Cup cheer

Hundreds of people flocked to Penola on the weekend to enjoy the Penola Cup.

Many went home cheering after backing a winner.

People came from all around the region and further afield to enjoy the day of top-class racing.

Enjoying the races are Jade, Dylan, Caleb, Tahlee, Toneya, and Caitlan.

Event stomped

By Charlotte Varcoe

The traditional Digiorgio Family Wines grape stomping event has been cancelled for this year's Coonawarra After Dark with staff needing to make a tough call.

The cancellation of the event was announced earlier this week with Digiorgio Family

Wine brand ambassador Anna Digiorgio stating it was due to unfortunate weather forecasts.

The event typically celebrates the beginning of vintage and kicks off the weekend's Coonawarra After Dark activities.

This year, only Digiorgio's grape stomping and Radis Estate's Greek Charcoal Grill was scheduled for the event with many other cellar doors being busy with an extended vintage.

Ms Digiorgio said it was disappointing to have to cancel the event and was not something the business wanted to do.

"Unfortunately due to the weather forecast, we had to make a decision," Ms Digiorgio said.

"The forecast we were looking at was 10-20ml of rain for this Friday from 3pm onwards and we had to make a decision to cancel or go ahead and considering it is not just us but other stakeholders involved with the event we cancelled."

Limestone Coast Police, with assistance from Traffic Services Branch, State Emergency Services, National Heavy Vehicle Enforcement, Dog Operations Unit, Victoria Police and local council, conducted an operation near the South Australian border at Caroline, targeting the transit of drugs, vehicle standards and other road safety related offences.

On Wednesday April 5, police stopped over 240 vehicles, conducted 238 breath tests and 75 drug tests over an eight hour period.

All vehicles were inspected to ensure compliance with road safety standards with a number being searched under the Controlled Substances Act.

As a result, 10 fines were issued, 15 vehicles were found not to be roadworthy and were subsequently defected and three drivers were detected drug driving.

A 62-year-old Victorian truck driver returned a positive result for methamphetamine and cannabis.

He was issued a three month instant loss of licence for traffic offences and a drug diversion for a small amount of methamphetamine and cannabis located in his possession.

He will be summons to appear in court at a later date.

A 36-year-old Mount Gambier woman returned a positive result for methamphetamine.

She was found to be in possession of a small quantity of cannabis and other drug paraphernalia.

She was issued a three month instant loss of licence, a cannabis expiation notice and will be summonsed to attend court at a later date.

A third driver who returned a positive drug driving result was a South Australian female.

She was issued also issued a three month instant loss of licence and a fine.

Further to the operation, Limestone Coast Police stopped numerous drivers over the Easter long weekend committing various offences.

About 1.30am on Thursday April 6, a 25-year-old woman from Mount Gambier was stopped driving on Kennedy Avenue at Mount Gambier.

She was drug tested and returned a positive result for methamphetamine.

She was issued a three month instant loss of licence and will be summonsed to attend court at a later date.

Just before 10.30pm on Friday, April 7, patrols stopped a 27-year-old Naracoorte man on Deviation Road at Naracoorte for a mobile driver test.

The driver was submitted to a breath test and returned a positive result of 0.108. He was reported for drink driving and issued a six month instant loss of licence.

About 6pm on Saturday 8 April, police were called to Ferrers Street at Mount Gambier after reports a motorcyclist had collided.

The rider, a 49-year-old local man, became aggressive towards police when spoken to about the crash and was subsequently arrested for disorderly behaviour and resisting arrest.

The man was breath tested and provided a positive result of 0.190 – almost four times the legal limit. He was further charged with drink driving and misuse of a motor vehicle.

His motorbike was impounded for 28 days and he was issued a 12 month instant loss of licence.

He was granted police bail to appear in the Mount Gambier Magistrates Court at a later date.

Just before 5.30pm on Sunday, April 9, police stopped a 68-year-old Beachport man driving on Beach Road at Beachport for a mobile driver test.

The driver returned a positive breath analysis result of 0.157 – more than three times the legal limit. He was reported for drink driving and issued a 12 month immediate loss of licence.

About 9.25pm on Monday 10 April, police detected a vehicle travelling at 155km/h in a 100km/h zone on the Dukes Highway at Bordertown.

Police stopped the car and spoke to the driver, a 38-year-old man from Torrensville.

He was issued a six month instant loss of licence and will be summonsed to attend court at a later date.

Over the Easter long weekend three Mount Gambier drivers were reported for driving whilst being disqualified and a fourth person was charged with driving unlicensed.

All drivers will be summonsed to appear in court at a later date.

Grants made available

Grants of up to $100,000 are available for AgTech projects solving specific challenges facing South Australia's agricultural sectors.

The Government of South Australia's AgTech Growth Fund will provide funding to primary producers and AgTech business partners to accelerate the development and commercialisation of technological innovations.

Applications are now open and close on 2 May at 5pm.

See the full eligibility details for the AgTech Growth Fund at pir.sa.gov.au/research/agtech/agtech\_growth\_fund

In June 2022, nine South Australian businesses and organisations received funding through the inaugural AgTech Growth Fund.

This included Beston Global Food Company, which is headquartered in Adelaide. They received a grant to digitally capture the reduction in methane gas emissions from dairy cows by using food supplements in a controlled trial on two South Australian dairy farms.

Floods hits service

By Kathy Fennell

Parishioners at the Good Friday service at Penola's Anglican almost needed a boat to get to the service after 40-odd millimetres of rain fell.

With the water building up, people had to walk some 50 metres to get onto the footpath to be able to get into the church.

The heavens also opened up during the service which added to the flooding, making it extremely difficult to depart.

It is believed that the sump on the corner of Queen and Arthur street became blocked.

Similar scenes also occurred in front of the RSL.

Wine boost

By Charlotte Varcoe

New markets for wine exportation have grown across South Australia. Across the State, wine exports have increased from about 1.2 billion to 1.3 billion due to diversification and finding new markets. It comes following the China export difficulties industries faced within recent years and market entry issues. State Minister for Trade and Investment Nick Champion said wineries around the Limestone Coast had positive exportation numbers and despite the challenges faced with China, the State trade industry had not given up.

"We are hopeful that as relations stabilise and the trade relationship will improve with China because China consumers do want to drink our wines," Mr Champion said.

"It does also make sense to have a diverse program and focus on a range of different markets and we have pleasingly seen a lot of wineries expressing interest in going to pro-wine in Germany and a lot of interest in the United States market and Canada."

He said there had been many attempts by winemakers for diversification of both products and markets with Mr Champion labelling it as a "responsible approach".

"It is one of the things we have always had an existing relationship with many of these markets and I think it is about expanding the profile and expanding the prince point," he said.

"There is an opportunity for wineries to move up the value chain and all trade relationships are about having a relationship with the nation you are exporting to as well as the particular channel, a wholesaler, retailers and we want the Department of Trade and Industry to play a role in assisting and enhancing those relationships for wineries who are already exporting." Mr Champion said South Australia exports about 70 per cent of Australia's premium wine with "big names" in Coonawarra.

"There is a rich winemaking tradition down in the South East and that wine-making region caters for tourism from Victoria and interstate as well as overseas but it also exports," he said.

Coonawarra Vignerons executive officer Hugh Koch said the Coonawarra region had always been a label available for overseas for a number of markets across many years including South America, Canada, Asia, the United Kingdom and Europe.

"Exporting is a complex market to be involved with for a variety of reasons but I think that certainly since the onset of what happened with China, people have been relooking at their markets and reinforcing the markets they are currently in," Mr Koch said.

"That has been the work going on behind the scenes over the last 12 months or so."

Grape event stomped on by weather

She said it was a disappointment for the business as the traditional grape stomp was typically held each year.

"It is an event we host each year at the start of vintage and it is a celebration of the start of vintage where the community comes together," Ms Digiorgio said.

"We enjoy seeing teams fight it out to win $1000 to go towards their charity or club or choice and it is a great night of fun and community spirit and donating money to great charities."

She said it would be difficult to postpone the event for later on but was looking forward to a "bigger and brighter" event next year.

