Denis Clifford and Neil Whelan finished runners-up in last week's Millicent Bowls Club 2-4-2 competition.

Golfers wary after forecast

The South East Veterans golfers faced a dire weather forecast for the game at Bordertown, with numbers down accordingly.

Despite the conditions, 27 players took to the course and endured a clap of thunder, then sunshine throughout play.

First division went to Robe's Brian Foreman with 39 points from Mike Lynch 38 and Lindsay Storer 36.

Second division was an all-Bordertown affair, with the top three finishing with 36 points, requiring a count-back.

Geoff Pilgrim came out first from Pete Vile and Pat Seneca.

The Ross Orchard trophy was won by Chris Leach and Rob Sims and the ball rundown meant all went home with one.

The nearest to pins went to Dale Cameron, Graham Pilgrim and Max Clifford.

Brian Slape claimed the Scotch.

The next round is set down for Naracoorte on September 12, before a visit to Millicent on September 26.

Saints stars recognised

By James Murphy

The Western Border Football and Netball League annual awards were hosted at Blue Lake Sports Park on Sunday.

As the league celebrated the top performers of the 2022 season, Millicent was well backed in both disciplines.

In the A Grade netball medal count, Demi Verbena finished runner-up to East Gambier's Emily Hunter, while she joined fellow Saint Lisa Duldig in the netball team of the year.

Millicent footballers were also well represented, with five players named in the team of the year.

Youngster Josh Werchon - who also took out the best Under 21 award and ranked fifth in the A Grade vote count - was named in the forward line, while Sam Willis and Dylan Bromley were placed at centre-half forward.

Frazer Bradley was named on a wing, while brother Kade Bradley was listed on the interchange.

"We had a good mix," Millicent A Grade football coach Clint Gallio said.

"I thought there were a couple of other boys who could have been rewarded too, but obviously you can't fit everyone in there."

Gallio also received recognition and was once again named as coach of the team.

"It was really nice to be coach for the second year in a row," he said.

"That is just off the back of a lot of hard work from the whole team really.

"I am just the lucky one who gets to coach such a great group."

A mark of the year award was presented this year and it was given to Millicent's Jaxon Cushion and Eli Redman was awarded the Phil Scanlon Rookie of the Year medal.

Dylan Shanks finished joint runner-up for the Saints, while Kalan Shanks claimed the runner-up trophy in Under 18's.

Looking at the junior netball and Millicent's Lauren Van Eeden finished runner-up in the 17 and Under count, as did Sarah Sigston in the 15 and Under B's.

Demons weather the test

By Trevor Jackson

Port MacDonnell 10.15 (75) d
Mount Burr 8.9 (57)

Port MacDonnell advanced to the Mid South East football preliminary final after a storming third quarter on Saturday against Mount Burr.

The reigning premiers faced a tough test against the Mozzies at Robe, with the season on the line.

A large crowd flocked to the sea-side venue to watch the various games throughout the day, with the main attraction worthy of a final.

However, the Demons made hard work of it in the first term, kicking with a stiff breeze but wasting opportunities, with two major scores and seven behinds.

In contrast, the Mozzies hit the ground running and led for much of the quarter, with three majors scores for their efforts and the game tied up at 19 points a-piece at the first break.

A couple of easy goals to Mount Burr spurred Demons' coach Simon Merrett on in the quarter-time huddle.

"It would have been nice to be a bit more composed in front of goals but even when the scores were level when we had the breeze, we felt our game was in pretty good nick," he said.

"We had nine scoring shots for the quarter - we just didn't quite finish like we would have liked."

After a stern chat from Merrett at quarter time, the second term became an arm wrestle, with just two major scores kicked between the two sides.

The physical contest provided plenty of entertainment, as the two sides went hard at each other.

Merrett said kicking into the breeze, he felt his players showed a bit more resolve.

"There were a few things in the first quarter we weren't happy with," he said.

"They walked the ball out of our forward line and had two shots ... they went end-to-end without us touching the ball, which is not like us.

"The pressure wasn't quite where it needed to be but once we rectified that and got a bit more pressure around the ball carrier, the game started to turn in our favour a bit more."

The third term was where the game was won and lost, as the Demons came out of the long break hard and fast, while the Mozzies were unable to match the intensity.

Five major scores and six minors saw the Demons pull away and create a decisive 28-point margin heading into the vital final term.

"We just tweaked a couple of things at half time and changed the way we moved the ball, which gave us a lot more looks in front of goal," Merrett said.

"Once again it would have been nice to kick a bit straighter and kill the game off but to come out and get a nice lead was pretty pleasing."

