Crowds expected

By Aidan Curtis

The organisers of Penola's homegrown music festival are expecting big numbers to come through the gates to see artists from all over the world.

Penola Coonawarra Acoustic Music Gathering Association (PCAMGA) chair Anne Miller said the inaugural festival in 2021 garnered a lot of attention and it has only grown from there.

"We're getting people from all over Australia applying, which amazes us because we're so new, but even international people have applied to come here," Ms Miller said.

"We're getting a good response from people, good ticket sales, and the beauty about it is we can have a lot of people here.

"On the Friday, we are having 157 primary school kids arrive to have a day of introduction to music and dancing and song writing - and that's grown since the first year."

PCAMGA secretary Leigh Miller said a lot of the interest initially came from people who missed the Frances Folk Festival after it wrapped up in 2019.

"The people who used to go to Frances were really crying out for another festival to take its place," he said.

"We talked with a few people and a few other committees around and decided [Penola] is the place - and it's worked out really well.

"We broadened it out to be all genres of acoustic music because we need the biggest audience we can."

Mr Miller said the Acoustic Music Gathering is well-timed as it will come just after similar festivals over the border, which will potentially provide a big boost to local tourism.

"We've opened the camping up for the week so people can come down early and they can go to the wineries, restaurants and cafes, hang around and see what's down here," he said.

"The way things are going with the planning for this year, things are going really well and we don't have any problems on the horizon.

Gearing up: Anne and Leigh Miller are hoping to see big crowds come along to enjoy the three-day acoustic music festival. Picture: AIDAN CURTIS

"Seeing the rising numbers of people going to music festivals, we're expecting more people than we had last time."

The Acoustic Music Gathering will feature three days of shows, food stalls, a Sunday market, and a competition to see who can write the worst country or western song.

Seeking players to try D&D

THE Millicent Public Library is seeking expressions of interest from community members wanting to learn how to play Dungeons and Dragons.

People are invited to visit the library from 10am on Friday, March 4 to learn a bit more about the popular table top game.

The game is open to people of all ages.

Contact Janice at the library for more information.

Dungeons and Dragons is a fantasy tabletop role-playing game and is suitable for everyone.

If you can identify any of these young soccer players contact the South East Family History Group.

Player names' hunt

South East Family History Group is hoping the community can help name people in their extensive photo collection.

Seven Millicent United Soccer Club players stand at what looks to be Millicent High School's main entrance, year unknown.

If you have any information to share about the photo please contact the South East Family History Group at info@sefhg.org, Wednesday or Saturday 1-5pm on 8733 1100 (or leave a message) or phone history group researcher Colleen Hammat on 0491 036 783.

New chapter begins for retiring library assistant Anne

By Caroline Hammat

Popular library assistant Anne Schumacher will walk out through the Millicent library doors for the last time as an employee tomorrow.

It has been 21 years since the passionate reader joined the library team but Ms Schumacher has decided the time is right for retirement and she is looking forward to spending more time with her two young grandsons with plans in place to travel.

"We love travelling Australia, we did a fair bit before covid and we just want to travel while we are still fit enough," she said.

"We have bought a new van so we've gone from a rooftop tent, which is very basic camping, to a nice caravan so it will be interesting."

Before beginning at the library Ms Schumacher was employed by the Millicent council to clean the Civic and Arts Centre (C&AC).

Involved for more than 12 years, her work there included volunteering on the C&AC committee, assisting with bookings and managing the site.

When the building was closed down for major repairs in 2002 a temporary placement in the library was found for Anne which eventually led to the offer of a permanent position.

The prolific reader hosts the monthly book club but her involvement goes above and beyond books.

Anne Schumacher with her favourite genre of books will have her last day of library work tomorrow.

Ms Schumacher is a familiar face at Baby Bounce sessions, Learning Together playgroup, school holiday activities and she visits local schools with the mobile library.

Her involvement also includes supporting Pam Lynch with the Seniors on line group.

"We do a lot of IT support for people now, someone will get a phone from their kids and don't know how to work it" Ms Schumacher said.

"All the government agencies expect everyone to be IT literate now and they expect everyone to have My Gov accounts, we try to help as much as we can."

Over the years library patrons have regularly shared book recommendations with Ms

Anne Schumacher with Seniors on-line leader Pam Lynch and eager participants Moira Doecke, Mavis Kloock and Graham Doyle.

Schumacher, introducing her to books she would never have read.

"I like crime, but I do read anything."

"When you are a reader and your readers know you read they give you books, and you have to read them because they want to talk about it, so I've read all sorts."

"It made me read things that I probably never would have read."

Wattle Range Council's Manager Libraries and Cultural Services, Janice Nitschke told the South Eastern Times that Anne's contribution will be missed.

"Anne brought to the library experience, but she also brought a good knowledge of books and reading and the ability to work across the community" she said.

"Libraries are community hubs, literacy underpins a library and Anne fulfilled all those attributes."

"It is important in a library to have someone who reads extensively and who is one of the community."

"They are really good people to advise about what to read."

"Anne is willing to have a look at book reviews and read outside her normal genre."

"She also had to move, as we all did, from books to IT and computers."

"Anne has adapted really well and is a really competent user and teacher and really excellent with the tech savvy seniors, they really liked Anne in that area."

Ms Schumacher remains an avid reader and will still be a regular library visitor.

Top line up for Grapes fun

By Charlotte Varcoe

Belly laughs are expected to take Coonawarra by storm once again this year as the Grapes of Mirth hosts a stellar line-up.

Recently announced, the event will once again take place at Penley Estate as Australian comedians such as David Hughes and Triple J host Michael Hing join the team.

Other comedians include Geraldine Hickey, Lizzy Hoo and Prue Blake with the overall event emceed by Merrick Watts.

Now in its fifth year at Coonawarra, the comedy event is expected to entertain a broad crowd from all across the region and across the border.

Speaking with The Border Watch on returning to the region, Mr Watts said he was looking forward to seeing familiar faces.

“Coonawarra has been great for the event and I love the fact it is a small township with a wonderful community,” Mr Watts said.

“It is amazing to see an event like this in a remote place like Coonawarra and a lot of this year’s comedians will be coming to the area for the first time.

“Coonawarra is the most consistent region for us over the years and that is partly to do with people getting around the event which adds to the atmosphere and enjoyment for the performers.”

He said performer feedback showed they felt genuinely appreciated at the Coonawarra event and remained full committed.

Stellar line up: The Grapes of Mirth event will host yet another stellar line up of Australian comedians.

“This is also the first year where Covid-19 is not a conversation anymore,” Mr Watts said.

“There is no need or talk about a Covid plan and it is completely off the radar which we are so happy about.”

Expecting big laughs and good food and wine, Mr Watts said the comedy event was also a great opportunity for people to catch up with friends and family.

“We often see people come in groups of about 12 which is fantastic to know people have friendship groups at Grapes of Mirth,” he said.

“It is a good opportunity to get a gang of friends together and have a few drinks on the picnic rug on the lawn.”

Tickets for the event are on sale now with the event scheduled for March 18.

Life membership honour for Community Club stalwart

By Aidan Curtis

Coonawarra Community Club stalwart Sid Kidman has been named a life member of the Coonawarra Soldiers Memorial Hall for his contributions over the last two decades.

Mr Kidman was officially given life membership during the Club’s tea night on Friday, February 24.

He has served as Club treasurer for 18 years, and has been involved in many vital projects around the Memorial Hall in that time.

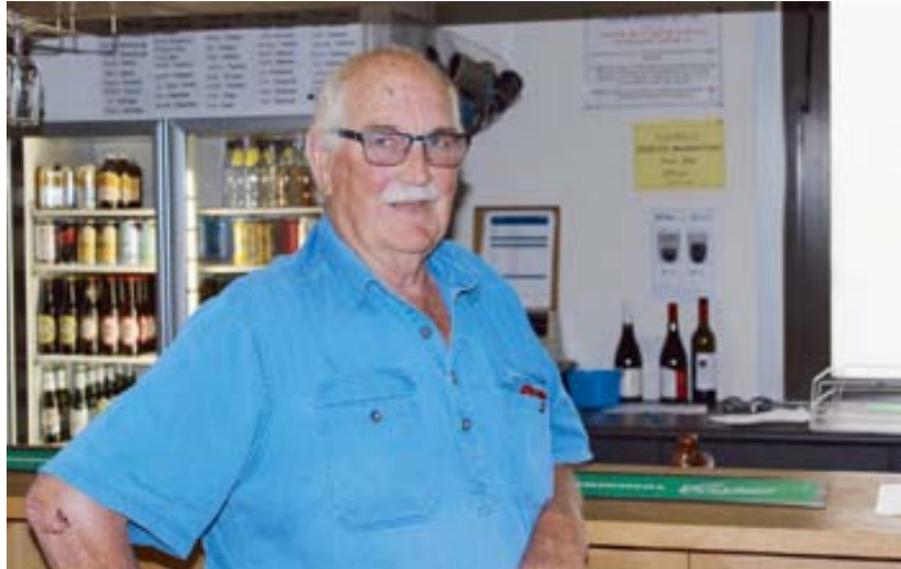

Mr Kidman told The Pennant he has so many fond memories from being involved in the Club and it meant a lot to receive life membership.

“I’m very, very honoured that my name is going to be up there [on the honour board] with the Brands and the Redmans, because they have been through thick and thin,” he said.

“We had tea night last Friday night and there would have been 60 or 70 here, and the crowd was quite young - it was great.

“There were kids running around and pinching chips off your plate, and chips are a bit hard to find now too.”

Mr Kidman said he has been particularly proud of the Club’s work to maintain and upgrade the Memorial Hall, including rebuilding the kitchen and bar.

