Loxy a little cavalier with his freedom

A holiday miracle has happened, with lost dog Loxy reunited with his owners, after escaping late last year.

The King Charles Cavalier disappeared on Christmas Day, much to the horror of his owners.

Thankfully, Loxy was found and returned safe and well.

In short supply

By Sophie Conlon

An unfavourable growing season last year has seen buying limits placed on potato products in the supermarkets and local growers say the shortage is likely to continue.

South East Potato Growers Association committee member and Kalangadoo potato farmer Tim Heysen said harsh conditions had been repeated this season, causing late planting and, he expected, a lower yield.

"[The potato shortage] is a reflection of last season, and I think it's likely to continue because there's going to be probably more severe shortages this season," he said.

Though Mr Heysen said the Limestone Coast was not hit so badly last season, this season was looking like a different story.

Glamping progress

By Aidan Curtis

A Proposal to turn Port MacDonnell's Dingley Dell Conservation Park into a tourist hotspot and events space is moving forward.

Coonawarra Bush Holiday Park owner Steven Moignard gained council approval for the proposal after appearing before the Limestone Coast Southern Regional Assessment Panel.

The plans include turning the site into a camping and events facility alongside the historic museum site, adding 20 glamping tents, camping amenities, an activity centre and an outdoor events space.

Mr Moignard said the meeting with the panel went really well, but he was quite nervous going into it.

"They [meetings] can be a fairly hostile sort of thing because you've got whoever doesn't want a project to go ahead - generally neighbours or people who feel personally affected by a proposal," he said.

"They get the chance to raise any objections that they want and you've got to point them in the direction of the solutions or defences to those objections.

"We did all that, everyone had their chance to have their say, and the members voted three to one in favour of approving the Dingley Dell proposal with added conditions about the events."

Mr Moignard said one of the main issues raised in the proposal came from the events, and the panel approved with conditions including a cap on the number of events per year and the need for a community event management plan.

"It's still a highly conditional development proposal; the consents are there, but you can see a very, very long list of things we have to comply with in order for the development to proceed," he said.

"I'm glad we've got to this stage and I'm really looking forward to the final bits of paper from the government so we can start actually ordering things and start working on some of the marketing and online stuff."

It was not all smooth sailing for Mr Moignard, though, with plenty of vocal opposition to the proposal during the meeting with the panel.

The National Bank closed in 2008 and the State Heritage Listed building is now as a residence.

Banking on Penola as regional centre

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called SA Heritage, to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

NATIONAL BANK

The potential for Penola to become the centre of the South East of South Australia was recognised in the late 1850s and early 1860s.

In September 1859, the National Bank, being then less than a year old, resolved to open branches at Robe and neighbouring towns.

But their intentions became known, and the rival SA Banking Company secretly chartered the steamer "Ant" in Adelaide and despatched her down the coast with staff and bank furniture on board.

As soon as the National Bank realised that it had been forestalled, it retaliated.

The new overland telegraph from Adelaide to Melbourne had just been laid through Robe, and the bank wired its supporters there that it would be opening as soon as possible.

Quickly, the Adelaide chairman of the bank, Abraham Scott, a wiry little figure with a long black moustache, rode overland in the coach to Robe, followed by staff with safes and cash and ledgers.

They arrived only a few days after the steamer had landed the men of the rival bank.

They had not yet lost the race. On Sept 8, 1859, the National Bank opened at Robe.

After two days in the saddle, visiting properties on the way, Scott reached Penola, then a straggling village of stone houses and wooden huts.

He persuaded the storekeeper and postmaster, Allan Clark Coleman, to act as agent of the National Bank at 50 pounds a year.

The opening of the town's first bank was a noteworthy event.

In 1865 the bank converted the Penola agency into a full branch, and not long afterwards erected this spacious two-storey building of local stone.

The top storey was the manager's residence. Tragedy occurred in 1875 when a servant girl Margaret Balfour lost her life in a fire lighting accident.

Although later described as aboriginal in The Penola Pennant of October 30 1958, she was indeed Scottish.

Margaret was the 1st cousin three times removed of Margaret Hume, who visited the Local History Centre in recent years.

The National Bank offered a complete banking service for all sections of the community until it closed in 2008.

Purchased privately following the departure of the last resident manager, this State Heritage Listed building remains as a residence.

Wine market opens as India deal inked

By Aidan Curtis

A new trade deal between the South Australian Government and India is being hailed as a positive for winemakers in the Coonawarra region.

On December 29, 2022, the State Government announced it was cutting tariffs on a number of South Australian exports to India.

Tariffs on wine exports have been cut from 150 to 75 per cent for bottles over US$15, while bottles over US$5 have been cut to 100 per cent.

Coonawarra Vignerons president Dan Redman said the deal was welcome news overall in the long-term.

"It's a new market, an emerging market, so that means it's not going to replace China and the exports that have been stopped there," Mr Redman said.

"It is good news that the government is working towards having these markets open up for us.

"With the sheer population there, and I think there is a growing wine culture there, maybe down the track long-term that could be a really positive market."

Mr Redman said there were still short-term headwinds to face in the wine industry, but Coonawarra was in good shape, especially if the new market grows.

"I think any extra markets that open up and have the potential to sell wine and have a positive influence on the wine industry, that's a good thing," he said.

"In the long-term viability, we're in a great spot where we've got great weather, a very important resource in water.

"Coonawarra is well-placed to push through these headwinds and, although India is not replacing China, it is a positive."

Acting Minister for Trade and Investment Andrea Michaels said South Australian businesses should be able to capitalise on a number of opportunities through the tariff cuts.

"This landmark deal means improved market access and removes trade barriers to deliver a massive shot in the arm to local producers, manufacturers and retailers," she said.

Tariffs on wines exported to India will also see staged reductions of 5 per cent per year over the next decade.

Another low-yield potato season ahead

"This area I think will be down, we've had a very challenging planting season that has delayed plantings because of wet weather, but those conditions have been more severe in other districts," he said.

"In this area this year, late rains in spring would have caused the drama." Ideally, potatoes are planted in October through mid-November, though Mr Heysen said he was still planting crop as late as December.

"We've got some crops that were planted outside that. There were some crops that went in in December which is less than ideal, probably two to three weeks outside the optimum planting period," he said.

"It means it won't get the number of growing days it needs, the end result is lower yields, but it all depends on what the season does."

He hoped the rest of the season would be 28 degrees with blue skies, and said a huge rain event would be catastrophic.

Harvesting in the Upper South East will begin this month, while in lower parts of the region it will start in February and finish in April.

Potatoes grown in the Limestone Coast are generally used for processing, meaning they become hot chips and crisps, or are certified seed.

Of the 600,000 tonnes of processing potatoes grown in Australia, Mr Heysen said about 130,000 tonnes were grown in the region.

"The majority are grown in Tasmania... this area here is the biggest area in mainland Australia," he said.

Mr Heysen also said we would likely see a price increase on the shelves that would reflect the difficulty of the seasons.

"Ultimately, all segments of the industry have to absorb that, growers, processors and the consumer all suffer in that process," he said.

Pet escapee

In what was supposed to be a happy Christmas Day turned sour for Penola couple Ray and Gerry Haines when Loxy, their King Charles Cavalier disappeared on Christmas Day while the couple were celebrating Christmas with friends at Port McDonnell.

The couple left Penola in the morning to join friends at the Port MacDonnell hotel for Christmas lunch and left Loxy at the home of their friends Terry and Loretta Sims.

Making sure the gate was closed they headed off, however on arrival home Loxy was nowhere to be found.

Panic stations set in and they and some friends spent all afternoon looking for him to no avail.

Sadly they had to come back to Penola without him.

"It was absolutely devastating and I didn't sleep all night," Gerry said.

The couple went back everyday looking for him and although there were a few sightings, they had no luck.

Early on the fourth day she received a phone call from a lady to say he had been found.

The lady had got up in the morning and saw him so took off after him followed by her husband in a ute and caught him.

"A few walkers were with us when we got there and it was very emotional.

He was only about half a kilometre away from where he went missing.

Both Ray and I would like to sincerely thank all our friends, the community of Port MacDonnell, the SEAWL and especially Kirsty who found him.

"I think he has become a kangaroo and jumped the fence," Gerry said.