Merrett put the inaccuracy down to pressure rather than the wind, with the Mozzies up for the challenge and forcing the Demons to work hard for their possessions.

The final term saw the Demons hold on into the breeze, as they forced the Mozzies wide in their attacking zone.

It worked a treat as the Mozzies were unable to set up clean shots on goal and struggled to make inroads into the lead.

They did close to within a couple of goals but in the end the Demons claimed a hard-fought victory.

Port MacDonnell coach Simon Merrett makes some suggestions during the quarter-time break in Saturday's Mid South East football first semi-final.

Port MacDonnell's Mark Smith kicks clear under pressure.

With big men Will MacDonald and Sullivan attracting a lot of attention, Merrett said it was important the bottom six players stood tall, which he felt they did.

"You can't rely on Sullivan and McDonald in these big games," he said.

"They (Mount Burr) hang all over Will and Tim but I thought they stood up really well.

"But it is the bottom five or six players who need to play their role - they are the ones who get you over the line and they did that well."

The Demons now have a break to await their preliminary final opponent - either Kalangadoo or Hatherleigh.

"We are really excited," Merrett said.

"We have probably gone a step further than we thought we would, so we are really happy with our season.

"It is about peaking at the right time and I think we have timed our run well.

"We are not going to waste this opportunity and we will go and give it our best shot."

It's do or die for top sides

A Grade
Kalangadoo and Glencoe go head to head in the Mid South East netball A Grade second semi-final this weekend at Mount Burr.

Glencoe has a strong goal circle in Malinda Markiewicz and Jenna Paproth, both incredibly accurate goalies.

At the other end of the court Kori Collins and Abbey Duncan are also hard working and accurate goalies, with Duncan's maturity settling the attack line.

Glencoe's playing coach Sarah Edwards combines well with Chantelle Cocks at the defensive end, both with the ability to create turnovers and pull in rebounds.

Jayde Peacock is a hard working mid-court and leads youngster Sophie Wrightson on the goal circle, talking well with her goalies.

Glencoe has come away with the win both times these teams have met in the minor rounds and has the potential to claim another victory.

A Reserve

The A Reserve second semi-final sees Kalangadoo take on Robe.

Association best and fairest Kim Ross will fight hard through the mid-court to create turnovers for Robe, leading her team with confidence and supported by Keelin Winterfield around the attacking circle.

The strength and accuracy of Demi Carter and Hannah Perkins in the circle is a focal point for Robe, with both fighting for every possession and shooting with ease.

Kalangadoo's Shanen Pulkkinen and Shanae Neale put the pressure on in the circle, getting their hands to many balls, creating intercepts and forcing turnovers.

Jamie Ryan and Zoe Rout work the ball down the court with ease and feed into their goalies Maddy Bonanno and Estella Serle. Kalangadoo has won both times these teams met during the home and away season but the scores have been close and this weekend has the potential to go either way.

Youngsters shine in semi

17 and Under: Mount Burr 44 d Tantanoola 30

The rising stars of the Mid South East netball competition put on a solid display, with Mount Burr too strong in the end for a gallant Tantanoola.

The Mozzies looked to hit back after the Tigers claimed a win in the final minor-round clash of the season.

Mount Burr set up its win after a solid defensive effort early in the contest.

A two-goal first-quarter lead continued to grow as the defensive effort from the Mozzies stifled the Tigers' efforts in the goal circle.

Olivia Dean dominated the defensive circle for Mount Burr which saw the lead increase to 12 goals going into the final quarter.

Tantanoola never gave up but Mount Burr had a taste of victory and continued to push and run away with a solid 44-30 victory.

Dean was rightly named best for the victors, along with Jasmine Holland, while Ebony Cytrowski and Megan Holland were best for the Tigers.

15 and Under: Robe 37 d Hatherleigh 36

The excitement continued in the 215 and Under semi-final with Robe just across the line against Hatherleigh.

Georgie Wirth ensured Robe's work was rewarded, with a 100 per cent shooting record in the opening term.

However, she had to work for her possessions, as Niah Faulkner worked hard in goal defence for Hatherleigh and was dominant throughout the four quarters.

Kalli Nettle was the focal point in the Hatherleigh circle and shot with consistency.

Hatherleigh held a five-goal lead heading into the final term but Robe stepped up the defensive intensity in the last five minutes of the game.

As the clock wound down Robe's Emily Dew turned the ball over to covert and win the game by one goal.

Best players for the victors were Dew and Wirth, with Faulkner and Kalli Nettle best for Hatherleigh.

13 and Under: Glencoe 37 d Mount Burr 14

Glencoe began its 13 and Under contest in fine form and continued throughout for a comfortable victory.