He also said being able to come to weekly bar nights helped build a lot of comradeship within both the club and the community.

“It’s exciting when someone new comes into the area and they come here hoping to meet people,” he said.

“I’m just really hoping this institution, this club continues on the way it’s been, I’m really very proud of how the building has held up.”

Club president and fellow life member Bryan Tonkin said having someone like Mr Kidman be involved has been “absolutely critical” and they were very lucky to have people like him in the community.

“To get [life membership] is pretty prestigious, it means you’ve done some serious contributions to the community,” Mr Tonkin said.

“He’s seen through three presidents, he’s had the transition through to full electronic banking, GST functionality, we’ve done a lot of upgrading to the hall.

“Sid has kept us all on line and made sure we’re well and truly viable through all that time.”

Mr Kidman said he will be stepping down as treasurer at the end of this year, but he is eager to continue to be a part of the club and see it prosper for years to come.

Wedding stories popular

By Caroline Hammat

As library lovers month comes to an end so to does a unique display that has proved popular at the Millicent library.

Showcasing weddings from 1956 to 2003 the folders on show were meticulously collated by the late Phyl Whelan who volunteered at the library for many years.

Wattle Range Council's, Manager Libraries and Cultural Services, Janice Nitschke said February is library lovers month.

"We all know February 14 was Valentine's Day so we celebrated love your library," she said.

"Libraries are now all about you, they are about people and that is what we are trying to promote."

Ms Whelan copied, printed and filed every wedding that appeared in the pages of the South Eastern Times creating a social history unique to our region.

"It's been a really great exhibition, people have come and sat down and just thoroughly enjoyed chatting and looking at the memorabilia" Ms Nitschke said.

"It is an important attribute of libraries, to collect that local history.

"It is good to have it out and show people that our local history collection has a real depth of social history.

"It encompasses the social history of our town, of our community and our people.

"It's been a really good exhibition and I think we will keep putting out different displays every month or two from our local history collection."

Ms Whelan was also responsible for keeping records of library events and gallery openings.

The library plans to display those files at the next Wattle Range Art Exhibition in November as the gallery's 30 years of celebration comes to an end.

The wedding display reaffirms that libraries are about the people within a community.

"Newspapers are still a permanent record and we have a record of weddings, births and deaths and lots of other things we have kept.

"We've got the local history about our community and everyone can come and have a look at it.

"People don't know about the hidden treasures we have here in the library" Ms Nitschke said.

Included in the display was library assistant Anne Schumacher's wedding dress from the early 1980's.

The folders were continually looked through during the month of February as library patrons took a stroll through the wedding history of Millicent and surrounds.

Glimpse of birdlife caught

While dedicated volunteers from the Mount Burr Trails group wait for the outcome of One-FortyOne's arborist report on hazardous trees, an important biodiversity project is taking place.

Using the website iNaturalist group members capture photos of wildlife seen within the trail area and upload them to the the Mount Burr Trails online profile.

Mount Burr Trails public officer Rob Gordon said iNaturalist is basically a record of everything.

"The project stems from a visit from Bryan Hayward of the Nature Glenelg Trust," he said.

"He is a senior ecologist and recommended to gain more recognition and respect for our piece of woodland we need to create a biodiversity database of everything we find.

"He said it would be helpful to keep a record with the hope that one day you find some rare creature that commands further investigation.

"Bryan thought it had great conservation significance for its hollows alone."

Adding value to the project is the introduction of a trail camera set up at random times to capture wildlife.

The motion sensor camera has been placed near a birdbath installed during a recent heat-wave.

Mr Gordon has been surprised at how quickly the birds took to using the birdbath and the variety of birds using it.

Although none of the birds captured on camera are rare, many are elusive and rarely seen in backyards.

Once the trail camera is triggered by motion it takes a nine second video and two still shots 10 seconds apart with hundreds of photos captured within a few hours.

This has led to some intriguing footage showing the behaviour of the birds with recent video showing a trio of kookaburras splashing in the water, engaging with each other and one discovering the camera itself.

Mount Burr Trails volunteers Judith Driver and Rob Gordon at the entrance to the trails which are currently closed.

"The wattle birds will come in and have a big splash about and then the magpie will come in and bully them out of it, you are watching a real story unfold.

"Some species get along fine and others don't, the little grey fantails are tough and scare things away, it's fascinating to watch.

"The goshawk would be the biggest surprise, but we've got a few species that we haven't seen other than around the birdbath.

"The white eared honeyeater is very elusive, the yellow faced honeyeater they are not often seen but there are plenty of them around.

"Little red-browed finches are out there in huge numbers, they are a lovely little bird and they are kind of semi migratory they come and go with the seasons.

"I've got hundreds of photos of currawongs, once they get there, everything scatters, they will take it over for hours and splash around in the water until there is nothing left."

Group volunteer Judith Driver originally had the idea of installing the bird bath and diligently cleans it and replaces the water daily.

Ms Driver is also a regular contributor to the iNaturalist site adding hundreds of flora and fauna siting's to the page.

Judith Driver is photographing all things small found along the Mount Burr Trails including this uncommon Red Spotted Jezebel snapped with her mobile phone and uploaded to iNaturalist.

"All those little things help and Judith has been tirelessly working on the trails snapping shots of all the little things as she goes" Mr Gordon said.

"Naturalists generally only like a photographic evidence of what you've found.

"We battle to get recognition, funding and support from the major stakeholders around for our little piece of woodland and natural habitat."

The water has been so successful a second pond has been added to offer respite to ground dwelling animals as well.

Although the Mount Burr Trails is currently closed to the public until further notice the birds being captured by video can be viewed on the group's Instagram page.

Project spreading shorebird awareness

Students across the Limestone Coast are learning about the importance of shorebirds in the region with the establishment of an educational project.

The Our Coorong | Our Coast project has started an education project called The Flock to make sure students learn more about migratory and resident shorebirds.

Nearly 400 birds decorative birds, featuring the artwork of students from Kingston

Community College, Robe Primary School, Allendale East Area School and St Martins Lutheran College, will be displayed in coastal towns to make visitors more aware of the birds living in the area.

Limestone Coast Landscape Board Our Coorong | Our Coast project coordinator Robbie Andrew said The Flock was a great way to educate both students and visitors.

"It was exciting to implement The Flock project as a way to increase awareness about migratory shorebirds visiting our shoreline during summer," he said.

"Being aware of our local landscape and the ways we can protect these birds when we visit our beaches is important for their survival."

The Flock will be officially displayed for the first time during the Farewell to Shorebirds event held in Robe in late March.

Guides take on clean up

By Caroline Hammat

Prepared with gloves, high-vis vests, good walking shoes and plenty of garbage bags Millicent's Shooting Starz Girl Guides will walk a 2.5 kilometre stretch of Belt Road for Clean Up Australia Day.

It is the third year running the group of up to 10 girls and leaders will collect rubbish found along the stretch from Saleyards Road to Mount Burr Road.

Heather Lowndes is the Millicent Shooting Starz leader and the region manager for the Limestone Coast and thought the group had been involved in Clean Up Australia Day for about 20 years.

"We had done the beach for years but we were always a bit hit and miss with the weather and being able to get in there" she said.

"We are cleaning up Belt Road because that is where rubbish flies off trailers on the way to the waste transfer station.

"In the past we've picked up some really odd stuff like a tv, a blow up pool and tyres as well as lots of just plain litter."

Following behind the girls next Wednesday, Ms Lowndes will have her ute to pick up any larger items, or children if needed. Girls aged seven to 17 who are interested in joining the Guides are welcome to come along 5pm-7pm Wednesdays at the RSL Hall in Millicent during school terms.

The group offers the first three weeks free and teaches life skills such as resilience, knots, camping, cooking, being prepared and friendship. Rangers operate fortnightly in Penola with high school aged girls coming from Mount Gambier, Naracoorte and Millicent to participate.

Clean Up Australia Day is held nationally on March 5, and everyone is encouraged to take part.

Visit www.cleanupaustriaday.org.au for more information.

Boneham mask return

Employees and visitors are back in masks after a short lifting of the restriction lasted less than two weeks.

CEO Michael Filsell announced on 23 February that a staff member had tested positive to Covid. He said the employee had worked at the site in the previous 48 hours and there were other symptomatic staff members.

BACS confirmed yesterday a total of three staff members have tested positive over the previous 10 days. Due to the positive test results the requirement to wear a mask on the premises has been re-introduced.

Visitors can still use the common areas whilst masked and residents are permitted to leave the premises. Presentation of a negative RAT test prior to entry remains in place.

Upgrade for Walk

By Charlotte Varcoe

Wendy's Walk in Beachport will receive a $172,000 facelift in the coming weeks as construction on the new walkway begins.

The project is being completed under a design and construction contract awarded by council to Hamlym Wilson.

After completing the detailed design works are expected to begin within early March.

The new stairs will be timber with a free-standing handrail and a large viewing platform at the top.

It will also include a rest point at the half-way mark to cater for all eager tourists and local community members.

Wattle Range Council director of engineering services Peter Halton said he was eager to see the completed project after it being years in the making.

"Originally it was a potential project the Beachport Lions Club wanted to take on but after looking at what needed to be done it was a substantial project and due to standards needing to be met we decided they would advocate for the project rather than deliver it,"

Mr Halton said.

"From that time on we have been working through the approval process, planning and council consideration for budgets."

After the project "finally bubbling to the top" of council's priority list, Mr Halton said the finished project would add yet another tourist attraction to the area.

"The concept is pretty close to the final design; the only thing that has changed is the resting place," he said.