Beachport market bustling

By Caroline Hammat

Beachport experienced one of their busiest weekends with a record 80 stalls booked for the annual January market.

Crowds flocked to Railway Terrace with traders reporting a successful day in perfect weather conditions.

The Pool of Siloam duck race held that afternoon sold a record breaking 1634 plastic ducks before the race.

It is the first time in 22 years of running the event that the Beachport District Development Association (BDDA) sold out of all ducks on hand. The popular Beachport Lions donut van, parked on the foreshore, is always busy at this time of year and members are grateful for the extra support from Kangaroo Inn Area School students, taking pressure of Lions club members to manage the van.

Students from the school, in partnership with a parent, are helping to sell donuts.

In return for the support a donation will be made by the Lions club toward the school's 2024 camp.

Beachport Rivoli Bay Lions Club member Damien Green said it was a good partnership.

"It's working very well and the kids are really enjoying it, I think the parents are getting a fair bit out of it too, it's a bit of a laugh," he said.

The Jetty to Jetty run also went ahead on market day with 30 runners taking on the 18km Southend to Beachport challenge.

Organiser of the sand run event, Brad Tilley, said about half of the participants walked the track and the other half ran, with the fastest time going to Owen Williams from Lake Leake who finished the course in 1 hour, 10 minutes.

Winners of the 2023 duck race were Lotti Crase with her yellow duck the first to cross the finish line, 2nd Kyla Carruthers, 3rd Rhys Fishwick, 4th Damien Green, 5th Hannah Walker, 6th Adalyn Hann, 7th Oscar Slape and 8th Clover.

William and Kate Bradley holidaying from Victoria put their hands up to volunteer at the popular Lions donut van with Damien Green.

COULD A RETAIL TRAINEESHIP WORK FOR YOU?

Are you currently working in retail or looking to start your retail career? Or perhaps looking to gain work during your gap year before starting university?

Then why not consider a retail traineeship. The retail sector is one of Australia's largest employers and the demand for skilled workers remains high.

You can kick-start your career in retail at TAFE SA Mount Gambier with a traineeship and gain a competitive advantage by studying either:

- Certificate III in Retail (SIR30216)
- Certificate IV in Retail Management (SIR40316).

As a trainee you will:

- learn real skills in a retail workplace
- gain a nationally recognised qualification
- earn a wage while you learn
- develop the skills required by industry.

For further information on retail traineeships in your area contact:

Pup reunited with owners

By Caroline Hammat

The determination and persistence of three children ensured a nine month old golden retriever was reunited with her owners after spending three nights lost in scrubland between Lake George and the coastline.

Lexi and her owners Jesse Truee and Chloe Pitcher from Melbourne were camping with friends near Lake George.

The couple had enjoyed New Years in the same spot last year and decided to return with their new pup.

Expecting fireworks could go off at midnight the couple zipped Lexi in to her own swag.

They returned five minutes later to check on her after a large group of campers nearby set off fireworks.

In that short time Lexi had busted through the canvas swag and bolted.

"We got straight in the cars and basically searched the entire night" Ms Pitcher said.

"It was so hard because everyone was letting off fireworks at that time of night, they kept going and were in multiple different directions."

Unable to find Lexi Ms Pitcher and Mr Truee reached out on social media for help as the temperature climbed into the mid 30's on New Years Day.

The Facebook post went viral with assistance and advice offered from across the state and the couple trying everything suggested.

One man went looking at 11pm hoping to see her eyes in a spotlight, another sent up a drone which found footprints possibly belonging to the dog.

Even Mr Truee's parents from Melbourne and Ms Pitcher's sister and boyfriend from Torquay drove to Beachport to help look for Lexi.

Hampering the search was poor mobile service in the region with the only sighting coming from a Melbourne man who saw the missing dog posts after returning home.

He told the couple Lexi had run through their campsite around midnight on New Years eve and they heard howling at times.

"He sent me the location of their camp spot and we moved to where they were that night to see if we could hear her" Mr Truee said.

"We didn't hear anything so we went back into Beachport."

It was at the point where the couple hadn't slept or eaten properly for three days when two Melbourne families camping near The Bluff at Nora Creina spotted a dog about 5 kilometres from where Lexi had gone missing.

The Herselman and Senekal families had limited mobile service and were completely unaware of the viral social media campaign surrounding the lost dog.

11 year old McKenzie Herselman told The South Eastern Times that it was her dad who first saw the loose dog, with lead and collar attached, on the dunes.

"It was the day we were packing up to go home," McKenzie said.

"I see Lexi is running up the sand dune, she runs around a little mound of trees at the top and then runs behind the forest.

"My dad starts getting very worried about the dog and we see her again about 45 minutes later."

Lexi began to bark at them from the top of the dune and McKenzie and her friend, Roux (9) and younger brother Alec (6) decide to take water and dog treats in an attempt to befriend the dog.

While the parents continued to pack up the campsite the children spent over an hour in the dunes playing a game of cat and mouse with Lexi, who was laying low under bushes hiding.

At one stage McKenzie walked right by her without noticing.

"I almost didn't see her because she was under a bush," McKenzie said.

"When I did see her I froze because she looked so scared and full of fear, I felt really bad for her.

"I quickly get on my knees so I don't look big and scary and I go further away from her.

"I yelled for Roux to tell him I had found her, he comes and also gets on his knees because our parents told us to do that so she doesn't get scared.

The children still did not know the dog's name so used different phrases to try and befriend her.

Lexi responded to the word treats but wouldn't come to them or take any of the snacks thrown toward her and eventually the dog moved further away.

McKenzie's mum, Jeanie Herselman, was worried about the frightened dog and prepared her daughter for the likely possibility of having to leave her in the dunes, assuring her they would alert the ranger of her location once they were within mobile range.

Eventually the children decided there was nothing more they could do and began to head back to camp.

"I look behind and see she starts following us and I look at her name tag and see Lexi so I say 'Hi Lexi'" McKenzie said.

"I let her sniff my hand and immediately she let me pat her so I grabbed her lead.

"I started walking down the dune and my mum says she was really shocked to see me holding her lead."

Ms Herselman had their two Australian bulldogs with them which were put in the car with the air conditioning on so Lexi could come into camp.

After three nights in the scrub, Lexi was dehydrated and drank several bowls of water the children gave her, eventually eating some food.

With one mobile phone between the four adults offering service from the top of a sand dune they could phone Lexi's owners from the number on her collar.

"We were very happy to reunite her, she was so happy to see her family, you could just see they love her immensely" Ms Herselman said.

"I would've had sleepless nights knowing we left a dog in the dunes, so we were really happy to get her back to her family.

"But these kids didn't give up, even after we told them to not get their hopes up they continued trying so we are really proud of them."

Ms Pitcher and Mr Truee received the phone call that Lexi had been found while they were talking to a pet detective about the possibility of getting sniffer dogs and thermal drones out to find her.

"I was going to wait until we had finished with the pet detective but it kept ringing so I answered it and got the news this lady had a hold of Lexi." Mr Truee said.

Lexi the nine month old golden retriever camping before going missing for three nights.

Ms Pitcher said it was "the best news in the world."

"We just wanted to get there straight away," she said.

The couple praised the children who persevered with Lexi making sure she was safely reunited and are thankful to the Beachport community for the assistance and support they received.

The couple look forward to returning to Beachport in the future with Lexi.

Cottage gets a spruce-up

Wilson Cottage will soon be inviting visitors to Penola, as the work to turn it into a cozy B&B continues.

The cottage, which is part of the historic Petticoat Lane, is a four-roomed stone cottage built by William Wilson.

It was built after William returned from the goldfields.

The building was donated to the Penola Branch of the National Trust of Australia in 1985, and it was the home of Jill's Vintage for many years.

Now, the house is being carefully renovated to allow for a new lease on life, as a B&B.

Penola National Trust branch secretary Kerry DeGaris said the building was heritage listed, and renovations were being done to keep in line with the heritage of the cottage.

They include the installation of a detached bathroom, and a kitchenette.

"Basically, this will be like what looks like a galvanised iron tank back here, with a little walkway into the bathroom," she said.

The work is being funded through a $30,000 grant received from the State Government, which was matched by the local branch, and generous donations from locals.