"This is the first year we have had to cancel the grape stomp and everyone has been really supportive but unfortunately we had to tell the stakeholders what is going on and they also have deadlines to put things in place for the event," Ms Digiorgio said.

"Everyone is disappointed but we thank everyone's support, the community and the teams."

Coonawarra Vignerons executive director Hugh Koch said Coonawarra After Dark was something which had been run for over 25 years with the weekend event showcasing what vintage was all about.

"Unfortunately this year we have become really busy in Coonawarra and had a number of wineries participating in the past," Mr Koch said.

"It is a weekend leading up to the Gather

Round and a launch for us following the Easter weekend and it is usually good because it is in between the two holidays.

"It is disappointing to cancel but we have plenty of activities still happening in the region."

Mr Koch said there was still plenty for visitors to experience in the region and encouraged people to visit the Coonawarra cellar doors.

"At the moment vineyards are buzzing and grape vines are looking magnificent, staff at wineries are happy to take on any questions and the place is buzzing," he said.

Radis Estate's event will be held on Saturday from 5pm onwards with bookings available on its website.

Queensland driver charged after crash

A Queensland woman has been charged following a serious crash near Lucindale last week.

Just before 4pm on Friday, March 10, the 70-year-old, who was driving a Ford SUV and towing a caravan, was involved in a collision with a Toyota SUV at an intersection in Avenue Range.

The occupants of the Toyota, a 40-year-old woman and two children, aged 7 and 9, sustained injuries and were taken to the Mount Gambier Hospital.

The driver was subsequently transported to the Royal Adelaide Hospital with serious but not life-threatening injuries.

The Queensland woman was taken to Naracoorte Hospital for treatment of non-life-threatening injuries, and following investigations she was arrested.

She has been charged for alleged aggravated driving without due care causing harm and failing to give way. She was bailed to appear in the Naracoorte Magistrates Court on May 17.

Following the crash SA Police have urged all drivers to pay attention on the roads and ensure they obey traffic rules at all times.

Award-winner pursues further study into mental health

Hannah Nitschke is the recipient of the 2022 Ian Giles Memorial Award for her achievements during her administration traineeship at Boneham Aged Care Services (BACS) in Millicent.

Group Training Employment (GTE) held the annual Apprentice and Trainee of the Year Awards presentation recently to recognise the outstanding efforts of apprentices and trainees employed during 2022 by GTE.

Ms Nitschke helped develop a wellbeing program and staffed the reception desk during her gap year traineeship and is now undertaking further study in mental health nursing.

People, culture and safety manager at BACS, Mercia Lowe congratulated Ms Nitschke and said: "We are immensely proud of Hannah.

"We strongly suspect she will have a huge impact in mental health services in years to come and continue to be a credit to the Millicent community."

Workshop lists priorities

By Caroline Hammat

Community members gathered recently to provide feedback for the 2024 Wattle Range Council (WRC) Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP).

The current four year plan expires at the end of 2023 and this is the second forum hosted by WRC to collate feedback from people with disability, their family and friends and those who work in the sector.

Due to a state legislative review the DAIP will now be a 12 month interim plan with priorities identified by the state government as employment and financial security, inclusive homes and community, education and learning, and community attitudes.

18 people attended the three hour workshop including WRC Mayor Des Noll, Director Development Services Emma Clay and three other WRC employees.

Key issues identified from the previous forum were the council employment of a dedicated disability officer, transport issues, participation and quality of life improvements, and improving on the awareness of facilities already available for people with disability.

Participants at the forum were encouraged to identify what they felt were priorities for council to action, support or advocate for with employment concerns receiving the strongest results.

Those in attendance chose employing a person with lived experience with disability to act as a liaison with those in the community and employing an inclusion support officer as a priority.

Followed by educating the business community on the benefits of employing those with disability in meaningful jobs.

Other top issues identified were the formation of a disability and inclusion committee that would meet regularly and act as a voice to council through a disability liaison officer and developing a social network for those in the region who live with a disability.

Ms Clay revealed during the forum that several budget requests to support the DAIP had been submitted for the upcoming budget.

These include training two council building officers in accessibility audits, the purchase of a wheelchair hoist for the Beachport beach chair which remains inaccessible for many with disability and $15,000 for disability inclusion consultancy or the employment of a disability inclusion officer and $6,000 for a disability access and inclusion committee.

"I don't know if any of those will get across the line until we go through that budget process, but that is what I have put in there at this point in time," Ms Clay said.

Organisers plan to collate the actions suggested and create a survey to send to the broader community with responses helping to formulate the first draft.

"Anyone can come to these forums," Ms Clay said.

"Anyone with a lived disability or their parents or anyone who works in the industry.

"We are really keen to start creating a network and getting everyone talking to each other.

"If you haven't come to any of the first sessions, don't feel like you can't come to the 3rd, 4th or 5th or whatever it might be.

"We are always keen for fresh ideas and fresh voices."

Community Consultation Future of the Millicent Saleyards

Council is seeking feedback from the community on the continued operation of the Millicent Saleyards.

Despite continued attempts to retain the facility, throughput numbers are in rapid decline and have not been at a financially sustainable level for some years. In March 2023, Council resolved to survey the community to assist its deliberations about the potential closure of the Millicent Saleyards.

A survey has been developed to obtain constructive feedback on the issue.

April school holiday fun

A fortnight of fun across the region has been planned for the upcoming school holidays.

The Wattle Range Council is excited to announce the 'Full Throttle in Wattle' program for the autumn school holidays. All activities are free, with a variety of events to entertain school age kids across the region. Caroline Hill, Manager Community Development says: "There is something for everyone, from craft to IT, bike riding and a fishing competition.

"We are lucky to have SAPOL hosting three sessions at the Millicent Road Safety Centre about pedestrian, cycle safety and road rules. We will also be screening the movie 'Mummies' on our big screen in both Coonawarra and Millicent."

"We are excited that the Library has been able to source some great new IT equipment and technology gear which will be available to try out in Millicent and Penola," adds Janice Nitschke, Manager Libraries and Cultural Services.

"In addition to our usual craft activities, kids will be able to use the VR goggles, Green Screen, X-box, compete in a Nintendo Switch Competition and even have a go at 3-D augmented drawing. Not to forget the Escape Room, Lost Mummy 2."

Once again, the popular Rivoli Bay Jetties Junior Fishing Competition will be held at the Beachport and Southend Jetties.

"We couldn't have a free fishing competition without ensuring that kids had the tools and education to fish," Ms Hill says.

"Made possible through generous sponsorship from local community groups and businesses, all registrations will receive a fishing rod, tackle box, whiting rig and measuring stick. Look out for the creative ways we are giving back to our sponsors; we hope you can show them your support."

The fishing competition will be launched with a workshop held at 10 am on Monday 17 April at the Beachport Recreation Centre. The workshop will feature stations on 'how to bait a hook', 'how to tie a knot', along with information from Nature Glenelg Trust and FishCare.

Competition will then close with a presentation night to be held at the Beachport Bowling Club on Friday 28 April. Prizes will be awarded for Champion Angler and more over the three age categories, as well as Open Shark honours and Best Fun Photo.

More information on the Rivoli Bay Jetties Junior Fishing Competition is available on Facebook at facebook.com/RivoliBayJetties-JuniorFishing

Bookings for events across the school holidays are essential and can be made via Eventbrite or by phoning 8733 0904.

Kids will have the chance to get out and enjoy themselves these school holidays with plenty to do across the region.

Sukhchain, Kamaljit Dhaliwal honoured for generosity

On April 19, it will have been two years since Sukhchain Dhaliwal, of Millicent IGA, first offered free meals to those in need in the local community.

This weekly task has most recently been recognised at an award ceremony at the Adelaide Entertainment Centre.

Mr Dhaliwal is the manager of Millicent's IGA supermarket and won the IGA 2023 Community award at the 2023 SA/NT Awards of Excellence held by Metcash.

Attending the event with his wife, Kamaljit, they enjoyed dinner and entertainment with around 400 other guests.

The couple are owners of Millicent's New Heaven Indian Restaurant and staff play a crucial role in preparing the meals which are then made available across the road at the supermarket Monday afternoons. Mr Dhaliwal announced the award on social media.