"We wanted it to also be another tourist attraction rather than just providing connections and have it as a place where people can enjoy the view and walk back down again.

"Once we complete it, we need to then think about how we connect it back to Beach Road and the likes and at the moment we are planning to connect it to Foster Street but also thinking about putting a footpath near South Terrace however it is not currently budgeted for."

Mr Halton said so far the community response was "nothing but positive" with community engagement still occurring.

"We have been continuing to engage with the Lions group who have been a strong supporter of coming up with better solutions," he said.

"We also put it on social media and had nothing but positive feedback but one thing I did notice was there were a lot of comments about handrails and the stairs being at a reasonable rise."

He said although he would "feel a lot better once the job is finished" he was excited the project was on its way with the demolition and reconstruction the hardest part.

"The next stage of the project is the contractor doing the job which can be challenging," Mr Halton said.

"This won't come without its challenges because it is in the sand which will be a challenge for the earth workers.

"Once they get over that stage of the project I will feel more comfortable that we can meet the design outcomes we have at the moment."

The contractors are expected to be on site in the coming weeks and will site and fence off the area until the reconstruction is complete.

Government plan for road toll reduction

By Aidan Curtis

THE State Government is looking to introduce strong measures to reduce deaths and serious injuries on the road following a horror start to the year.

South Australia's Road Safety Action Plan 2023-2025 has been released as part of the State Government's plan to curb serious road injuries.

While the Action Plan is a state-wide measure, Minister for Police Joe Szakacs said it aims to improve outcomes for regional road users too.

"There is disproportionate trauma on country roads, given only 22 per cent of South Australia's population reside in regional areas," Mr Szakacs said.

"Over half of all crashes (56 per cent) where lives are lost, and 36 per cent of serious injury crashes occur on regional and remote roads.

"Almost two thirds of these crashes are single vehicle crashes that do not involve other vehicles or pedestrians."

Mr Szakacs said a combination of approaches will be used including enforcement, education and public awareness to address dangerous driving behaviours.

"Poor driving behaviours, including drink and drug driving, speeding, distraction and incorrect use of seatbelts in addition to dangerous road users, will be targeted," he said.

"The Action Plan identifies measures that will contribute to a target of at least a 50 per cent reduction in lives lost and a 30 per cent reduction in serious injuries on South Australian roads by 2031."

A Department of Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) spokesperson part of this includes a commitment to ensuring roads are maintained in a safe condition.

The spokesperson said that included an investment of $17 million in road resurfacing in the Limestone Coast, which has been scheduled to be completed by 2024.

"Wet conditions during 2022-23 resulted in increased potholes in the South East, and significant pavement repair works have been undertaken on various roads across in the region in recent months," the spokesperson said.

"The Department's maintenance contractor, Fulton Hogan inspects the road network in the South East on a fortnightly basis and attends to potholes as they are identified.

"The community can report road maintenance issues requiring immediate attention, 24 hours a day, to the Traffic Management Centre on 1800 018 313."

The spokesperson encouraged regional drivers to adhere to road rules by staying below the speed limit, not driving under the influence, and wearing a seatbelt.

Roads scheduled to be resurfaced by 2024 include:

- Southern Ports Highway (Robe to Clay Wells)
- Mount Burr Road (Millicent to Penola)
- Overland Track (Mt Burr to Glencoe West)
- Burrungale Road (Glencoe to Kongorong)
- Dukes Highway
- Riddoch Highway
- Lucindale to Mt Burr Road
- Mile Hill Road
- Naracoorte Road
- Princes Highway
- Southern Ports Highway (Beachport to Millicent).

Road pavement renewal works scheduled to be completed in late March, 2023 include:

- Riddoch Highway, around 3.5kms south of Naracoorte;
- Mount Burr Road, around 3kms between Millicent and Penola;
- Overland Track, around 3.25kms between Mount Burr and Glencoe West; and
- Southern Ports Highway and Clay Wells Road, around 17.5kms between Robe and Clay Wells.

Writing help for Penola High students

By Elisabeth Champion

Penola High School students are getting into a creative flow, learning all the tricks to writing.

Award-winning author and poet Jude Aquilina is helping the students to unlock their imagination and teach them valuable writing skills as the writer-in-residence.

The Writers SA Writers in Schools Program has seen South Australian writers get in front of student in regional public high schools across the state.

Sharing her knowledge is nothing new for Ms Aquilina who has extensive experience teaching and mentoring at schools, libraries, community centres, university, TAFE, and in a prison, and she said it was the part of her job that she loved.

"If I think back to when I was at school, not once were we ever asked to write a poem and not once did we have a visiting writer at school," she said.

"This is to give people a taste - young people have got that wonderful thing where their imaginations are on fire, they are really creative but sometimes they have never been asked to write a creative piece - a short story or a poem.

"So this is just giving them that chance to excel."

Ms Aquilina said that the Penola students had already shown remarkable skill with words.

"Most of them say 'oh I can't do this'; and then they come up with absolutely fantastic, original pieces," she said.

"I am just so proud of them - I go home each night and read what some of them have written and I am floating, I just feel so inspired."

In order to get the creative juices flowing the students have been given story prompts or challenges to get them really thinking.

"One of the exercises I do is trying to write a piece without using the letter E," she said.

"So that counts out he, she, they, no past tense words - they are coming up with some really excellent things.

"Usually I have to catch them out and say you've got an E there, they're really thinking hard about it and coming up with good things."

By the end of the workshops, the students will have a piece for submission in the Catherine Martin Literary Award at the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival.

Ms Aquilina is a freelance writer, editor, mentor and educator. She has taught creative writing to a wide sector of the community, at schools, libraries, community centres, university, TAFE, and in a prison.

She was the 2018 recipient of the Barbara Hanrahan Fellowship and her works in progress include a poetry collection about the outback, titled Big Backyard, a novel based on her opal-mining grandmother, and a book of South Australian ghost stories.

MUSIC IS MY SOUL FOOD

A poem without the letter 'E'
 Music is my soul food
 singing, dancing
 I am prancing
 rapping is tough
 thinking of stuff
 words roll out
 I'm going to shout.
 Music is fun
 when riffs run.
 I say lots of words
 I sing with the birds.
 Music is my soul food.

MY FARM

Sheep like grounded clouds.
 Cows grazing like lazy kids.
 Sheds rusty and full of junk,
 smelling like oil.
 Barbed wire fences with claws to catch my flesh.
 Dirt on farm boots and cars
 like a layer of paint.
 Bad luck black cat
 prowling at night
 sleeping all day.
 Old farmhouse like a brick tombstone
 in the middle of the farm.
 Buggies fast as the speed of sound and noisier.
 Tractor like a mechanical monster ready to roar into gear.
 My farm.

OLD GRANDPA

 walking with dog

 carrying bag

THE NIGHT SKY STARES AT MY SOUL

The moon is like a bowl of rice bubbles.
 The stars shine like diamonds on a tiara.

THE MOON IS A CLOCK

The moon is a clock.
 The stars shine like millions of dreams in the backs of people's minds.
 The night sky is as black as the hearts of those with no remorse.
 The night sky allows me to release
 the tension of the day.
 By Maddison Ellery - Year 8

THE MOON IS A BIG BRIGHT SMILE

The moon is a big bright smile.
 The stars are like people,
 each and every one of them are different.
 The night sky is as black as my cat's eyes.
 The night sky is something
 I can look up to and forget about everything.
 By Alissa Sedman - Year 8

THE NIGHT SKY IS AN UNSOLVED MYSTERY

The moon is a bright light in the sky.
 The stars are like fireflies.
 The night sky is as black as a camera shutter.
 The night sky makes me feel like it is an unsolved mystery.

POLLUTION IS KILLING US

A poem without the letter 'E'
 Pollution is killing us.
 Plastic is killing you.
 A factory can kill us.

Oil can kill you.
 A virus will kill us.
 Poisonous air will kill you.
 I can't stop pollution.
 I can't stop plastic.
 I can't stop a factory.

 nor can you.

From forest to wedding

Four-wheel driving and getting bogged in the pines with her girlfriends, Tayla Kelly was blissfully unaware this moment would become a major turning point in her life.

Braiden Treacey happened to be in the right place at the right time and towed the girls out of their dilemma, which led to the couple dating and more recently getting married.

On Saturday, 27 January, family and friends gathered in the couple's Glencoe garden to witness and celebrate their wedding ceremony, performed by civil marriage celebrant Telia Dawson of Tied by Telia.

The wedding dress worn by Tayla had a long white tulle skirt and fitted a bodice with off the shoulder straps worn with her great grandmother's brooch.

Tayla's sister Erin Kelly was Maid of Honour and the bridesmaids included her friends Kelsie Smith, Becky Grosser, Michelle Robinson and the groom's sister Chelsea Treacey.

The bridesmaids and Maid of Honour all wore different style satin dresses in matching lavender which complemented the bride's bouquet.

Best Man Jacob Dihm, joined the groom's friends Tully Balshaw, Clay Von Duve, Brad Smith and future brother-in-law Nick Lock as groomsmen.

The men all wore matching grey vests, white shirts and navy shorts with the groom adding a light grey suit jacket to his ensemble.

Tayla and Braiden's children, Addison and Harrison, joined their cousin's Luca and Asher Lock in flower girl and page boy roles.

The reception was also held in the couple's garden and 130 guests enjoyed seated dining catered by Finns Fine Foods.

Metro Bakery made the wedding cake decorated with a 96 year old family dove ornament which has previously adorned the wedding cakes of three earlier generations.

The family treasure decorated Tayla's great grandmother Katie Millie's wedding cake in 1927, her grandmother Jean Potter's in 1952 and her mother Fiona Kelly's in 1993.