"The intention is that we hope that someone will rent it as a B&B and come and take it over as a business," Ms De Garis said.

"There used to be Jill's Vintage here and before that it was the linen shop, but the days of having an actual shop down Petticoat Lane, is over.

"So we thought 'what can we do with these buildings?'

"Obviously, if you can get a building being used, it's going to be maintained better than it is at the moment, and we acknowledge that.

"If we can generate some income, it just means that we can then put it back into the buildings owned by the Penola National Trust, which is one of our major remits.

Donations for the project are welcome, and all donations will be tax deductible.

Kerry DeGaris is excited to see work begin on Wilson Cottage.

Please contact The Penola National Trust.

There are three categories - Bronze $100,

Silver $250 and Gold $1,000 and donors will be acknowledged on a plaque to be placed near the cottage.

William Wilson has many descendants in the region, including the Balnaves, Redman and Brand families.

Nurses quarters upgrade

By Caroline Hammat

A group of dedicated volunteers have put the call out to the community for support in upgrading the Millicent Hospital's nurses quarters.

The building currently offers accommodation for trainee nurses who stay for a six week period while training at the hospital.

Millicent and Surrounds Health Support Group (MASHSG) member, Trevor Sinclair, explained the goal behind the project.

"We need the students nurses to leave Millicent with a really positive impression" he said.

"Even if they just come back to visit that would be a win, if they come back for employment that would be absolutely brilliant.

"Every town is trying to attract medical professionals, doctors and nurses.

"You've got to be up with the field, a point of difference is even better and to make sure people leave here with a positive impression."

The current Millicent Hospital and what was known as the Matrons House opened in 1964.

Over the years the modest accommodation built for the matron has been expanded and become student accommodation for individuals undertaking nursing studies.

The building consists of five bedrooms, one bathroom that includes a single toilet, kitchen, lounge room and study area.

The unit is neat and tidy but in need of a complete overhaul to make it more comfortable and accommodating for five students of mixed gender.

Stage one of the three stage project is underway and concentrates on the student's sleeping quarters with an estimated budget of $3,000 for each room.

MASHSG and Millicent Hospital Health Advisory Council (HAC) volunteers began work on the project on December 28, with a group of 10 removing the furniture, gutting the premises and painting walls and doors over three days.

MASHSG volunteers Simone Berry, Trevor Sinclair, Ron Wood and Darryl Looker in the kitchen they plan to upgrade later in the year.

Simone Berry is a MASHSG volunteer and was onsite Tuesday with her sleeves rolled up and paintbrush in hand.

Penola Rodeo back on the calendar after five years

"We believe if you've got somewhere nice to sleep everything else is ok, so we are in the middle of doing stage one at the moment" she said

"The carpets go in today for the five bedrooms but we actually need funds for new furniture.

"Each room will include a study desk, wardrobe, side table, bed, mattress, lamps and new window furnishings.

"We've painted everything except the kitchen and the bathroom because they are massive jobs and we don't want to touch them until we've got everything ready to roll out."

Stage two of the project is the dining, kitchen and living areas with the group open to the possibility of using a second hand kitchen if one becomes available.

The accommodation is booked continually with the exception of a single two week period later in the year making it available to replace the existing kitchen during that time.

"It will be all hands on deck, we will have the electricians and plumbers lined up" Ms Berry said.

"Everything will be lined up as much as we can because we will only have a week to do it."

"The final stage of the project is the bathroom that will not be started until the end of the year.

"There is a fair bit of work to do there but we have a bit more time, we have about four weeks to do that."

The two volunteer groups are relying on donations of money, labour, services or goods from businesses, service clubs and benefactors to see the project through to fruition.

Initial funding has been secured to commence stage one and South East Property Sales has been the first business to offer financial support with further funds needed to complete the project.

Penola Rodeo back on the calendar after five years

By Kathy Fennell

All plans are well in hand for the Penola and district rodeo which is scheduled for Saturday, January 21 at McCorquindale Park, the Penola Showgrounds.

The gates at this hugely popular family event will open at 3pm.

Entry to the public is from the southern gate and security will patrol the whole oval and surrounds and will not hesitate to nab anyone that has not paid the admission fee.

Once the admission fee has been by paid patrons they will be issued with a wrist band.

Rodeo committee President Scott Hetherington said the whole district is pumped to see another rodeo in the town.

"We haven't had a rodeo for five years due to Covid.

Many kids in the area have never seen a rodeo so they are all very excited," he said.

The event is full catered for with a variety of food available and a bar will be in operation. There will also be a bucking bull in operation for patrons to try their bull riding skills, along with live music.

You can also watch the action on the big screen.

"All we need is a good night weather wise to attract patrons and I think we will have a boomer of a night," Scott said.

Ensure back-to-school shopping won't break the bank

Financial Educator and Money Expert Vanessa Stoykov has shared some Back to School Tips.

"As a mum of three boys, I know how challenging shopping for a new school year can be," she said.

"After the holiday season and with more families feeling financial pressure heading into 2023, my advice is to plan ahead, shop online and shop early to make sure you're getting the best deals.

"With a clear plan, you can invest in quality items that will last the year ahead, while also saving money on supplies we all know kids will inevitably lose, break or wear out!"

Vanessa's tips:

- Buy in bulk when the savings are good. When you see a bargain, it's smart to grab an extra one you know you will need later down the track. Buying on sale and storing it can save you serious dollars in the long run. But remember, it's only good value if you can afford it at the time.
- Buy bigger, so it lasts longer. While it's not recommended to do with items like shoes, with clothes, it is often smart to go up a size. Kids grow fast, so having slightly baggy uniforms for a little while can pay off.

- Shop online. This will allow you to focus on shopping for the things you need and nothing you don't. When shopping online at BIG W, you can select "Pick up" your order from your local store for no extra fee, saving you both time and money.
- Change your language. Instead of saying, "Do not lose this" to your kids, say something like... "You've grown up a lot this year. I bet you are going to be so much more careful". Or "You make me so happy when you bring home your lunch box!" Positive language really works to encourage positive behaviour.

- Shop to your values as well as looking for value. What is important to you and your family? Once you cut out the noise of what everyone is doing, it makes spending a lot more targeted. You can look for good value in products that align to you and your kids needs.

Crowds flock to Beachport

By Caroline Hammat

The weather was perfect for Beachport's annual January market and duck race organised by the Beachport Development District Association.

Crowds flocked to the seaside town to wander through the highest number of market stalls ever lining the streets with traders reporting a successful day.

The Pool of Siloam duck race held later in the afternoon attracted the traditional large crowds who waited patiently for the race to begin.

A new record was set by the fundraiser as 1634 ducks were sold, making it the first time in 22 years the ducks completely sold out.

Following the launch of the annual summer Australian Lamb advert, Aussie Lamb is back to challenge the term “Un-Australian” and remind the world that it’s all our differences, along with our delicious lamb, that unites us.

Lamb ad questions identity

Following the launch of the annual summer Australian Lamb ad, Aussie Lamb is back to challenge the term “Un-Australian” and remind the world that it’s all our differences, along with our delicious lamb, that unites us.

Research conducted by Australian Lamb found that almost half (45 per cent) of Aussies have been called out for an “Un-Australian” act, while over half (52 per cent) have used the term to describe someone or something. It seems it is most popular among Millennials, with the majority (60 per cent) having called someone or something “Un-Australian” or been called it themselves (59 per cent).

Unsurprisingly perhaps, the rise in living costs over the last 12 months have dominated the list of the most “Un-Australian” things to have happened in 2022. However, aside from the lettuce hitting the headlines, it’s the $34 watermelon causing the most uproar (55 per cent), above both rising rent / property prices (36 per cent) and rising interest rates (32 per cent).

Now though, it seems that these call outs have gone too far. More than half (53 per cent) of Australians believe that the term “Un-Australian” has become so overused in 2022 – it’s hard to know what is or isn’t Australian anymore. Interestingly, more men than women (61 per cent versus 46 per cent) believe this to be the case.

The latest advert from Australian Lamb imagines an alternate reality which sees people being called out for being “Un-Australian” before being banished to “Un-Australia” – an infinite cultural exile.