Glencoe goalies Chloe Childs and Taya Bellinger combined well with great feeding from centre Layla Hawke, then finished with accuracy for the duration of the game.

Mount Burr defenders Becky Davis and Lexie Fox worked hard to try to stem the flow into the goal circle, with Fox taking strong rebounds.

Glencoe's Ruby Buckley for was a strong defensive presence in circle, picking off any loose balls.

In the end the Murphies were simply too strong and claimed a comfortable 37-14 victory.

Best players for the victors were Buckley and Hawke, with Davis and Fox best for Mount Burr.

Roosters turn it on in first final as Tigers give their all

A Grade: Robe 57 d Tantanoola 48

In a hotly-contested game, Robe claimed a nine-goal victory over Tantanoola in the Mid South East netball first semi-final on Saturday.

Both sides worked hard from the first whistle but accurate shooting by Emma Gould and Jami Walker saw the Tigers up by three goals at the first break.

Robe continued to fight hard and with goal shooter Sarah Laurie offering a strong focal point in the circle, they pegged back the Tigers lead by one goal.

Young Tiger Madi Kelly had a strong tussle in the mid-court with Annie Hunter, not giving an inch.

However, relentless defensive pressure by Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins in the Tantanoola goal circle meant limited opportunities for Gould and Walker.

At the other end of the court Sarah Laurie and Halle Carter went on a shooting spree converting 14 from 17 attempts to ensure the Roosters' hard work was not in vain.

Robe's wing defence Ellen Ramke kept Tantanoola's Casey Walker quiet on the wing to deny the usual drive into the circle.

Tantanoola's Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe worked tirelessly in the last line of defence, but again Laurie proved a real headache.

In the last term the Roosters' fitness began to show and allowed them to settle, while Laurie converted 15 goals from 17 attempts to continue her stellar shooting for the game.

In the end the Roosters were too strong and claimed a 57-48 victory.

Best players for the victors were Grant for her tireless contribution and Laurie for her impressive game in the circle.

Jami Walker and Bromley were best for the Tigers.

A Reserve: Glencoe 35 d Hatherleigh 34

The A Reserve semi-final went down to the wire, with Glencoe holding on in a nail-biter.

Neither side could make a decisive break throughout the contest, despite a six-goal advantage to Hatherleigh at the long break.

Glencoe closed the margin to one at the final break then held on as the clock wound down to claim a worthy victory.

Best for the victors were Laura Edwards and Chelsea Owen, with Millie Smith and Helen Hamilton best for Hatherleigh.

Blockbuster at Mount Burr

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo and Hatherleigh go head-to-head this weekend in the Mid South East football second semi-final.

Played at the Mount Burr oval on Saturday, the game promises to be a blockbuster.

At the end of the day one side can relax, with a grand final berth booked, while the other will face a tough, in-form Port MacDonnell the following week.

Both will want to take any chance of a preliminary final loss out of the equation.

Head-to-head this year neither side has a real advantage.

Back in Round 9 the Eagles were victorious to the tune of 42 points.

More recently, in Round 18 the Magpies hit their straps and ran out 15-point victors.

That in itself suggests a strong competition on Saturday, providing both sides are fit and ready to go.

Both have had a week off to prepare and should be right to hit the ground running.

A good start will be required but will not be the formula for victory.

Back in Round 9 Hatherleigh was off to a blistering start, with eight straight goals in the opening term to put the Magpies on notice.

Kalangadoo never recovered, struggling to find scoring opportunities as the game unfolded.

However, in Round 18 a similar scenario appeared to unfold, as Hatherleigh dominated the opening term.

This time the Eagles managed just four goals and four behinds, which left the door somewhat ajar.

Kalangadoo took advantage and held a one-point lead at the main break.

The game sea-sawed from there, with the final term the decider, as the Magpies controlled play to claim a hard-fought win.

It sets up an intriguing clash, with neither side a real favourite.

A quick look at the best players from that Round 18 clash again suggests an exciting contest.

Kalangadoo's best were Lachy Jones, Sam McManus, Patrick Davies, Ben Gregory, Andrew Stone and Josh La Rocca.

Add to that the firepower up forward in league leading goal kicker Michael Krieger, along with the likes of Ben Gregory, Alex Lyon, Ben Mules and a list of others capable in front of the big sticks and you have a recipe for success.

However, Hatherleigh's best also showcased some quality footballers, with Gerard McGrath, Jack Gray, Mark Marriott, Jack Skeer, Joseph Ferguson-Lane and Jordan Galpin all getting the nod.