Both Tayla's grandmother and great grandmother were married in Scotland.

Toasts to the couple were proposed by the father of the bride Brett Kelly, mother of the groom Sandra Case, Jacob Dihm, Tully Balshaw and Erin Kelly.

Family friend Thea Clough was MC for the evening and included a song she wrote and sang for the couple.

The audience joined in singing the chorus ensuring everyone was in a fun mood which continued to see guests dancing the night away to DJ Jamie Burnett.

Photos of the couple were taken at Glencoe landmarks including the historic woolshed. Pictures: MEMORIES BY JUDY ANNE

The Naracoorte Caves National Park has been named as the Park of the Month for March.

The caves will be running a number of activities throughout March to celebrate, including a guided nature and cultural walk, an underground photography tour, and bat night in the caves.

Naracoorte Caves site manager Thomas Shortt said March will be a great opportunity to learn more about Australian prehistory.

“More than 500,000 years ago many of these species, including the marsupial lion, Thylacoleo carnifex, fell into openings that had formed in the roof of the cave, several of which formed in the roof of Victoria Fossil Cave,” he said.

“Their fossilised remains now tell the story of Australia’s unique animal heritage and this was recognised in 1994 when Naracoorte Caves became an UNESCO World Heritage site.”

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

AMERICAN PRESIDENCY WITH BILL CLINTON

SBS, Thursday, 8.30pm

Presented by former US president Bill Clinton (pictured), this insightful six-part series explores the history of the American presidency and the struggle for a more perfect union. Taking a detailed look at a wide variety of presidential action that moved the United States forward, it covers a different topic each episode – race, rights, extremism, global power, vision and economic might. Tonight's instalment "We The People" probes presidential decision-making in the face of turning points for many US citizens who have been left out of the country's story.

CALL THE MIDWIFE

ABC TV, Saturday, 7.30pm

In good news for Call the Midwife fans, Nonnatus House won't be shutting its doors any time soon, with the BBC renewing the long-running period drama for three more seasons. In typical fashion, the beloved show's producers deliver plenty of drama as season 11 wraps up tonight. As the community rallies together after a tragedy, the team of nurses and midwives must overcome their own anguish to help the injured. Trixie (Helen George, pictured) and Matthew (Olly Rix) agonise over their wedding plans.

WOULD I LIE TO YOU?

AUSTRALIA

10, Monday, 8.40pm

Chrissie Swan (pictured) hosts this endlessly entertaining local take on the hit UK panel show, in which two teams try to outwit each other with outlandish anecdotes that may or may not be true. Team captains Charlie Pickering and Frank Woodley guide their fellow competitors as each hilarious story is meticulously picked apart through a series of probing questions until the truth (or lie) is finally revealed. Tonight's guests include performer Em Rusciano, comedian Mel Buttle, actor Josh Lawson and retired politician Christopher Pyne.

PICK OF THE WEEK

THE SWAP

SBS, Wednesday, 8.30pm

This first-of-its-kind social experiment is set to shake up the country's cultural divide, break down social barriers and boost understanding and acceptance in diverse communities – all by giving 12 very different Brisbane high school students and their families the chance to swap schools for a term. Ali Kadri (pictured), CEO of the Islamic College of Brisbane, is behind the exchange, which sees six Muslim families, four Catholic families and two atheist families take a leap of faith that will test their preconceptions of each others' lives. The results are eye-opening, and at times challenging, but there's no doubt the students, their families – and viewers – will ultimately be changed for the better.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

Suzuki Jimny GLX delays

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

Picking up the new Jimny press car, I asked the Suzuki man when a prospective buyer would be able to take delivery of the test car variant, a GLX three-door automatic.

"Try next year," he replied.

Suzuki Australia also said unprecedented demand and the global computer chip issue, have stalled the MY23 Jimny three-door automatic until production catches up.

Customers with an order already inked, can keep waiting or switch to the bigger five-door, due Down Under later this year.

The three-door Lite manual is still available to order.

The Jimny has six variants, from the Jimny Lite manual, at $30,490, plus on-road costs, through to the Jimny GLX auto.

Like all Suzukis, it's distributed in Queensland separately from those in the rest of Australia.

Like all present-day Suzuki cars, the Jimny is covered by a five-year, unlimited kilometre warranty and five-year capped-price service scheme, the latter at 12 months or 10,000-kilometre intervals.

There's a nod to Jimny's heritage with hallmark round headlamps, while washers now are standard for the LED headlights.

These, plus angled bumper edges that boost clearance at the wheels, make for confident driving in mud, dirt or sand and assured climbing over obstacles such as rocks or fallen trees.

Their moulded black material safeguards the body from stone chips and scratches.

A nifty drip rail keeps occupants' heads sheltered when getting in or out of the Jimny by helping to prevent water from dripping off the roof.

The Jimny cabin is welcoming, especially to the driver, with instruments and controls all within easy access and designed to enable he or she to focus on maintaining control with quick and easy operation.

Instruments are designed to be easily legible in bright sunlight or shadow, being lit at all times.

A touch of luxury is added with a leather dressed steering wheel, which again benefits the driver with vertical adjustment up to 35 mm.

Access to the rear seats is not so accommodating, with only two doors up front, although the front seats slide for easy operation.

Space is at a premium, with room only for a couple of compact occupants in anything approaching comfort.

Boot volume is 85 litres with the rear seats set up.

The two 50:50 rear seat backs, headrests removed, can be folded flat leaving 377 litres for cargo.

Instrumentation is basic, with a 9-inch system allowing access to an AM / FM tuner, Bluetooth, USB audio and reverse camera.

Satellite navigation is left to Apple CarPlay or Android Auto phone connectivity.

The new 1.5-litre engine, mated with its four-speed automatic transmission, stumps up more power and torque than the motor it replaces, while maintaining fuel efficiency.

The stronger torque levels are delivered across the rev range with plenty on tap low down; handy for serious off-road situations. Towing is rated at 1300 kg with braked trailer.

The Jimny carries only a three-star ANCAP rating. However, some advanced features do earn special mention.

These include dual sensor brake support, in which a camera and laser sensor, attached to the windscreen, provide visual and audio alerts to the driver, warning of risks of collision as well as an emergency braking function.

Total effective control technology consists of a body structured to absorb and disperse the force of impact in the event of a collision, while an electronic stability program monitors wheels, which when detected automatically adjusts engine torque and applies braking force to limit wheel slippage and assist the driver to stay in control of steering.

The new 1.5-litre engine with its refined four-speed auto gearbox, featuring linear shift selection, is claimed to have combined fuel economy of 6.9 litres per 100 kilometres.

The Jimny GLX auto on test recorded 7.8 litres per 100 kilometres around town and 5.8 litres per 100 kilometres on the motorway.

Like any short wheel-base vehicle, the Jim-ny, with its off-road suspension setting, tended to produce a choppy ride on even the most unblemished on-road bitumen and concrete.

It's not a smooth cruiser.

Off road is all about keeping in touch with the terrain, which in this case a sturdy ball-screw steering system provides ample feedback with minimum chance of kickback.

If any wheel loses grip the limited-slip differential traction control automatically applies braking to the culprit, torque being shifted to the other side, enabling the vehicle to regain traction.

Harking back to the cargo carrying capability, the test car came with an added accessory of a wire mesh divider which bolted on between the front and second-row seats, converting the vehicle into a van, alternatively maybe acting as a kennel on wheels for Fido.

Sadly, the wire wall was heavy and awkward to fit via the side doors – a two-handed job, really.

Over the years, the mini-SUV has become something of a cult figure with its retro looks, while claiming to be a genuine 4x4. Followers need not fret, there's plenty here to carry on the Jimny tradition.

If only there was one to spare.

Rewards for brave anglers

By Jamie Coates

A bit of breeze has slowed anglers down over the last week, but those who braved the elements and hit the water regardless were rewarded for their efforts.

There has been plenty happening with the offshore fishing brilliant when the weather permits.

From over the shelf chasing blue eye, hapuka and other deep species, to inshore bottom bouncing chasing the sharks, flathead, nannygai and other tasty reefies, it has been fabulous.

The 60-120m area has fished well for the boaties chasing those previously mentioned species.

Both bait and jigging have gotten results, so it is just a matter of personal preference.

I have had a few commercial fisherman let me know there have been school tuna popping up out the front of the bay now for the last week or so.

They are not monsters, but they are there.

There are also big numbers of bait and birds out there too, so it sounds like its just a matter of time now.

The surf anglers have enjoyed the run of northerly winds we had last week in the lead up to the weekend.

Warm nights, the wind over your shoulder and a fair few fish about made for some happy fishos.

The fishing at Jones Bay has not slowed down much at all.

We have still seen some nice snapper, along with solid whiting, the odd shark and even a few small mulloway.

Browns Bay and Piccininni have also fished well.

I have seen a few snapper from down that way and local young-gun Nathan Kilsby even managed a chunky elephant fish.

Through Canunda National Park we continue to see salmon fairly regularly, which once again are fabulous in the smoker or filleted on the beach, thrown back out and turned into a nice big gummy shark, or even a bronzie.

The Coorong has fished well for sharks again.

Gummy sharks have been most common,

Nathan Kilsby reeled in a good sized elephant shark last week.

Picture: SUBMITTED

but we are also hearing of a few mulloway to around a metre in length - among all the snapper, salmon and bronze whalers.

The whiting fishing in the past week has been good again for most and it is not only the boaties who are in on the action.

The land-based anglers in Carpenter Rocks, Blackfellows Caves, Cape Douglas and even the Port MacDonnell jetty have all found some nice whiting.