In the lifeless desert, we meet Aussies who’ve committed offences from switching off the test cricket, eating a meat pie with a knife and fork, to not knowing the second verse to Khe Sanh.

When Lambassador Sam Kekovich appears in a cloud of smoke, alongside a sizzling BBQ and perfectly searing lamb, it’s clear all this “Un-Australian” accusing has gone too far.

Graeme Yardy, Domestic Market Manager at MLA says: “The use of “Un-Australian” has got out of control, everything from how you eat your pie to having a wedding on Grand Final day is on the chopping block. Chances are you’ll be viewed as “Un-Australian” by someone! What makes Australia great is that we celebrate our differences. Lamb is famous for bringing Aussies together, so what better way to cut through this division and help us come together over these collective differences than with a good lamb BBQ.”

“As ever, this campaign is topical, tongue in cheek and positions lamb as the meat of choice to unite us.”

The research confirmed that our national foods and eating habits are also sacred, with a Bunnings with no sausage sizzle (28 per cent), eating a pie with a knife and fork (27 per cent) and toasting fairy bread (24 per cent) all being called out as “Un-Australian”.

Our behaviours are also not exempt from scrutiny, with some of the top actions deemed “Un-Australian” being:

1. Admitting to not knowing who Shane Warne is (47 per cent)
2. Having a wedding on Grand Final Day (44 per cent)
3. Supporting New Zealand against ANY other team (39 per cent)
4. Not knowing who’s playing State of Origin (30 per cent)

This years’ ad launched across free to air and subscription TV nationally last week. You can watch the film via the Australian Lamb Facebook and YouTube page or view the content and access lamb recipes at australian-lamb.com.au.

Water allocation review underway

By Aidan Curtis

Limestone Coast Landscape Board (LCLB) has started its review in the the Lower Limestone Coast Water Allocation Program (WAP).

LCLB chair Penny Schulz told The Border Watch that the review has been under way for around three months now and is expected to be completed by the end of 2023.

“It’s quite a controversial water allocation plan, and that’s partly because it’s such a complex water resource with lots of different industries in it,” she said.

“We’re pretty excited that’s underway, we’ve got a fantastic stakeholder advisory group that’s already met twice and they’re working through that challenging work.”

Motoring

The Ford Everest Sport V6

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Ford recently updated its Everest with improvements to safety and comfort, so it was a good opportunity to carry out another road test and see what this popular model is like now.

There are four variants: Ambiente, Trend, Sport and Platinum. The first two come with the choice of rear- or four-wheel drive the other two are RWD only.

Our test vehicle was the Everest Sport with four-wheel drive. It has a recommend retail price of $69,090, to which on-road costs have to be added.

STYLING

Everest is a great looking SUV with a frontal appearance that certainly leaves no doubt this is a tough vehicle aimed at owners who want to make a statement that they are serious about what they're driving.

The large black grille has a chrome-look horizontal centre that extends almost the full width of the vehicle. Outside of the grille are high-tech-look headlights and squared-off daytime running lights.

There are indents in the doors that probably add to the strength but are also there to add style. Wheel arches are rounded in traditional 4WD fashion. The neat rear has a lip spoiler that probably helps keep rain off it but it also suits the styling.

INTERIOR

This Everest is equally large inside. The front seats are wide and comfortable to provide good support during moderately hard cornering, though obviously it's not a sporty vehicle. The middle row seats can carry three but there's a sensible emphasis on the two outer rears being set up for comfort for two.

The floor is almost flat in the second row which adds to the comfort factor.

The rearmost pair of seats aren't easy to get into and out of for adults but are fine for kids. And the kids will love to travel there to be as far from mum and dad as possible...

INFOTAINMENT

The Everest Sport we tested had a 12-inch infotainment display, which is larger than the 10-inch on the lower spec'd models. It has wireless Apple CarPlay and Android Auto.

Ford's new SYNC 4 architecture has a lot of features and functionality and is easy to use.

There's a wireless charging pad, digital radio and FordPass connectivity that lets you use remote start, location services and locking/unlocking.

ENGINES / TRANSMISSIONS

The Everest Sport we tested was powered by a 3.0-litre V6 turbo-diesel that develops up to 184 kilowatts of power, and a very strong 600Nm of torque.

Everest is offered with two drivetrain options: a 4x2 driving the rear wheels is only available on the 2.0-litre Ambiente and Trend variants.

The 4x4 is offered across the complete range and has an advanced full-time four-wheel drive system that uses an electronically controlled on-demand two-speed electromechanical transfer case with selectable drive modes.

Everest's e-Shifter has optimised performance for different surfaces, road conditions and vehicle usage.

There are four On-Road Drive Modes (Normal, Eco, Tow/Haul and Slippery) and two Off-Road Drive Modes (Sand and Mud/Ruts).

SAFETY

Ford Everest has a 2022 five-star ANCAP safety rating. Standard features in the Trend include seven airbags, including driver's knee airbag, pre-collision assist and pedestrian detection, autonomous emergency braking and traffic sign recognition.

There's also dynamic stability control with roll stability control, ABS anti-skid brakes with electronic brake force distribution, traction control and emergency brake assist are constantly active when on the move.

Ford's large Everest is an impressive vehicle inside and out.

Parking is made easy with the use of a rear-view camera, plus audible sensors front and rear.

DRIVING

This is a large vehicle that's quite easy to drive despite the real estate it offers for carting people. It can take up almost the full width of traffic lanes on some narrower multi-lane roads so the driver has to pay attention to keep it from leaving its own lane.

On motorways it's fine as the roads are wider and the big Ford is in its intended territory, the US of A.

Throttle response is pretty good for the engine type but you do have to think ahead at times.

Handling is good and the steering feels as though it has been set up for those who enjoy driving. We suspect that there's some Aussie input in this as Ford engineers in this country pass our thoughts and desires back to head office in the USA.

Rough road surfaces can be quite noisy but on smooth concrete motorways everything becomes very peaceful.

Parking can be a hassle, especially in tight underground car parks where sometimes it will be necessary to go back and forward to get into some spots.

SUMMING UP

Ford Everest is a large 4WD that can be used as a people mover, off-road exploring and everything in between. You get a lot of vehicle for your money and this big Ford certainly deserves a place high on your list of possible buys.

PICK OF THE WEEK

LAW & ORDER: SVU
10, Thursday, 8.30pm

Strap yourself in, Law & Order fans. The police procedural franchise's compelling crossover event continues at pace tonight with its action-packed second instalment. For those not in the know, the casts of each series - Law & Order, Law & Order: SVU and Law & Order: Organized Crime - have teamed up to take down sex traffickers who are also domestic terrorists. In "Gimme Shelter - Part Two", Benson (Mariska Hargitay) and Stabler (Christopher Meloni, pictured with Hargitay) are called in to investigate after a mysterious young girl is shot dead. With their years of expertise on the beat, the savvy sleuths soon realise it's much more than a typical homicide.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

THE LANGUAGE OF LOVE

SBS Viceland, Friday, 9.20pm

Can love blossom if you don't speak the same language? That's the question posed by this surprisingly charming bilingual reality dating experiment in which British and Spanish singletons pair up at an estate in Andalucia to see if they can find romance despite not being able to understand each other. In tonight's finale, the loved-up Brits must make their decision. Will they stay in Spain and commit to a long-term relationship with their new partner? Or will they instead return to their old life in the UK? With the considerable hurdles of family, careers and even intimacy still to overcome, there's a lot at stake. Hosted by English TV presenter Davina McCall (pictured) and Spanish singer Ricky Merino.

MILITARY STRONGHOLDS: MEGASTRUCTURES OF GENIUS

SBS, Sunday, 7.30pm

That old adage that they used to build things better back in the old days certainly rings true in this fascinating documentary. To the French, the sight of a huge fortress sitting proudly atop a cliff is not such an unusual and awe-inspiring thing, but to anyone from our corner of the world, they are a strange, breathtaking vision to behold. Sit back and prepare to be dazzled by the work of 17th-century French military engineer Sébastien le Prestre de Vauban. He worked for King Louis XIV and designed many fortresses, including his signature star-shaped fortifications. Tune in for the reconstructions that reveal just how these innovative buildings were formed.