Looking forward the Eagles have strong targets, including Brad Mitchell, Patrick Chay, Sam Telfer and possibly coach Jake Dowdy.

Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark said it is an "exceptionally tight" match-up and hopes for a good day and a good contest.

"I think it will be a tough but good game of footy," he said.

"We are not taking them lightly and there are only slim margins of differences between us in different areas.

"We have certain strengths over them and they have different strengths over us.

"I think it has all the makings of a good finals-football game."

Scoreboard pressure is always king in any contest and probably more so in finals football.

It is an area Stark said could be the difference on the day.

"Both sides will generate plenty of chances so it will be who can convert those chances to goals," he said.

"We have had good days and bad days in front of the sticks but one thing we have been good at this year is generating a lot of scoring shots.

"Last time we played them it was a relatively open game and we only generated 20 scoring shots, so you want to convert those to goals."

To claim the first grand final berth is an important part of the equation for Stark for a couple of reasons.

Kalangadoo will look to create space for its forwards when the Magpies face Hatherleigh in the Mid South East football second semi-final on Saturday.

"I don't think us or Hatherleigh would want to play Port Mac next week," he said.

"We are keen for a lot of reasons to get the job done - then you get the week off and Port Mac is a good side with a lot of talent.

"It would be nice to go straight through."

Fitness has been an issue for all sides this year but Stark said he hopes to have a full list for Saturday's game.

"I am pretty happy with where the group is at," he said.

"I don't think we have played Hatherleigh with a full squad or seen their full squad.

"That adds another element to it ... it could be a different look for both of us."

Likewise, Dowdy is keen to field a full-strength side, which he said would make the contest even tighter.

"I honestly think with both full lists it can go either way," he said.

"We are two pretty even teams.

"They have a couple of guns we need to nullify and that will be half the battle."

Hatherleigh has certainly had games this year where converting chances has not been a strength.

In the last clash against Kalangadoo both sides had 20 scoring shots but the Magpies won the day with better accuracy in front of goals.

"That has been an issue for us," Dowdy said.

"Last time we played them we had the same scoring shots and more inside 50s.

"I think we had five or six more inside 50s but didn't make the most of our opportunities."

Creating those opportunities against a tough defensive outfit like Kalangadoo brings its own challenges.

Much of that will stem from the ruck contests, providing first use of the ball to the Eagles' running players and clearing the mid-field.

"Both sides have good forwards, so whoever gets on top in the middle could win the day," Dowdy said.

"Kalangadoo's half back line repels a lot of attacks really well, so we have to make sure our forwards are manning up to stop that."

While booking the first grand final position is important, Dowdy said it was not the be-all and end-all of the season.

Jack Skeer will be a focal point up forward for Hatherleigh as the Eagles look to account for Kalangadoo in the Mid South East football second semi-final on Saturday.

He said if his side has to face Port MacDonnell in a preliminary final, so be it.

"It is always good to go straight in but if you want to win a flag you have to beat those teams," Dowdy said.

"I back our team in, so if we don't go straight in to the grand final, we just go onto the next week."

Like the Magpies, Dowdy said his side should be fit and ready to go.

"We should be pretty close to full strength," he said.

"We had about six out the first time we played and last game they had a few out.

"We had a few key blokes out last time so it would be good to have both sides full strength and have a real crack."

However each side lines up, the game is one not to be missed.

Kick-off time is 2pm.

One last game for honours

17 AND UNDER - SOUTH GAMBIER v MILLICENT

This was a tense battle in the second semi final and it looms as one of the matches of the day as South Gambier and Millicent go toe-to-toe for the 17 and Under title.

It will be their sixth meeting this year and aside from a couple of games where neither team were at full strength, their battles have been decided by one or two goals.

Millicent has the shooting combination of Annelise Janssen and Abby Denton, with the former using her height to great effect and Denton providing pinpoint passing and long-range finishing when required.

The mid court has plenty of speed and smarts with Lillie Paul, Ella Easterby, Saige Gibson and Daisy Tunkin, along with the defensive intensity of Maya Tarrant and Sophie O'Connor, who can also move into the defensive circle if required.

The Saints' defensive circle is of a high quality with A Grade goal keeper Portia McCrae and association runner-up best and fairest Lauren VanEeden.

The duo contest everything, work hard over the shot and rebound strongly.

They will certainly make the South goalies earn every possession.

The shooting combination of Alyssa Duncan and Lara Munro has continued to grow for the Demons across the season and they have a great understanding and finish accurately.

The mid court sees Milla Walmsley, Jade Jennings, Chelsea Ryan, Sophie Wight and Ellie Bouchier, who are all hard runners and tenacious when it is time to win the ball back.