"We would like to thank our whole team at IGA and the entire team at New Heaven Indian Restaurant for their effort and time to prepare meals every week for our community," he said.

"All of your efforts have been recognised.

"We sincerely appreciate everyone's support and efforts for this great cause."

Metcash manager Matt Roberts congratulates Kamaljit and Sukhchain Dhaliwal on the award.

SAPOL is encouraging local children to get involved in the the school holiday road safety program.

Road safety the message

By Aidan Curtis

SAPOL'S school holiday road safety program is coming to Millicent to teach local children the importance of staying safe on the road.

The program, in partnership with Wattle Range Council, aims to teach primary school age children the importance of safe road use, from wearing seatbelts in the car to how to stay safe as a pedestrian.

SAPOL Road Safety Section coordinator Senior Sergeant Susan O'Connor said the holiday program is a unique opportunity for kids who do not usually participate in the program through school.

"We have schools engage with us and bring their students to the Road Safety Centre where they get road safety education, and that includes a ride around the mock road way on a bike and pedestrian safety," Snr Sgt O'Connor said.

"Obviously there are some schools that don't take up the opportunity and nor could we service everybody.

"We thought we'd give the public the opportunity to come in during school holidays and open those same sessions up to children and their parents."

She said it was the first time the school holiday program is travelling to Millicent.

"We're super excited to be coming down next Monday to try the program in a regional area and have local kids there come and enjoy the program," she said.

"It's a good way for young people to become familiar with road signs and be good pedestrians and good road users in general."

The importance of road safety could not be understated, and Snr Sgt O'Connor said children in regional areas especially needed to know how to be safe on the road.

She said the statistics show country people are overrepresented in road fatalities, so making sure children are raised with road safety messaging is vital.

"We have road safety educators that regularly attend Limestone Coast and present those sessions to school students, businesses and communities in the area," she said.

"It's a great opportunity to start having those conversations about being safe in vehicles.

"They are younger kids, so we are trying to get that ingrained road safety message into them."

Snr Sgt O'Connor also said there can be a flow on effect, with children passing on the things they learn to their parents to encourage them to be safer road users as well.

The program will be held at the Millicent Road Safety Centre on Firth Street, with three sessions running over Tuesday, April 18 and Wednesday, April 19.

To book a spot in one of the sessions or for more information, search for SA Police Road Safety Centre Millicent School Holiday Program on Eventbrite.

Millicent Cattle Market report shows 296 head

On Wednesday 12 April, 296 head were yarded.

A total of nine trade, export and feeder buyers competed for a yarding of good to plain cattle that were looking wintery to rates right up to equal and better than the previous Southeast sales over the last three weeks.

Except for three to four pen lots of processor cattle, the majority of the yarding were yearling heifers. Top trade steers 400kg-plus made to $4.44 and lighter feeder steers 330 to 400kg made to $3.85.

Top trade heifers 400kg-plus made to $4.67, feeder heifers 300 to 400kg made to $3.85. Most between $3.40 to $3.75 per kg.

Cows made to a top of $3.20 per kg. General good clean cows with weight made between $3.00 to $3.08 per kg.

IN BRIEF

COUNCIL THANKED

The Mid Murray Council has thanked the Wattle Range Council for its assistance during the floods earlier this year.

In a letter to council, they said the work required by the council to protect the community and infrastructure was "significant."

"A positive that came from this was the level of support and assistance provided by Councils across the State, including Wattle Range Council," it said.

"On behalf of Mayor Bailey, our Elected members and staff, thank you for providing a trailer load of signs.

"Without the assistance provided by the sector, we would not have been able to manage our response to the flood and support the community through the devastation of the high river."

BINS TO BE OUT EARLIER

Cleanaway, who collect the bins in Wattle Range have requested altering the start time of collections on Fridays from 7am to 6am, due to the disposal location of general waste at Caroline Landfill reducing their operating hours.

Cleanaway has the highest workload on Fridays, for trucks to be able to collect bins, travel, weigh off in Mount Gambier and then tip off at landfill prior to the new closing time of 2.30pm. Due to these facts Cleanaway has requested an earlier start time on Fridays to provide the waste service for Council.

Cleanaway has proposed to implement the change in collection start time from Friday July 7, 2023.

Cleanaway is currently investigating which particular streets will be affected.

Councillor voted to approve the change in time for collection for Millicent to operate outside of Environmental Protection (Noise) Policy 2007.

SPEED REDUCTION

Councillors voted to limit the speed limit on Poonada Rd, Tantanoola after a request from a local resident.

A local resident residing on the road expressed concerns over the road due to its alignment, design and nature of vehicles using the road and requested a reduction in speed limit from 110km/h to 100km/h.

Council's engineer investigated the request and found that Poonada Road does not meet most of the criteria for a 110km/h road.

Community consultation was done, however no residents completed the survey and only one submission was received, which was in support of the reduction.

Councillors voted to support the request for reduction of speed limit on Poonada Road, Tantanoola to 100km/hr and write to the Department of Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) requesting the change in speed limit.

ROADWORK QUERY

Councillor Dale Price has questioned why works on Kangaroo Flat Rd was not completed.

He said the road is dangerous as it is.

He moved a motion that the Council write to the Department of Infrastructure and Transport to ascertain why work on widening Kangaroo Flat Road Glencoe ceased on 30 June, 2022, despite material to create a base for widening the road being stored a few metres off the road, when edges can be described as dangerous.

Last piece of the puzzle

By Sophie Conlon

Artist Karen McKenzie grew up in Mount Gambier/ Berrin and has now turned her childhood memories into interactive artworks.

Now living in western Victoria, Ms McKenzie has created colourful puzzles and artworks featuring iconic locations she loves from in and around the Limestone Coast

"I've just been painting from my childhood memories," she said.

"We used to holiday down the Limestone Coast, mum and dad had the beach house down at Southend, so we spent a lot of time down at Beachport."

Artworks turned into puzzles include the townships of Millicent, Beachport, Robe, Kingston, Penola and Coonawarra.

Ms McKenzie said the idea of puzzles came about during the pandemic when she was playing around with her art.

"When we were all locked at home I started doing simple colouring ins for kids that could be downloaded from my Facebook site so kids could colour them in at home," she said.

"Then I started colouring in a few and they turned into puzzles.

"It's just been a natural progression."

The puzzles capture the environments in an abstract way and Ms McKenzie said they came about through hours of work.

"The idea is to get a feel of the place so I know the layout and then try and put in a lot of things that are unique to the area," she said.

Ms McKenzie said the Mount Gambier puzzle was the first she had created, but enjoyed exploring the whole region.

"The Beachport one was really great to do, and there is a Robe one and even a Kingston one with a big Larry the Lobster," she said.

"Recently I have just done Port MacDonnell as a round puzzle, that's changed so much since I was a child so it's just really nice to go back there to see how it is now and put all that unique parts of that area in the puzzle."

While she has been getting out and about across the region to create the puzzles, Ms McKenzie said she hoped her puzzles would help increase local tourism and be a good keepsake for people who had visited the area.

"I like to concentrate on smaller places... I like to make a product that is unique to that area," she said.

Ms McKenzie was aware that some of the puzzles had been sent overseas as gifts, and said people were connecting to the Limestone Coast no matter where they were.

"It's just amazing how people connect with the puzzles in the area, it's been really, really lovely," she said.

She said she was still on her journey in creating these puzzles highlighting the Limestone Coast, but was not sure where she would paint next.

"I have a long list, people are always suggesting places," she said.

Karen McKenzie said an artwork could take between two weeks and a month to create.

Karen was inspired by Limestone Coast locations, including Penola, to create the puzzles.

To scoot or not to scoot? Have your say

South Australians now have the opportunity to have their say on the use of private e-scooters and other personal mobility devices across the state's road network.

Currently, e-scooters are only permitted for use under trial conditions, with trials currently operating within Adelaide's CBD and North Adelaide, the City of Norwood, Payneham and St Peters, the City of Charles Sturt and the City of Unley under partnership between local councils and commercial e-scooter fleet operators.

Privately owned e-scooters, e-skateboards and other personal mobility devices (PMDs) are not currently allowed on South Australian public roads and paths.