FIRE COUNTRY

10, Wednesday, 8.45pm

An American drama starring and co-created by Max Thieriot (pictured, Bates Motel), this run-of-the-mill procedural ups the ante on similar shows such as Chicago Fire and Station 19. Rather than following a made-up fire station, Fire Country draws its melodrama from the real Cal Fire program, which employs imprisoned criminals to fight wildfires as a way for them to reduce their sentences. In tonight's second episode (it's not too late to jump aboard), the troubled-but-easy-on-the-eye Bode (Thieriot) requests to be transferred to a different city. Featuring some impressive fire scenes along with some wobbly acting, it's worth tuning in if you find the scenario enticing.

Police Gratitude: Limestone Coast Police Superintendent Campbell Hill thanked communities in the region for celebrating in a safe way. Picture: AIDAN CURTIS

Cops happy with locals

By Aidan Curtis

Limestone Coast Police have expressed their gratitude to the region for doing the right thing over an extremely busy New Year's period.

Superintendent Campbell Hill said police in the area were "really pleased" with how celebrations have panned out over the holidays so far, especially on New Year's Eve.

"We had done a lot of planning in the lead-up, and we do every year, so we know that Southern Ports, Robe and Beachport are a destination of choice for a lot of locals and people outside the region as well," Supt Hill said.

"It was our first year post-Covid restrictions and everything, so this was the first real business as usual year.

"Having given it a couple of weeks post-New Year's as well now, the reality is locally, despite what was a huge volume in visitors to the region, from a policing lens and a road safety lens, we were really pleased with the overall behaviour of visitors and locals."

Supt Hill said it was especially good to see how patient people were on the roads and how they had prepared ahead of time to make sure everyone was safe during celebrations.

"The driver behaviour is fantastic, the patience on our roads is absolutely brilliant, the engagement of the community across the region has been really good as well - it couldn't have been any better," he said.

"We weren't completely incident free, but proportionate to the amount of people in the region, we were absolutely rapt with how people conducted themselves and they went at it with the spirit they should have.

"Everybody that came here was able to go home again, which was ultimately what we wanted."

Supt Hill said it was a real success story and thanks for that had to go to the local communities for looking after each other during celebrations.

"We had no fatal crashes, which was absolutely brilliant," he said.

"We had very few, if any, serious injury crashes.

"As the coordinator of emergencies down in the region, we are really, really thankful for that."

DRINK DRIVER

A disqualified driver will face court after being detected drink driving yesterday at Naracoorte.

Just before 2pm, Monday, January 9, Highway patrols stopped a Holden sedan on Stewart Terrace and breath tested the driver.

He returned an alleged blood alcohol reading of 0.249. Further enquiries revealed the man was currently disqualified. The 38-year-old local man was reported for drink driving and drive disqualified and will be summonsed to appear in court at a date to be set.

The driver was also issued with an additional 12 month immediate loss of licence and his car was impounded.

HIGH SPEEDS

A man has been issued a hefty fine for speeding near Bordertown over the weekend.

About 11.30pm on Saturday, January 7, police were travelling on Dukes Highway at Cannawigara, when they saw a vehicle being driven erratically and at high speeds.

Patrols stopped the Subaru Impreza shortly after and spoke to the driver, a 20-year-old man from Victoria.

A check on the driver revealed he was the holder of a probationary driver's licence.

He was issued a fine totalling $2832 for excessive speed, failing to display 'P' plates and breaching his probationary licence conditions. He also accrued 9 demerit points and was also issued with a six month immediate loss of licence.

Clevon Brown provided a strong tall target for the Pioneers in season 2022.

Tom Kubank always showed plenty of desire for the Pioneers.

Jordan Rawls proved a solid part of the Pioneers roster.

Nick Marshall became a pivotal part of the Pioneers' success.

Pioneers all class in 2022

By Trevor Jackson

The Mount Gambier Pioneers men's basketball team has been one of the most successful in recent history in the now-defunct South East Australian Basketball League.

The Pioneers all-but dominated the competition before its collapse and reformation to what is now the NBL1 South league.

The Pioneers were not allowed in the original season, but returned for 2020, when Covid put an end to play before it started.

2021 was also disrupted by the virus, but this year all went ahead unhindered and the Pioneers returned to their best.

The Pioneers finished the season runners-up to a strong Hobart Chargers outfit.

They won 16 of 22 regular-season games, with just the six losses on the journey.

But it was the excitement they brought back to the Icehouse which will be remembered for a long time.

Little of the original lineup from the SEABL successful seasons remained, with captain Tom Daly a notable exclusion for much of the season due to the Covid virus and its long-term effects.

Exciting young players such as Nick Marshall and Michael Harris joined Daly and veteran Erik Burdon, along with Mount Gambier's own Kane deWit and several other aspiring players.

Another youngster in Tom Kubank began to make his mark, along with import Clevon Brown and fellow American Jordan Rawls.

The full roster proved too difficult for many an opposition side under the tutelage of the experienced Richard Hill.

A fast and exciting brand of basketball built around the pace of the young roster provided plenty of interest for the strong crowds which filled the Icehouse and they were not disappointed.

Harris returned figures of 23.83 points per game, Marshall 21.46 and Kubank 13.64.

Marshall was also strong around the boards, with 8.58 rebounds per game, while in his 18 games, Brown pulled down and average of 7.95.

In the absence of Daly, deWit stepped up at the point to control the play, with the experience of Burdon always on the outside ready for a long shot.

In the end it turned out to be the perfect blend of old and new, experience and youth, which almost went all the way.

Opposition teams found it tough to contain the pace of Michael Harris.

Sherrie Calleia provided plenty of energy during the 2022 season. Pictures: TBW FILE

Hannah Young was always a danger outside the three-point arc.

Shakera Reilly controlled the floor well for the Pioneers.

Women forge their own path

By Trevor Jackson

Recently on the scene and with little history to draw on, the Mount Gambier Pioneers women made a splash in the 2022 NBL1 South basketball competition.

Formed just a few short years ago under the tutelage of former Pioneers men's captain Matt Sutton, the women went about creating their own history with a blistering season that fell short on ultimate success by just a handful of games.

The Pioneers finished in third place after racking up a 15/7 win/loss record.

They sat near the pointy end of the ladder throughout the season, with every chance to go all the way in what has become a tough women's competition.

Many NBL players grace the courts and there are no easy games, which showed the desire of the Pioneers to taste success.

Several returning players were joined by a couple of imports and some young guns keen on tasting competition at a high level.

Back were the likes of locals Jasmin Howe, Maddie Wormald and Olivia Wormald, joined by former Pioneers Shakera Reilly, Sherrie Calleia and Hannah Young.

Canadian Cassandra Brown and American Haliogh Reinoehl were valuable inclusions and the team gelled from the outset.

The firepower was evident, as Brown's driving style returned an average of 19.42 points per game, along with 7.71 rebounds.

Calleia's energetic style produced 15.36 points per game, Young 11.96, Reinoehl 11.05 and Howe 10.08.

Young topped the rebounds with eight per game, while Calleia handed off the most assists, with 4.95.

Overall it was an impressive season, as the Pioneers reached the finals but fell short of the ultimate success.

Jasmin Howe proved a tough customer for the Pioneers.

Cassandra Brown showed plenty of class for the Pioneers.

Epic battle for top honours

Hot weather greeted 24 players in the Millicent Bowls Club's annual Men's Singles Championships over the weekend.

By the end of play on Saturday, players had been eliminated down to the final four and going into the semi-final were Wayne Ross against Peter Scanlon and Derk Pietersma against Jim Campbell.

By the seventh end in the Pietersma/Campbell game both players sat on seven shots, but by the 13th end Campbell had taken the lead by three – 17 to 14.

At the 15th end Campbell reached the 21 shots to book a grand final berth.

In the remaining semi-final, Ross and Scanlon were also tied at seven shots each by the seventh end.

However, by the 15th end Scanlon was able to reach the target of 21 shots to give him a spot in the grand final.

With the grand final format required the winner to reach 25 shots first and a neck-and-neck battle ensued.

In a tight contest, by the 13th end were both players sat on eight shots each.

Campbell the won the next five ends to put the score at 20-8 and looked set to claim the title.

However, the tide then turned in the next eight ends and Campbell led by a solitary point – 20-19, with the result up in the air.