The northerly wind has seemed to blow a bit of the inshore weed out and cleaned the place up a fair bit, so the fishing has become easier too.

The boaties have still found good numbers of fish in most spots, but the breakwater, Blackfellows Caves and Carpenter Rocks are all well worth a crack.

There has been plenty of activity this week on the Port MacDonnell jetty by those targeting tommy ruff.

As soon as the lights come on in the evenings, get some burley going and you should not struggle to land a feed.

There are also plenty of mullet, salmon trout and even a few mackerel mixed in with them now.

Whether you are collecting bait or a feed of fish, there should not be any issues.

Squid numbers from the jetty have been a bit hit and miss, but persist and you should still manage to find a few.

Garfish have been in great numbers in recent weeks and this week is no different.

The weed on the beach has produced plenty of tucker for them, so they are in good nick at the moment.

All of the traditional areas have been productive - from the waders at Livingstons and Cape Douglas, to the boaties in Hutt Bay and Pelican Point.

Much the same as the whiting fishos, there are plenty of other species about.

They include tommyies, salmon and trevally, so do not be surprised if a few extras pop up there too.

Inland there continues to be some cracking yabbies caught.

The wet spring has been incredible for all the little swamps and waterholes through Victoria and South Australia.

I think yabbie fishos are probably the most tight-lipped of all when it comes to sharing information.

However, there has been no shortages and it is just a matter of testing the waters in any little water holes.

The Glenelg River continues to produce some nice bream and perch.

They are spread out right along the river, but we have noticed a big influx recently of small perch.

Guys throwing soft plastics are reporting upwards of 20 or 30 small perch, with some hardly as big as the lure.

It is not a bad thing though as the river is healthy with plenty of fish which are only getting bigger.

The mulloway news again is virtually non-existent, but there have been a couple of smaller fish boated in the last week around the Caves area.

The forecast for the coming weekend is definitely fishable, but there is still a bit of wind and swell on the way.

Keep an eye on it and if all else fails, the breakwater, river or even inland is worth a crack.

Until next week, safe fishing.

Tussle for top under lights

FRANCES-LUCINDALE EAGLES 16-140 d NARACOORTE 8-86

Naracoorte hosted Frances-Lucindale in a battle for top spot under lights on Friday night.

The Eagles claimed the lead early with convincing wins in the mixed doubles and won four sets either 6-0 or 6-1.

Naracoorte claimed only one win in the mixed doubles as Kelsie Moyle-Read and Max Malone claimed a win on tiebreak.

However, Frances-Lucindale kept its foot on the throttle as it won four more sets 6-0 in the singles and victory was in the Eagles' sights.

Naracoorte turned to the Moyle-Read family, who won all three of their sets which sparked a fightback from the rest of the side.

Additional sets from Malone, Steve Biggins, Logan Smith and Lucy Midwinter meant Naracoorte trailed by just two sets headed into the doubles.

Naracoorte burst out of the box and took the lead into multiple doubles clashes.

However, after a 15-minute rain delay, the Eagles turned it around and won the final sets needed to secure top spot on the ladder to end the regular season on a high.

Mark Woods, James Crossling, Bob Williams, Flo Bergwin and Mon Van Dyk all won three sets for the Eagles, while Kelsie Moyle-Read won three sets for Naracoorte.

LUCINDALE KOALAS 24-163 d PENOLA 0-40

The Lucindale Koalas flexed their strength with an emphatic win over Penola on Saturday.

The Koalas were strong across the board and made Penola work hard for the games it won.

An exciting contest took place between Kylie Ware and Caroline McGrath.

McGrath fought desperately hard to try and claim a set for Penola, but Ware was too strong and claimed the set 6-4.

Kirsty Bailey also put up a strong fight for Penola but suffered a 7-5 defeat to Amelia Wood.

KINGSTON 16-139 d ROBE ROOSTERS 8-96

Kingston made the trip to Robe and took on the Roosters in windy conditions.

The visitors came out of the gates strongly and won five of the mixed doubles sets to build an early lead.

Kingston's dominance continued into the men's singles as it won five sets to further extend its comprehensive lead.

Shaun Mules had a long, tough match against Peter Obst but pushed through to claim a 7-5 win.

In an hour-long contest, Lisa Hall claimed a 7-5 win over Alex Menz in an enthralling encounter.

Kingston ultimately proved too good for the Rooster and showed its class as it ran out 16-8 victors.

Max Malone returning for Naracoorte.

ROBE REBELS 13-117 d LUCINDALE WOMBATS 11-115

The Rebels took the early lead with wins in four of the six mixed doubles clashes.

Robe's Jed Regnier and Andrew Brown had a convincing win over Chandler Smart and Brittany Voss.

While Robe's number two pairing, George Pretlove and Kimberley Austin, won in a close tiebreaker against Adrian Maywald and Toby Longbottom.

With the Wombats winning five of the men's singles, it brought the scores back to a level playing field.

The Robe women won four of the singles clashes with Michelle Smith the standout with a convincing win over Alexandra King.

With the contest still in the balance at the end of the singles, it all came down to the doubles, where the Rebels shone through to win the fixture by two sets.

BEACHPORT 14-134 d LUCINDALE COCKATOOS 10-113

The day started evenly with the top three mixed doubles clashes going the way of the Cockatoos before Beachport claimed the bottom three to level the scores.

Beachport began to stretch out a lead through the singles clashes, which finished nine sets to three.

Despite taking out the top order mixed doubles 7-5, Matt Waugh and Sally Schultz fell short to Noah Lang and Allannah Mueller 6-0 and 7-6 respectively, while Jack Harris's highly anticipated return to the side was interrupted by Jack Grundy who claimed a 6-2 win.

Emily Watson led the charge for Beachport alongside Maddie Redman as they were the only players to claim three wins, while Andy Buckett and Clare Garner were three-set winners for Lucindale.

This weekend will see the grand finals contested, with the Frances-Lucindale Eagles taking on the Lucindale Koalas in the Division 1 grand final.

The Eagles have looked unstoppable in the run home to the final and have only dropped 25 sets in the last five matches.

However, the grass-court specialists on the Koalas side could give Lucindale a chance of pulling off an upset.

The fixture between Mark Woods and Sam

Sophie Ford serving for Frances-Lucindale.

Graetz is the set to watch in this grand final, with a thrilling contest expected.

In Division 2, Kingston will take on Naracoorte.

Naracoorte will be determined to take home the Division 2 silverware after it seemed odds on to make the main grand final but fell out of the top two in the final round.

When these two teams last met, Naracoorte won 14 sets to 10.

However, Kingston's men could prove challenging, with Matt Menz, Shaun Mules and Lou Ledig leading the charge, Naracoorte will be looking to score sets in the mixed doubles and the women's singles.

The Division 3 grand final sees the Lucindale Wombats locking horns with Beachport.

The Wombats will be difficult to beat on the lawn but after an up-and-down season, if Beachport fields its strongest side then it will be in with a chance.

Play starts at 12:30pm with the Division 2 and 3 mixed doubles.

From 1pm, the Division 1 spectacle will be underway on the centre courts.

Pristine bowling conditions

Perfect weather conditions greeted the Millicent Bowls Club for last week's night owls competition.

So much so, there were even some bare-footed bowlers spotted on the greens.

Red Division winners for the night were the Somerset Legends of Deb Butler, Wilbur Lane, John Sillis and David Sharp.

They defeated Awesome Foursome 20+15, while other winners for the grade included Rovers 19+18, Mossies 18+11, Grand Hotel 17+11 and Jack Attack 15+2.

The Pups' Todd Craig, Luke Ferguson, Hamish Reilly and Sam Kent topped the Blue Division with an 18+14 win over Lion Rams.

Maccas 18+13, Rotary 18+9, Bits and Pieces 17+5 and Miss Fitts 17+1 also recorded wins.

In the White Division it was Here 4 Beer which claimed the honours when Graham, Bradyn, Sod and Shane Reilly defeated Xfactor 21+23.

Other White winners were Gizzies Crew

Robe women claim fours

The Lower South East Bowls Association Championship Fours were played at Kingston on Sunday, with the Robe women's team of Robbie Dahler, Carolyn McCusker, Helen Dawson and Judy Bermingham securing the annual honours.

They took out the 2022-23 honours with a solid campaign, which started with a win over Mount Gambier RSL.

A semi-final win over Naracoorte RSL booked a place in the decider, which was followed by a grand final victory over Naracoorte.

All games were close encounters, which kept spectators entertained throughout.

For the men Robe was defeated by Mount Gambier, who were then defeated by champions Port MacDonnell in the final.

Attention will now turn to the Association Championship Triples this Sunday.

Robe will also hold its club men's fours tournament today.

PENNANTS

The Friday Pennant finals were cancelled last week due to the hot weather.

Games will not be played this Friday at the same venues.

Robe's Division 2 side will play Naracoorte at Naracoorte, while Division 3 plays Naracoorte at Mount Gambier RSL.

Saturday's Open Pennant had Robe travel to Port MacDonnell in Division 1.

After a tight game, Robe came out on top, 71/10 to 69/2.

Josh Waddell, David Robinson, Peter Gregory and Glenn Wright defeated Tim Wrightson's team 23-21, while Pat Lynch, Dean Burgoyne, Peter Roachock and Harold Manton accounted for Chris Richards' rink 26-24.

Errol Jennings, Dean Woodward, Steve Farrell and Stephen Kennett were defeated by Adam Wilson's side 22-24 in another close battle. Despite the good win, it was not quite enough to sneak into the top four and Robe finished the Division 1 season in fifth.

Robe's Division 2 side also hit the road to play Naracoorte in the last game of the home-and-away season.