As part of the Road Safety Action Plan

2023-25, the State Government has committed to a wide consultation with private e-scooter users and local communities on potentially moving beyond the trial phase to an ongoing model that allows riders to use their personal devices.

A Your Say survey was launched on Tuesday 11 April which is seeking feedback on whether PMDs should be allowed, and if allowed:

- What kinds of devices should be permitted;
- Where should they be used;
- How big should they be;
- How fast should they be allowed to travel;
- What rules should apply to riders; and

Whether they should be registered and/or insured.

The results of this consultation will allow the State Government to ensure any future framework for personal mobility devices, including for private purposes and on public roads and paths is safe for all road users.

Community members are invited to provide their feedback on the above options until consultation closes on Sunday 21 May.

Approved e-scooter trials will continue to operate and be monitored by the Department for Infrastructure and Transport while consultation and feedback is being considered.

To submit feedback, please visit yoursay.sa.gov.au/personal-mobility-device-use

Beachport Easter Market

Market stallholders braved the wind last Saturday morning to set up for the annual Easter market at Beachport.

Around 15 sellers withdrew or packed up early, due to the weather, leaving close to 50 stalls trading.

Fortunately the wind dropped and the sun shone for most of the morning ensuring a good outcome for stall holders.

Rain dampened proceedings later in the morning sending market goers heading for shelter for the brief downpour.

The market is one of three held by the Beachport District Development Association (BDDA) each year to raise funds for the community group.

Melbourne visitors Bree, Phoebe and Sam Pitt with Nirvana Balfour (front) celebrated Easter in Beachport.

Stall holder Sharon Hammat caught up with Pat Hateley during the market.

Cheryl Gysbers and Pam and Quentin Pietsch enjoyed browsing the market stall goods.

Tameliya Klimentenok and Alex Nikielski purchased local products to take home to Adelaide.

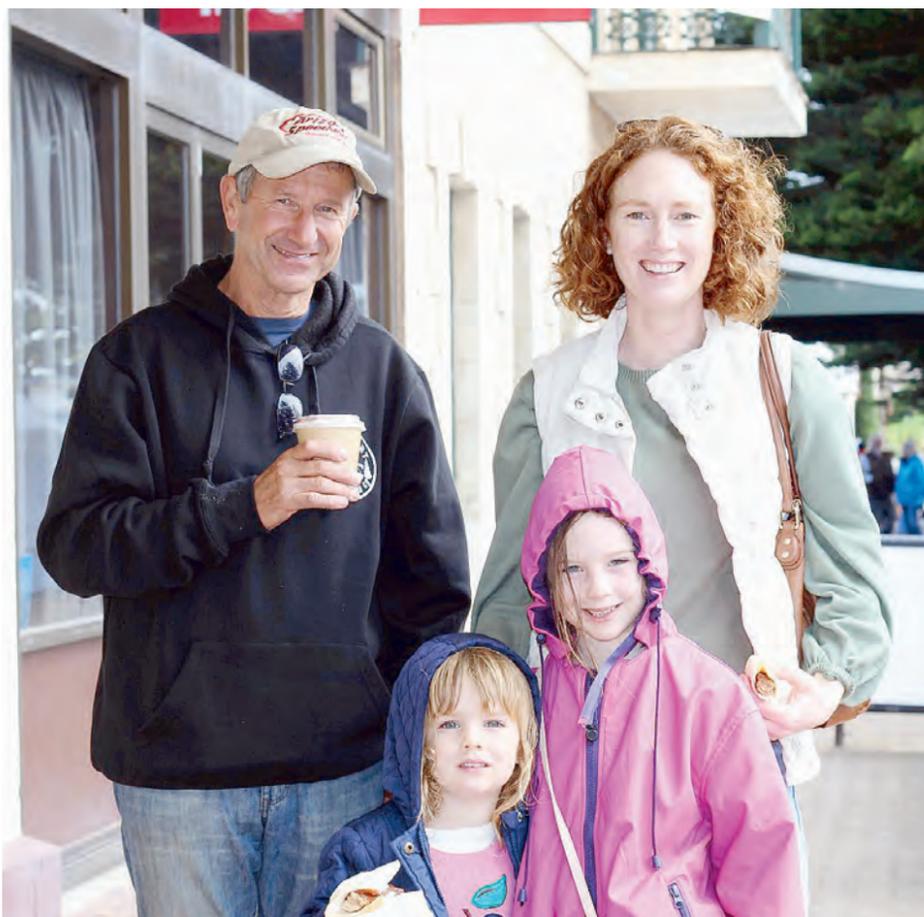

Kay Smith and her granddaughter Narisah Smith.

Kimberly and Brenton McMillan are market regulars.

Caught in the rain are Saul and Hulya Gilbert from Adelaide.

Ian Thomason from Lara in Victoria catching up with friends Kate, Willow and Lily Wheel.

Enjoying the market atmosphere are Dave Thomas and Jane McCumstie from Millicent.

Enjoying a family catch-up are Kerri-Lee and Kristie Pearson with Jacky Little.

Great friends Tanya and Susan have a catch up at the races.

Barmen Aiden and Ben were kept busy at the bar.

Cancer Council cup win

By Caroline Hammat

Homemade scones and hot cuppas were in plentiful supply at last week's Biggest Morning Tea hosted in the Millicent Library.

Over 75 morning teas were served and $833 raised for the national Cancer Council's annual fundraiser.

The library's history room volunteers decided to hold the morning tea this year after covid restrictions impacted on events hosted the last few years.

Wendy Thomson, who is the organiser of this year's event, said

"I had a bit to do with organising Biggest Morning Teas when I worked at the Millicent High School and I thought why not do it here at the library.

"It's a great community place for people to feel comfortable to come to, so I ran it by the others and ran it by Janice, and here we are."

Donations can still be made at the Millicent library or by visiting the Cancer Council Australia's Biggest Morning Tea website and searching for Millicent History Room Volunteers.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

DOGS BEHAVING (VERY) BADLY 7mate, Thursday, 7.30pm

Animal owners – and perhaps parents – will get a kick out of this frisky series that reveals just how ill-tempered, disobedient and troublesome some man's best friend can be. Featuring Britain's most dastardly dogs, it's a playful look at bad behaviour that'll make you gasp and giggle (and cheer, if you haven't given in to a pet just yet). Bespectacled dog trainer Graeme Hall (pictured) has the patience of a saint, along with the wit and know-how to placate even the most troublesome mutt. But tonight, has he met his match in country pooches Maddie and Bisley? They've been known to pull so hard on their leash that their owner's arm once came out of its socket... No wonder they're up in arms.

THE SECRET LIFE OF LIGHTHOUSES SBS, Monday, 7.35pm

It's no surprise that engineer Rob Bell (pictured) has resurfaced for another season of roving lighthouse appreciation. After traversing much of Britain in the series' debut season, he's clearly got a taste for idyllic seaside vistas and shipwreck tales. Across three new episodes, Bell not only covers Britain and America, but travels as far as Panama, checking out America's first lighthouse and the world's busiest shipping lane. In tonight's premiere, he discovers the brilliant way 20th-century engineering saved a lighthouse from falling into the sea. It's the factual series extolling the engineering feats of lighthouses that you never knew you needed.

LAW & ORDER: SVU 10, Wednesday, 9pm

When you're a veteran, you get to rewrite the script sometimes. After more than 20 years and thousands of episodes, SVU steers clear of its standard sex-crime case for a disarmingly moving instalment exploring a tragic love story. Bradley Whitford (pictured, The Handmaid's Tale) almost steals the show as tonight's superb guest star, playing a man in the grips of dementia. When his wife (Nancy Travis, Last Man Standing) is killed, he confesses to her murder, but Benson (Mariska Hargitay) and Carisi (Peter Scanavino) believe the case isn't so straightforward. Directed by star Hargitay, it's one of the most stirring, and best, cases yet.

PICK OF THE WEEK

LEGO MASTERS: GRAND MASTERS Nine, Tuesday, 7.30pm

It's the fun-loving show that has made it perfectly acceptable to spend days holed up at home obsessively constructing LEGO creations. This fifth season of LEGO Masters is shaping up as the best yet, with host Hamish Blake (pictured) upping the playful ante and banter. There are 14 other countries with their own versions of the format, but Australia is the first to gather together previous contestants for this ultimate competition of elite builders. Featuring season one winner Henry and Bricksmas winner Sarah, along with monster-loving reigning champs Joss and Henry and runners up Alex and Caleb, it's worlds away from child's play.