The final six ends were close and after a battle, but Campbell finally sealed the victory 25-22 to claim the singles title after a three-hour battle.

Lampkin signs on for Pioneers

The Castec Rural Pioneers have this week announced another signing, with 206 cm (6-foot-9 inches), 26-year-old Jacob Lampkin, from the Keilor Thunder joining the club for the upcoming NBL1 South season.

Lampkin will add significant depth of experience to the Pioneers roster, having played for the University of Pacific and University of Alaska prior to joining the Keilor Thunder in the NBL1 South competition in 2022, but most recently has played in the starting five in the Serbian league.

In the 2022 NBL1 South competition, Lampkin averaged 19.5 points per game at an impressive 59.73 per cent from the field, together with an average of three assists and 10 rebounds per game.

Lampkin is another important signing for the Pioneers.

Head coach Richard Hill said he is pleased to see Lampkin in the Pioneers colours.

"Jacob brings exactly what we need to our front court, a solid defender and high-level rebounder to compliment a well-rounded and very efficient offensive game," he said.

"He probably slipped under the radar a little last season playing on a bottom-half team, but he was very effective and statistically one of the premier big men in the competition.

"I love his no fuss attitude and unselfishness."

The Castec Rural Pioneers and the One-FortyOne Pioneers will commence their 2022 NBL1 South campaigns in April 2023.

Big man Jacob Lampkin will join the Pioneers from the Keilor Thunder for the upcoming NBL1 South season.

Players return to the Millicent greens

The Millicent Bowls Club enjoyed an influx of players last week, with fine weather and people returning from holidays attracting 36 to the greens.

Joy Warren and Carl Schapel claimed the 2-4-2 win with a score of 33+20 shots up.

Runners-up were John Eldridge and Terry Barnes with a score of 33+15.

Other winning teams for the day: Aaron Emonson/Ian Ross 33+15 missing out for second place on a count back; Steve Skeer/Iain Campbell 32+11; Denis Clifford/Derk Pietersma 32+8; Malcolm Wright/Lyn Scudds 32+7; Heather-Carthew/Eddie Hann 30+8; Mary Clifford/David Reichelt 30+7; Peter Dunn-cliff/John Scudds 29+5.

Winners, Joy Warren and Carl Schapel.

Stunning weather for bites

By Jamie Coates

A hot but calm weekend across the Limestone Coast was taken advantage of by plenty of people wishing to wet a line, with a steady flow of fishing reports and pictures filtering in.

The offshore anglers have been waiting for a weekend like this for what feels like forever.

I have seen plenty of pictures and videos from the weekend and the seas were just about as good as they get.

It did not matter where anglers chose to fish, there were results from all over.

Lots of anglers took the opportunity to head wide and chase fish over the shelf and by all reports there were plenty caught.

The blue eye were on the chew for those who found them and although they were not monsters, the numbers made up for it.

There were also a few pink ling, the odd hapuka and a few makos caught out wide, so it is great to see things are happening.

In a bit closer around that 80m through to 120m mark we have seen some excellent bottom fishing and there has been a real fisherman's basket caught out there.

Gummy shark, school shark, red snapper, blue morwong, knife jaw, terakhi, snapper, flathead and latchet fish all made an appearance and a few other bits and pieces too.

Kingston and Cape Jaffa have both been red hot over the summer period.

I have seen kingfish, tuna, snapper, shark and plenty of other species from that way and although I am not super familiar with the area myself, the guys at the Kingston Ampol will be able to help you out.

Surf fishing was hugely popular over the weekend while the temperatures were up and the winds were down.

To top it off, there were quite a few fish caught.

Starting off locally, quite a few fishos headed for Piccininni, Paradise and Browns Beach.

There were snapper, gummy shark, small mulloway and some big sea bream beached right along there.

Further around the coast there has been some nice fish caught at Nene Valley and off the rocks at Blackfellows Caves, along with Carpenter Rocks and Canunda NP.

There has been plenty of surf fishing this week between Beachport and Southend and the guys up there have been finding some reasonable mulloway.

There have been a few I have heard of now between 82cm and 100cm – throw in a few shark, some snapper and salmon and it sounds like everyone up that way is having a ball.

While we are on the topic of surf fishing, the entries for the Kingston SE Lions Club surf fishing contest are in store now and they are flying out the door.

There have been quite a few fish caught up that way recently which is starting to get revelers a bit hot and sweaty.

Gummy shark have dominated the news by a long shot, but mulloway, bronze whalers, flathead and salmon have all copped a mention.

While the sea was dead flat, plenty of snor-

Xavia Bell, with Bliss and Rory McCallum and a nice pair of crays.

Parker Davis with a nice feed of whiting.

kelters and divers jumped in and went for a look around the reef.

There were some cracking crays caught by the swimmers and some lovely abalone too.

Local Beachport guns Xavia Bell, Bliss and Rory McCallum found a few beauties while swimming just off the beach and those in boats drop netting found some absolute monsters.

Crays over 3kg were the norm when you can get into the hairy areas, so make the most of it when the weather allows.

Whiting fishos this weekend have had an absolute field day.

They have thrived with that stir we had last week and that made for unreal fishing.

Our usual haunts all produced some nice fish, including Danger Point, Port MacDonnell breakwater, Cape Douglas, Nene Valley and Carpenter Rocks.

The size has been impressive through most parts and the numbers have been nothing to grizzle about either.

Beachport whiting fishos have been sharing in the same success and finding both great numbers and sizes.

Joel Davis did manage a sneaky by-catch, a thumping 80cm flathead and their boat limit of whiting.

The garfishing over the last week or so has been excellent, with many anglers loving the reprieve from the wind.

The numbers and size are still fairly impressive, which has been great to see.

Waders have found success at the Petrified

Forest, Hutt Bay, Livingstons Bay and Pelican Point, while the boats have done well in Racecourse Bay, Nene Valley and Livingstons.

There have been a few tommy ruff and mullet in the same spots for a few weeks – it is just now we are seeing a bit of size in them.

There have been a few non-target species caught over the weekend by the gar guys.

I have seen whiting to 48cm, snapper, trevally, bream and even a small elephant shark.

You just never know what might come swimming up the burley trail.

The Glenelg River is still a lot dirtier than it should be at this time of year, but the bream and perch have not minded one bit.

The mulloway are still patchy and hard to track down, but there have been small fish caught up as high as Sapling Creek over the past week on baits from the jetty, so the fact they are starting to spread out and feed a bit more is encouraging.

There have been some nice mullet caught again this week in the river and those doing well have just been keeping the burley up to them and fishing cut pilchard or cockles down on the bottom.

Ben Jeffrey has been into the bream again this week down there, with the cranka crab still his weapon of choice, but if plastics are more your thing, powerbait nemesis or any 2.5inch grub will get the job done for you.

The weather is set to heat up again for the weekend, but the swell is low, the winds are definitely fishable and hopefully the fish are cooperative.

Until next week, safe fishing.

Joel Davis with a big flathead.

Robe bowlers return for summer action

The Robe Bowling Club's Men's Singles Championships were played on Saturday with 16 competitors taking part.

The closest game of the first round was between Glenn Wright and Ken Smith.

Wright started strongly and led until the ninth end, where Smith equalised to make the score 9-9.

The game was a see-saw contest with the lead changing hands and with one end left to play, scores were tied at 19-19.

Smith scored a three on the final end to claim a narrow 222-19 cored a 3 on the next end to win the first round 22-19.

The other matches saw Steve Farrell defeat Paul Truelove, Harold Manton down Bill Cook, David Robinson defeat Adrian Bermingham, while Errol Jennings, Rob Lawrie and Stephen Kennett all claimed victories.

Round 2 saw Smith fall short to Kennett in another close contest, with the final score 22-18.

Robinson, Jennings and Farrell all claimed wins in their games to proceed to the semi-final.

The penultimate round of fixtures saw Farrell claim a comfortable win against Jennings, while Robinson overcame Kennett to win 21-19.

In the final, Farrell proved too good for Robinson and sealed the championship with a 25-12 win.

Social bowls has been well attended over the new year period, with Dean Burgoyne, Leanne Cameron and Jim Grayon claiming the win on December 29.

The raffle prizes went to Judy Bermingham and Marg Dolan.