Wight and Bouchier can also fill circle defensive roles if required.

Alannah Clayton and Chelsea Dunn will take those roles initially as they look to force the Millicent frontline into error and both had strong second semi final performances.

This one is a toss of a coin and whatever happens a high-quality team will have to miss out on a premiership medal.

15 AND UNDER A – MILLICENT v NORTH GAMBIER

The 15 and Under A decider will be another top battle as Millicent and North Gambier go head-to-head.

Both sides are filled to the brim with talent, including players who are permanent members of their respective clubs' senior teams.

Every match-up will be critical with potential matchwinners all over the court.

Millicent's mid-court of Poppy Venn and Piper Paul lead the way for the Saints and they are smart, blessed with speed and work hard offensively and defensively.

Cara Nulty leads the North mid court and if there has been a player of the finals thus far for the Tigers it may well be Jayme Young.

She has been at her tenacious best at wing defence, while Maggie Collins is a super smart feeder and will not waste a possession.

The Saints have a moving goal circle which relies on well-timed moves and accuracy with Mylee Lynch and Molly Cushion both super composed players.

They will need to be at their best, as Ava Collins and Ruby Mitchell come off a strong effort against West in the preliminary final.

At the other end of the court it is all about

Portia McCrae will be pivotal in defence for the Millicent 17 and Under side in this week's grand final.

Pictures: JAMES MURPHY

the match-up of Macey Griffith and Edie Easterby.

Griffith is the architect of the Tigers' front-line while Easterby creates turnover ball when her team needs it and was a key factor in the second semi final.

Another key match-up sees Elodie Adam, who is another composed goaler not afraid of the long-range attempt, looking to find the better of Mackinlee Alcock, who is a tight checking, athletic defender.

It will be a tight margin but the Saints should narrowly push over the line.

13 AND UNDER A - MILLICENT v WEST GAMBIER

When Millicent and West Gambier met in the second semi final the Saints were off to a stunning start and the young Roos never really recovered.

It will take a Herculean effort for West to topple the star studded Millicent line-up, which has Kalani Dunn and Ashlee Dean in goals - a combination which is strong on the hold, boasts well timed moves and finishes accurately.

The defensive end is also packed with talent led by Jeda Hibberd and Emily Denton while Asha Gysbers, who also plays mid court, able to fill a role as well.

Speaking of the mid court, 2022 13 and Under A best and fairest Sebella Coghlan is a super tough competitor for the Saints.

Of course West has talent as well, runner-up best and fairest Alice Allen a dominant defender who will need to deny Dean too many scoring opportunities.

Then there is the hard running Swaye Lindner, who will need to go step-for-step with Coghlan, while Lila Pearson is a good target in the shooting circle and accurate from any range.

Lara Murdoch at goal attack comes off an impressive preliminary final, as does surprise packet Libby Buck, who created plenty of turnover ball at wing defence on the weekend.

Millicent deservedly starts hot favourites and it is hard to see it not defending its 2021 title.

13 AND UNDER B - MILLICENT v CASTERTON SANDFORD

The 13 and Under B grand final looms as one of the tightest of the day as Millicent takes on Casterton Sandford for the 2022 flag.

The two teams faced off in the second semi final and it was forced into overtime with the Saints eventually winning by four.

Ylana Grigg and Rachel Forbes are a dynamic defensive combination for the Cats, with Grigg's 2022 season form rewarded with the association best and fairest.

The duo will test the Saints' shooting combination of Amarlie Thomson, who finished runner-up, Indi Coghlan and Olivia Thorne.

Thomson is strong on the hold and an accurate finisher and will be the key under the post for Millicent.

Through the mid court, the Cats will look to Marlee Robbins and Renee Gorman to lead the way, while the likes of Ella Matthews, Courtney Sigston and Lindy VanEeden will be crucial for the Saints.

Defensively the Saints will look to Lainie Rainsford and Isabelle Wilson to deny the sharp-shooting combination of Phoebe Rhook and Makayla Rees too much ball.

It looms as another tight contest with the Saints just getting over the line.

The sharpshooting of Annelise Janssen will be required in Millicent's 17 and Under grand final against South Gambier.

Kobe Gibson will be one to watch from Millicent when the Saints meet South Gambier in Saturday's Under 16 grand final.

Young Saints take to grand final stage

By James Murphy

UNDER 16 - SOUTH GAMBIER v MILLICENT

Millicent's Under 16 footballers have secured a grand final meeting with South Gambier.

The Saints emerged from last weekend's preliminary final with a good win over North Gambier, which sets up a big task this week to conclude the season.