BEDROOMS: MORE THAN JUST A REST ZONE

WHILE bedrooms are still primarily a sleep environment, they are not just an area where we can snooze.

According to a recent study, our traditional sleep spaces are being used for various purposes and becoming more multifunctional in response to our growing spatial needs.

For the research, a team led by UNSW Sydney surveyed 304 Australian residents of different demographics, including age and gender, about their bedroom space and sleep habits.

Around 40 per cent of respondents used their bedroom as their living space, while 61 per cent said they preferred to use it just for sleep.

Age, occupation and bedroom location all affected usage and preferences.

Just like eating, sleep is fundamental for humans to survive.

But given that we spend around a third of our lives asleep, our domestic sleep spaces – and how we use them – are relatively unexplored from a design perspective.

Meanwhile, other domestic rooms, such as the kitchen, have been closely studied by designers to determine their optimal design, layout and features.

“We spend most of our time at home in the bedroom, but its use is expanding beyond its primary function as a sleep environment,” says Dr Demet Dincer, lead author of the study and interior architecture lecturer from UNSW Arts, Design & Architecture.

“These initial findings help us better understand the different uses of the contemporary sleep environment and inform better design strategies for these spaces.

“While a well-laid-out and equipped kitchen is no guarantee for tasty meals, it can make hygienic cooking of better-tasting meals easier than a poorly equipped and laid-out one.

“The same could be said for bedrooms and sleep,” says Dr Christian Tietz, study co-author and senior lecturer in industrial design at UNSW.

Overall, 90 per cent of respondents used their bedroom at least some of the time for sleeping, while the remaining either did not have a bedroom space for sleeping or used it for a different purpose altogether.

“The ratio of participants who mentioned sleeping in spaces other than a permanent bedroom was not high, such as sleeping in a car or a spare room,” Dr Dincer says.

“But before we have a discussion on optimal sleep conditions, it is important to note today’s sleep environment might not be merely a room, including a bed, either.”

A multifunctional sleep environment According to the findings, the mean hours per day spent in a sleep environment are 9.31, while the mean hours spent sleeping are 7.12.

There was no difference in the amount of time spent in the bedroom based on gender. Younger participants also spent more time in their bedrooms than any other age group, while they were also more likely to use the space for activities other than sleep.

Students reported using the bedroom more as a working area – even more so than respondents who worked from home.

Respondents living in share housing were also more likely to use their bedroom as a work area, while those living in a studio apartment were more likely to use their sleep environment as a shared space.

Among the other activities in the sleep environment, watching TV was the highest activity, followed by reading, studying or working, eating and then exercising.

“Almost half of our respondents said their bedroom was their living space, even though most don’t prefer that.

However, we can’t change the reality that our domestic spaces, including the bedroom space, are shrinking and must accommodate more functions,” Dr Dincer says.

As space, particularly in cities, becomes more of a premium, Dr Dincer says we need to rethink the different boundaries affecting the use of our sleep environments.

“Bedrooms are one of our most private spaces.

“But how much we can personalise them is very limited in Australia, particularly for renter-occupiers,” Dr Dincer says.

“It would be ideal if our laws allowed renters more flexibility to customise their space beyond just furnishings, particularly if we intend to stay for an extended period.”

Previous sleep studies suggest the sleep environment significantly influences sleep quality and problems like sleep apnea and insomnia.

However, this, and the participants’ health, were not the focus of the current study.

But in the next stage, the research team will use the Creative Robotics Lab at UNSW’s Paddington Campus to collaborate with sleep experts and explore how different features and changes to the sleep environment affect sleep quality.

“We’re looking forward to this important collaboration between designers and sleep researchers that should give us a more holistic understanding of what makes an optimal sleep environment and how they can be more flexible and responsive to changing spatial needs,” Dr Dincer says. ●

INSIDER KNOWLEDGE FOR HOME DESIGN

AS we move into 2023, interior design styles are continuing to evolve and adapt to our ever-changing world. From vintage-inspired designs to minimalist spaces, there is no shortage of creativity when it comes to designing the perfect living space. If you're looking for some inspiration when it comes to decorating your new home, these are the top 10 interior design styles predicted for 2023.

Mid Century Modern

Mid century modern is a classic interior design style that continues to rise in popularity coming into 2023. This style features clean lines, geometric shapes, and a focus on functionality. Mid century modern spaces often feature vintage-inspired furniture pieces and neutral color schemes. Simplicity is key, with simple features such as coffee tables often being the most beautiful.

Japandi

Japandi is a timeless fusion of Japanese and Scandinavian design, blending the simplicity of smooth, modern lines featured in Scandinavian design with the welcoming elegance of Japanese aesthetics. This style features natural materials, neutral colors, and a focus on simplicity and functionality. Japandi spaces often include minimalistic furniture, clean lines, and organic textures.

Minimalism

Minimalism has been a popular interior design style for many years and continues to be a favorite in 2023. This style uses the bare essentials to create a simple, uncluttered space. Minimalist spaces often feature neutral tones with colours only used as an accent, simple furniture pieces, and a lack of clutter.

Industrial

Industrial design is characterized by exposed brick, metal, and wood, and a focus on raw materials. This style often incorporates antique or vintage pieces and includes elements like open shelving and distressed wood. Industrial spaces can range from rustic to modern, depending on the specific design. It blends old and new through a combination of raw materials and modern elements.

Bohemian

Bohemian design is eclectic and free-spirited, featuring a mix of patterns, textures, and colors. This style often includes vintage or handmade pieces, such as macrame wall hangings and woven rugs. Bohemian spaces are often filled with plants and natural materials, creating a relaxed and comfortable atmosphere.

Scandinavian

Scandinavian design is known for its simplicity, functionality, and focus on natural light. It blends soft hues with clean lines and natural materials such as wood and leather. The emphasis is on clean lines and simple furnishings to create a warm and inviting space. Scandinavian spaces often include cozy textiles like sheepskin rugs and knitted blankets.

Coastal

Coastal design is inspired by the ocean and features a mix of lighter tones in shades of blues, greens, beiges and whites combined with natural textures. This style often includes casual furnishing such as sea glass details and linen drapery and incorporates natural materials like wood and rattan. Coastal spaces often feature large windows and open floor plans to take advantage of natural light.

Art Deco

Art Deco design is inspired by the glamour and opulence of the 1920s and 1930s.

This style features bold geometric patterns, rich colours, metallic accents, and decadent detail work. Art Deco spaces often include luxurious materials like velvet and marble and incorporate unique lighting fixtures to provide a sense of luxury.

Eclectic

Eclectic style is all about mixing and matching different design elements to create a unique and personalized space. This style is characterized by bold colors, unexpected textures, and unique decor. It combines a multitude of fabrics, patterns and pieces of art, often using rugs, paintings and through pillows to display a convenient mismatch. Think vintage pieces, quirky accents, and statement-making artwork.

Modern Farmhouse

Modern farmhouse design is a mix of comfortable, relaxed farmhouse style and modern touches seen in smooth lines, glossy accents, and neutral colours. This style often includes wood accents, white walls, and black metal fixtures. Modern farmhouse spaces often feature open floor plans and a mix of vintage and modern furniture pieces.

2023 is bringing a diverse range of interior design styles to the forefront. From timeless Mid Century Modern aesthetics to the fusion of Japanese and Scandinavian styles, there is something for everyone. Whether you prefer a minimalist space or a cozy bohemian oasis, the interior design world is full of inspiration to create your dream home! ●

Kia SUV Hybrid unveiled

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

Long Covid? Try long Kia. The South Korea automobile maker is suffering lingering post-pandemic 'sickness' with its Sorento Hybrid SUV being held up by supply issues and the maker offering the vehicle in top-spec GT-Line only.

The same goes for the Plug-in Hybrid.