On January 5, Darren Grant, Josh Waddell and Robbie Dahler were winners with 52 points ahead of Harold Manton, Pete de Laine and Nola Peel on 51 points. The raffle winners were Barb Brown and Josh Waddell.

The Robe bowling club has been busy with full fields for twilight bowls on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Open Pennants resume this Saturday with Robe playing away.

Division 1 will play at Millicent, while Division 2 will play at Kalanagadoo.

The Women's Fours Championships and Men's Triples Championships will be held on January 22.

Aidán Rigby showed plenty of pace all weekend and despite some issues Saturday night, claimed the National Junior Sedans title at the Borderline Speedway.

Young drivers tear it up

By Trevor Jackson

After a big weekend of racing, Queensland state champion Aidán Rigby was crowned the 2023 SSA National Junior Sedan Champion at the Borderline Speedway.

Rigby set the scene on Friday night, with an unbeaten run through the heats to show his real pace.

He continued that on Saturday in the heat night, after a scorching day, which was multiplied by the 77 competitors who nominated for the national title.

However, he did not have it all his own way, with an entertaining battle with Western Australian champion Beau Oldfield.

Not only that, engine troubles in his final heat saw Rigby needing an engine change before lining up on pole position for the A Main final.

Oldfield started alongside Rigby and claimed the lead from the start, as the final ran smoothly for the first half.

Rigby then claimed the lead and had to hold off Oldfield, with lapped traffic playing a major role and almost upsetting the Queenslanders' hopes of the national crown.

Oldfield pushed right to the final laps, but a late restart favoured Rigby and he went on to claim the national honours.

Rigby greeted the chequered flag half-a-second ahead of Oldfield and Western Australian Zach Munro.

Along the way Rigby also claimed the fastest lap, with a hot time of 16.761 seconds.

The event began in earnest on Friday night, after Thursday night's practice runs.

Friday included the SA Speedcar Title, which provided plenty of fast and furious action between heats of the Junior Sedans.

Western Australian Tom Payet claimed the title, ahead of Victorians Travis Mills and Mick Parker.

However, it was the young sedan drivers everyone came to see and they did not disappoint.

The pace was hot across the weekend, with bumper-to-bumper racing showing the skills of the Juniors.

Restarts were common as drivers jockeyed for position, with panel damage building as the weekend unfolded.

Zach Munro was a worthy contender, finishing third in the National Junior Sedans title on Saturday night.

After an exciting A Main feature race, Beau Oldfield finished second in the National Junior title, less than a second behind the eventual winner.

Kurtis Peall was on the pace with a fifth place at the National Junior Sedans title.

Liken Patterson drove his way to fourth place in the National Junior Sedans title.

The A Main certainly turned it on Saturday night, with a good display of skills worthy of a national title.

Street Stocks joined the Juniors on Saturday night to add to the weekend of racing.

National Junior Sedan Title results: Q28

Aidán Rigby, W84 Beau Oldfield, W138 Zach Munro, V48 Linken Paterson, Q11 Kurtis Peall, Q12 Brodie Hollyman, W29 Hunter Downs, V47 River Paterson, V18 Miller Throckmorton, V4 Jayden Lock, N23 Harry Fowler, Q27 Cooper Flynn, VA51 Kiarna Barton, S46 Lucas Warnett, N51 Jaiden Santin.

DNF: V10 Bree Simpson (22 laps), VA14 Cameron Smith (22), Q2 Billy Macdonald (20), Q7 Jayden Hancock (18), WA22 Zak Turner (18), V35 James Oliver (15), W3 Donny Davis (10).

Winning Margin: 0.510; Fastest Lap: 16.761s, Q28 Aidán Rigby.

Another winner for Katsiris

By David Lewis

It was on April 7 last year owner-trainer Michael Katsiris was last successful at Tara Raceway.

That was the day White Surprise ran a quick 22.92 seconds when defeating Lana Roads in the Commercial Hotel 5+Wins Stake over 400 metres.

Katsiris was back in Mount Gambier for last Thursday's time-graded meeting And recently-purchased Larry And Harry was lining up from box one in the Progrehoundtips.com Stake (400metres).

This was the first of five heats of the monthly Fast Forward 1-4 wins series.

Advancing to the following week's $1535 final would be the fastest eight greyhounds, irrespective of their finishing positions in their heats.

Larry And Harry made sure Katsiris would make the trip back to Mount Gambier from the Melbourne suburb of Thomastown when scoring a dashing 4¼ length win over Cadillac Patch in 22.90 seconds – the quickest 400-metre time run all day.

By Moreira out of Alanna Banana, the former NSW-based black dog had been purchased from Colin Miller a month ago after having raced on only five occasions at Maitland, Wentworth Park and Richmond.

"I purchased him on the back of a quick maiden win at Richmond back in July," Katsiris said.

"I guess the only query was that when I got him he hadn't raced since the end of July.

"But I'm taking a chance that he will hold together."

Berringa trainer Michael Niele will be chasing consecutive Fast Forward wins after rising five-year-old Gizmo Osti won the December series.

This month it will be with Stormin' Frank.

In a keenly-contested final heat – the Rocks Tavern Stake – the son of My Redeemer and Mystic Moon finished strongly to defeat Compton Daisy by 1¼ lengths in a personal best time of 23.27 seconds.

Portland training team, Nicole Stanley and Nifty Lenehan with Fast Forward final qualifier Master Shameem.

Picture: SUBMITTED

Nifty Lenehan, have two runners through to the final – Master Shameem and Shot Of Brandy – qualifying in times of 23.21 seconds and 23.31 seconds respectively in the Greg Martlew Autos Stake and the Carlin and Gazzard MG Stake.

Owned by Malcolm Keenan of Tarpeena, the Stanley-trained Master Shameem, a son of My Redeemer and Raz's Girl, overcame a slow start before running down tearaway leader Cadillac Star to win by a half-length.

Shot Of Brandy, a daughter of Mount Gambier Anniversary Cup winner Lektra Brandy, turned in a big effort for Lenehan after finding her share of trouble in running and then defeating Crusoe Kid by 1½ lengths in 23.31 seconds.

Edenhope training duo, Captain Abbott and Kerry Hawker, also have two runners into the final – Cadillac Patch and Cadillac Star.

Both greyhounds finished second, but with times of 23.20 seconds and 23.25 seconds, this looks like being an interesting Fast Forward final.

Eagles in strong position

By Lachlan Onions

Looking back at the season to date, Mil Lel has been the surprise package in the first half of this season's Big Bash.

Mil Lel entered the Christmas break on top of the ladder with three wins from three and with just two rounds in the season, is in a strong position to book a ticket in this year's grand final.

The most notable of the three victories was when it defeated Penola in a final-over thriller at McCorquindale Park.

Logan Gibbs was the main contributor with the bat in that victory and scored an unbeaten 44.

With the ball, Harrison Hicks, Jack Miller, William Rowland and Gibbs have had the most impact.

Penola and East Gambier are both hot on Mil Lel's heels with two wins each.

For the Eagles, Drew Clayfield has dealt the damage with the bat and scored 49 not out in the most recent game where his side went down to Mil Lel.

With the ball, several different players have all had an impact, with Gerard Merrett, Zac Zema, Jack Mullan and Michael Waters the key contributors.

For the Bulldogs, the bowlers have shown

Penola's Michael Waters looks to drive during the Eagles win over North Sportsman's.

Picture: JAMES MURPHY

their strength this season and were at their best in Round 3, when they bowled West Gambier out for 94 runs.

Alex Hentschke has been at his lethal best and has also made handy contributions with the bat as well.

Dion Stratford has been one of the best batters in the association this summer and scored a critical 52 runs in his side's one-run win over South Gambier in Round 1.

While, Mil Lel, Penola and East Gambier are the sides likely to battle it out for spots in the grand final, West Gambier and South Gambier are still outside chances to sneak in and have won a single game each.

The Demons were unstoppable with the bat in Round 3 and posted an impressive score of 152 against North Sportsman's at Marist Park.

The innings was highlighted by a dominant performance from Adam Somerfield who came in at first drop and scored 78 runs.

For the Roos, their only victory of the season came in Round 2, when they swept aside the Demons at the Blue Lake Sports Park.