It was a valiant effort from the side, having finished the minor season in third under the Demons and Tigers.

However, there remains plenty of work to do, with the head-to-head record heavily weighted in South's favour.

Millicent will take merit from its Round 16 performance, where it fell to the Demons by a slim seven points.

That game saw Jackson Dean put in a best-on-ground effort, while Harry Gibbs and Kobe Gibson were also impressive.

Gibson has had a breakout year in all aspects of his game, from representing Glenelg, to making his Western Border A Grade debut - all at the young age of 16.

He will be pivotal for the Saints, as they look to stem the flow of South talent which is sure to make the going tough.

The Demons finished the season undefeated and made short work of North in the qualifying final.

They will now enter the decider with fresh legs and full of confidence.

Jed Sims finished the medal count as joint runner-up best and fairest, while Jace Maxwell has been solid in front of goals and wrapped up the season with the Under 16 goalkicking award.

In their last meeting it was Charlie Lockwood who stepped up for South, with Lachlan Ray and Isaak Bouchier also in fine form.

While the grand final stage can always be relied upon for a shake up here and there, the scene appears set for a South Gambier premiership.

Eagles' U14s still a chance

By James Murphy

Penola 8.12 (60) d Padthaway Lucindale 2.2 (14)
Penola's Under 14 football team has lived to fight another day, as it solely represents the Eagles in Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara football finals.
They claimed a solid victory in Sunday's elimination final against Padthaway Lucindale and now face another must-win match against Bordertown.
On Sunday the young Eagles spread their wings early to establish a 16-0 lead by the first change.
Tougher conditions in the second quarter dried up the scoring somewhat, with just three minor scores, but they still denied their opponent a chance to score.
Heading into half time Penola sat in the box seat, but it piled on four goals in the third quarter for good measure.
Padthaway Lucindale finally managed to convert during the term, with a goal and a behind, yet it was too little, too late.

A 39-point lead at three-quarter time grew to 74 by the final siren and the Eagles propelled themselves deeper into finals.
An even contribution saw George Berkin, Ben Copping and Jack Cutchie all bag two goals, while William Harris and Jack Lambert found the big sticks once each.
Looking to this week, the Eagles will have the home-ground advantage when they play Bordertown in the semi final.
Their head-to-head record sits at a win apiece for the season, but Penola will need to bring its best if it is to keep its final's dream alive.
The winner of the clash will proceed to the preliminary final in Naracoorte and will play the loser of this Saturday's game between Naracoorte and Kybybolite for a chance to play in the grand final.

It will be a busy month for racing in September.

The race is on for a cure

By David Gilbert

September will be a busy month for racing on both sides of the border.
I have received a few requests as to when the Mindarie-Halidon Racing Club will conduct its annual meeting at Halidon.
It is just over a fortnight away on Sunday, September 18 when a couple of thousand people are expected to pack the Mallee venue for what is one of South Australia's biggest country meetings.
Casterton will conduct its penultimate meeting for 2022 this Sunday with the annual Heywood Cup fixture, then Mount Gambier is due to race the following Sunday (September 11).
Coleraine will stage its cup meeting on Friday, September 23, which is a public holiday in Victoria (AFL Grand Final eve).

Sunday, September 25 is when the Naracoorte Racing Club will burst into life for its first meeting of the 2022/23 season.
The Mount Gambier meeting on Sunday week will also host a luncheon as a fundraiser for prostate and breast cancer.
Bookings are being taken by the club (8725 4466) and the cost is $120/head for a three-course meal and drinks package.
There will be a light horse display as part of the upcoming Jericho Cup meeting to be held at Warrnambool in late November.
A heat of the Jericho Cup will be run at Mount Gambier on Sunday week where the winner will gain automatic entry into the final.
The $27,000 heat will be run over 3160 metres which will make it the longest flat race ever run at Glenburnie.

A Grade bows out but Eagles still in the hunt

The third quarter saw Kasey Venables take the GS bib in what was a relatively even term.
However, a late turn over to Naracoorte saw the Eagles down by four goals at the final break.
The final term provided plenty of entertainment, as both side threw everything at the contest, which eventually headed to extra time.
At the change of ends Penola held a tentative one-goal lead and held that margin for the final seven minutes to claim the win by a solitary goal.
Skeer was named best for the victors.

B Grade: Penola 59 d Borders 40
Penola was up to the task in B Grade, with a solid victory over Borders, despite some early nerves.