The Sorento sports utility vehicle has been a major part of the Kia catalogue for two decades, with the fourth generation seeing the light of day in 2020 in petrol and diesel variants. Now the range is topped off with petrol / electric hybrids boasting room for seven occupants.

The hybrid range kicks off with the front-wheel-drive variant selling for $66,750 before on-road costs.

The all-wheel-drive version carries a $3000 premium, pushing the price up to $69,750. The plug-in hybrid Sorento is on sale from $80,330 before on-roads.

On test was the entry-level Sorento GT-Line Hybrid front-wheel drive, which sells for $66,750 ($72,566, driveaway).

Like all Kias the vehicle is covered by the manufacturer's seven-year unlimited kilometre warranty, with roadside assistance.

STYLING

While retaining much of the Sorento family physical features, the Hybrid has evolved with a new interpretation of the trademark 'tiger nose' grille. It's now wider, wrapping around the integrated LED headlights on each side.

This assertive nose is complemented by a wider lower air intake, incorporating wing-shaped air curtains to channel air around the vehicle.

INTERIOR

Quilted Nappa leather appointed seats (front heated and ventilated) set the theme for a cabin of quality materials and craftsmanship. Three-stage climate control air-conditioning means comfort all round for occupants, while rear window retractable blinds help keep the heat at bay and offer privacy for occupants.

Take time out to choose one of the 64 colours that bathes the cabin in ambient light, pick something from the Sounds of Nature soundscape, or just switch off entirely with the quiet of the passenger talk in-car intercom.

Access to the third row of seats is made relatively easy by dropping the 60:40 second-row seatbacks with a handle on the side of the base and sliding the seat forward.

INFOTAINMENT

Customising is the name of the game with a 10.25-inch full-colour touchscreen atop the centre console, plus a 12.3-inch digital instrument cluster directly in front of the driver.

A colour head-up display, includes speedo and speed limits on the windscreen.

The touchscreen comes up with Apple CarPlay or Android Auto connectivity, satellite navigation details, including a sharp map display, and access to the 12-speaker Bose audio.

ENGINES / TRANSMISSIONS

The Sorento Hybrid is powered by Kia's 132 kW / 265 Nm four-cylinder turbocharged petrol engine combined with a 44 kW / 264 Nm electric motor, charging a 1kWh lithium-ion battery situated under the boot floor.

Power is put to ground via a six-speed torque converter automatic transmission, operated by a large knob on the centre console, and front-wheel drive.

SAFETY

The Sorento gained a five-star safety rating in 2020 and includes autonomous emergency braking with vehicle, pedestrian and cyclist detection, junction assist, lane-keep assist, lane follow assist (centring), blind-spot assist, rear cross-traffic alert, parking collision avoidance, adaptive cruise control with stop and go, front and rear parking sensors, driver attention alert, multi-collision braking and safe

The Kia Sorento Hybrid model can be distinguished with reworked front end and unique designer alloy wheels.

exit assist, as well as 360-degree view of the vehicle when parking and blind-spot assist, on activation of a turn indicator, the wide-angle surround view monitor displays live footage of other vehicles in blind spots on the instrument cluster.

It also helps wheels keep their distance from scuffing the sidewalk.

Passive safety is taken care of with seven airbags, including front-centre side.

DRIVING

The Kia Sorento Hybrid has slipped quietly (literally) into Australia, bringing a new purpose to the Sorento family, thanks to a sophisticated powertrain and some of Kia's most advanced technology.

Setting off is under the auspices of the electric motor alone producing maximum torque on tap instantly. The petrol engine joins in tandem only when needed for added acceleration or under load.

These switches back and forth are so smooth as to undetectable to the driver.

Indeed, the only indication that the car is acting strictly as an electric vehicle is by the letters EV displayed on the instrument panel. It is not possible to control these actions manually; they are automatic powertrain decisions.

Drive modes, such as ECO, Normal, Sport and Smart can be dialled up by means of a centre-console knob. I found Smart worked well for me as a family cruiser. Kia claims a combined urban / highway petrol consumption of 5.3 litres per 100 kilometres.

The test vehicle recorded 6.7 litres per 100 kilometres in a mix of mainly town and some country driving.

Anxiety about how far the Sorento hybrid will go without flattening the powertrain battery is absent as the engine and regenerative braking do the charging automatically.

By activating the turn signal, the wide-angle surround view monitors display live footage of other vehicles in blind spots on the instrument cluster.

Loading is made easy by the hands-free smart power tailgate, which can be brought into operation by the key holder pausing behind the vehicle for three seconds for the tailgate to automatically open.

There's 187 litres of cargo space behind the third-row (No room for a full-size spare).

Fold these seats flat to increase space to 616 litres. With the second-row seats folded flat, 2011 litres of space is freed up. Braked towing is up to 1650 kg

SUMMARY

With hybrid orders reportedly banked up to the end of next year, the Kia Sorento Hybrid GT-Line front-wheel drive states a compelling case for being one of the best large seven-seat sports utility family cruisers around. Step up to the all-wheel drive model for access to Terrain Select to help take care of tricky conditions off road in sand, mud, snow etc.

2023 Mid South East Football and Netball

1259695-KG15-23

Spirit up, morale high

Welcome to the commencement of the 2023 football and netball season.

It only seems like yesterday that we were at last year's grand final.

I take this opportunity to welcome all existing and new players, coaches, supporters, volunteers and sponsors to our league.

2022 was another good year in the Family League for the Mid South Eastern Football League and we are looking forward to another exciting season ahead.

With all clubs being active recruiting over the summer, I believe all will have high expectations and we will see another season with an even competition in the senior grade.

We thank all of our sponsors for their wonderful support of our league lead by our major sponsor in the Scott Group of Companies.

The board membership continues as per 2022 which includes Peter Mitchell, Dennis Muhovics (vice president), Trevor Ling, Jo Michelmore and Jo Dean.

We have a new secretary in Michael Houston – welcome Michael to the Family League.

Naomi Mitchell will assist as assistant secretary and gradually complete a full hand over to Michael during the season.

Neil Webber has been appointed as umpires director for his 12th season.

We require some new umpires to assist our ageing umpiring body, so if you have recently retired from playing or would like to be still involved in the game, then umpiring is a great way to keep fit, give back to the game and perhaps get to know some of the players and club people from a different side.

The league has an umpires scholarship program to encourage and reward new central umpires and we hope it will provide a pathway to bolster our ageing umpire panel.

The league would love to hear from those who have just retired as footballers and even our younger males and females who have a love of the game and would like to be involved.

Graham Dowie heads up the junior league as president and will be assisted by last year's executive member Gary (Tug) Wilson and new executive members in Steve McCann and Dylan Clough.

A major challenge for the boys is co-ordinating the junior teams for the SE Zone Carnival U17 and U15, which is to be held at Bordertown in the KNTFL on the Sunday of the long weekend in June.

Once again, I am pleased that the league can offer this opportunity for more of our juniors to be involved at a higher level.

Another challenge will be to assist those clubs that are struggling with junior player numbers to ensure that we continue to have games in all grades.

Michael Moubey continues as the SE Football Operations Co-ordinator and his role is to provide support for clubs and leagues, as well as taking on some of the administrative tasks of the leagues.

We think that this is a positive step for football in the South East and look forward to some more positive outcomes with the additional resource as well as the support of the SANFL Community Football.

We look forward to working closely with the netball association with president Sara Gray and her committee.

Thanks to all the media outlets for the coverage our league receives and we look forward to another exciting season in 2023.

On behalf of the league and all clubs thank you to all the wonderful volunteers that assist each week.

If you do not currently volunteer for your club, then please consider assisting with your time/skills wherever possible to make your club more successful and to share the workload.

Volunteering is a great way to meet people and improve your skills as well as knowing that you have supported and assisted your club, so don't hold back.

On behalf of the board we wish all clubs the best of luck for the season and also look forward to common sense, good sportsmanship and fairness being displayed at all times.

Please stay safe and enjoy the competitions and social outings our wonderful league offers.

2023 Mid South East Football and Netball

1259695-KG15-23

Kalangadoo v Kongorong

As the reigning Mid South East football premiers, Kalangadoo would be expected to start the 2023 season with a bang.

A home game against Kongorong kicks off proceedings, with the Magpies favourite to claim the points.