Captain Jake Blackwell put his side in a strong position batting first and scored 52 runs off 40 deliveries but it was the bowlers who stole the show.

After West posted a solid total of 5/136, South's openers combined for a 35-run opening stand.

However, the game was flipped on its head when the Demons lost 10 wickets for just 17 runs.

Amidst the chaotic batting collapse, there were eight players dismissed for four runs or less, including four ducks.

Trent Badman led the way on that occasion and took 4/7 off his four overs.

North Sportsman's is the only side yet to claim a win in this year's Big Bash.

Elliott Fisher led the way for the Tigers during their loss to the Demons and scored 58 runs in their chase.

With the ball, Nick McNerney and Isaac Mulraney have been the key contributors this season and will look to continue their impressive form as we head into the final two rounds.

The Big bash will resume on January 19, with South hosting Penola, Mil Lel hosting East and North taking on West at Malseed Park.

Bowlers back for championship action

The Men's Championship Singles were contested at the Penola Bowls Club on Saturday with 17 bowlers participating in the event in warm conditions.

Close games were contested throughout the day and Ken Batt prevailed as he took home the title for the 2022/23 season over Rick Mitchell.

The Open Pennant will resume this Saturday with the Penola Division 1 side hosting Mount Gambier RSL Red.

The Division 3 South team will pay visit to Mount Gambier Red while the Division 3 North side heads to Kingston.

This Sunday will see the Men's Championship Triples event sponsored by Wynns of Coonawarra take place.

Following this, the Men's Championship Pairs will be played on January 22.

A busy day is expected on February 1 as the night bowls competition will start and the Women's Championship Triples will also be contested.

The deadline for registration for night bowls in January 25.

Game on as cricket returns

By Lachlan Onions

KINGSTON v NARACOORTE WARRIORS

Cricketers from the Millicent and Naracoorte Cricket Association will make their return this Saturday for Round 9 of competition.

Kingston will host the Naracoorte Warriors in a battle between third and fourth on the ladder.

The Saints have won four games this season, while the Warriors have won three games.

Naracoorte heads into this clash off the back of two consecutive victories before the Christmas break.

In Round 8, the Warriors claimed a 31-run win over Lucindale.

The win was built off the back off a strong batting performance in the first innings.

Aaron Haines carried the bat as opener and scored 62 runs, while Loren Bald, Brad Redding and Jason McClure all made handy contributions.

Bald also claimed four wickets in that game and all four players will be crucial for the visitors in this weekend's contest.

Kingston has impressed this season and comes in off the back of a win over Robe.

Mathew Cridland and Nicholas Dawes will be players to watch for the hosts.

In what should be a fairly even contest, Kingston will head in as slight favourites.

MILLICENT BLACKCAPS v ROBE

Robe will make the trip to McLaughlin Park on Saturday and will hope it can claim its first win since Round 1.

However, it will not come easy as Millicent has looked strong this season despite winning just one game.

The Blackcaps have had four games end without a result this campaign and as a result, find themselves further down the ladder than their ability would suggest.

Millicent's last game saw the Naracoorte Townies claim a six-wicket win with 14 balls to spare.

Jaxon Cushion and Jacob Todd will be players to watch for the hosts in this weekend's contest.

Todd has impressed with bat and ball this season and was instrumental in the Blackcaps' win over the Warriors back in Round 3.

Millicent will head into this contest as comfortable favourites and should claim victory on its home turf.

RENDELSHAM v MOUNT BURR

Rendelsham will host Mount Burr in what could be a fairly one-sided encounter.

The Mozzies have yet to win a game this year, while Rendelsham was won three of its five games.

The season has not been as smooth sailing as the reigning premiers would have liked as they currently sit in fifth place on the ladder.

In Round 9, Rendelsham suffered defeat to the ladder leading Footballers Furner Beachport at home in a top of the table clash.

However, this weekend presents a chance for them to move back into the top four.

Jason McClure will be a key player for the Naracoorte Warriors when they take on Kingston.

For the hosts, Dylan Clough, Jacob Carger and Max Telfer will be players to watch.

Mount Burr heads into this clash off the back of a lengthy break in between games.

After a bye in Round 8 and a week-off in between for the Adelaide Test Match, the Mozzies will take to the crease on Saturday for the first time since December 3.

On that occasion, Mount Burr was bowled out for 100 by Lucindale and the Roos claimed a 72-run win.

The Mozzies will look to Kallan Bevan and Jack Francis to have an impact this weekend as they search for their first victory of the season.

However, Saturday's game will likely be a similar tale with the reigning premiers expected to claim victory with ease.

NARACOORTE TOWNIES v LUCINDALE

The Townies will look to keep their impressive season going on Saturday when they host Lucindale.

With four wins from five games, the Townies have been one of the strongest and most consistent sides this year.

One of the highlights from the season to date was their ruthless win over Kingston in Round 3, where they bowled the Saints out for 70 and chased down the total in nine overs.

Bredon Smart has led the way for Naracoorte at the top of the batting order and scored an unbeaten 126 back in Round 6.

Along with dominating with the bat, he has also been a solid contributor with the ball as well.

It has been a difficult season so far for Lucindale, with just two wins from six games.

Michael and Shane McGurk have been solid contributors with the bat, while Stewart Hinze, Jesse Hazelman and Daniel McCarthy have all impressed with the ball.

Naracoorte will head into this game as favourites but there is still a chance for Lucindale to pull off an upset.

Millicent's Jacob Todd has impressed this season and will look to continue his strong form on Saturday. Pictures: LACHLAN ONIONS

South East back in action

By Lachlan Onions

The South East Women's Representative side will return to action on Sunday when it hosts the Warrnambool and District team.

South East heads into this game off the back of a 33-run win over Hamilton on December 18.

During that clash, the South East's Laura Chester put the visitors to the sword as she scored 71 runs and blasted shots all around the park.

She was supported by Kathryn Vine and Fiona Young, who combined for 64 runs between them.

These three players all dominated in the South East Women's Cricket League this year, with Chester the standout as she led North to premiership glory with 72 runs in the grand final.

With the ball, Chester and Anna McGregor were the standout performers in the Hamilton clash as they took three wickets each.

Sharnna Mansell, Alysha Coon and Lauren Smart all took a wicket as well in the last game and will be players to watch for the hosts.

Warrnambool heads into this contest off the back of a dominant 85-run win over Hamilton on Sunday.

Jacque Dickson and Tara Elliott were key players with the ball, while Jasmine Bowater and Shannon Johnson led the way with the bat.

Johnson scored 68 runs off 41 balls last time out and hit an impressive 14 boundaries, while Bowater held down the fort with an unbeaten 45 off 88 deliveries.

Both sides will head into this game with confidence after strong wins over Hamilton and a close game could take place this weekend.

Eagles brace for blockbuster

By Lachlan Onions

The Penola Eagles will return to action on Saturday when they pay visit to East Gambier in Round 8 of the Barber Shield.

This round will see the final one-dayers played for the season before the campaign concludes with three two-day rounds.

The Bulldogs and the Eagles have picked off up where they left off last season and have been highly competitive sides this year.

When these two sides last met, Penola claimed a 47-run first innings victory.

Lachy Jones ripped through the East batters last time and ended the first innings with figures of 5/31, while Dion Stratford was the shining light with the bat as he scored 68 runs.

A 69-run knock from Jack Mullan and an impressive 49 from Mark Smith was enough for Penola to surpass East's first innings total.

Emerson Marks was the best of the bowlers and took 4/37.

Looking at the rest of the season, there has been little to separate last season's grand finalists and both teams have won three games.

The Bulldogs will look to test the Eagles on their home deck and have taken the most wickets out of any side this season with 56.

Captain Alex Hentschke has led the way in that aspect with 15 scalps this year.

He has been supported by Marc Roberts who has taken 12 wickets this campaign.

Jones has led the way with the ball for Penola with 12 dismissals, while Mullan has also made a handy contribution with eight scalps.

With the bat, Stratford has led the way for East with 238 runs and scored a century back in Round 1.

For the visitors, Drew Clayfield and Mullan will be the batters to watch on Saturday as they have both scored more than 150 runs this season.

Penola will head into this game as slight favourites but a close contest will be expected to take place between two sides more than capable of claiming the holy grail this year.