The Eagles were first to settle and scored the first six goals, before holding a five-goal advantage at the first break.
The win was set up with a dominant second term, where Penola applied full-court pressure, with the goalies on target.
The Eagles led by 11 goals at the main break, before a more-even third term, after both teams enjoyed fresh legs.
Despite the rejuvenated Borders mid-court, Penola extended its lead.
Borders made further changes in the fourth quarter in an attempt to narrow the margin.
Again it was an even term but Penola extended its lead for a convincing 19-goal win.
Aimee Lepley was named best for the victors.

C Grade: Penola 54 d Mundulla 25

Penola's C Grade showed no nerves as they took control and claimed a big win over Mundulla.
The Eagles made the most of every opportunity to score, with a big first term to set up the win.
Several turnovers in the defence line saw Penola lead by a commanding 20 goals at the main break.
Mundulla applied plenty of pressure but could not compete with the rampant Eagles.
A dominant four-quarter effort saw Penola claim a 29-goal victory, with Alice Auld best for the winners.
Division 1, Under 17: Penola 47 d Keith 37
Penola's Division 1 girls flew out of the blocks against Keith to set up a solid victory.
A six-goal lead at quarter time came on the back of a strong effort in the defensive circle, with Siobhan Adams and Heidi Berkin combining well to take intercept after intercept.
A strong second quarter provided an eight-goal lead at the main break but Keith continued to fight.
The third term was a tight tussle and Keith showed signs of a come-back but Kasey Venebles and Eva Copping's accuracy kept the Eagles in front heading to the final stanza.
The mid-court remained composed when it mattered in the last quarter, as Penola claimed the win by 10 goals.
Venebles was named best for the Eagles.
Penola now faces an undefeated Kingstons in what promises to be a nail-biting battle.

13 and Under A: Penola 25 d Padthaway 11
Penola's young netballers claimed a strong win over Padthaway but were off to a shaky start.

Nerves were evident in both teams, with turnovers and no scores for several minutes in the opening term.
Penola finally managed to score the first goal, which set the side up for the rest of the game.
With some strong passages of play down the court and patience passing the ball to the goalies, the Eagles extended the margin at each break to run out convincing winners.
Jasmine McIntyre was named best player, with intercept after intercept and a lot of defensive pressure.

Saints' season on the line

A RESERVE - MILLICENT V WEST GAMBIER
Millicent will start the A Reserve grand final against West Gambier as warm favourites.

However, the Roos' story looms as a fairytale and they have proven themselves in two tight finals and been in front when it counts most.

Their biggest issue is Millicent's Annelise Janssen as the talented tall shooter is hard to stop.

No doubt coach Melissa Ryan has put together a plan to stop the ball getting that far.

That will rely on circle defenders Racheal Langford and Tayla Wilson-Smith working in tandem - Langford providing the direction and Wilson-Smith the aerial brilliance.

It will also require some relentless defensive pressure from Chelsea Tremelling and Anna Bosco as they look to force the Millicent feeders into error.

Of course, the Saints' mid court boasts the experience of Jackie Sunderland and Daisy Tunkin, while Alana Craig is one of the more tenacious wing defenders in the competition.

Kayleigh Taylor was the surprise packet of the second semi final and she took the goal attack bib for basically the first time in her career.

She performed her role well, not just feeding Janssen but also putting up a few pressure shots of her own.

The Saints also have Kate Walker, who is smart with ball in hand and not afraid to take the shot.

The West shooting circle has become a real weapon with young guns Claire Hunter and Jasmine Davey combining well and finishing accurately.

They move between a holding circle and moving circle and have a good understanding when it comes to opening up space for each other.

They will need to be at their best when they take on Jo Wilson, who is a tight-checking defender and captain Alice Pratt, who never gives an inch.

The defensive end can also utilise Keely Stuart who is athletic and had an impact in the second half of the second semi final.

The Roos came from behind on the weekend to snatch victory from East Gambier so Millicent will be aware they will not give up.

However, the Saints should have the edge and reclaim the A Reserve silverware.

B GRADE - NORTH GAMBIER V MILLICENT
It was a one-goal game in the second semi final with the Tigers advancing but Millicent carries serious momentum from a convincing preliminary final win over a strong South Gambier line-up.

The Saints came out of the blocks firing and North will be well aware, this Millicent team is on a mission.

Jacqui Matthews and Jemma Hayward are a formidable shooting combination for Millicent and they were on song in the preliminary final.

Arguably one of the most pivotal battles of the day will be Hayward's battle with association runner-up best and fairest Nat Fox, who is a tough defender.

Brianna Lush also has a task as she takes on Matthews, who basically runs the Saints' frontline.

Hayward and Matthews are fortunate to have a strong mid court feeding them the ball.