A big win on won rink proved the difference in the solid victory, with Robe winning 86/9 to 66/3.

Rob Lawrie, Peter deLaine, Ali Douglas and Adrian Bermingham had a big 34-13 shot result over Wayne Tanner's rink to secure the overall honours.

Meanwhile, Gordon Brown, Ross Dening, Jo Sykes and Ken Smith had a draw with David Parker's team 22-all and Paul Truelove, Barry Bennett, Mark Murphy and Deane Nankivell lost to Greg Prior's four in a close encounter, 30-31.

Division 2 finished fourth for the minor rounds and will now gear up for finals.

SOCIAL

The Super Series did not go well for Robe last week, when it was defeated by Tankers at Mount Gambier RSL on Monday night and Bay Breakers at Mount Gambier on Thursday night.

Meanwhile, on home greens the social bowls competition saw two games of two-bowl triples played.

There was only one two-game winner, with Ross Dening, Josh Waddell and Doug Baker finishing on 57 points.

In other news, Pat Lynch has been giving lessons to new bowlers on Wednesdays from 4-5pm.

All new bowlers are welcome, with more information available from Valma Jennings on 0419842396.

Rendelsham and Townies to face off in grand final

By Lachlan Onions

RENDELSHAM 5/101 d KINGSTON 10/100

Rendelsham kept its premiership defence alive with a comprehensive five-wicket win over Kingston in the first semi-final of the Millicent/Naracoorte Cricket Association on Saturday.

The minor premiers had the home ground advantage and looked to put the pressure on Rendelsham as they won the toss and batted first.

However, the visitors had other ideas and their bowlers went to work from the outset.

Mark Collins was the first to go as he was dismissed for 12 after he was caught off Tyson Smith to make it 1/19.

Shortly after, fellow opener and Kingston captain Mathew Cridland departed after he was caught by Dwayne Gray off Jacob Carger's bowling to make it 2/31.

Harrison Stenner was next in and struggled to find any rhythm before he was dismissed by Carger and the hosts were in a spot of bother at 3/42.

Things went from bad to worse as Jack Tapfield was bowled for a duck three balls later to end Carger's over, before Dylan Clough sent Ethan Murdock on his way for a duck five balls later.

At 5/43, the pressure was on Craig and Luke Watson to stop the constant flow of wickets and help manufacture a defendable total for Kingston.

However, Craig Watson lasted only 17 balls and was the next to fall victim to Carger.

Zac Hatch came in and put up a fight as he looked to rebuild with Luke Watson.

The pair combined for 19 runs before the latter was dismissed for 31 runs by Ayden Reid to make it 7/76.

From then on it was all smooth sailing for Rendelsham and Reid cleaned up the tail to end with four wickets and set his side a target of 101 runs for victory off 40 overs.

Carger also impressed with the ball and ended with figures of 4/14 from his eight-over spell.

With a low total to defend, Kingston started strongly as Murdock dismissed opener Zach Jones for a duck in the first over.

However, Dylan Clough came in at number three and quickly thwarted any possibly momentum for the hosts.

Bredon Smith will look to continue his impressive form with the bat and ball for the Townies in this Saturday's grand final.

Pictures: LACHLAN ONIONS

With 21 runs off his first 11 balls, including two 4's and a six, Clough single-handedly put the Kingston bowlers to the sword.

A glimmer of hope came for the hosts at the end of the ninth over as Murdock dismissed Reid to make it 2/40.

However, Clough combined with Jake Wight to put Rendelsham within touching distance of a grand final berth.

After a 32-run partnership, Clough departed for an impressive 49 at a strike-rate of 148.48.

The next over, Wight looked to go nuclear as he hit Gabriel Cox for back-to-back sixes.

However, Cox hit back and dismissed Wight the following ball to bring his innings to an end at 25.

Kingston claimed another late wicket but it was all in vain as Rendelsham cruised to a five-wicket win with more than 21 overs to spare.

The second semi-final was scheduled at Naracoorte between the Townies and Footballers Furner Beachport.

However, the contest was washed out due to the rain and as a result, the Townies will progress through to the final as they finished higher on the ladder.

Looking ahead to the grand final, Rendelsham will travel to Wortley Oval for the decider this Saturday, with play to begin at 1pm.

When these sides met in Round 14, the Townies fought back from the brinks of defeat to claim a nine-run win off the back of an impressive captain's knock from Bredon Smart.

Smart has dominated with the bat and ball this season and will be a player to watch in the grand final.

For Rendelsham, Dylan Clough will be a key figure with the bat, while Max Telfer and Jacob Carger will be the players to watch with the ball for the visitors.

Bringing home the Shield

The annual Baker and Ey Shield was held between the Mount Gambier and Southern Ports Tennis Associations recently.

Over 80 players made the trip to the Lucindale Tennis Club for the event, who once again put on a good show with the iconic grass courts in fine condition.

Last year both shields were won by Southern Ports, but Mount Gambier hit back with a redeeming effort to claim both awards for 2023 in a thrilling finish.

The Division 1 Baker Shield had the Mount Gambier teams off to a strong start in the morning session.

Mount Gambier Blue edged over the line eight sets to seven against Southern Ports Blue, while Mount Gambier Green took the win 9-6 over Southern Ports Red.

In the afternoon session matches were tight again, with Mount Gambier Blue defeating Southern Ports Red 9-6 and Mount Gambier Green victorious over Southern Ports Blue by the same margin.

There were plenty of standouts on both sides.

The likes of Zayne Young, Eliza Hanbury, Bianca Cunneen, Tarrant Fudge and Andrew van den Hurk were all in fine form, while Mark Heemskerk, Jayme Young, Dylan Childs, Sarah Edwards and Poppy Moyle-Read also rose to the occasion.

In the end Southern Ports was unlucky, losing many tight sets.

However, Mount Gambier proved too strong when it counted to win the Baker Shield 35 sets to 25.

In the Division 2 Ey Shield, it was an arm wrestle to the finish, with Mount Gambier claiming the honours by just nine games.

Southern Ports was off to a flying start and took the lead 17 sets to 13 at the lunch break.

Southern Ports Blue was the most convincing in the morning session, with a 9-6 set win over Mount Gambier Blue.

Mount Gambier Blue started slowly, falling behind 4-1 after the doubles and could not bridge the gap through the singles matches.

Southern Ports Red also put in a good performance and narrowly defeated Mount Gambier Green 8-7.

Southern Ports Blue continued its good form into the afternoon session, defeating Mount Gambier Green eight sets to seven to put Southern Ports in a strong position to defend the shield.

However, in a stunning comeback Mount Gambier Blue took down Southern Ports Red 10 sets to five, which put the overall result on level terms at 30 sets apiece.

After much deliberation and calculation of scores, Mount Gambier won the shield by a slim nine games, 30-317 to 30-308.

Standout performances in the Ey Shield came from David Cole, Rylee Kuchel, Sarah Brown, Casey Weaver, Lou Liedig, Sally Schultz and Tyler Hannigan.

RESULTS

- Baker Shield: Mt Gambier Green 9 d Southern Ports Red 6; Mt Gambier Blue 8 d Southern Ports Blue 7; Mt Gambier Green 9 d Southern Ports Blue 6; Mt Gambier Blue 9 d Southern Ports Red 6.
- Ey Shield: Southern Ports Blue 9 d Mt Gambier Blue 6; Southern Ports Red 8 d Mt Gambier Green 7; Southern Ports Blue 8 d Mt Gambier Green 7; Mt Gambier Blue 10 d Southern Ports Red 5.

The Ey Shield was won by the Mount Gambier and District Tennis Association against the Southern Ports Association.

Rooster now leads Crows

By James Murphy

There is a new face at the helm of the Adelaide Crows and he calls the Limestone Coast home.

Robe's Jordan Dawson was recently announced as skipper ahead of the 2023 AFL season and will take over the reins from outgoing captain Rory Sloane.

Upon the announcement, Dawson said he was flooded with messages from people back home.

"The reaction was pretty special," he said.

"I had hundreds of messages from people back home saying how proud they are of me.

"To represent Robe and that region is really special to me."

The 25-year-old began his football career as a Rooster, playing for his home club in the Mid South Eastern Football League.

He played a handful of games for Sturt in the SANFL in 2015, before he was picked up by Sydney in that year's national draft, where he then spent six seasons with the Swans.

At the conclusion of the 2021 AFL season, Dawson requested a trade back to South Australia, which landed him a dream position at the Crows - the club he supported growing up.

Now he takes the plunge into captaincy, an impressive achievement in just his second year at Adelaide.

Dawson steps into some big shoes, filled by the likes of Sloane, Taylor "Tex" Walker and Nathan van Berlo over the last decade.

Playing in South Australia at the elite level, just a few hours' drive from his home town, is something he has so far enjoyed.

"It's been awesome, probably better than what I thought to be honest," he said.

"Having my family and even my friends and my partner's friends to games is pretty special.

"It is something I didn't think I would enjoy as much as I have."

A breakout 2022 campaign with the Crows was highlighted by his match-winning goal after the siren in the Round 3 Showdown against Port Adelaide.

something special.

"Growing up watching Showdowns and watching how competitive those games are, then playing in my first one and having a moment like that was really special to me," he said.

"Then to also get my first win for the club as well."

He was awarded the Showdown Medal for the game, with two goals and 24 disposals.

His statistics for the 2022 season are nothing short of impressive, averaging over 24 disposals, six marks and three tackles per game.

With Round 1 of the 2023 season less than a month away, Dawson's legacy will soon begin as an AFL captain.

He said he hoped to have a positive impact on the Adelaide Football Club in his new role.

"I just want to leave the place in a better position than when I took over," Dawson said.