However, there have been many changes from that flag-winning roster, including the departure of four premiership players.

Prime movers Andrew Stone and Pat Davies have moved on, while the tough Jason Bannister has hung up his boots.

However, it is the absence of league leading goal-kicker Michael Krieger that could be a concern.

In 2021 Kalangadoo headed into finals without Krieger due to injury and consequently stumbled.

The 2022 season saw a fit Krieger claim the league medal for most goals, with a solid effort in a muddy grand final where he booted six majors as the Magpies claimed a stinging victory over Hatherleigh.

Those players have somewhat been replaced, but how the new roster gels is yet to be seen.

There are not too many changes to suggest the Magpie will not be at the pointy end of the ladder again and for Kongorong, it could be a tough opening round.

The Hawks won four games in 2022, finishing the season in eighth place.

They would hope for better in season 2022, but will certainly be thrown to the wolves in the opening clash.

Alex Lyon

Saints host Mount Burr in season opener

A bumper crowd is expected at the Nangwarry Football Club on Saturday when the Saints host Mount Burr for Round 1 of the 2023 Mid South Eastern Football League season.

The home team will induct some AFL talent into its ranks for the A Grade match, with former Collingwood star Dane Swan donning the red, white and black for the occasion.

It will be Swan's second playing appearance in the South East this year, following his involvement in the Switch the Headspace Match for Mental Health in February.

There is sure to still be plenty of buzz around the Saints after their drought-breaking win last season, which brought to a close a dry spell of eight years.

A change of leadership brings Shane Raymond to the helm as coach, stepping up from the assistant job from last year.

The Saints entire 2022 list has re-signed for season 2023, while a handful of new recruits should see further improvement from the side.

Looking to the away team and Mount Burr will be eager to start its 2023 campaign with a win.

The Mozzies will chase an improved result from last year after they dropped out of finals in the first round for a fourth-place finish.

Signs have been promising on the training track and according to coach Reece Duncan there is plenty of enthusiasm around the playing group.

The loss of goal magnet Hamish Smith will weigh heavily on Mount Burr's forward line, while Cory Gamble returns to the club as a handy pickup.

Despite Swan's influence, history suggests it will be difficult to tip against Mount Burr, but an entertaining match is expected nonetheless.

Wade Chant

Horns lock

Port MacDonnell and Glencoe will lock horns this weekend for Round 1 of the Mid South Eastern Football League.

The Demons head into this contest off the back of a solid 2022 season where they made the preliminary finals and were knocked out by eventual premiers Kalangadoo. The Murphies had a slow start to their 2022 campaign and came home strong and were a difficult opponent for several teams in the second half of the year.

Port MacDonnell has been boosted by numerous new signings over the off-season, with new coach Josh Woodall, Colby Munro and Adam Kuhl the highlights as the South Gambier trio made move to the bay. When these two sides met last season, Port MacDonnell claimed strong wins in both games and will be eager to continue their recent run of form over Glencoe when they take to the field at the bay on Saturday.

The Demons will look to Tim Sullivan and Will MacDonald to make an impact and their size will be a major thorn in the side of the Murphies as they will need to keep the ball away from the pairing.

They will also look to Wade Chant who will be a pivotal player and leader in the backline. For Glencoe, Dylan Childs will look to replicate his form from last season and will be a key cog for his side.

He will be supported by Alex Hentschke in the forward line, who kicked 27 majors in 14 games last season and Zacc Cocks, who will also be a pivotal player for the Murphies in and around the ball. After a very solid 2022 and an even better off-season, the Demons will head into this clash as favourites and will look to kick-start their season in style when they host Glencoe on Saturday afternoon.

Jack Dawe debuts as Tigers head coach

It will be a sea of red and white when Robe visits Tantanoola for Round 1 of Mid South Eastern football. Both teams enter the 2023 season under new guidance, as Jack Dawe steps into the head coach role for the Tigers and newcomer Nathan Brown takes on the duties for the Roosters.

After falling just shy of finals last year, Robe will have its sights set on a top-four finish and have recruited accordingly.

A list of returning Roosters have built a healthy amount of depth, with pickups the likes of Hamish Smith, Zac Deane, Ben Dining and George Dutton - to name just a few.

Brown brings with him a wealth of experience and comes across from Karoonda in the Mallee Football League, where he coached for the last three seasons. All signs point towards an improved Robe outfit this year and focus is set on breaking into finals contention.

For Tantanoola it will also be a matter of desiring improvement. The Tigers finished eighth in 2022 with just the three wins and will still be feeling the sting of losing to Nangwarry in its drought-breaking performance. Dawe will hope to lead by example and pick up where Jak Ryan left off.

The last meeting between the teams was back in Round 11 last year where the Roosters prevailed by 32 points. Tantanoola will hope to use their home turf to their advantage, but the likely outcome will be a Robe win to kick off the season.

New faces for the opener

KALANGADOO V KONGORONG

Round 1 of the Mid South East netball season sees Kalangadoo host the Hawks.

The Magpies have had a major shift in players this season, with many new recruits making their way up the ranks and into the A Grade team.

Experienced players Abbey Duncan, Lauren Kain and Jayde Peacock will need to lead their team from their respective areas of the court to create seamless passages of play.

Kongorong has also had a slight change to their line up from the 2022 season and will rely on Tilah Buckingham's shooting strength, paired with accurate feeding from outside the circle by Kate Wright.

It is too early in the season to say who will come away with the win, but this game will be tough for both teams as they settle their sides.

Tantanoola v Robe

ROBE heads to Tantanoola to face the Tigers in the first match of the round for the 2023 Mid South East netball season.

Both teams finished in the top four last year and have remained relatively unchanged coming into the new season.

Tantanoola's goalies Jami Walker and Emma Gould combine well in the goal circle and shoot with accuracy, meaning Robe's Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins will need to work hard to limit opportunities for the Tigers to get the ball into the circle.

Down the other end of the court Tori Gluyas returns for the Roosters, joining Halle Carter in the goal circle, where they will feel the pressure from Tantanoola's Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe.

This game will be a terrific start to the season for both teams.

NANGWARRY V MOUNT BURR

Nangwarry Hosts Mount Burr In The Opening Round Of The Mid South East netball season, with plenty of new faces in the Saints' lineup to keep the Mozzies honest.

Mount Burr return to the 2023 season with their strong defensive combination of Madi Haggett and Olivia Dean, who are able to accurately read the ball and work well together, making it hard for Nangwarry's goalies.

Hayley Vanderhorst will return to the court for the Saints this season after an injury last year.

She is able to play down either end of the court to combine with Cassie Dinnison in the goal circle, or Demi Hoffmeister in defence.

A halle carter Tayla Rowe

MSENA 2022 Best and Fairest winner Laura Schultz will help lead the Mozzies in their first game of the season from the mid-court, using her experience to guide the younger players in the side.

PORT MACDONNELL V GLENCOE

Mid South East netball reigning premiers Glencoe head to Port MacDonnell to face the Demons in the opening round of the season on Saturday.

They will be keen to kick proceedings off with a victory, but the Demons will utilise their strength through playing coach Megan Hein in goals and the skill of Alana Berkefeld in the defensive circle.

Glencoe's mostly unchanged premiership side will utilise their experienced players through each section of the court in Jenna Paproth, Donna Jaeschke and Chantelle Cocks.

Port MacDonnell's new recruit Kori Collins may also prove to be an important part of their shooting line up, especially when paired with Hein.

This game should provide an entertaining battle and well worth the trip to the coast.

Abbey Duncan.

Poised for a great season

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all players and officials to the opening round of the Mid South East Netball and Football for 2023. Though it seems so long ago, I would like to congratulate all individual trophy recipients and Premiership teams from 2022.