Tiarna Verbena and Layla Baker rarely waste a possession and the former's match-up through the centre with Amelia Redman will be another one to watch.

Redman is all class and she is prepared to play a strong defensive game as well driving hard in offence.

The other mid-court headache for the Saints is Georgia McInerney, with the experienced mid courter a key factor in the second semi final win.

The North shooting circle was also a factor in that final, with association best and fairest Bri Fuller and Ashleigh Ashby using their speed and well timed moves to unsettle Millicent defenders.

Captain Nicole Domaschenz, Krystal Coghlan and Kodi Lucas will share the defensive circle duties and they will need to be at their tight-checking best to stop the scoreboard ticking over for the Tigers.

Millicent also has the option of throwing Domaschenz into the shooting circle where her height will definitely challenge the North defence.

This looms as another nailbiter where the Saints may turn the tables.

Kate Walker will look to make an impact in the Millicent A Reserve attack when the Saints meet West Gambier in this week's grand final.

Final challenge awaits as Saints face off with Demons

By James Murphy

RESERVES - SOUTH GAMBIER v MILLICENT

A convincing preliminary final victory over West Gambier has booked Millicent's Western Border football Reserves team a place alongside South Gambier in this weekend's grand final.

The Saints enter the clash with confidence, but it will be no easy feat to overcome the Demons, who have had a faultless season so far.

They demolished Millicent in the second semi final to the tune of 11 goals, while past meetings throughout the season showed similar results.

The depth at South is undeniable and despite teams in all five football deciders, there will still be a few disappointments as selectors are forced to make some tough decisions this week.

The Demons boast a powerful lineup, with leading goalkicker Kym Eagleson bagging 106 majors for the season so far.

Ben Medhurst finished joint best and fairest at the weekend's league medal count, while Eagleson was joint runner-up.

In the second semi Riley Sturges stood up to the occasion, while Sam McTaggart and Luke Gray were also instrumental.

Luke Foran has been another who has shown good form in 2022 and he will be another to keep an eye on.

With many players pushing for A Grade positions throughout the season, South's Reserves sit in the box seat for the premiership.

Dylan Shanks has been a key contributor for the Saints' Reserves this season and will look to step up again in Saturday's grand final against South.
Picture: JAMES MURPHY

They have not dropped a game for the year and their smallest winning margin was a 53-point result over Millicent back in Round 11.

The Saints are not without their own talent and they will need to call on it all to keep up with their rival.

Dylan Shanks finished joint runner-up in the medal count and will be out to prove why on the big stage.

Mitchell Reilly has also been a regular contributor and has appeared in Millicent's best consistently throughout the season, while also performing well in front of goal.

He was on song last week with a six-goal bag against the Roos, while Clay Reilly put in a best-on-ground performance.

Steven Duldig has been another focal point up forward this year and he has plenty of grand final experience under his belt.

While the odds are stacked in South's favour, stranger things have happened on grand final day as both teams fight it out for the season honours.

A Grade bows out

A Grade: Penola 46 l/t Kybybolite 50

Penola A Grade netballers bowed out of the Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara finals with a tough loss to Kybybolite on the weekend.

The Eagles came out firing with the first two goals of the match before Kyby settled and lifted the intensity to then score the next 11 in a row.

Errors piled up all over of the court as the Eagles struggled to hit targets and create space.

Changes came at quarter time, with Kaitlin Egan to WA and Tess Porter to WD.

Penola rallied and closed the margin back to eight down at half time with accurate shooting from April Possingham, with 9/9.

Penola again lifted at the start of the third term, with some strong ball movement in attack and conversion of some turnovers from Brooke Klemm, Maddy Teakle and Tess Porter.

The Eagles trailed by five goals heading into the last term, then closed to within two.

However, Kyby remained composed and got more turnovers in the mid-court to claim the win by four goals.

Possingham was named best player for the Eagles.

A Reserve: Penola 59 d Naracoorte 58

Penola's A Reserve side remains in the finals race after a nail-biting one-goal overtime victory over Naracoorte.

The Eagles started well, up by three goals early before Naracoorte steadied.

Penola was then down by eight goals mid-way through the first quarter but closed the margin to five by the first break.

The second quarter saw increased pressure off the Eagles' defensive line, which created much-needed turnovers.

Accurate shooting from Karly Honner and strong drives across the circle from Tayla McKeon opened up the goal circle to feed the ball accurately.

The accurate Naracoorte goalies forced the Eagles defence to work hard, with pressure from Sally Skeer and Ellise Berkin allowing Indi Venables and Chloe Long to pick off passes and force balls out of court.