"Sloane has obviously done a fantastic job and so has Tex, so I just want to help the place keep growing and build a winning culture."

The Crows face GWS in the season opener on March 19 and will hope to improve on last year's 14th place finish.

Split round for Limestone Coast's women footballers

By James Murphy

It will be another split fixture for Round 7 of the Limestone Coast Women's Football League.

The weekend kicks off with Friday night football in Millicent, where two games will be played at McLaughlin Park.

A battle of Tigers will open proceedings when Mundulla and North Gambier clash in a top-of-the-table contest.

Mundulla carries red-hot form into the bout and has established itself as a heavy-weight for season 2023.

The Tigers have also been strong and sits in second place, but a loss to Casterton Sandford last round would have shaken some confidence.

The Cats lost to Mundulla 100-0 just a few short weeks ago, suggesting North could be in for a tough outing.

The likes of Libby Howe-Morgan, Alice Tentye and Mikaila Pitt have been standouts of recent rounds for the Tigers.

Chloe Perryman is another regular in the best, while the pace of Paris Ackland is another weapon for North.

They will be looked to again, among others, in what will be their greatest test of the year.

Mundulla has no shortage of talent and power, with the likes of Casey McElroy, Erin Hornsnel, Melody Maddern and Kaylene Rowett coming off impressive displays in a comprehensive win over Kongorong.

Kellsey Hinge has been another regular among the best and the northern Tigers are sure to put their southern rivals to the test.

Following their match home team Millient will take on South Gambier.

The pair enter the round each with one

North Gambier's Chloe Perryman and her fellow Tigers will need to be at their best when they face off against Mundulla this round.

win for 2023, but the Demons should have their hosts covered.

Both wins came at the expense of wooden spooner Kalangadoo, but at this point South seems the more settled side.

Sophie Wight has been impressive, while Dakota Trotter comes off a solid performance in front of goal.

Joined by Lucy and Emily Pridham, Leonie Robertson and Jarrah Altschwager the Demons have a solid foundation and should be untroubled by the Saints.

Millicent looks to Lauren Potter, Kelsie Wilkinson, Megan Tilby and Michelle Robinson often, while Allanah Pratt is another consistent performer.

For the remainder of the round we look over to Kongorong on Sunday.

Kalangadoo plays Kybybolite in the opener and a one-sided contest is expected.

The Magpies sit winless at the bottom of the ladder, while reigning premier Kyby will be desperate to keep itself in the race for a top-four finish.

Kybybolite has had a slight fall from grace this year, but a 21-all draw to Mundulla gave a glimpse into the potential it has retained.

Dellie Brown has been impressive, while Zara East, Kate Edmonds and Meg Ross have also had their moments in the spotlight.

Taysha Marshall comes off a best-on-ground performance for the Magpies, but it would take something special to deny Kyby the win.

A potentially close battle between Kongorong and Penola will close the round, with both teams well in the hunt for finals.

The Eagles will carry the momentum from last night's rescheduled game against Casterton Sandford and will hope for a strong performance.

Caroline McGrath has been one to watch for Penola, while Ellise and Heidi Berkin and Angela Broad have also been solid.

They will enter confident in their ability, particularly after a good win over North in Round 4.

The Hawks started the year well but have since struggled against the top teams.

The likes of Evie Sealey, Hannah Kuhl-Miller and Sophie and Jade Longbottom will look to step up and should the team bring its best it could be in for an upset.

However, Penola will not want to let a valuable win slip from its grasp with just two minor rounds left after this week.

ROUND 7 FIXTURE

■ McLaughlin Park (Friday, March 3): North Gambier v Mundulla, 6.30pm; Millicent v South Gambier, 8.05pm.

■ Kongorong (Sunday, March 5): Kalangadoo v Kybybolite, 11am; Kongorong v Penola, 12.35pm.

Millicent impresses away

A junior basketball tournament was held in Naracoorte over the weekend and the Millicent Magic flexed its strength with some strong performances across several divisions.

There were two Magic teams who competed in the Under 12 Girls' competition and both sides made the grand final.

During the round-robin stage, the top Millicent team won all four games in emphatic fashion as it scored 180 points and conceded just 25.

The Division 2 side started its tournament with a narrow loss to Casterton but defeated the Mount Gambier Lakers 30-10 to advance through to the third v fourth grand final.

This contest saw the Magic second team take on Casterton again where they suffered a one-point loss.

Millicent was too strong in the main grand final as it defeated the Naracoorte Kings to take home the silverware.

The Under 14's Girls side claimed comfortable wins in the two pool games over the Murray Bridge Bullets and Mount Gambier Lakers Blue.

In the semi-final, Millicent claimed a 45-21 win to move into the grand final where they met the Mount Gambier Lakers Gold.

All players made contributions in the grand final and some strong defence limited the Lakers' opportunities.

The Magic made the most of scoring opportunities from turn overs and went on to claim a 45-22 victory.

Across the weekend, Lucy Crowe and Amarlie Thompson were the top-scorers but all players made handy contributions to the

The Under 16 Girls' side both made finals and the Division 1 Magic claimed the win in the grand final, while the Division 2 girls were runners-up to Naracoorte.

Jeda Hibberd and Asha Gysbers were the top-scorers for the second team.

After a solid first half, Naracoorte's defence restricted Millicent on the offensive end and the Kings ran away in the second half to claim an 18-point win.

grand final after two wins in the group stage but fell short to local-rivals Mount Gambier, who claimed the victory.

There were two boys' sides who impressed for Millicent over the weekend.

The Under 14 Division 1 side finished runner-up to Mount Gambier after an impressive group stage where there was nothing to split the pair as both teams claimed three wins and one loss.

In the Under 16 boys' competition, Millicent went one better and claimed victory in its final.

The group stage was tight as the Magic suffered a one-point loss to Mount Gambier, tied with Naracoorte and claimed a solid win over Murray Bridge.

Battle against the Phillip Island elements for Skeer

By James Murphy

It was a tough weekend for Furner motorcycle racer Dallas Skeer, as he tackled the opening round of the ASBK Australian Superbikes Championship at Phillip Island.

He finished the round 10th overall after three races and has vowed to improve on his wet-weather riding coming out of the event.

Skeer put in a solid qualifying session to start out of fifth place in Race 1, but a poor start kicked off a string of unfortunate events.

"In the first race I got a shocking start and then it just went downhill from there," he said.

"I dropped the clutch a little too quick and the bike bogged right down - I dropped to 12th by the first lap."

Fighting his way through the pack, Skeer pushed back up to fifth, passing three at a time and feeling good.

However, some late drizzly rain took the edge off his pace and he crossed the chequered flag in seventh.

That was Skeer's best finish for the weekend, with Race 2 his worst result.

"The second race on Saturday was fully wet," he said.

"I felt pretty good in the wet in the warm up lap and got a good start and was up to third into turn one.

"I dropped back to fourth on turn two and then someone crashed in front of me and ran three of us onto the grass.

"By the end of the first lap I was back to last, which was around 29th."

From the back of the pack Skeer's bad luck was not over, with a near-crash to follow.

"Coming around turn one, which is a pretty fast corner - I'd say in the wet you'd probably be doing around 180km through there - I had a big rear-end moment and lost traction," he said.

"I saved it but I thought I was going down. At that point I was dead last by about 15 seconds."

By then Skeer had lost all confidence in the wet and his only focus was a finish.

With riders falling frequently in the conditions, Skeer kept upright and crossed the line in 15th.

The third and final race was on Sunday, which was raced in mixed conditions.

Dallas Skeer leads a group of riders through a corner at Phillip Island.

Picture: JAMES O'HAGAN

"It rained just before we went out and the track was half wet so we opted to run the wets because there was just no grip," Skeer said.

"I started off alright, but I had never ridden on a dry track with wets.

"By halfway through it was basically completely dry.

"It was a different feeling and it was just a confidence-building thing."

It was not until the final laps Skeer felt he was posting quick lap times and he spent most of the race in a middle-order pack of around 10 riders.

He crossed the line in 13th, which was enough for a 10th overall for the round due to the inconsistency of most riders.

Skeer will now focus on improving his wet-weather riding while preparing for the second round of the series at Sydney Motorsport Park later in the month.

Eagles down Saints

By James Murphy

PENOLA 13.9 (87) d MILLICENT 0.0 (0)

A six-goal haul from power forward Angela Broad led the Penola Eagles to a comprehensive victory over Millicent in Round 6 of Limestone Coast women's football.

The Eagles entered as hot favourites at Mundulla Oval and a 30-point first quarter set up the eventual 87-point triumph.

That margin grew to 59 by half time, while the Saints were left scoreless throughout the clash.

Lyndall Feast also had her share of action in front of the big sticks and she finished the day with four majors.

Despite the proficiency in front of goal, it was the efforts of youngster Heidi Berkin which impressed most.

She was named as best on ground for the match, while Ellise Berkin came in at second best.

The margin grew consistently across the last two quarters, with two Penola goals in each.

Captain Caroline McGrath rounded out the best players behind powerhouse forwards Broad and Feast.

For the Saints it was Kelsie Wilkinson who was rewarded as best on ground for her tireless efforts, while Lauren Potter, Megan Tilley and Lilly Hateley also featured highly.

Penola will now face off against Kongorong at the Hawks' home ground this Sunday in Round 7.

First semi final hit by heat rule

The final round of the Lower South East Bowls Association Open Pennant was played over the weekend with finals to kick-start this weekend.

In the women's Pennant, Penola was due to play in the first semi-final on Friday but due to the heat rule, the contest was postponed.

The clash will now be played this Friday against Millicent Red at Mount Gambier RSL.