A Grade: Best and fairest Laura Schultz (Mount Burr) – Premiers Glencoe; A Reserve: Best and fairest Kim Ross (Robe) – Premiers Kalangadoo; B Grade best and fairest Sophie Gibbs (Hatherleigh) and Gina Goegel (Kalangadoo) – Premiers Glencoe; B Reserve best and fairest Faith McKenzie (Mount Burr) – Premiers Kalangadoo; 17 and Under: Best and fairest Tayla Rowe (Tantanoola) – Premiers Mount Burr; 15 and Under: Best and fairest Chloe Peacock (Kalangadoo) – Premiers Kalangadoo; 13 and Under: Best and fairest Bailee Lewis (Port MacDonnell) – Premiers Port MacDonnell; Senior Consistency Faith McKenzie and Jodi-Lee Greenwood; Junior Consistency Bailee Lewis and Skye Virtanen; Junior Umpires Award – Brydie McPherson (Port MacDonnell); Senior Umpires Award – Eliza Mewett (Hatherleigh); Club and Goal throwing awards to Kalangadoo.

The Mid SE Netball Team of the Year was made up of the following players and I congratulate them on their inclusion.

Goals: Malinda Markiewicz – Glencoe; Emma Gould – Tantanoola; Abbey Duncan – Kalangadoo.

Sara Gray, president

Centre: Jayde Peacock – Kalangadoo; Lucy Perkins – Robe; Laura Schultz – Mount Burr; Annie Hunter – Robe.

Defence: Sarah Edwards – Glencoe; Emma Grant – Robe; Madi Haggett – Mount Burr; Coach Kim Austin – Robe.

Thank you to the Port MacDonnell Football and Netball Clubs who hosted the 2022 Presentations.

Once again we live streamed the 17 and Under and A Grade netball counts, which was much appreciated, based on the feedback.

We are looking forward to attending the Country Championships in June and will be taking a senior and three junior teams to Adelaide for the weekend.

I encourage both Senior and Junior players to register for trials and give representing the Association a go.

The relationships formed at Country Champs will continue with you long into the future.

Promotion of association events begin at club level and board meetings are where we disseminate the bulk of this information.

Board delegates are asked to ensure this information is fed back to clubs as this will assure the smooth running of the 2023 season.

The Mid South East Netball Association AGM was held last November and I would like to thank, Bec Scanlon, Kim Ross, Leah Puiatti and Georgia Gray who have continued on the Executive and welcome Jacqui Cocks and Kristine Berry.

A huge thankyou to Karen Pulmer for taking on the VP role in 2022, Megan Bowering for her work over the last two years and to Pauline Mulraney for her many years of dedication to our Association.

We are fortunate in our association to have a group of dedicated and passionate umpires led by Bec Scanlon.

Bec is focusing on developing our umpires in 2023 and I look forward to seeing more badged umpires come finals.

Kim Ross and myself are working hard on sponsorship and would like to thank the sponsors who have joined us already in 2023.

If you are interested in being part of our sponsorship group and have not heard from us, please contact either Kim or myself.

We have undertaken a lot of work both within our region to open the lines of communication across our neighbouring associations and this is something we hope to continue long into the future.

Our relationship with Netball SA continues to improve.

Ultimately this will be of benefit to clubs, players and the association.

On behalf of the executive, I would like to wish all football and netball clubs the best of luck for 2023 and I look forward to catching up with you during the season.

Breakthrough Easter Cup win for Skeer

It was a breakthrough win for Dallas Skeer on the weekend at McNamara Park.

Skeer claimed the Easter Cup, an event he has chased for several years but has been unable to finish top of the podium.

That all changed in the feature race on Sunday, when Skeer worked his way to the front after an average start, then led to the finish.

He was chased by a gaggle of 1000cc machines on his 600cc Yamaha, holding a comfortable lead as he greeted the chequered flag.

It was a pleasing result for the Furner racer, who has hoped to have his name on the honour board for many years.

"I haven't won the Easter Cup before so it was my goal this weekend," Skeer said.

"Things ran over schedule so it was late in the day and the sun was a pain.

"The track was half wet and I didn't get a good start, but once I got in front I pulled a gap pretty easily and maintained it from there.

"My goal was to get the Easter Cup, get my name on the board and we did that."

Skeer said he feels he is finally on top of his Yamaha machinery, currently holding down a top-10 position in the ASBK Michelin Supersport series.

He ran a spare bike at McNamara Park to ensure his race bikes are ready for the upcoming Round 3 of the ASBK season.

"The other bikes are ready to go and we are on top of everything now," Skeer said.

"I am feeling good on the bikes – there are a few things to work on with my riding which I have found out this year, but at Mac Park I have pretty much cut my groove.

"The Yamaha is quicker than the Suzuki and now we have them sorted I have 100 percent confidence in the bike.

"I had the highest top speeds at both ASBK rounds this season."

While Skeer will take further confidence to the next round of ASBK, the Queensland venue is not one of his favourite tracks.

Dallas Skeer takes a bend at high speed.

However, he simply hopes to go there, take some solid points from the weekend and remain in the top 10 as the season rolls on.

The next event is at Queensland Raceway on April 28-30.

Marching into big final

The conclusion of the 2023 Limestone Coast Women's Football League season is upon us with the grand final to be held at Vansittart Park this Sunday.

There will be two matches played on the day, but the main focus will be on the premiership clash between Mundulla and North Gambier in the afternoon.

Both teams will be confident heading into the decider.

Mundulla dropped just one game for the minor rounds, excluding a draw to Kybybolite early in its campaign.

However, that loss came at the hands of North after an arm wrestle at McLaughlin Park.

The clash was a low-scoring affair but both teams have since proven untouchable with some big winning margins.

Mundulla has scored an impressive 370 points in its three games since the Round 7 encounter, while conceding only seven.

Those results have cemented Mundulla as the premiership favourite, but North could produce another surprise.

The home-ground advantage will aid the yellow and black in their premiership bid, with plenty of talent to support their case.

Alice Tentye was recently named joint best Under 21 player for the league at the 2023 awards night.

She has been a consistent performer for the Tigers and is also their leading goalkicker with a total of 30 for the season including her finals appearances.

Luca Roulstone has been another consistent name among the best players, while the likes of Mikaila Pitt in the ruck, Eadie Mustart and onballers Paris Ackland and Libby Howe-Morgan will all be looked to again.

North's Fiona Young was named best defender for 2023 and will need to be at her best to deny Mundulla another big score.

On the other side of the contest, Mundulla boasts runner-up best and fairest Casey Lodewyk and league goalkicking medallist Kaylene Rowett.

Rowett has been prolific in front of the big sticks and her 27 minor round goals contributed greatly to Mundulla's high-scoring prowess.

Lodewyk has led the charge through the midfield and will be aided by the likes of Erin Horsnell in the middle, while runner-up best defender Kelsey Hinge will be vital down back.

It all equates to an intriguing contest and should North bring the same form it found in Round 7, a close battle could unfold.

However, if Mundulla is allowed to find a foothold early and cut loose on the scoreboard, it might spell disaster for the home team.

Evie Sealey.

KYBYBOLITE v KONGORONG

Prior to the battle of the Tigers, Sunday's proceedings will be opened by the consolation final between Kybybolite and Kongorong.

Their meeting will ultimately decide fifth place for 2023.

Kyby will be heavily favoured for the win and while the northern Tigers missed the chance to defend their 2022 title, they should have a firm grasp on the consolation prize.

Last time the teams met was in the qualifying final B, which had Kyby advance straight to the decider with a 31-point win.

League best and fairest Dellie Brown topped the best players in that match - one of four best-on-ground performances for the year.

Erin Ewer has been another regular among the best players, while Alix Mosey and Maryann Thompson both played well in the preliminary final.

Genevieve Blake topped the scoresheets with three goals, while she also led the attack in Kyby's minor-round meeting with Kongorong with five majors.

In that game Kyby trumped the Hawks by 86 points, which fuel confidence levels further leading into Sunday.

Kongorong started the season well with three strong wins on the trot.

However, the side has struggled against the top teams and will rely on a valiant effort to keep up with Kyby's fast-paced game style.

The Hawks have relied on a diverse attack this year, with Evie Sealey (eight goals), Marnie Formosa, Tilah Buckingham (seven), Kate Wright and Zara Dirk (five) the top contributors up forward.

Sealey has appeared in the best players nine times from her 10 games, while the likes of Jade Longbottom and joint runner-up best defender Sarah Lucas have also had solid seasons.

That trio all made the Limestone Coast Women's Football League team of the year and will hope to lift their team to the next level in the final outing of 2023.