Penola's Open Pennant sides took to the greens in much cooler conditions and the Division 1 side suffered a 43-shot loss to Millicent.

The Division 3 South team faced Port MacDonnell Blue and came away with a mammoth 95-34 win, while Division 3 North suffered a narrow loss to Naracoorte.

Hat trick of rain impacts hit Penola, North

By Lachlan Onions

NORTH SPORTSMAN'S 4/110 d

PENOLA 10/78

For the third time this season, the fixture between Penola and North has been impacted by rain after the second day of the Barber Shield clash was called off due to the weather.

After the two previous encounters ended in washouts, a rain-free Day 1 meant a result came from this contest after the Tigers bowled the Eagles out for 78 and afterwards, surpassed Penola's total with the bat before stumps last Saturday.

Isaac Mulraney and Elliott Fisher dealt the damage with the ball as they claimed eight wickets between them.

With the bat, Nick McNerney was North's best as he scored an unbeaten 56 runs and helped his side claim a first-innings victory.

McNerney also chipped in earlier in the day with two wickets of his own in a solid performance.

For Penola, Mark Smith was the best with bat and ball, as he scored 19 runs and claimed two wickets.

Penola's loss means it has moved down to fourth on the ladder, while North fell just short of finals as it is fifth - 6.6 points behind Penola.

The Eagles will now look to regroup before they make the trip to Malseed Park next weekend to take on the minor premiers West Gambier in the semi-final, with the winner to face either South or East Gambier.

Lewis March scored 18 runs for the Eagles during their loss to North Sportsman's in Round 11 of the Barber Shield.

Tigers down in Cat fight

By James Murphy

CASTERTON SANDFORD 4.4 (28) d NORTH GAMBIER 2.7 (19)

In what was undoubtedly the match of the Limestone Coast women's football round, Casterton Sandford gave North Gambier a nine-point shakeup in Sunday's third match.

The battle of the Cats was expected to be close and after a low-scoring first quarter North held a one-point advantage.

The Tigers found the big sticks in the second and entered the half-time break with an eight-point lead.

However, the Cats came out of the main break with renewed effort and an unanswered 2.1 return put them in front heading into the final stanza.

Another two goals in the fourth held the Tigers at bay despite another yellow and black goal and at the siren the Victorians emerged with a 28-19 point win.

Emily Huglin was the top performer for the Cats on the day.

She was aided by Amelia Thomas, Libby Altorfer, Chloe Finnigan and Gabrielle Sullivan among the best players, while Chloe Smith and Chelsea Wain kicked two goals each.

North looked to Mikaila Pitt as best on ground, with Chloe Perryman, Fiona Young and Hayley Pudney also highly featured.

Laura Chester and Geordan Thomas rounded out the best, with both kicking a goal each.

The result tightens up the top three, with Casterton Sandford now level on wins with North in third place.

Libby Altorfer was another standout for the Cats in their win over North Gambier.

Hawks women have their wings clipped

By James Murphy

MUNDULLA 20.7 (127) d KONGORONG 0.0 (0)

Mundulla made good use of the home-ground advantage on Sunday when it dealt a stinging 127-point defeat to Kongorong in Round 6 of women's football.

The Hawks were left scoreless for four quarters while the hosts drilled the scoreboard and made it clear to see why they sit on top of the ladder. A six-goal opening term set the scene and from there on it continued to be one-way traffic.

Casey McElroy was a shining light for Mundulla and her relentless efforts earned her the best-on-ground honours.

Meanwhile, Erin Horsnell secured second best with her five-goal haul and Melody Madderly was also in fine form.

By half time the margin was an insurmountable 65 points, before another six-goal return in the third quarter pushed Mundulla's total over 100. Kaylene Rowett and Eliza Orrock were other reliable options inside the forward 50 and they finished up with four and three goals respectively.

Jacqui Altus and McElroy also had their moments with two majors each.

With so much firepower it was no surprise to see the final score a staggering 127 points, with an accurate return of 20.7.

The Hawks will now be sent back to the drawing board and they will hope to find a way to deal with the top teams prior to finals.

Hannah Kuhl-Miller was a highlight for the side as best-on-ground, while Sophie Longbottom, Sheree Ailey and Evie Sealey were also frontrunners despite the result.

South Gambier's Bailey Broome and team claimed their first win of the season over Kalangadoo.

Demons claim great first win of season

By James Murphy

SOUTH GAMBIER 8.10 (58) d KALANGADOO 0.0 (0)

South Gambier recorded its first win of the 2023 Limestone Coast women's football season on Sunday.

It came at the expense of Kalangadoo, with the Magpies now the only team winless this campaign.

A steady opening quarter set up a three-goal lead for the Demons at the first change, before another goal in the second saw the margin out to 27 points.

Dakota Trotter was the top scorer on the day and she kept Magpie defenders busy with four goals.

Her attacking prowess was complemented by Sophie Wight, who put in a best-on-ground performance for the Demons along with two goals.

South kicked another two goals in the third and fourth terms, while Kalangadoo was held scoreless throughout the match.

Chloe Lines was another standout, as were Emily and Lucy Pridham and Tonique Burford.

Bailey Broome and Lucy Pridham rounded out the goal scorers with one each.

Taysha Marshall was the best of the Kalangadoo outfit and she put in a hard-working best-on-ground performance.

Kristina Simmonds, Harmony Kennett, Stephanie Bingham and Abby Thompson also received a mention for their efforts.

Finals cricket on

By Lachlan Onions

This weekend, the semi-finals will be contested in the Crouch and Cox Bros Shields, with all games to start at 1pm on Saturday.

In the Crouch Shield, Gambier Centrals will play East Gambier at Frew Park, while South Gambier and Glencoe will lock horns at Marist Park.

Centrals finished on top of the ladder this season with six wins from seven games, while East finished in fourth place with five wins from eight games.

The two sides met in Round 9, where Centrals claimed a first-innings win by 89 runs.

Centrals' Kevin Risely impressed during that encounter with four wickets and 28 runs with the bat.

Josh Thompson will be another key player for Centrals after his century last round. Looking at the other fixture, Glencoe and South both finished the year with five wins each.

The clash between these two sides in Round 4 was abandoned after Glencoe was bowled out for 116 runs and South made it to 3/13 before the game ended abruptly.

Jed Matthews will look to continue his impressive form for Glencoe after he scored an unbeaten ton last time out.

Daniel Loupos will look to use his experience and will be one to watch for the Demons.

In the Cox Bros Shield, Kalangadoo will take on Tarpeena at the Blue Lake Sports Park, while Mil Lel will tackle Gambier Centrals at Reidy Park.

Kalangadoo will head in as firm favourites as it finished the season in top spot with seven wins from eight games, while Tarpeena finished fourth with two wins from seven games.

When these sides met earlier in the season, Kalangadoo claim an emphatic outright win.

Alex Carter dominated with a century while, numerous players chipped in with the ball.

Looking at the other contest, Mil Lel has won all six games it has completed, while Centrals have won three from seven.

When these sides last met, Mil Lel claimed a comfortable win as Brett Lawson was the standout with an unbeaten ton.

All clashes will start on Saturday and then will resume on Sunday.

Michael Waters will look to do the damage with the new ball for Penola.

Eagles on road to finals

By Lachlan Onions

Finals cricket is here and Penola will look to continue its premiership defence this weekend when it travels to West Gambier for a do-or-die semi-final.

Day 1 of the clash will take place on Saturday, before players resume for Day 2 on Sunday with a grand final spot on the line.

The Eagles' form has drastically dropped since the resumption of the season after the Christmas break and after a strong start to the campaign, ended the regular season in fourth place.

In the last three games, Penola has won one and lost two.

However, the Eagles will take confidence that their only win during the period was over West Gambier.

The Roos on the other hand, have had a stranglehold on top spot since the start of the season and have rarely missed a beat.

West ended the home and away season with six wins and two losses, while Penola ended with four wins and three defeats.

In the two clashes between these two sides this season, the results have been split with one win each.

Back in Round 3, West claimed a comprehensive 58-run win, while in Round 10, Penola got home by one wicket.

The first clash saw Penola bowled out cheaply in a one-dayer before the Roos flexed their strength and scored 186 runs from 40 overs.

The second contest was one of the matches of the season and momentum ebbed and flowed throughout.

The Eagles put themselves in an ideal position early as they bowled West out for 132 but the hosts claimed late wickets to hang the match in the balance after Day 1.

Day 2 saw the Eagles in trouble at 4/36 but the lower-order pushed through a survived a late scare to claim a first-innings win by the barest of margins.

With the bat, there are four players who will likely have a major impact on proceedings.

Penola's Drew Clayfield and Jack Mullan have been perennial threats this season, while Nuwan Gunawardana and Jake Blackwell have the ability to take the game away from their opposition.

Gunawardana has scored the second-most runs out of any batter this year, while Clayfield's batting average of 38.14 is second only to East's Dion Stratford.

With the ball, both sides have an array of talent.

West's Sam Willis leads the competition for wickets taken with 29 scalps at an average of 5.24.

Willis enters this clash in fine form off the back of his dominant display against Mil Lel where he claimed nine wickets across two innings.

Bray Stephenson and Trent Badman are also players to watch out for from the hosts.

Back in Round 3, Stephenson ripped through Penola's lineup and guided the Roos to victory with four wickets.

For the Eagles, Lachy Jones has been a threat with the new ball, while Jack Mullan has also been dangerous as their main spinner.

Mullan claimed five wickets last time these two teams met and will be a key player with bat and ball for the visitors.

Both sides will be confident they can come away with a result and book a grand final berth but West Gambier's dominance this season means it will go in as the favourite.
